CBS traditionally has been the front-runner in weekly averages for the last 20 years and ABC a consistent third behind NBC.

STRATFORD, Ont. (CP) — Toronto-born John Colicos will return to the Stratford Festival next season to play Antony opposite Maggie Smith in Shakespeare's Antony and Cleopatra, it was announced Wednesday.

The production will be directed by the festival's artistic director Robin Phillips.

Mr. Colicos appeared in festival productions from 1961 to 1964, and has appeared in both television and motion-picture productions.

Headline performers announced previously by the festival include Miss Smith, William Hutt, Hume Cronyn, Jessica Tandy, Douglas Rain, Mia Anderson, Tony van Bridge, Martha Henry, Tom Kneebone, Alan Scarfe and Denise Fergusson.

In addition to Cleopatra, Miss Smith will play Millamant in William Congreve's The Way of the World and Masha in Chekhov's Three Sisters.

Congreve's comedy will be produce British director William Gaskill to Stratford.

Bill Glasson, artistic director of Toronto's Tarragon Theatre, and an associate director of the festival, will direct The Merchant of Venice. It will feature Mr. Cronyn as Shylock, Tom Kneebone as Launcelot Gobbo and Denise Fergusson as Melissa.

Besides appearing in The Merchant of Venice, Mr. Cronyn will play Bottom in Midsummer-Night's Dream under the direction of Mr. Phillips.

His wife, Jessica Tandy, will be seen as Titania-Hippolyta in Midsummer Night's Dream, as Lady Wishfort in Way of the World and in the title role of The Book of Cyt—a new Canadian play being written by Larry Fineberg from the novel by Constance Beresford-Howe.

Generous Death Note

OSAKA, Japan (AP) — Japanese banker Yoshiro Kadono left a suicide note urging a debtor who owed him $43,000 to pay the debt step by step and not to be concerned, because "I'm not dying to embarrass you."

Ballet Troupe Unusual Group

TORONTO (CP)—We operate on a frugal way," says Gerry Eldred, general manager of the National Ballet of Canada.

Unlike normal corporate entities, it has no assets and loses money at every performance.

Yet the company continues to grow and flourish. Next year, it will observe its silver jubilee anniversary. As a non-profit charitable organization, it pays no taxes and is heavily subsidized by the taxpayer.

This year, government subsidies of more than $1.3 million will help keep the dancers performing.

The 1975-76 operating budget is a record $2.3 million for a 13-month year.

But the company has been hurt a great deal by inflation, even with higher government grants.

In 1970-71, "we have to earn about 50 per cent of our money at the box office," Eldred said.

Government grants, nearly tripled since 1968, account for 33 per cent of the company's budget. They are split this way: Canada Council, $985,000; Ontario Arts Council, $278,000, and Metro Toronto, $78,000.

The other 15 per cent must come from fund-raising.

"We have to raise it with all the begging, borrowing that we can," Eldred said.

"Campaigns, projects, what ever we can do. This year it comes close to 100,000. And that's a damn hard thing to do."

More than one-half the donations come from corporations.

"Five years ago companies used to think that a $100 donation was fine," Eldred said. "Now we go to them and we say we need $10,000, and we're going to get that kind of money. IBM, Shell Oil and Ford Motor Co. are shelling out that kind of money which really makes that $100,000 possible."

The National always has had an enchanting deficit. Since 1968 government grants have helped alleviate the deficits to the tune that is hard to make in very many theatres," Eldred said.

The National has 42 dancers and 42 musicians, as well as stagehands, administration and public relations staff, all needed for a performance.

Currently on tour in Western Canada, the National completes the program in Winnipeg Oct. 31. It returns East for performances in Hamilton, Windsor and London, Ont., ending the tour Nov. 6.

As budgets for the National rose so did the dancers' wages. Under a contract with Actors Equity, first-year dancers in the corps de ballet earn a minimum of $180 a week while rehearsing or performing in Canada. A fourth-year dancer in the corps earns a minimum of $230 a week.

Soloists can earn around $15,000 a year. The maximum wage for a principal dancer is $350 on a 52-week basis.

But Eldred said principals negotiate their own contracts and earn more than $35,000 a year and additional income from television and guest appearances.

Your Horoscope

By BERNICE BEDE OSOL

For Friday, Oct. 24

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Be excellent day to develop your plans and ideas through rank and open discussion with friends or people "in the know."

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Your perception is extra-keen today. You can afford to follow your hunches or pursue that dream that yesterday seemed so daring.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You can satisfy your urge to be gregarious today by getting into a large group and enjoying the idea social whirl.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Without lilting a finger today or cutting wise or witty static room, you'll be looked upon as outstanding by those around you.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Don't you think about being a hermit today. Get out, mix and enjoy yourself. You'll be a big hit with the young crowd.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) A change is stable in, in store for you today. It could bring a promotion, a raise, more respect from your mate or kind words from the boss.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) It's a day to evoke directions to exchange ideas and philosophies. It will broaden the horizons for all.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 22) You are very fortunate in your field of endeavor today. You will accomplish more than usual. Rewards come to you from two sources.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 22) Capital's sitting on your shoulder today. Take your mate or special person out for a good time. Romance is in the air.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23-Jan. 20) Your happiness is in the family circle today. You don't need any cheering crowds—just the cozy surroundings of hearth and home.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Romance calls you today. The more places you go and the more people you meet, the better your chances of finding it.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) A gain of money could come to you today. You'll immediately want the family to share in a rousing celebration.

British Customs Hurt By Inflation

LONDON (AP) — That previously unsullied symbol of British well-being, the Sunday joint of beef is seriously threatened by this nation's 24-per-cent inflation rate, at present the highest in the industrial world.

As are the traditional family holidays at the seaside and the British-begun custom of sending out Christmas cards, which even the firm of Scoogs and Marley managed in the darkest Dickensian days.

Afternoon tea in the High Street has been elevated above to a reckless extravagance, and dinner out as a family is an event reserved only for graduations, important anniversaries and, as a suburban housewife put it, "Alfred's birthday occasions — like coming back from a funeral."

These are some of the everyday sacrifices and concessions that British homemakers, wage-earners and merchants confess, in an informal sampling, to making to the searing prices that attack the family budget and the shopkeeper's balance sheet from almost every corner of the economy.

The Sunday joint isn't the institution it used to be. We've been known to have sausage on a Sunday," admitted Julie Hannon, a fireman's wife in the London suburb of Kingston-Upon-Thames — the mother of two children, who makes ends meet by eating less herself and "cannot outlaying it under the gravy so the children won't notice."

As recently as last spring, food bills for the Hannon family give aspect £20 a week. Now she budgets $40 and spends "a good deal more than that, but won't admit it to myself. The crush has really come in the past two months. Everything has gone up: food, the gas, electricity, the rates (local taxes), telephones, the car.

"We don't own a car, and it's been more than a year since we've eaten out as a family."

The figures Mrs. Hannon cites: the Sunday roast she buys at $2.40 a pound last year now sells for $3.20 a pound; the monthly phone bill was $8 a year ago; it now is $24; the electricity bill has doubled to $20 a month; and a Christmas card that cost 15 cents last year now is 30 cents.

To cut fuel costs, Mrs. Hannon is determined not to turn the oil furnace on until the end of November, so the children, a boy, 7, and a girl, 6, "go to bed with hot water bottles and bed socks on cold nights."

The $13-weekly raise recently given to Mr. London municipal workers brings Terence Hannon's annual wage to just below $8,000. But, as his wife confided, he has to moonlight "like every other London fireman or policeman, fixing up homes and doing odd jobs" and she works as a secretary to pay off the mortgage on their $28,000 three-bedroom home.

"Mortgages are not fixed. Ours has gone up five times since we moved in," said Julie Hannon.

For their vacation this summer, the Hannons shared a cottage in Cornwall with some neighbors for a week. "Something we never had to do before," said Julie. "And if I had my way, we wouldn't even go at all. The money was needed for the children's schooling."

The Hannons spend more than $1,000 a year sending their children to private schools because they have no confidence in the local comprehensive — constituted schools that are a fixture of the Labor government's education policy.

"It's what we want all God's lamers for," she said with some detail and otherwise, what would be the point? We seldom see each other. We never go out anywhere. We can't afford it, maybe for an afternoon on the tube. Dad, we can't complain. We're keeping our heads above water."

In nearby Malden, another London suburb, Sylvia Abelson, a lawyer's wife, unashamedly goes about their comfortable red brick house switching off lights, doesn't turn the heat on in the stairs rooms until an hour before bedtime and only telephones her friends after 8 p.m. when rates are lower.

The Abelsons have eaten out only once since Christmas and thank their new "American-style" freezer for enabling them to buy in bulk quality "and keep up a reasonable way of eating."

Polish Families May Emigrate

KATOWICE, Poland (Reuter) — Thousands of families scattered throughout the Silesian coal basin—home of Poland's chief export industry—are trying to decide whether to emigrate to West Germany or remain here.

"Almost everyone here has some connection with a family in Germany," remarked a mining engineer, discussing the latest Polish-West German negotiation on emigration.

For centuries Silesia has had a mixed Polish-German population, although the fully German population dwindled to a small proportion after the Second World War.

What gives rise to the present dilemma for many on whether to emigrate or stay is a Polish offer to allow up to 125,000 people to emigrate to West Germany in the coming four years.

And for many families it appears the decisive factor is how long the West German recession will go on. If there are clear signs of an uplift in the West German economy in 1976 then probably thousands of families will opt for the move.

But if the recession shows signs of biting deeper or if the West German economy stagnates then those already in their 40s and 50s probably will resign themselves to remaining here.

"People here are disappointed with the economic progress and general conditions," one Silesian miner said. This view came from a man who by Polish standards is relatively wealthy, earning at least $650 a month—much more at the coal face than most of his countrymen.

There are families where the debate—to stay or to go—is an anguished one, causing tensions and unhappiness inside the family, arousing old national loyalties.

For example, the mother might feel herself 100-per-cent Polish and the children speak only Polish, but the father—a German speaker with perhaps 25 per cent German blood—might yearn to move to West Germany for financial reasons.

Silesians say the problem really became acute after the 1970 agreement among West Germany, Poland and the Soviet Union over frontiers and general East-West relations.

This agreement opened the doors to floods of West German tourists. The visitors regaled their friends and relatives with exciting tale of the rich, easy life compared with conditions in Poland.

In turn many Silesians were able to visit their relatives in West Germany with greater ease and see life there for themselves.

Now the issue is alive again after three years of political stagnation, with Poland's offer to permit emigration.

Canada Faces Newsprint Drain

EAST CHESTER, N.S. (CP)—Canada is being "skinned alive" to provide newsprint for the United States, says Dr. Richard S. Barbe Baker, an internationally known silviculturist.

Dr. Baker, founder of Men of The Trees and the Sahara Reclamation Project, says trees are being cut at 3½ times their growth increment and in a way to make the land "feverish."

Dr. Baker also condemns clear cutting and monoculture of conifers, instead of the selective sustained yield cutting take place to provide a healthy perpetual forest which will maintain the waterside and equitable climate.

He is convinced that tree planting will halt the advance of deserts like the Sahara and return them to useful production. Dr. Baker says that what is needed to prove his theory is manpower and he urged that the world's armies be used to "fight the deserts instead of each other."

He also says the steady destruction of the Amazon forests, "the world's last great oxygen bank", will create consequences that will affect higher life all over the world.

The Amazon forests are being cleared to provide fields on which to raise beef for export to affluent countries, "not to provide food for hungry Brazilians."

Egg Producers Vote To Retain Marketing Board

OTTAWA (CP) — Ontario egg producers have voted overwhelmingly to retain their organized marketing program rather than return to a free-market competition in the open market, it was announced Wednesday.

Agriculture Minister Eugene Whelan said in an interview he has received reports to this effect from Paul Hadaway, chairman of the marketing board.

Of 1,081 ballots cast, 930 were in favor of keeping the board and 116 were opposed. There were seven spoiled ballots.

They want to stay in it market; they want some kind c security in their livelihood,' Mr. Whelan said.

"It's much better than the hurly-burly system in the old market when the biggest dog got the biggest bite and the little one starved to death.

Mr. Whelan saw the Ontario vote as a reflection of the opinions of egg producers in all provinces.

Companies May Roll Back Dividend Rates

OTTAWA (CP) — Finance Minister Donald Macdonald said Wednesday the federal anti-inflation program may require some companies to roll back current dividend rates or refrain from paying a fourth-quarter dividend.

Mr. Macdonald said the government considers firm in its stated intention to freeze, for a year, the dollar level of dividends at the level paid during a company's last completed fiscal year.

If a company completed its last fiscal year on Dec. 31, 1974, or early this year and has since increased its dividend rate, Mr. Macdonald said the policy could mean a rollback in dividends in order that the company's 1975 dividends remain the same as its last fiscal year.

Mr. Macdonald was speaking to reporters after the first day of the federal-provincial conference on the selective wage and price controls with guides.

Guidelines May Stop Oil Price Freeze

OTTAWA (CP) — Regulations under the federal anti-inflation bill might head off any future provincial action to freeze retail petroleum prices, Finance Minister Donald Macdonald said Wednesday.

Emerging from a discussion of the anti-inflation program with provincial finance ministers, Mr. Macdonald said a freeze on retail gasoline prices imposed by four provinces were discussed.

He said that if Ottawa brings in regulations to cover retail petroleum prices, such individual action by the provinces might be precluded.

If decisions on whether to bring in such regulations will be made after federal Energy Minister Alastair Gillespie meets with his provincial counterparts to discuss the price freeze.

When Ottawa and Alberta agreed last spring to a $1.20 increase in the price of crude oil, bringing it to $8 a barrel, oil companies were asked not to pass the higher price on to consumers for 35 days, allowing supplies of lower-priced oil to be used up.

But Ontario, opposed to an oil price increase because of its inflationary effect, ordered a further freeze until Sept. 30, later extending it until Nov. 15.

Manitoba later froze the price until Nov. 15. The other provinces—British Columbia and Nova Scotia—delayed retail price increases until they were approved by provincial utilities boards, but higher prices now are in effect in these provinces.

Mr. Macdonald said that where retail pricing is concerned, the federal government feels the oil industry will be closely regulated. "Even the wellhead to the pump" once the government's anti-inflation program is in effect.

Attorney Generals Want To Be Consulted More

HALIFAX (CP) — Canada's provincial attorneys-general urged Wednesday that the federal government pay a greater share of the cost of administering the law and consult the provinces more on justice matters.

The provincial ministers, at their annual conference, unanimously adopted a resolution "to demand that the federal government pay its share of the burden.

Justice Minister Alex Hickman of Newfoundland, chairman, said that "we sense . . . a lack of interest on the part of the federal government in the working of law and order in Canada."

The federal government has the sole right to pass amendments to the Criminal Code, he said, but the provinces bear the burden of administering them, even when the amendments are expensive or ill advised.

Disparities in the ability of each province to pay, he said, had led to "a great deal of disparity" in the rights of citizens to obtain justice.

Mr. Hickman called for more consultation with the provinces before Criminal Code amendments are put into law.

Civil Servant Wages Increase

OTTAWA (CP) — Salary scales of about 1,110 senior public servants were raised between $2,000 and $6,000 a year Sept. 4 retroactive to last April 1, a treasury board spokesman said Tuesday. This was a little more than a month before the government announced its wage and price control program.

Most of the increases were toward the lower end of the range, he said, involving about 600 senior executives in the first or lowest category. Also affected were about 330 in level 2, the next highest group, 140 in level 3 and about 10 executives in level 4 at the top of the pay scale.

The increases, authorized last July, were not automatic. Some executives got none at all, the spokesman said. They were based on individual performance records and ranged above and below a 10 per cent average in each federal department.

FLQ Terrorists Will Still Face Prosecution

OTTAWA (CP) — Acting Prime Minister Mitchell Sharp said Wednesday that FLQ terrorists who participated in Quebec kidnapping during the 1970 October Crisis still will face prosecution if they return to Canada.

Mr. Sharp told the Commons that the situation is the same as it has been for the last five years.

Olympic Construction Resumes, Workers Obey Court Order

MONTREAL (CP) — Construction at the 1976 Summer Olympic Games site resumed today after workers decided to obey a Quebec Superior Court injunction ordering them to end an illegal walkout which halted work at the mammoth project since Monday.

About 3,000 workers walked off the job to protest the use of a police blacklist of "undesirable" workers who are banned from the site.

The walkout halted all work on the Velodrome, swimming pool and the 70,000-seat main stadium.

A Quebec Federation of Labor (QFL) spokesman said early today the injunction had still not been delivered. Nonetheless, he said, the union was asking the workers to return to work.

QFL construction officials issued a formal statement following announcement of the injunction Thursday, calling on the workers to return to work in an orderly fashion. However, the leaders said they fear some workers might resort to violence to demonstrate their dissatisfaction at being forced to return to work with the dispute as yet unresolved.

"Nothing is being solved by forcing the workers back on the job," said Fernand Daoust, QFL secretary-general.

"The workers will only feel more resentment and suppressed violence when they see how their grievances are treated by those in authority, backed up by a scandalous police system," he said.

QFL leaders said the blacklist, drawn up after nine days of illegal work stoppages at the site last May, contains the names of about 300 workers police have labelled "undesirable".

The secret list was apparently compiled from police reports, court records, police photographs of union demonstrations and newspaper clippings, as well as verbal reports from employers.

The injunction, issued by Justice Anatole Lesyk at the request of the City of Montreal and four general contractors, ordered workers and unions to refuse to perform duties required by their employers and the labor code.

60,000 Icelandic Women Strike

REYKJAVIK (Reuter) — The women of Iceland went on strike today, leaving their menfolk wondering how to run the country without them.

Housewives, women teachers, clerks, industrial workers and even newsmaids all over the island said they were taking the day off, bringing tiny Iceland almost to a standstill.

The militant women—there are about 60,000 of them over the age of 18, said latest census figures—staged their token stoppage to prove just how indispensable they are.

And the men, who treated all the strike threats as a huge joke, began to get the point.

Most shops planned to stay closed for the day, telephone exchanges were left unmanned and even radio and television broadcasts were expected to be blacked out because the women refused to take part in the programs.

The government, determined to keep the affairs of state going despite the walkout, said it was impossible to conduct official business by telephone.

The banks had the same problem. Although they tried to stay in operation by sending department heads to the counters to replace missing female cashiers.

News Briefs

Car Sales Strong

DETROIT (AP) — U.S. auto companies said Thursday that domestic car sales during Oct. 11-20 were the strongest for a mid-month period since May, 1974, topping year earlier levels by 27 per cent. However, company officials were hailing the figures as further evidence of the industry's recovery from a two-year slump, all four of the firms announced plans to trim assembly operations next week because of mounting supplies of unsold models.

Carriers Out of Work

TORONTO (CP) — A post office spokesman said today that regional managers informed mail carriers this morning that letter carrier service is being suspended due to the national strike by inside postal workers.

CLC May Develop Fund

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian Labor Congress (CLC) executive council was meeting today to map out strategy in its battle against the federal anti-inflation program. CLC president Joe Morris said Thursday night that the powerful 30-member executive council will consider establishing a fund to help its affiliates lobby against the program.

Hartman to Head CUPE

TORONTO (CP) — The Canadian Union of Public Employees (CUPE) ended its national convention today with a new president, Grace Hartman, and a determined stand against federal selective wage and price controls. The 1,000 delegates passed a resolution Thursday condemning the anti-inflation program as "unfair, unworkable and undemocratic."

Heavy Fighting Reported

LUANDA (CP) — Heavy fighting was reported across much of Angola today, after the Popular Movement for the Liberation of Angola (MPLA) called a general mobilization and said "there will be blood shed and misery for the people on the eve of independence."

Turkey Ambassador Shot

PARIS (CP) — Ismael Erez, Turkey's ambassador to France, and the chauffeur of his car were killed while travelling on a Paris street today. There were conflicting reports as to how they died. The Associated Press quoted an embassy officer as saying the two were shot and killed by gunmen on Quai Kennedy near the Turkish Embassy. Reuters news agency quoted police as saying they died when their car exploded. The attack occurred two days after the Turkish ambassador to Austria was killed by gunmen in his embassy in Vienna.

Spain May Give Up Sahara to Morocco

MARRAKECH, Morocco (AP) — Moroccan sources say Spain has agreed tentatively to turn over the disputed Spanish Sahara to Morocco, and Morocco in turn will cede part of the territory to Mauritania.

No official confirmation of the report was immediately available.

There was also no immediate reaction from Algeria, which opposes the claims of Morocco and Mauritania and backed a Spanish proposal for a self-determination referendum.

The Algerians, who defeated Morocco in one desert war over another part of the Sahara, are reported to have about 2,000 troops along Algeria's 18-mile frontier with the Spanish Sahara.

The sources said the tentative agreement was worked out this week by King Hassan II and Jose Solis Ruiz, a special envoy from Madrid, and that Foreign Minister Ahmed Laraki would go to Madrid today or Saturday to complete the agreement for transfer of sovereignty.

However, the negotiations may be delayed because of Generalissimo Francisco Franco's failing health and moves to replace him as the Spanish chief of state, the sources said.

The agreement will not halt King Hassan's march of conquest into the territory, the sources said. However, only a "symbolic contingent" from the 50,000 unarmed civilian marchers will go all the way to El Aaiun, the capital of the Spanish Sahara.

Spain announced its intention to pull out of its 165,000-square-mile colony on Africa's northwest coast some time ago and proposed a referendum to determine the wishes of the area's 80,000 mostly nomadic people.

Morocco, already the world's biggest phosphate exporter, claimed the northern part of the territory, which contains one of the world's largest phosphate deposits. Mauritania, the neighbor of the Spanish Sahara on the east and south, claimed the area adjacent to it.

Postal Strike Continues

Negotiators Ask Talks Re-opened

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Negotiators for inside postal workers delivered notice to Postmaster-General Bryce Mackasey late Thursday asking for a resumption of contract negotiations, in an attempt to end their strike, now in its fourth week period.

Earlier, Jean-Claude Parrot, chief negotiator for the Canadian Union of Postal Workers (CUPW), said in a news release that talks could resume when Mr. Mackasey lifted an ultimatum that the union accept the government's wage offer before other issues are discussed.

There was no word from Mr. Mackasey as to whether talks would in fact resume.

The 22,000 inside workers—who sort, load and unload mail—went on strike Tuesday after negotiations broke down Monday night.

Mr. Mackasey said in an interview that the government is firm in its offer of $1.70 an hour over 30 months—the same as that accepted earlier this year by letter carriers.

However, the government is willing to discuss shift premiums, holidays, compensation for injuries and other issues, he said.

Average hourly pay now $4.38. The union is asking for an hourly increase of $2.73 over 27 months, retroactive to October, 1972, and wants to discuss the use of casual non-union labor, seniority and hours of work.

Meanwhile, regional post-office managers told the 18,000 members of the Letter Carriers Union of Canada not to report back to work after the end of their shifts Thursday.

A spokesman said the letter carriers and mail couriers are not being laid off but sent home because there is no work. They will be paid up to the end of their shifts and then will be eligible to draw unemployment insurance benefits after a waiting period.

If they were laid off, they would not be eligible for the benefits for at least six weeks and could not be recalled on short notice. Spokesman say the current mail backlog in most major urban centres would take one day to clear up if the strike ended.

Mr. Mackasey has said a system for distributing family allowance and old-age pension cheques four months in advance will be set up, but he has not given details.

In Vancouver, two CUPW members were charged with common assault Thursday after two post-office employees—a public religious leader and a postal clerk—said they were prevented from crossing a picket line.

A CUPW spokesman said police have said the charges will be dropped.

Courier mail services say they are doing brisk business throughout the country, but a government spokesman says about 12,000 students taking courses through a provincial mail-correspondence school will be seriously affected if the strike is a long one.

And the Alberta Association of Registered Nurses is trying unsuccessfully to distribute final-exam results and registration forms to 600 newly-graduated nurses who will work for modest wages until the registration procedure is complete.

Spanish Cabinet Moves To Retire Ailing Franco

MADRID (AP) — The Spanish cabinet was expected to take the first step today in the legal process to retire ailing dictator, Francisco Franco and install Prince Juan Carlos de Borbon as chief of state and Spain's first king in 44 years.

The imminence of a transfer of power was indicated Thursday night when the 11 physicians attending Franco announced that the 83-year-old generalissimo, who had been improving after a heart attack Monday night, suffered a relapse.

"Incipient heart failure has appeared," the medical bulletin said.

Juan Carlos, named six years ago by Franco as his successor, and Premier Carlos Arias Navarro rushed to their leader's Pardo Palace 10 miles north of Madrid along with the president of the Cortes, the Spanish parliament, and a group of ministers. Later they went home to bed, and there was no death watch in evidence at the palace.

Bars and restaurants in Madrid closed early, and a few groups of youths roamed the streets, chanting: "Franco, Franco, Franco."

Meanwhile, a spokesman at the palace said Franco was "recovering," a report in line with the consistently optimistic tone taken by the generalissimo's personal staff throughout his illness. This indicated that he would not expedite his departure from the scene by abdicating.

The first step in the elevation of 37-year-old Juan Carlos would be for the cabinet to inform the 19-member Council of the Realm that Franco was no longer able to serve as head of state. The council by a majority vote would pass the information on to the Cortes, and the Cortes would have eight days to declare Juan Carlos king.

The medical bulletin was issued Thursday night less than an hour after the cabinet concluded an extraordinary nine-hour meeting. Informed sources said one reason for the length of the meeting was that Premier Arias was trying to get the cabinet's regular weekly meeting today shifted from Franco's palace to downtown Madrid so that the general-issimo could not carry out his decision, announced earlier Thursday, of attending.

Police Fear Leaders Now IRA Targets

LONDON (Reuter) — Scotland Yard fears that a bomb explosion Thursday that killed a leading cancer expert may be the start of a campaign of terror against British politicians.

Police fear the bomb may signal the start of a campaign against politicians and prominent figures replacing terror attacks on crowded meeting places.

Police suspect the bomb was planted by Irish Republican guerrillas. Fraser, a close friend of Fraser, who has advocated the firing squad for bombers.

However, the 57-year-old member of Parliament also is a strong supporter of Israel in the Middle East dispute and police do not rule out the possibility that the attack may be connected with his pro-Zionist views.

Medical experts said that Prof. Hamilton Fairley's death was a tragedy no less to the fight against cancer as he was considered one of the world's top researchers.

Hastings Small Towns Operate Postal Offices

BY AL ZABAS
Staff Reporter

Post offices in small towns and villages in Hastings County are open for business today but mail handling and mail deliveries are taking place, according to postal officials.

One of several small post office postmasters, John Lye, of Tweed, said today, "most people are not mailing now because they know there's a strike on so they're doing little business."

The Tweed office is classed as a semi-staff office—like Stirling, Bancroft, Marmora and Madoc—and does not fall under the same postal classification as the office in Belleville.

City postmaster Roy Wainwright said as far as he knew, only Belleville in Hastings County is shut down by the strike of inside workers, now moving into fourth day.

The 31-member Belleville-Brighton local of the Canadian Union of Postal Workers locals, mail sorters and handlers, all walked out in a nationwide walkout early Tuesday.

Mr. Lye said, "there's no business, but we're open."

Clerks, but full-time at Tweed, are selling stamps and money orders and handling only mail destined for other addresses in Tweed or the immediate rural vacinity.

City postmaster Wainwright said the smaller post offices are open because they are members of the Canadian Postmasters Association, and do not fall under the same chain as the city post office.

Small offices in eastern Northumberland County—in Warkworth, Castleton, Colborne and Grafton—are also open.

An Ottawa post office spokesman could not indicate today how many non-staff post offices are open in Ontario. However, he said 138 offices are affected by striking inside workers.

The city postmaster said as of today 20 of the full-time and two part-time letters carriers will be laid off — a move taken because no work now exists in the Belleville post office.

Carriers delivered sorted mail Tuesday this week, and Wednesday and Thursday worked in the post office in the carrier division.

Mr. Wainwright said that the government has laid off first ordered in about 30 years.

Parent Charged In Child's Act

BALTIMORE (AP)— Eleven-year-old Stefan Redd — known on the street as "Stinky" — died July 14 when 12-year-old Hinton Stith — known on the street as "Joe Frazier" — stabbed him in the heart.

They had a grudge and squared off in the black brick street.

It was a hot summer day. A kid fight, a fist fight. It happens all the time.

This time, it was a cock fight.

Because of that fight, three parents are in jail. Stefan's mother and stepfather, Ella and Robert Newton, are charged with child abuse. Hinton's mother, "Polly" Stith, is charged with murder, a sort of murder by proxy, using her child as a weapon. She never touched the knife.

Prosecutors say it is the first time in Baltimore that a parent has been charged with murder in connection with a child's act.

"We've got to keep up with these kids and the rate of juvenile crime" says E. Nicholson Gault, chief juvenile prosecutor. "We can't allow the involve parents in cases where we feel we can hold them criminally responsible."

"I thought if they fought it out fair, the best man would win," said Mrs. Newton, 33, unemployed and a mother of six.

"My son didn't kill that boy," said Mrs. Stith, 48, unemployed and a mother of three. "He put a knife in him, but his mother and stepfather killed him. They forced him to fight."

"I meant to stab him in the arm. I didn't mean to stab him nowhere else," Hinton said tearfully in court.

Stefan Redd was buried in an unmarked grave on a green hillside, far from the streets he knew all his life.

"It was a great sadness," said Rev. W. S. Chambers at the funeral. "He was a young man not yet hardened by sin."

Two months before his death, Stefan had been ordered removed from what a court called an unfit home. He had been arrested for stealing $1 from a parking lot cash box.

He was still living at home when he died.

"It was an ego trip for the parents," he said. "They were to blame. They were jumping up and down, and laughing like at a wrestling match."

"Stefan Redd and Hinton Stith are victims," said Barbara Daly, head of the state's attorney's juvenile division. "It could happen two or three kids who grow up fighting."

"Maybe because Stefan Redd died, people will realize they must pay attention to these children. Because Stefan died, maybe in 10 years some other kid won't be killed on the streets."

Maybe, she added, because Hinton Stith killed a boy, he still get a chance "because he's away from those streets and now somebody will give a damn."

Hernandez Rolls 150 Cigars Daily

EDMONTON (CP) — Fred Henderico Hernandez has rolled almost 714,000 cigars in his life. He proved himself good for about 150 a day for the last 27 years.

The 39-year-old Cuban was here on a Canadian promotional tour for a tobacco manufacturing firm and demonstrated his skills at a throng of interested pedestrians from the window of a local newsstand.

The Cuban master roller said he has been involved with cigars since he was 12, when he proved himself good enough to become a supervisor in the tobacco industry instead of an ordinary roller.

His deft fingers picked through stacks of tobacco leaves for the proper combination and length, as he explained that it takes at least three years for someone to become a good rolling specialist. Some never make it, no matter how long they work at it, he said.

The tobacco-rolling trade has become the stronghold of female workers in Cuba, he said, according to his personal experience as an ex-trained as other rollers, all of

Cuba Develops Merchant Marine

HAVANA (Reuter)—Cuba is building up a merchant navy to gain greater independence from foreign shipping companies.

Since Prime Minister Fidel Castro came to power 15 years ago, its merchant fleet has increased nine-fold, according to official figures.

The island depends heavily on sugar-exporting country but has to import large quantities of manufactured goods, machinery and foodstuffs.

Before 1959 Cuba traded almost exclusively with the United States. The pattern changed dramatically after Castro's takeover. By 1962 all relations between Washington and Havana were severed.

Trade was redirected towards Eastern Europe and later towards Western Europe and Japan, the latter a major sugar importer.

The Cuban merchant fleet was not equipped for long-distance trading and chartering ships meant payment in foreign currency, which Cuba could ill afford. Building up an efficient merchant fleet became a primary aim of the Castro government.

This year the total tonnage of Cuba's merchant fleet is expected to reach 1 million tons — making it the fourth largest merchant navy in Latin America.

These figures do not include a fishing fleet, which has increased seven-fold over 16 years.

Plans for the future are ambitious. By 1980 the capacity of the merchant fleet is to be doubled. This includes tripling the long-distance shipping capacity, renewing the auxiliary port fleet and completely replacing the coasting fleet.

Coasting is a method of transporting goods by sea along Cuba's 2,200-mile coastline instead of by road.

Orders for 35 ships have already been placed with 10 countries, including Argentina, Britain, Yugoslavia, Denmark and Canada.

Japan has already built Cuba's largest ship, the 27,000-ton bulk carrier Salvador Allende, which made her first trip to the island three months ago.

Cuba's dependence on foreign shipping will be lessened further by its membership in the newly-created multinational Caribbean Shipping Line.

The company's aim is to set up a Caribbean fleet to boost trade between Central America and Caribbean countries, while reducing their shipping bill to foreign companies.

Board Recommends Trapping In Two Wildlife Areas

BY RON HUSER
Staff Correspondent

FRANKFORD — The fish and wildlife advisory board of the Lower Trent Region Conservation Authority will recommend to the executive that trapping be allowed in designated areas of the Authority's property. The decision was reached at the board's meeting held Thursday night here.

The trapping areas recommended by the board will be the Heard's Wildlife Area, and the Keating Acquisition Area, both approximately six miles west of Stirling. These areas total approximately 400 acres.

The board recommends the trapping be non-permanent, and controlled, and also recommends a report submitted by the trappers at the end of the season listing the catches.

Bryan Boyce, resources manager for the agency, said muskrat should be the only animal trapped, but that would be too hard to enforce.

To allow control over the number of trappers and to avoid cross-over of the trap lines, the board, in its recommendation urges a limit to the number of trappers. The selection of trappers, the report says, would be decided by the authority depending on the number of applications, and knowledge of the areas.

"If the area is not trapped, it will result in a lower quality of muskrats," said Burton Morton, chairman of the board.

The Trapping Association will be notified, the policy, said the board. This will allow only professional trappers, to apply for permits.

Hunting on conservation property, however, will not be allowed if a resolution passed by the board, is accepted by the executive.

The resolution states that no hunting, on conservation land will be permitted unless given permission by the conservation authority. This would allow the hunting of over-populated animals, the board states.

The area has an educational purpose said a board member.

The only problem enforcing the resolution would be in the landlocked areas controlled by the authority, said Bill Lawson, board member.

The recommendations will go to the executive meeting of the authority Tuesday, Oct. 28.

Trapping Recommended

Trapping will be allowed in some of the Lower Trent Region Conservation area if a recommendation of the Fish and Wildlife Advisory Board is accepted by the authority's executive. Bryan Boyce, resources manager for the agency, points to the Heard's Wildlife Area and the Keating Acquisition Area, where trapping may be allowed. The recommendations were passed by the advisory board at their meeting Thursday, in Frankford.

Nursery School Unique

BY MARG HAYLOCK
Staff Reporter

PICTON — Opened to assist development of the pre-school mentally retarded child the Little Learners Nursery School this year has been integrated with the enrollment of more than 60 normal youngsters.

A spokesman for the nursery school observed Thursday, "The main reason for starting it was the need to assist the pre-school mentally retarded child in his development regardless of where he goes when he leaves the program."

The nursery school, operated in the basement of Picton United Church, has an enrollment of 78 pupils. Of these young students approximately 14 are retarded or physically handicapped.

The school is staffed by four qualified teachers, two hired to work with the handicapped and two to instruct the remainder of the pupils.

At all sessions in the school's programs the teacher-pupil ratio is one to three for handicapped students and one to 10 for other pupils.

Mrs. Phyllis Shiborne of Picton is the nursery school's director and is in charge of both of its units.

In addition to regular staff the nursery school has numerous parent volunteers co-ordinated by Mrs. Earl Weibanks. A student from Loyalist College in Belleville also makes regular visits to the nursery school classes this fall.

Later this year students from the Family Studies course at Prince Edward Collegiate Institute will attend the nursery school to observe and assist. It is expected this will afford the PECI students a greater insight in their Family Studies program.

Testimony Deals with Events Which Lead to Shooting

By ROBIN CHASE
Staff Reporter

Four witnesses testified in Ontario Supreme Court here Thursday that 19-year-old Jeremiah James Arthur Meneely stated he tripped over the lip of a doorway, causing the shotgun he was carrying to be discharged and killing his 40-year-old father, James Meneely, at their RR 4, Madoc farmhouse in Rawdon Township Aug. 1, 1973.

Meneely is charged with murder not punishable by death in the shooting death of his father. The trial was to resume today for the fourth day before Justice Lawrence Pennell of Toronto and a 15-member-jury.

Crown attorney Glenn Deline indicated at the close of Thursday's session that the "own's case will probably continue into Monday at the Hastings County Courthouse.

Earlier in the trial, Meneely admitted through his lawyer, Ronald Thomas of Toronto, that he had the shotgun in his physical possession when it discharged, hitting his father in the chest and also admitted he was in the attic of the house at the time.

Cpl. Ernest Steacy of Ontario Provincial Police (OPP) at Sault Ste. Marie, who was a constable with OPP at Campbellford at the time of the shooting, was the first officer at the scene and testified Meneely told him the following:

"We were down by the barn and Dad told me to see if there were any woodchucks in the field. I looked and seen five or seven. He told me to get the gun. I went in the house and made myself a cup of coffee and drank it. Then I got the gun and loaded it and I could hear as I walked through the kitchen. I tripped and the gun went off and Dad was coming towards the door. I hit him and he turned and ran outside and fell where he is now."

Cpl. Steacy said Meneely made a similar statement, but with the addition of "the lip of the doorway between a kitchen and a laundry room, about 15 minutes later in the presence of Coroner Dr. D.W. Burgess and himself.

Cpl. Steacy gave his testimony of the quotes from memory and said he has reviewed his notes several times. He said he made his notes from memory about two hours after the statements were made.

Mr. Thomas said there were discrepancies between Cpl. Steacy's memorized quotes and those which the officer read from his notes at an earlier preliminary hearing. He noted the interchange of the words "woodchuck" and "groundhog" and of the phrases "through the kitchen" and "through the house".

Cpl. Steacy agreed when Mr. Thomas asked, "you clearly acknowledge that even today you can't remember exactly?"

Mr. Deline called several times as Mr. Thomas questioned the discrepancies. At one point, he told Justice Pennell that Mr. Thomas was "walking all over the witness."

Justice Pennell said he could not find fault with Mr. Thomas' questioning and at the conclusion of Cpl. Steacy's testimony, he advised the officer to read from his notes in future.

Cpl. Steacy added in his testimony that Meneely showed no reluctance in relating what occurred. "He seemed anxious to talk," he said.

Cpl. Steacy said Meneely also told him, "do you know what I've done? I've shot my own father. The only one I had left. He took my mother in December and now my father. He could have left me one of them. I don't believe in film and I'm not wearing this anymore," whereupon he said Meneely attempted to pull a link chain with a religious medal off his neck.

Investigating Constable Gerald Howard Rollins of OPP at Madoc said when he arrived at the farmhouse, he observed a large quantity of new red stain in the laundry room with smaller red smudges on a doorjam between the room and a rear entrance and on some wall-hanging woodshed tools. "The red trail led outside to where the elder Meneely lay face down, he said.

His account of a Meneely statement made to him was similar to two versions given by Cpl. Steacy.

Constable Rollins said he returned to the Meneely residence two days later to request the accused visit the detachment office the next day. Because Det. Sgt. Ron Graham of OPP at Belleville wanted a further statement.

Under questioning by Mr. Thomas, Constable Rollins admitted neither he nor Det. Sgt. Graham cautioned Meneely that any statements might be used as evidence in future.

Constable Rollins explained it was clear in their minds at the time that they were investigating an accidental shooting. He said Meneely was not charged until Aug. 21, 1974.

Cpl. George Widdows of OPP at Madoc, now retired, who accompanied Constable Rollins on the day of the shooting, testified that Meneely "was very hesitant ... taking his time ... looking up at the ceiling ... either being very careful or seriously thinking about what he was saying" to Constable Rollins.

Constable Rollins had said Meneely spoke coherently, naturally and at a medium speed while he took notes on the spot although Mr. Widdows said, to his knowledge, he did not observe his fellow officer take notes.

Part of the preliminary hearing transcript was read into the trial containing evidence given by Joseph Peacock, an ambulance driver attendant at Campbellford Memorial Hospital who was first on the scene of the shooting.

Mr. Peacock is too ill to attend the trial but his evidence showed Meneely gave him essentially the same description of the occurence as was given to Constable Rollins and Cpl. Steacy and overheard by Mr. Widdows.

Witness testimony has revealed the elder Meneely was in the laundry room when shot. The attic, in which the younger Meneely has admitted being when the gun discharged, is reached by a ladder in the laundry room. In addition, there is a large hole in the laundry room ceiling which opens into the attic.

Firefighters Rescue Man From Smoke-filled Room

David Rough, 54, of 5 King St., is reported resting comfortably at Prince Edward County Memorial Hospital here where he was treated for smoke inhalation.

A spokesman for the Picton Police department said a fire alarm was turned in by Sgt. Scott Hole and Constable Harry Sisty when they spotted flames coming from the Rough residence while on patrol.

Firefighters remained at the scene for approximately two hours battling a blaze that guttled a bedroom in the home. Officials said they believe the fire was caused by smoking in bed.

Mr. Rough, alone in the house when the blaze broke out shortly before 3 a.m., was found on the bedroom floor by firemen.

No estimate of fire damage is yet available.

Authority Questions Island Home Sites

FRANKFORD — The Lower Trent Region Conservation Authority has questioned the feasibility of a request to develop 250 lots for full-time residential and recreational purposes on Nappan Island, approximately five miles north of Campbellford.

Bryan Boyce, resources manager for the agency, said Thursday, the impact of the development would harm the nature environment of the area.

Mr. Boyce said that 60 per cent of the island is wet land or marsh land; and the three feet depth of the water surrounding the island extends several hundred feet from the shore. "There would be a lot of dredging needed for the boats," he said.

Septic tanks for the development have been refused by the area's board of health and holding tanks would not work, said Mr. Boyce.

An Ontario Municipal Board hearing will be held the week of Nov. 24, is the Canadian Legion in Campbellford to hear arguments on the rezoning request, said Mr. Boyce.

Nappan Island is part of the Trent Canal System.

Liberal Committee Members Briefed on Defence by the General Staff

By RICHARD JACKSON

Ottawa Correspondent

OTTAWA — Confronting the government on the Commons Order Paper is a "Motion for Production of Papers" that could rock the already unsteady Defence Department.

It is the work of Allan McKinnon, two-term Conservative MP for Victoria, graduate of the Canadian Army Staff College, officer veteran of the Armed Forces and his party's Parliamentary Defence Critic.

With credentials like that, Allan McKinnon is no armchair defence strategist, but a service officer with field experience, so when he speaks — or writes — the Commons usually listens and reads.

On the Order Paper he has written this motion:

"That the Commons order production "of copies of the letters written by the Chief of the Defence Staff (General J.A. Dextraze) in certain staff officers of the Canadian Armed Forces to Members of Parliament in assistance they rendered to Liberal Members of Parliament in preparing for participation in the debate on the Defence Estimates."

Now here is the story behind it.

The Commons Defence Committee has 36 members, representing all parties, but with the party Liberals in majority.

Its job is to examine the spending of the nearly $2.8 billion defence budget; to try determining the kind of protective bang the taxpayer gets out of his Armed Forces buck.

Allan McKinnon, as the party's defence critic, leads the Conservative team. Leonard Hopkins, Liberal MP for Renfrew North, is chairman, and for three years Parliamentary Secretary to Defence Minister Richardson, headed the government group.

"Well, you know the Liberals and their attitude to defence," says Allan McKinnon. "They thing it's the one department of government where money can be cut. So the Forces are slashed and we scamp our NATO, North American and even our own modest defence obligations.

"It's been the trend for years, and under Prime Minister Trudeau it has become an effort to conceal his distaste for the Armed Forces. It's become established practice."

So the Liberals in the Defence Committee not only don't care, says Allan McKinnon, but aren't interested.

"They doned through most of the committee meetings. In fact, relaxed, "indicative of their attitude was the question asked by a bearded young Toronto freshman Liberal.

"His only contribution has been to ask how the Army kept its vehicles in operation for 30 years. He said he drove a 1964 Jeep Epic and wanted to on the secret.

There was a laugh from the Liberals and he was told to ask Army mechanics.

Then, after weeks of bored yawning in the Committee, the Liberals suddenly came wide awake and sharp. Tell us facts and figures, in the Commons Defence debate.

What had happened? Why the astounding switch?

Allan McKinnon, baffled if pleased by the sudden Liberal interest in defence, was approached through his Headquarters services and Parliamentary Defence Minister Richardson suggested to his Parliamentary Secretary, Len Hopkins, who passed it along to M.P. Whiting, Director of Defence Parliamentary Affairs, who relayed it to General Dextraze's office. But it would be a good idea if a team of staff officers briefed the Liberals in the Committee to sharpen them up for the defence debate.

Questioned about it, Defence Parliamentary Affairs Director Whiting admitted it was so and what was wrong with it?

Allan McKinnon called General Dextraze to confirm it. The Chief of the General Staff obliged; yes, his office had assisted a special officer task force to fill in the previously who-cares Liberals on defence matters.

Would the Department do the same for the Opposition?

It would answer any question asked by an MP, Director Whiting told Allan McKinnon.

But would the Chief of Staff provide officers briefed to the Conservatives to assist them in their critical examination of the Defence Department?

"You wouldn't expect us to do that, would you?" responded General Dextraze.

Perhaps you agree Allan McKinnon. Nor would he expect Armed Forces officers' work, are supposed to be the ultimate in political neutrality, to do the parliamentary homework for Liberal politicians.

So not only is he demanding production of the letters, but is raising an issue in Parliament of the political subversion of National Defence Headquarters.

Centennial Project

T-shirts and beer steins and a day at the Canadian National Exhibition are all well and good, but surely somebody out there can think of something more memorable to commemorate Belleville's 1978 centennial!

Thanks to city council, Belleville Centennial '78 Incorporated, as the steering committee for the event is known, has $300,000 of local tax dollars with which to work. They have a good cross-section of membership, and an able chairman in Lawrence Kells.

All they need is a project.

In past months, everything from a widows' retirement home to an addition to Glanmore House has been proposed by local residents as potential projects, but we've still only seen those t-shirts and beer mugs to indicate the organizing committee is keeping their date with '78.

As alderman Jean Smith told fellow councillors, time is running short. Even though three years seems like a long time, plenty of planning still waits doing.

The Indian Fact Today

Wounded Knee . . . Broken Elbow . . . I heard the Owl Call My Name.

Titles evocative of Indian lore: the first the name of the site of a confrontation in the Dakotas between Indians and the authorities; the last the name of a poignant CBC television production from the novel by Margaret Craven, to be screened again at the Corby library shortly.

They are titles evocative of the Indian — at best their awareness of the pathos and fractured nature of life, and of some form of life hereafter, and reflected by Indian poetry. At worst, of the hopelessness and degradation to which many Indians have been reduced, caught as they are between two very different cultures.

The middle title — Broken Elbow — is one drawn to our attention by Moira Secondary school librarian Albert Branscombe. He is seeking a copy of the book, which is about the Indians of Northwestern Ontario, but apparently is not in wide circulation. Published privately by its woman author, the book, which is illustrated, deals with the unhappier side of Indian life — the drunkenness, poor housing et al.

This is one side of Indian life, but there is a positive side, and it is reflected by the enviable collection of books on the subject at Moira. The school has a sizable number of students from Tyendinaga and the Indian segment of the library has been growing with the assistance of Indian liaison officer Mike Brant. The latter took over the post on the retirement of Leslie Claus.

Mr. Branscombe considers the Indian collection possibly the finest in Eastern Ontario, and certainly in these parts. It is appropriate that a people of such long lineage should be enshrined in this way, with Moira secondary giving a lead.

Diefenbaker Draws Fans

One of the crowd waiting to see John Diefenbaker and hopefully obtain his autograph at the launching of the first volume of his memoirs was a 15-year-old boy.

Why had he come, he was asked. Well . . . because Mr. Diefenbaker "is a great man," came the reply.

Who would deny we still need our heroes. Mr. Diefenbaker has known triumph and disaster and, as Kipling observed, treated those two imposters just the same.

Globe and Mail book reviewer William French sees "The Crusading Years" as a truly romantic story — of the young boy travelling west to the frontier, sleeping on the hay, wooden bunk of a colonist car, walking through prairie blizzards to school, talking with veterans of the Riel Rebellion, and telling his mother he would be Prime Minister one day.

The ambition achieved, that same man today remains a giant of the Canadian political scene — one whom some believe might lead the country again one day.

Ottawa Has Hot Seat on Wages

By DON O'HEARN

Queen's Park Bureau

Thomson News Service

TORONTO — Shafts are being launched hard and frequently at the premier for leaving the responsibility to administer wage controls with Ottawa.

School teachers and labor generally (and today, from their actions, I guess we class teachers as "labor") are groaning that Davis has, quite intentionally, got himself off the hook by leaving wage settlements in the lap of the federal government.

Indications are that it doesn't like what Ontario has done either, but it may be stuck!

If one wants to view the Davis position from a completely cynical outlook you can believe that his decision was entirely political.

For it certainly is politically comfortable to have Ottawa laying down the rules and getting into the you-can't-win fights over wage settlements with teachers, civil servants or others.

But still, whether political or not, I think the people of Ontario probably will be better off, and should be better off, with Ottawa handling the negotiations.

This applies particularly with the province's own employees, and teachers which you would class at least as semi-government employees.

With these groups it is impossible for the government here to achieve a good arm's length position in negotiating. It can't carry out satisfactory bargaining.

It can't for two reasons.

One is that it is a political agency and must be supersensitive and overly-careful about public reaction.

The second is that it is dealing with public moneys not profit moneys. And it thereby loses the most weighty bargaining factor of the private sector, the argument that there is only so much money available.

Having a federal agency handle the final negotiations at least gets them one step removed and should result in more objective and rational conclusions.

Then there is the argument put forward by the government that a provincial control group would establish another layer of bureaucracy.

This is scorned by the NDP. But citizens with more concern for the public purse, and with a dislike of bureaucracy, should be impressed.

Aside from the money involved, and it would be considerable, and another web of red tape, Lord knows that the last thing we need around here is another batch of bureaucrats.

Traumatic Changes Influence the Auto Industry

By VINCENT EGAN

Business and Consumer Affairs Analyst

Thomson News Service

Not, so long ago, Ralph Nader and his raiders were the biggest challenge facing the North American auto industry.

Those were the good old days. Now, the combined forces of facing new challenges that are much more fundamental than the problem of what to do about the occasional lemon. Here are a few:

—Higher fuel prices. Gasoline costs twice as much as it did just two or three years ago, and some motorists are weighing the increased cost of car operation against the alternative of public transportation.

—A baby boomerang, sputtering along like an old car on a cold morning. Inflation has driven up the price of cars, and recession has driven down the disposable incomes of a good many potential car-buyers.

—A revolution in the marketplace. Some consumers have abandoned their life-long love affair with big cars, and are thinking small instead. If that kind of thinking should become the increased cost of car operation might be forced to make a far-reaching conversion of their assembly techniques and operations.

It's at this juncture that Donald H. McPherson has taken over the top spot at General Motors of Canada Ltd., this country's biggest manufacturing operation.

The new president, general manager and chief executive officer was born in Alberta, but his training in engineering and his career with GM have been centred in Detroit.

There, he was instrumental in GM's history-making decision to enter a field—the production of small cars weighing less than a ton—that had previously been the exclusive domain of overseas manufacturers.

The result of that decision is the new Chevrolet Chevette (and its Pontiac equivalent in Canada, the Acadian), introduced early this month.

So far, sales of the new subcompact have been brisk, and dealers have stacked a claim on each unit to be produced between now and January.

"I've never seen such enthusiasm for a car," says Mr. McPherson. Production capacity has risen until 30,000 Chevettes and Acadians in Canada are being built this year.

The new head of GM Canada said he was confident that his company's assembly lines at Oshawa St. Catherines and Windsor, Ont., could be converted to the manufacture of smaller cars at reasonable expense, when and if sales were to dictate such a move.

"It isn't that big a conversion," he said.

The trend that is emerging in the United States is in the direction not only of smaller cars but also of fewer options and a longer period of ownership.

The situation is further complicated in Ontario, which represents one-third of the Canadian car market.

To stimulate the economy, the province removed the sales tax on cars earlier this year, but will re-instate the seven per cent tax next Jan. 1.

General Motors expects that Ontario sales will be brisk until the end of 1975, then go into a slump—greater, probably, than the usual mid-winter decline—until spring.

By then, the auto industry may will be faced with a major change in consumer thinking, influenced by price-and-income restraints, still higher gasoline prices—and the chances of keeping the old clunker going for another year.

John Diefenbaker Memoirs And Other Political Works

By JOHN D. HARBRON

Foreign Affairs Analyst

Thomson News Service

TORONTO — The big political books keep coming out this fall: The much-publicized Volume One of John Diefenbaker's memoirs is just out, more anecdotal than historical apparently. Next week the Pickersgill trilogy on St. Laurent as Canada's best prime minister ever he claims, in My Years with St. Laurent will be released.

Much, much further downstream are the biographies of C. D. Howe, the super-czar of government organization during the Second World War, and of the late Vincent Massey, former governor-general.

The Howe biography is well in tandem with young Toronto historian Robert Bothwell as the official Howe biographer and Claude Bissell moving very slowly on the Vincent Massey story. We won't see them until perhaps the end of this decade.

In the meantime, a fine history of the wartime politics of the Mackenzie King Government, 1939-1945 has been on the market for several months now, not sharing in the inevitable bally-hoo around the Diefenbaker book, but based on the newest and the best diaries.

It is a first-class history, using much new material and putting into new contexts the domestic developments in Canada at war.

The international associations of Canada, our dwindling role with Britain and alarmingly close to the United States as the author sees it, are just as thoroughly investigated and reported.

The book is Canada's War: The Politics of the Mackenzie King Government 1939-1945, by Prof. Jack L. Granatstein and published by Oxford University at $18.95.

And it is on the market at a good time, not just because there are so many other politics biographies that are floating around including two others on C. D. Howe, including Volume 3 of the Pearson story, but because it has a relevance to today's events.

This is undoubtedly not the main reason why historian Granatstein would want us to read his book on Canada's War. But a book of almost 500 pages, issues yet to be resolved, recent Canadian history will be a long haul for most readers, including those who find studies in depth like this are intimidating.

To this reviewer, the analysis of the motives of King and key international figures, the analysis of events they either inspired or in which he played a major role.

This was chiefly true in reading the book in sections on Financing the War at Home, Canada's Defence, Canada's Peace, Park and After.

The first outlines the immense competence shown by senior civil servants and financial specialists in setting up war financing, handling wage and price restraints, making rationing work smoothly.

The second reveals a Mackenzie King who was not, conceivably, master of his own house where his relations with the late U.S. President Franklin D. Roosevelt was concerned.

According to Granatstein, King was inclined sit at the feet of the personnies and effusively American president. Granatstein sees this as the major historical reason for the heavy swing of Canada into the American orbit beginning in the fall of 1940.

The author explores fully and for the first time the previously-known deep suspicions which King held for British motives and his strong dislike of Churchill as an "erratic warmonger."

Churchill in turn, who wrote his articulate history of the Second World War, liked King "as a colonial who should, but didn't always know his place and keep it!"

This country's current excursion into wage and price controls in a way not seen since the Second World War, invalidated the one in the portions of the Granatstein tome dealing with those years. Perhaps the question is begged did they work?

The answer is yes, magnificently. On page 186 the author reports: "The cost of living had risen by 17.8 per cent from August 1, 1939 to October 1, 1941, but from October 1, 1941 to April 1, 1945 the percentage increase was a mere 2.5 per cent. The cost of food had actually dropped by almost five per cent and the cost of clothing and home furnishings was virtually stable."

Granatstein is perhaps too fulsome throughout his study where King directly is concerned. Relying this heavily on his diaries could well have produced this inevitable result, although the complaints of reviewers to date has been the opposite: King's diaries as the custodians of the Liberal view of Canadian history, with Jack Pickersgill, to slowly make available such documents as the King diaries.

Yet he could have analyzed further Kings disastrous relations with his generals and troops in the field.

Later Canadian prime ministers showed the same indifference with the Canadian military establishment, including Diefenbaker's ostracizing of the survivors of the Korean military crisis in October, 1962 and Lester B. Pearson's lack of concern with almost anything military.

Correction

Mrs. Cherrie Liddle draws attention to a statistical error in her letter in Wednesday's issue regarding the Parents Teacher group, Citizens Helping Individual Learning Development. A paragraph regarding membership should have read: "Speaking with parents on a one-to-one basis, I am pleased to announce that about 30 people I telephoned I have 27 people that will form the nucleus of C.H.I.L.D."

Hamilton Philharmonic Orchestra To Play Concert at Centennial

Conductor Boris Brott and the Hamilton Philharmonic Orchestra will perform in Belleville at Centennial Secondary School Oct. 30 at 8:30 p.m.

Their performance, sponsored by Canada Arts Council in part of a tour backed by the Ontario Council, the ministry of education, the ministry of cultural affairs, Ford and the Ontario — Quebec Permanent Committee.

The orchestra, which has won national and critical acclaim since 1969, combines the talent of some of the best known musicians in the world and the 35-year-old conductor, Mr. Brott.

Mr. Brott who is also the philharmonic's music director, and conductor of the BBC Welsh Symphony Orchestra, is a son of composer-conductor — violinist Alexander Brott and Lotte Brott, professional cellist.

He was born in Montreal and made his first violin solo appearance at the age of five at the Montreal Symphony.

At the age of 19, after studying the violin for 13 years, he was appointed assistant conductor of the Toronto Symphony Orchestra.

He later became principal director of the Northern Sinfonia of Britain.

He has written and acted as host on television and radio shows, directed music for Lakehead University and Symphony, and was assistant conductor of New York Philharmonic under Leonard Bernstein.

Mr. Brott was a gold medal in the Dimitri Mitropoulos International Conductors Competition and was chosen by the Jaycees Association of Canada as one of the five outstanding young Canadians.

Tickets are $4, $3.50 and $2.50. Selections include: Mozart-overture of the Marriage of Figaro; Elgar-serenade; Tchaikovsky-variations on a Rococo theme with soloist Denis Brott and Beethoven-Symphony No. 3 in D Major.

Music Background Starts in 1700s

VANCOUVER (CP) — Music is more than a pleasure for Eugene Breton. It is his whole life as it has been for generations of his family stretching back to the 1700s.

The family has not produced maestros on stage, but it has created stringed instruments that sing heavenly sounds in the hands of a master.

Musicians from all over bring their instruments—some in many pieces—to the master for repair.

"Louis can string a double bass faster than I can," Mr. Breton said with pride.

"And Linda—she took a partially built violin that was wrecked in The old man who was making it just gave up. I didn't want it either so Linda found some pegs, an old bridge, tail piece and strings and put it all together.

"She doesn't have a finger board but it plays—it would be good enough for the old-time fiddle kind of music. It plays."

His wife Carol, a classical guitarist whom he met at a symphony concert, is also an important part of the family team, doing the critical varnishing on instruments that have been repaired or newly-constructed.

"We all played some instrument . . . some of us more than one, and father had a family orchestra. We used to play for all the dances. In fact we would sometimes have to split up and we would be playing at five places in one night."

His own violin is a copy of a Stradivarius and there have been musicians who thought it was the real thing after hearing him play it.

"I've been offered good sums for the violin but I won't sell it," he said.

He said an essential for creating a fine instrument is old wood. His copy of a Stradivarius came from the wood of a grandfather clock about 300 years old.

Another must in making or repairing instruments is the finish.

Mr. Breton said too often most refinishers or repairmen slather heavy coats of varnish—or even paint—on old instruments, ruining the tone.

"That is part of the work of restoration. It is difficult sometimes to get it all off without damaging the instrument, but when you do it will sound as it should."

His greatest challenge came 11 years ago when he acquired for $15 a violin on which a grand piano had fallen. It came to him in pieces in a shoe box.

The maker was Alessandro Gagliano, an Italian who lived from 1660 to 1730.

After months of painstaking labor, fitting the pieces together, he sold it for $6,000 but he shook his head at the memory.

Hank Snow Visits

More than 800 people stomped their feet in time with Hank Snow's music Thursday at Centennial High School. The show, sponsored by Belleville Jaycees, was a special performance by Mr. Snow who came 300 miles to perform here. Above, Hal Tompkins, Jaycees president, welcomes Mr. Snow.

Crash Scene Real

FALLON, Nev. (AP) — The Six Million Dollar Man is more than just another television series for Bruce Peterson.

He is the survivor of the spectacular crash of a space vehicle shown at the start of each segment of the show. Peterson narrowly escaped death in the 1967 accident, and had to be partially reconstructed by teams of surgeons.

Peterson inspired the show, but the 43-year-old former test pilot, currently undergoing marine air reserve training, said his surgery did not include the atomic-powered limbs that make actor Lee Majors the superhuman Steve Austin of Six Million Dollar Man.

"I just got conventional surgery," Peterson said, laughing. His skull was fractured, his forehead literally scooped out, right eye partially blinded, teeth and one hand broken.

"I don't think it cost any $6 million to put me back together," he said. In fact, he doesn't know what the actual cost was. His employer now and at the time of the crash—the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA)—footed the bill.

Peterson was a test pilot for NASA's flight research center at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif., at the time of the crash of the M-2F2, a wingless, experimental space shuttle.

Now he is director of safety and quality assurance for the research centre and a lieutenant-colonel in the marine air reserve.

LOS ANGELES (Reuter)—The singing pair of Karen and Richard Carpenter said Thursday they have cancelled a November European tour because Karen is suffering from mental and physical exhaustion.

The tour was to have included an appearance at the Royal variety performance in London on Nov. 10.

The Carpenters' manager said Karen has been suffering from exhaustion and an internal infection since a year-old appearance in September.

The Carpenters' Las Vegas appearance was marked by a public dispute when veteran songwriter Neil Sedaka was fired from the show because, Sedaka claimed, he was getting greater applause than The Carpenters.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Temporary support of $1,500 a month has been awarded in Superior Court to the wife of Sigmund Claudio Jackson, 24, guitarist for the Jackson Five singing group.

Autumn Bazaar and Fashion Show At Holloway Street United Church

Sunny autumn weather brought out a large number of visitors to the Holloway Street United Church Bazaar on Wednesday afternoon.

Featured during the bazaar was a fashion show sponsored by Tots 'N' Teens, in which women from the church congregation modelled seasonal styles. Pianist Betty Watson accompanied the showing.

Another special feature of this year's event was the additional participation of the men's club. Members of the A.O.T.S. sold cheese from Maple Dale cheese factory in Plainfield, along with wooden cutting boards and indoor plants.

Convenors for the occasion were Ruth Bailey and Ruby Bertrand. In charge of decorating was Ethel Knight, and of tickets and advertising, Pearl Holmes. The tea room staff was headed by Phyllis Chambers, and the kitchen by Ruth McMillan and Jeanette Outingbyke.

Various booth conveners were as follows: aprons, Hazel Dixon; white elephant, Marjorie Miller; bake table, Lillian Herron and Kay Dickens; sewing and knitting, Thelma Townsend and Marjorie Ptolemy; gifts and crafts, Ann Ridley and Helen Ray; men's booth, Ned Ridley and Walter Mallows and country store, Thelma Bartlett. Kathleen Pusto was hostess convener and Dorothy Taylor was in charge of stage and music.

BGH HOSPITAL AUXILIARY GENERAL MEETING

Members of the Belleville General Hospital Auxiliary were given a picture story in slides of their many volunteer services at their general meeting on Tuesday.

Volunteers serve in many areas of the hospital, including Gift and Coffee Shops, pediatrics, extended care, medical library, library carts, etc. Others create the puppets which are given to children who spend more than two days in hospital. Some make the sweet trees which are best-sellers in the Gift Shop, and still others visit, do the administrative work of the auxiliary and man the information desks.

Outside the hospital, the Opportunity Shop continues to be a mainstay of the Auxiliary. The program was presented by Fred and Lois Beeby.

Conveners of the various projects gave reports and cheques for $1,000, $1,500 and $2,400 were presented from the Gift, Coffee and Opportunity Shops respectively.

A mammagraph unit is on order which will be a major contribution to the hospital this year.

Refreshments were served by the social committee following the meeting.

NSA WORKSHOP

"Business Women's What is Their Role?" will be the topic of a Workshop sponsored by the Belleville chapter of the National Secretaries Association, Saturday, October 25, from 2 to 4 p.m.

Organized by the International Women's Year Committee of the NSA the event is open to the public at no charge, at Centennial Secondary School. Coffee and refreshments will be served following the program.

Lin Good of Kingston, member of the Ontario Status of Women Council and assistant chief librarian at Douglas Library, Queen's University, will be guest speaker. Discussing the role of business women in contemporary society, and answering questions from the audience, will be a panel of five persons: Olive Delaney, chief librarian at Corby Public Library, Judge R.C. Honey, county court Judge; Marie Huffman, teacher of business at Centennial Secondary School. Leslie Reid, deputy director of education for the Hastings County Board of Education, and Jean Smith, Belleville city council alderman.

Engagement

The engagement is announced of Deborah Doreen Lovett, youngest daughter of Mrs. Doreen Lovett, Belleville, and the late Charles Lovett, to Walter Vanderkooy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Vanderkooy of R. R. 4, Stirling. The marriage will take place on Saturday, November 8, at 4 p.m. in Maranatha Christian Reformed Church, Belleville.

Engagement

Mr. and Mrs. Carl F. Haynes of R. R. 1, Corbyville, are pleased to announce the engagement of their daughter, Rozanna Irene to Frank James Dwyer, son of Mrs. Florence Dwyer of Brockville. The wedding will take place at St. Mark's United Church, Cannifton, on Saturday, Nov. 15, at 5:30 p.m.

CLARE BOOTH LUCE

By Aiden Haich

Clare Booth Luce made a place for herself in international affairs with her appointments to Congress and as American Ambassador to Italy. These appointments made as much impact as did her numerous journalistic reports from the Far East scenes of the last war.

The pretty child of a broken marriage, she grew into a beautiful and ambitious woman, made herself a place in sophisticated New York journalism and married a millionaire. This marriage dissolved in alcohol and she returned to journalism where she met and married Henry Luce, ruler of the powerful Time-Life publications empire.

Her private life remains hidden in this biography, save for the death in a car crash of her only daughter, her conversion to Roman Catholicism and the death of Henry Luce. Beneath the facts one can sense all sorts of human dramas and dilemmas — a fascinating biography.

This book is available in the Corby Public Library.

Mr. and Mrs. David Ross Roblin

Roblin — Bailey

Eastminster United Church was the setting for the September 20 wedding of Pamela Kirk Bailey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Bailey and David Ross Roblin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Roblin. Rev. Alex McDowell officiated at the service. The bride's attendants were Janice Nelles and her sisters Jane and Lisa Bailey; Lawrence Dempsey, David Lewis and Robert Landry attended the groom. The newly-married couple now live in Stirling.

Mr. and Mrs. Brian McQuaid

McQuaid — Wessels

Susan Christine Wessels and Brian Joseph McQuaid were married in Holy Rosary Catholic Church at the end of the summer by Rev George Mullin.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wessels and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bertram McQuaid.

Given a marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of Qiana, with a high neckline. Seed pearls trimmed the neck and bodice, and were carried out in a design across the front inset at the waistline. An attached chapel train flowed from the hemline. A Juliette cap, re-embroidered with lace and seed pearls, held a three-tiered fingertip illusion veil. She carried a circular nosegay of melon-shaded roses and carnations. Decorated with white carnations and baby's breath.

Susanne Bradshaw was matron of honor in a melon-colored gown with a scoop neckline accented by a flounce of the same fabric, and matching tie at the back of the A-line skirt. She wore a white picture hat trimmed with melon ribbon and carried a bouquet of white carnations and daisies with melon baby's breath and ribbon.

Bridesmaids were Judy Meraw of Alnwick, Jane Wessels and Sandi Hobson of Kingston, all dressed identically to the matron of honor, and carrying identical bouquets.

Jennifer Folwell was flower girl in a melon-colored gown that was softly gathered in sections. She wore white flowers in her hair.

Robert McQuaid, the groom's brother, was his best man. Serving as ushers were the groom's brother Paul McQuaid, the bride's brother Fred Wessels, and Jack Bradshaw.

After a trip to the Pocono Mountains in Pennsylvania, Mr. and Mrs. McQuaid have made their new home in Toronto.

Ann Landers

An Unusual Expression of Love — But Is It Against the Law?

Dear Ann Landers: This letter is not fresh. Take so please take it seriously. My fiance and I plan to be married next year. We are both college-educated, enjoy our career and have an honest, open relationship.

Instead of the traditional engagement ring we want to do something different. Before you decide we are insane, let me tell you we have discussed this thoroughly and are in total agreement.

We wish to have a life-size color photograph taken, embracing nude from the waist up. We feel this would be a very beautiful, meaningful, symbolic expression of our love. This photograph would hang in our bedroom and would be the gift we shared, rather than an engagement ring.

Our problem is that we don't know if it is against the law for a commercial photographer to take such a picture. Could we be the photographer be arrested? Do wedding photographers take poses suggested by clients?

Please understand we are not clowning about this. We need your help. — Very Much In Love

Dear VMIL: Look in the yellow pages and start making calls. I'm sure you'll find a commercial photographer who will be happy to oblige. So far as I know, such a picture is not illegal. I've seen plenty of ads that are a lot more offensive than what you have in mind.

Dear Ann Landers: It's too late for me, and much too late for my poor brother. We buried him last week. But I hope you will make room in your column for this letter. It might help wake some parents up.

From the time my brother and I could toddle we were allowed to take sips of liquor from our parents' glasses. We soon learned to like the taste of it. By the time we were 10 years old we couldn't wait till Mom and Dad went out at night so we could get into the liquor cabinet. I remember Mom saying how hard it was to wake us up for school in the morning after they'd left us alone the evening before. Of course, they couldn't smell the liquor on our breath because they were pretty crocked themselves.

I married at 17, a senior in high school. The marriage didn't last because of my drinking. I married a second time at age 23—another boozy failure.

My brother married a lovely girl at age 20, but he couldn't stay sober long enough to make a decent living. His wife worked to support their three small children. They spent eight stormy years together. Last year, he committed suicide.

Why is it that parents would not steal in front of their children, nor would they shoot themselves full of heroin if their children were watching, but think nothing of drinking alcohol in the presence of their children and allowing them to take sips of the drinks? As I said, Ann, it's too late for me, but hopefully this letter will wake others up. — Started Sipping Very Young

Dear Friend: Why is it too late for you? If you really want to, dry up, give Alcoholics Anonymous a try. It could mean a whole new life. Please look in the phone book and attend the next meeting in your neighborhood.

Breast Cancer Risk Cases Undergo Preventive Surgery

TORONTO CP — A Detroit radiologist predicts that removal of subcutaneous tissue from the breast as a cancer preventive will soon be done more frequently in women considered to have the highest risk of getting the disease.

Dr. John Wolfe of Detroit's Hutzel Hospital told a seminar at Mount Sinai Hospital on Saturday that diagnostic breast x-ray can be done through a technique called xeroradiology, which uses a Xerox copying machine to project xray images on paper rather than on conventional xray film.

Women are then classified in five categories ranging from high risk to minimal risk according to type of breast tissue and age susceptibles.

Dr Wolfe said doctors should consider preventive breast operations for high risk cases, depending on the women's age, symptoms and family medical history.

The process he referred to removal of subcutaneous breast tissue does not disfigure. Only breast tissue, beneath the skin, not nipples or glands, is removed and replaced with silas implants, he said.

Women considered in the high risk group are those whose breasts show abnormal growths other than cancer. Dr. Wolfe said they should see a doctor every three months in addition to conducting a monthly self examination.

Women with Better Education Are More Likely to Have Jobs

TORONTO (CP) — An interesting statistic in this International Women's Year of 1975 reveals that as the educational level of Canadian women rises, so does their participation in the labor force.

Other Canadian statistics show that in several university courses—commerce and business is one—the number of women graduating is increasing at a much faster rate than the number of men.

Not many would be willing to admit that women are about to take over the male-dominated business world, but few will dispute that they are on the move.

For example, the chartered banks, major employers of women, are helping to finance a study to determine if their female employees have made any progress up the corporate ladder in the last six years.

As of last April, Canadian banks employed 125,576 persons of whom 90,396 were women, or roughly seven out of 10.

Despite that kind of female power, there are no accurate statistics to show the number of women in junior or senior positions in the banks, although a 1969 study found out that are a lot more offensive than what you have in mind.

Dear Ann Landers: It's too late for me, and much too late for my poor brother. We buried women recruits, not just to avoid charges of discrimination, but because they are frequently better qualified than men.

Hudson Bay Mining and Smelting, which has been very expensive, colorful print ads.

The company has 12 female technicians and 29 women in full-time operating jobs.

Another more recent phenomenon has developed that reflects the impact women are having on the corporate structure, is the number of consulting groups offering feminist know-how to business leaders.

They are run by women like Nell Thomson, 41, a former television writer, who has no illusions about corporate motives or women's liberation.

"I'm not naive enough to believe that business firms come to us because they care, because they don't," she said.

"They care about profits, and I agree with them."

She said companies hire her firm, Nell Thomson and Partners, because, in most cases, they want to avoid unions, legal problems or tougher legislation.

Among her rivals in the field of advising business firms on women are: Women Associates Consulting Inc., Huntley Professional and Educational Services Inc. and The Woman

As well, the Ontario government has six full-time consultants offering free advice to businesses that may want to hire women.

Pouch Packs Replace Cans

TORONTO (CP) — Canadians, who eat 127 million pounds of french fries a year, now can buy the food in an aluminum pouch which needs no freezing or refrigeration, a spokesman for the company which manufactures the product says.

The packaging "could eventually replace cans as well as frozen food," Jack Wilks, general manager of Swan Valley Foods of Richmond, B.C., said Monday at Pac-Ex, the packaging show at the Canadian National Exhibition grounds.

The pouch consists of aluminum foil sandwiched between two layers of plastic. Food packed in the flexible aluminum pouch is sterilized and cooked for a shorter period than food processed in cans, so nutrients are retained, he said.

Aluminum pouches are popular in Japan and Europe and the United States Army now packs all its combat rations in them. One reason they have not been marketed in North America is their high cost of production.

Refuses Bill to Free Morgentaler on Parole

OTTAWA (CP) — Speaker Jean-Jerome Renaud Thursday day after introduction of a bill that would order parole for convicted abortionist Henry Morgentaler.

Mr. Gerome said in Que Commons that House rules make mandatory for all private bills to be introduced by the government.

The bill was sponsored by Stuart McMillan (NDP—New Westminster), Gordon Fairweather (C—Fundy Royal) and Ed Robichaud (L—St. Paul's).

Dr. Morgentaler has been sentenced twice by Quebec juries on charges of performing illegal abortions. But he was sentenced to 18 months in jail last March after a Quebec Appeal court overturned the jury decision in his first case and the Supreme Court of Canada upheld the reversal.

He was eligible for parole in September after one-third of his sentence had been served, but his application was rejected by the national parole board.

"We have released people like Harold Ballard," Mr. Renaud said.

"We have released rapists and murderers and all sorts of strange people in the country. But for some reason or other the parole board has not seen fit to move in the case of Dr. Morgentaler."

Mr. Ballard, owner of the Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League, was paroled before completing a prison sentence.

School Boards Sign Two Year Contracts

TORONTO (CP) — School boards in Metropolitan Toronto have decided to sign a contract with Metro's 11,000 teachers which will give the teachers an average increase of 40 per cent over two years, the chairman of the Metro board said Thursday.

Norm Ross said at a meeting of the Toronto board of education that the seven boards signed Thursday and the other two intend to sign by today.

The contract says that it is only valid if approved by the federal and provincial review board, he said. If it rules the increases are too high, school boards will abide by the ruling, the chairman said.

The increases were agreed to by negotiators for the teachers and boards last month and were ratified by the boards last Sept. 21. The teachers ratified the proposed increases last week. A number of days after the announcement of federal guidelines limiting increases to 12 per cent this year.

The increases would raise the salary of an elementary teacher with a Bachelor of Arts degree but no degree, to $11,273 by September, 1976, from $7,800 in 1974.

Mr. Ross said it had not been decided whether the board would pay the increases now or wait until the review board considered them. If the increases were paid now and later were ruled too high, the excess amounts might be collected from the teachers in income tax, he said.

Bonus Given

AMSTERDAM (AP) — Dutchmen who enlist in the army for two years will receive an extra year's pay when discharged under a new recruitment plan. It means that a man with the rank of sergeant would receive a $9,000 bonus on return to civilian life.

Airline Employees Vote for Strike

WINNIPEG (CP) — The Canadian Airline Employees Association, the union which handles Air Canada's financial records, voted Thursday in favor of strike action, a spokesman said.

No strike date has been set.

The spokesman said the vote was taken after close scrutiny of a conciliation report drawn up by Winnipeg lawyer Harry J. Jessiman.

The union executive had recommended rejection of the report and strike action. The spokesman said the vote by 470 members was 65 per cent in favor of a strike to back association demands.

The conciliation report, has not been made public and no details were available on the issues in dispute.

Postal Picketers 'Hassled' Says Union

The five women members of the Canadian Union of Postal Workers in Brighton have been "verbally hassled" by the public while manning their picket line, says walker Yateman, Trenton-based local union president.

"The non-unionized section of the population is fairly upset with the strike," said Mr. Yateman.

He said non-unionized workers in Brighton are "notoriously poorly paid" and their frustration is directed at striking post office inside workers.

All inside workers in Brighton are women and the Belleville local has had to walk picket lines with them to support them, he said.

Tuesday, the first day of a nationwide postal strike, the women picketed alone, but letter men from Belleville were sent to help man picket lines. The Trenton post office, where the 13 inside workers voted against supporting strike action, was not picketed.

Mr. Yateman said his union local, representing 700 members, has asked senior union officials for help in solving a allocation problem.

Two Dead

Inquest Urges Upgrading Of Safety Procedures

A coroner's jury — stifled by two days of contradictory testimony — concluded more plant safety measures are required and that more care should be taken to ensure electricians are qualified to perform their duties following an inquest into the deaths by electrocution of two men working at Constellation Carpet last Feb. 21.

The two men killed in the 9.30 a.m. electrical explosion were Jean-Guy Massia (an employee of a city electrical contractor) and Lorenzo Herrington, stationary engineer for the carpet manufacturer.

Though testimony by witnesses varied, it was accepted in the inquest that two electrical contractors working on an addition to the carpet plant and two Constellation employees were attempting to replace a high voltage fuse when the explosion occurred.

At several points in the inquest, Coroner Dr. Clifford Meyer remarked on the divergent testimony and afforded the protection of the Ontario and Canada Evidence Acts to main witnesses.

Testimony from eye witnesses showed none of the men involved were wearing protective gloves or goggles.

Controversy mounted during the day's testimony as to how the explosion happened — whether it was because of an arcing effect because fuse was not turned off or because the fuse was grounded to the fuse cabinet before it was completely removed. It was never fully determined whether the correct tool was employed to remove the fuse.

The resulting explosion — described as "a ball of fire two or three feet across generating terrific heat" killed two men and seriously injured two others.

Archie Chapman, plant electrician, and Allan Merpaw, a second employee of a contractor, are both still rehabilitating and have not been able to return to work.

Coroner Meyer said the explosion resulting in the job had worked "in a most bizarre fashion . . . contrary to every electrical code."

Earlier he had commented, "most of the electricians that have testified here today should be sent back to school."

The jury's recommendations called for emergency flood lighting be installed in all electrical power rooms, that telephones have independent power source, that fire extinguishers be placed in power rooms and that staff be trained in their use.

The jury also recommended that safety equipment be provided by the company and that there be a regular program of safety instruction.

A jury area of discussion was the qualifications of the electricians on the job.

The jury requested in its recommendations "that a continuing program of technical upgrading be instituted and made mandatory for journeymen be instituted and thas the Ontario government grade all journeymen electricians according to their education and experience."

Mine Talk

Belleville and District Employment Committee chairman Jim Staveley (right) talks with Madawaska Mines Ltd. assistant treasurer John Donnelly Tuesday when the Bancroft resident attended a committee meeting. Mr. Donnelly, in talking to committee members said the uranium mine should employ between 300 and 350 after it opens in July, 1976.

Faulkner Endorses Controls

The federal government is determined to continue its program of selective price and wage controls work, said State Secretary Hugh Faulkner in Belleville today.

He said he believed there was general support for the restraints more from government among all Canadians.

If the program doesn't succeed the next step could be a mandatory, he added.

But the government is not anxious to set up a "bureaucratic monstrosity" that would be necessary to police total controls system.

In an interview after a press conference at the Four Seasons Hotel, he said main concerns include an impression the controls might not apply to everyone.

"It applies to everyone in the same way," he said.

There also appeared to be fears from middle income system lacked an effective mechanism to control prices and profits, he said.

If such fears exist the government would like to hear from unions "precisely how" labor bodies would like the system strengthened.

He said he believes it is a "big mistake" if unions "start defying the law or condemning the program".

"We feel the vast majority of Canadians support what we're trying to do to fight inflation this way."

Prominent leaders of labor groups appearing to resent or fight the program is "going to be condemned out of hand by the vast majority of Canadians," he said.

Damage Extensive

Total damage was estimated at $4,700 in a three-car crash on Highway 2, about 1.5 miles west of Brighton Tuesday morning.

Provincial police said Ronald Ricker, 68, of 56 Laird Ave., Middleton Park, was stopped to make a left turn off the highway. His car was struck in the rear by a car driven by Arthur Thiel, 42 of 11 Parkdale Dr., Trenton.

The impact sent the Ricker car into an oncoming automobile, driven by Wilbert Hart, 58, of RR 5, Trenton.

Damage to the Thiel automobile was estimated at $3,000 and $1,300 to the Ricker vehicle.

Mr. Thiel, said police, was taken to hospital after he complained of chest pains, but was later released.

Driver Faces Charges Following May Mishap

NAPANEE — A 53-year-old Trenton man, Thursday, was committed to trial before Judge and jury in connection with three charges following a car-pedestrian accident near here in May.

An OPP spokesman said Thursday following the completion of a preliminary hearing that Stanley Van Meer of 17 North Elm Dr., will appear in fall or spring assizes of Ontario Supreme Court. A date for trial has not as yet been set.

Ontario Provincial Police at Napanee said the accident occurred on the Glenora Ferry landing when Carol Schumaker, 34, of Elington was struck and killed by a car as she walked along the roadside with her five-year-old son, Albert who was injured.

Van Meer appeared in court Sept. 4 for the first part of the preliminary hearing. It was completed Thursday.

Van Meer is also to appear in provincial court, criminal division, for three other charges arising out of the accident. They are: driving with a blood alcohol reading in excess of .08, refusing to take a breathalyzer test and having liquor in a place other than his residence. No date has been set for trial.

Suspect Elects Trial By Jury

Douglas Ernie Cockhorn of RR 1 Elington has elected for trial by county court judge here Thursday on a charge of armed robbery in connection with a holdup at Kelly's drugs at 411 East Bridge St. in Belleville Tuesday.

No date has been set for the trial.

Inmate Work on View

Works by inmate artists will be on display at Quinte Mall Nov. 4 and 5 sponsored by the Prison Arts Foundation.

The show, originally planned in conjuction with the United Nations Congress on Crime that was cancelled in Canada, is continuing on a national tour until early 1976.

The Prison Arts Foundation, a federally chartered organization was formed in 1968 from a small group of volunteers with a plan to design Christmas cards.

Words From Inside a collection of writings by prisoners now is published by the foundation. A new publication titled Catalyst, a prison writer's exchange of ideas and information, now is published quarterly.

Car Rolls, Driver Hurt

BRIGHTON — An 18-year-old Brighton youth is in satisfactory condition in Trenton Memorial Hospital with a lacerated forehead sustained in a one-car accident Thursday on Highway 30 at Spring Valley, one mile north of here.

Brighton detachment of the provincial police report Donald Patterson, of 16 Dundas St., Brighton, was southbound when he lost control of his vehicle and rolled into the west ditch.

Suspect Elects Trial By Jury

Douglas Ernie Cockhorn of RR 1 Elington has elected for trial by county court judge here Thursday on a charge of armed robbery in connection with a holdup at Kelly's drugs at 411 East Bridge St. in Belleville Tuesday.

No date has been set for the trial.

Chief on Watch

Under the watchful eye of Sidney township fire chief Doug Scott, a Riverside Construction worker begins excavation work this week the foundations of the township's third fire hall, to be built on Aikens Rd. The $51,215 structure already has a pumper and a 15-man volunteer fire department waiting to move in. Firemen from the station will cover the most populated southern portion of the township.

Full-time Labor Standards Officer Needed for Belleville Says Staveley

By AL ZABAS
Staff Reporter

Belleville has an "urgent need" for a labor standards enforcement officer who would handle mostly non-unionized worker grievances against their employers.

That statement came Thursday from Belleville and District Employment Committee chairman Jim Staveley as he urged committee members to consider asking Queen's Park to permanently base such an official here.

"A lot of employers have complaints against employees," said the chairman. "There should be someone here to whom they could go."

Mr. Staveley said such an officer would handle complaints in the areas of minimum wagers, overtime pay, and working hours.

About five years ago, a labor standards officer was pulled out of Belleville after about a three-year stay. Now, a workers with a grievance can no one to turn to locally, but must write to ministry of labor Toronto offices for help, Mr. Staveley said.

The chairman's suggestion was met with arguments by Chamber of Commerce manager Don Sutton, who said a survey to gauge the need for such an officer be undertaken before any requests were made.

Mr. Sutton said he feels there isn't sufficient work in the Belleville area to station the officer here permanently. "We must find out what the needs are first," he said.

Provincial ministry of labor officials will be requested to come up with statistics to indicate the number of complaints now generated locally, the committee agreed.

From results from the survey — to be done by Canada Manpower local offices — and labor ministry files, it was felt the committee would then be able to better judge the need for such an officer.

Currently, said Canada Manpower manager Jim White, his Belleville office receives between 25 and 30 complaints a week.

In favor of the proposal, he said that, for example, the officer "will go after" any employer who was not paying the minimum wage.

Most complaints that come to the attention of his office are from non-union workers, he said. Workers in big unions are taken care of an "there's no problem."

Church Marks Birthday

The congregation of St. Columba Presbyterian Church in Belleville will celebrate its 19th anniversary this coming weekend.

Special speaker for the occasion will be the Rev. Norman Hutchison, who was the first minister of St. Columba when he came to Belleville from the North of Ireland to be its pastor.

There will be a congregational dinner on Saturday evening, and the anniversary service at 11.00 a.m. on Sunday morning.

High-speed Chase Ends in Arrest

Redley Hartwick, 19, of 303 Main St., Foxboro, has been charged by police in connection with the incident.

Police would not release further details.

Bulls Take Top Prize

Carlencrest Ned Dominion owned by Carl E. Petherick of Campbellford, toured five yearling bulls at the recent championship Holstein show at Peterborough for his fifth win of the season.

In 1974 he was Reserve all-Canadian bull calf winner.

Armed Forces Aided

Laying Carpet at North Pole All in a Day's Work

As a carpet layer, one floor is pretty much the same as another and life holds very few surprises in a professional sense.

But, It's not everyday you pack up your tools and head off to Alert in the Canadian Arctic to complete a job.

Richard Street, 22, will never forget the week in mid-October he spent at the most northern permanent habitation in the world teaching the Canadian Armed Forces how to lay carpet.

Employed by Robert Michael Ltd., of Belleville, Mr. Street said he didn't know what to say when he was asked to take the trip north. "I was asked Monday morning and I was on my way Wednesday."

The Canadian Armed Forces recently purchased about 1,500 square yards of floor covering from the Belleville firm and also needed on-spot expertise to teach forces personnel the correct installation — a chore that look seven days.

"It was terrific up there but the trip was some thing else," said Mr. Street.

"Riding in a Hercules (cargo) aircraft is like riding in the back of a truck . . . vibrating and noisy," he said.

It was my first trip out of Ontario, and it was exciting, he said.

"While I was up there, I was treated very well," he said. "They're a great bunch of men to work with."

The return flight proved the most exciting when an approach maneuver in the large loading ramp at the tail of the Hercules jarred slightly open — releasing cabin pressure.

It was difficult to breathe and the pilot dropped the plane 4,800 feet to compensate for the pressure and get air into the plane, said Mr. Street.

As far as the carpet was concerned "it was a pretty standard job."

"I'd like to go back again . . . but not in a Hercules," said Mr. Street.

Carpet Caper

It's not everyday that Richard Street is asked to travel to CFB Alert, 2,400 miles into the Canadian Arctic, to lay carpet for his employer Robert Michaud Ltd. The carpet was purchased by the Canadian Armed Forces for use in the Arctic. Mr. Street went to the north to instruct armed forces personnel in the installation of the floor covering.

Islanders Share Top After Blanking Flyers

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

New York Islanders handed Philadelphia Flyers their first defeat of the season Thursday night and created a tie for first place between the two clubs in the Patrick Division of the National Hockey League.

The 3-0 loss to the Islanders was the first for the Flyers in a regular-season game since they dropped an 8-3 decision to Pittsburgh Penguins on March 8. In the interim, they put together 27 wins and two ties.

Last year the Islanders finished in a second-place tie with New York Rangers, 25 points behind the Flyers, who went on to win the Stanley Cup.

The Islanders, regarded as one of the worst teams in NHL history in their early years, might have been excused for feeling on their heels after finally capturing a playoff berth.

But they went on from there to sideline the Rangers and Pittsburgh in the first two playoff rounds and put up a stiff fight before losing to the Flyers, the eventual champions, in six games.

Goaltender Glenn Resch, one of the Islanders' playoff heroes last spring, frustrated the Flyers Thursday night, blocking 30 shots and surviving a third period in which Philadelphia had a 15-8 edge in shots.

"We had them at their own game," said Resch. "Fore checking, tight defence and picking up the man with the puck."

Bob Nystrom scored one goal and added an assist and Denis Potvin and J.P. Parise scored power-play goals in the third period to beat the Flyers.

It was the first time the Flyers have been shut out since last February.

At Boston, Guy Charron scored in the last minute to give the Scouts their win. Goaltender Dennis Hervon's 25 saves helped keep Kansas City in the game.

Charron's goal came only minutes after Bobby Orr had tied the score with a short backhand shot past Bruins goaltender Gil Gilbert.

Wolves Whip Hawks

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Sudbury Wolves scored seven powered goals in the third period to defeat St. Catharines Black Hawks 7-2 Thursday and move into sole possession of the first place of the Leyden Division of the Ontario Hockeyn Association Major Junior A series.

Visiting Kitchener scored three goals in the final six minutes for the win after the teams tied 1-1 at the end of the first period and he Petes led 3-2 going into the third.

Kitchener goals went to Dan Djakalovic, Don Maloney, Gaston Gingras, Dwight Foster and Rod Laurence.

Each team had 36 shots on goal.

Abdul-Jabbar Finds New Club to Liking

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Kareem Abdul-Jabbar made his first National Basketball Association regular-season appearance with Los Angeles Lakers and it was New York Knicks who had to suffer the consequences.

Traded to Los Angeles by Milwaukee Bucks during the off-season, Abdul-Jabbar has proved both his new city and new team-mates to his liking.

And Los Angeles coach Bill Sharman had no complaints after the seven-foot-four centre scored on a three-point play to break a 97-97 deadlock and lead the Lakers to a 104-101 victory over New York.

In Thursday's other openers, Atlanta Hawks stopped New Orleans Saints 109-91, Golden State Warriors clipped Cleveland Cavaliers 89-83 and Washington Bullets defeated Kansas City Kings 107-95.

Burdened with five fouls, Kareem sat out most of the third period, but came back in the final quarter when the Knicks rallied, finally knotted the score at 97-97.

But the Lakers got the ball in deep to Abdul-Jabbar, who was fouled while scoring. He sank the free throw and New York never caught up again. Abdul-Jabbar finished with 27 points and 20 rebounds.

John Drew's 21 paced the Hawks' rout of New Orleans. The defending champion Warriors, who trailed by as much as 18 points in the first half, rallied behind Rick Barry's 22 points to pull out their win.

With Elvin Hayes scoring 29 points and grabbing 14 rebounds, the Bullets grabbed their first win at home for their Eastern Conference crown.

Racers Pick on Aeros To Snap Loss Streak

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Thursday's 4-0 win by Indianapolis Racers over Houston Aeros had Indianapolis coach Jacques Demers walking on air.

"The Aeros didn't come down to Houston but the victory was the biggest thing that could happen to the Indianapolis Racers right now," said Demers after the World Hockey Association game.

The victory snapped a five-game Racer losing streak that cost former coach Gerry Moore his job. The game was only the second for Indianapolis with personnel director Demers handling the coaching duties.

DAVE KEON

"It was a total team effort," said the new coach. "From the goaltender out through the defencemen to the forwards."

In other WHA games, Cincinnati Stingers defeated Edmonton Oilers 6-4 and Minnesota Fighting Saints tied San Diego Mariners 4-4 in overtime.

BREAKS THE

Indianapolis broke a scoreless tie with 1:02 left in the second period on a power-play goal. The Racers jumped on Aeros goalie Ron Grahame for three more goals in the final period.

The fledgling Stingers' victory over Edmonton gave them sole possession of first place in the WHA East Division. A crowd of 11,008 was on hand at Cincinnati Coliseum for the Stingers' home opener.

Rick Dudley, who came to the Stingers this year from Buffalo Sabres of the National Hockey League, had two goals for Cincinnati. Brian Campbell added a goal and two assists. Bill Krake had a pair of goals for Edmonton.

Veteran Minnesota centre Dave Keon scored his second goal of the night at 17:50 of the third period to lift the Fighting Saints into a deadlock with San Diego.

The Mariners had broken a 3-3 tie at 9:32 of the third period on the second goal of the night by Joe Neal.

Warriors Shade Hornets

WHITBY, Ont. (CP) — Doug Keeler scored both goals for Cambridge Warriors to give them a 2-1 win Thursday over Cambridge Hornets, who lost for the first time this season in Ontario Hockey Association Senior A action.

It was the only game scheduled in the OHA Senior A circuit tonight.

Cambridge outshot Whitby 38-25 and Gray was in goal for Cambridge and Brian Wilson for Whitby.

Canadians Move Up Hungarians Out In Dance Event

EDMONTON (CP) — An injury to the male partner in one of the world's top dance teams gave entrants in Skate Canada '75 an unexpected opportunity Thursday and two young Canadians took advantage of it.

Barbara Berezowski of Toronto and David Porter of Port Perry, Ont., ranked ninth in the world after the 1975 championships, grabbed third spot in the prescribed pattern section of the dance pairs event. They were close behind the leaders, Natalia Linichuk and Gennadi Karponosov of Russia, and the talented second-place pair, Maidie Cicola and Lambertо Cesarani of Italy.

Ranked second to the Russians before this third annual Skate Canada event, Andras Sallay and Kristina Regenyi of Hungary withdrew after the first of their three compulsory pattern dances when Sallay aggravated a back injury he received about three weeks ago in England.

Tyler Cranston of Toronto, Canadian men's singles champ, and Kim Sharer of Cambridge, Ont., his closest rival in this country for several seasons, captured two of the top four places in the compulsory figures bracket.

Officials agreed the Canadians' international experience and the skating they should improve their final standings before the competition winds up during the weekend.

Shaver said he is not uncomfortable to be in fourth place.

"It makes me work harder."

Cranston, who has come close to the world championship several times before starting at key moments, said he believes he can improve his compulsory figures considerably. Compulsory figures, now worth 30 per cent of a skater's possible total, have created problems for the inconsistent Cranston in previous years.

Some Canadians were concerned by the performances of the women's contingent. Susan MacDonald of Vancouver, Kim Alderson of Ottawa and Camille Saboe of Edmonton. They finished fifth, sixth and eighth, respectively, in the compulsories.

Trenton 'Tigers' Dave Pelican takes to the air for yardage in Bay of Quinte High School football League Junior match, Thursday at Centennial Secondary School. Pelican picked up plenty of yards on sweeps for Trenton team which kept its perfect record intact, completing regular season with 25-7 win to wrap up first place. No. 21 is Centennial standout Terry Thomson who contributed the team's touchdowns and was a threat any time he carried the ball.

Junior Tigers Make It a Clean Sweep

The Trenton Junior Tigers overpowered a 13-1 first half deficit to keep their unbeaten streak alive last Thursday night, and their 25-13 victory over the Centennial Chargers on Thursday at Centennial clinched first place in the Bay of Quinte High School Football League for the Trenton squad. Trenton finished the regular season with a seven win and no loss record.

Centennial finished the season with five wins and just losses but if the team had managed a victory over Trenton, the first place tussel would have gone to the Chargers on the basis of their win over the Trenton team.

Tigers started out strong, forcing the play in the home team's end. The visitors were held at the five yard line by a super Centennial defensive squad who, after stopping the first drive in drive by the Tigers, had to come right back and do the same thing all over again after the Alfonso fumbled the ball at the Centennial 20 yard line.

In the first half of play, outstanding play by the Charger defence prevented the visitors in their tracks as the Centennial squad barred all holes. The Trenton team also played a strong game but found the defence stiffening as Terry Thompson sent to impossible to contain.

Penalties aided the home team in their first major score as Thomson ran the ball on short yardage through the middle. Thomson was stopped on the two point conversion try giving the home team a 6-1 lead. Trenton scored the single point on a missed field goal attempt that went out of bounds in the end zone.

With less than a minute remaining in the first half, Thompson took a hand off and went for a 27 yard outside sweep that gave the Centennial team what appeared to be a commanding 13-1 lead heading into the final half of play.

The second half of play belonged to the Trenton team. Tigers overpowered their opponents in the final half of play right from the opening kickoff.

Mark Scoccafa took the kickoff from Chargers and ran the ball back 90 yards to give Trenton their first major of the game and start them on their way. The extra point attempt was good on the next play putting Trenton within four points of the Chargers.

The second touchdown that clinched the game and first place for Trenton came on a similar play as Brian Hanson returned a punt 80 yards for Tigers' second major of the game. Hanson ran the ball into the end zone for the two extra points giving Trenton a 18-13 lead.

The final touchdown for the Trenton club came in the dying moments of the fourth quarter as Tiger quarterback, Hanson handed the ball off to Chris Walsh who fed a pass to Rick Doucet in the end zone. Hanson again went to the outside to score the two extra points on the conversion.

Cable 4 Tapes Skating Session

By TOM GAVEY
Sports Staff

"I think some people aren't even aware we exist," commented Quinte Figure Skating Club president Ken Thompson on Thursday evening at the Memorial Arena.

The "break" Thompson was talking about is the fact that the community station taped a session of the club's junior skating program. Lee Journeay and Carolyn Emerson of Cablevue were in charge of the taping.

The session was very informal, with Mrs. Emerson interviewing several of the skaters, ranging in age from three years old to 14.

The club appreciates the publicity, as membership has gone down this year, although ice time has gone up one hour. The club has two professional figure skaters helping out with the junior lessons: Shirley Schouten and Janice Coyle both local girls.

"We felt we were giving people one of the best deals we've ever offered," commented Thompson.

With ice time up and the addition of several new faces in the instruction section of the club the association would appear to have been a good one.

Every Monday and Thursday from 4:15 to 6:15 p.m., junior skaters work out at the Memorial Arena. The professionals are helped by senior girls who have already gone through the 14 badges of the junior program.

Running the program is Christine Furse, secretary of the local club.

The lessons will be aimed toward competition, the first one in February, being held in Trenton.

"We are trying to set up a competition between Trenton and ourselves," said Thompson.

What Cablevue got was simply a normal evening of junior skating, but that should show people who are thinking of joining just what the club has to offer.

The show will be aired on channel 4 Wednesday at 8:30 p.m.

Top Teams Prepare for Playoffs

The Bay of Quinte High School Soccer league has just about wrapped up another season of regular play, with playoffs less than a week away.

Playoff spots were, to say the least, tough to manage as only the top two teams in each division make the post season action.

For instance Quinte Saints, who were winners in last weekend's tournament at Newmarket, have not qualified for the league playoffs, being beaten out by the Moira "A" team and Belleville Wanderers.

In Senior action, Moira clinched first place in the Eastern Conference, with a 5-0 win over Central Hastings Secondary School. The win not only clinched the pennant, it kept Moira undefeated over the season. Scoring in the win were, Dennis Thiffault with two markers, Bruce Yalemas, Tom Britton and Bob Chase. George O'Donnell was credited with his fourth shutout of the year. To compound their winning ways, Moira went right back out and defeated second place BCI by a convincing 6-3 score. On the scoreboard for the Trojans were Dennis Thiffault, this time with a hat trick, John Murphy, Rick Harbest and Mike Thompson. Replying for BCI were Dave Archer and Mark Adair.

In a match between two teams destined to sit out the playoffs Napanee defeated Nicholson Catholic College by a 5-3 margin. NCC opened up the scoring with Paul McAlpine's goal in the first minute. However, Napanee came up with three unanswered goals to win the game.

Other markers for Nicholson, came from Pat Scott and Kevin Shannon. Navalasai Ramdin of Nicholson played well on defence.

In Junior action Clarence Brookema made the difference for the Moira Trojans over Centre Hastings, scoring both goals in a 2-1 squeaker. Bryan Andair scored the only CHSS goal. The win put Moira in a battle with Nicholson Catholic College for the final playoff spot in the East, one which is still undecided.

East Division Junior change, BCI took a 5-0 win from the Moira Trojans. Dwight Begley led two goals in the net for the winners. Others on the scoring list were Kevin Parr, Steven Parr and Doug Campbell, with assists by Andair, Brad Wright and Mark Clare. It was the fourth they shared over the regular season.

Nicholson defeated Napanee 3-0 to keep their playoff hopes alive. Pat Hurley had two goals for; the winners, with Lino Ostuzza adding the other marker. The win put Nicholson and Moira at identical records so far in league play.

Cats Aim for 7

The Belleville Bobcats, the Metro Junior B Hockey League's winningest team to date, will try and remain the only undefeated team in the league tonight when the Cats travel to Oshawa to take on the Legionaires.

Bobcats have won all of their six games so far this season which include two games on the road, both of which were super efforts by the local squad. Oshawa will be one of the toughest tests that the Belleville team has yet to face in regular season play.

Oshawa has lost only one game to date and will be looking to put a stop to the high flying Cats.

In a pre-season game in Oshawa, Belleville looked impressive in scoring a 6-4 win over the opposition.

The Cats take with them tonight some very menacing statistics, at least as far as the opposition is concerned. In their six games so far Belleville has compiled a total of 47 goals against other teams while containing their opponents to only 25 goals.

No Rush to Sign Players from WFL

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

There aren't any red carpets being rolled out by the Canadian Football League for the 300 players put out of work by the collapse of the World Football League.

Anthony Davis, the exciting running back for Southern California Sun, was in town Friday with officials of Toronto Argonauts of the CFL but most Canadian teams apparently prefer to rely on the players they already have.

General manager Ken Preston of Saskatchewan Roughriders predicted Thursday there will be no rush to sign the players, who were put out of work when the league threw in the towel Wednesday.

"Unless some team is hurting at a certain spot or is out of the playoffs and trying to rebuild, I doubt if you will see that many of them brought up here," he said.

General manager Earl Lunsford of Winnipeg Blue Bombers said he doubts there will be a "mad rush" by Canadian teams for players from the disbanded league. He suggested that only a small percentage of the players in the WFL were good enough to play in Canada.

"We have three or four positions on our negotiation list, but I doubt we'll be bringing in anybody at this time."

Coach Marv Levy of Montreal Alouettes said his only interest is "in the team I have now."

A spokesman for Ottawa Rough Riders said his team is still undecided what use, if any, they will make of players from the disbanded WFL on their negotiation list.

Davis a rookie, was leading the WFL with 1,308 yards rushing, 138 points and 49 pass receptions in 13 games. He was the No. 1 draft pick of New York Jets in the NFL draft.

His agent, Mike Trope, said Davis will be in Toronto today for meetings with Argonaut president Lew Hayman and general manager John Barrow and go to New York later.

There was speculation around the National Football League about the future of Davis and former NFL star Larry Csonka.

NFL teams have until 4 p.m. Tuesday to come up with a final roster cut. They would have to cut players from their present rosters to make room for any refugees from the defunct league.

CFL teams have more leeway. They can look at players under the league's tryout rule and sign them for next season, something NFL teams can't do. They can sign players for this season any time, providing they can find room for them on their rosters.

Ed Garvey, executive director of the NFL Players Association, asked NFL owners to increase squad sizes to 47 from 45 to make room for WFL players.

"It wouldn't cost that much," Garvey said. "For a player making $250 a game in the WFL, the $12,000 NFL minimum would sound like gold."

The main man in all the speculation, of course, is Csonka, the former bulldozer of Miami Dolphins, whose announced jump to the WFL on March 31, 1976, along with team-mate Larry Warfield and Jim Kiick, gave the WFL instant respectability.

That respectability crumbled last year under a legislate of unpaid bills, bankruptcies, phony attendance figures and lawsuits. And Chris Hemmeter's attempt to financially restructure and save the league crumbled Wednesday under a wave of fan apathy.

Csonka said Thursday he plans to talk with the Dolphins about a possible return.

Miami coach Don Shula wants Csonka back. "There's no question of his value to our team and of his contributions in the past," he said.

Busy Schedule Takes Toll in Pool

MEXICO CITY (CP) — Canada's swimmers, feeling the effects of a strenuous summer competition, picked up ten silver medals and a brown at the Pan-American Games Thursday and a bad-tempered cyclist won a gold medal for the United States.

The Canadians were not the only weary swimmers in the Pan-Am pool. Games records were falling like autumn rain but a few of the winners were coming close to their own best times or performances by other top swimmers in international competition.

Bruce Robertson of Vancouver, who swam more than a second slower than his best time of the year as he finished third in the 100-metre butterfly, explained the swimmers' predicament:

"When you work hard over a long period of time your body starts to break down. Your muscles become fatigued. You start tapering off, you a lot more, not swim so much, your body rebuilds itself, you get stronger and you're able to go faster.

"And that just takes time. For some people it takes only a week, for others a month and a half. For me it usually takes quite a while. And for this meet I haven't really been able to do proper training."

The 23-year-old silver-medalist at the 1972 Olympics said he had been swimming competitively until the end of August and had not had adequate time to prepare for the Pan-Am.

Cheryl Gibson of Edmonton, who won her fourth medal of the Games for a second-place finish in the women's 200 butterfly, also said she felt tired.

Camille Wright of the U.S. won the race in two minutes 18.7 seconds and Mize Gibson's time was 2:18.98. The American girl's time was nearly three seconds slower than her best this year and the 16-year-old Canadian has gone two seconds faster.

The other Canadian silver came in the women's 400 freestyle relay, in which the Canadian team of Gail Amundrud of Vancouver, Anne Jardin and Jill Clark of Points Claire, Que., and Janice Smithson of Surrey, B.C., led for more than half the race before giving way to the U.S. gold medallists.

The Americans, who had won only two cycling golds in six days, in one day, in the 4,000-metre team pursuit and the 1,000-metre scratch sprint.

The eventual sprint champion, Steve Wenrick of Ridgefield Park, N.J., threw a spectacular tantrum when the judges upheld a protest that he had obstructed his opponent in a semi-final and ordered the race rerun.

The enraged American slashed the tires of his bicycle with a knife, hurled the bike into the stands, tore his sweatsuit in strips from his body and ran to the dressing room.

Then the judges reversed their ruling and Wenrick, freshly clad and equipped, rode on to victory.

With Canada denied a gold medal for the first time since the opening day of the Games and the Cubans shut out of the medal table entirely, only a victory by Fernando Gonzalez of Mexico in the individual jumping competition averted an American sweep of the nine finals on the day's schedule.

Canada's equestrian team, which had won a medal in the event at the two previous Games, had Norma Cherenwaks of Matapore, Que., in the running for a brown prize but lost out in a five-way jump-off for the medal and finished sixth.

The boxing team, which never has won more than bronze medals at the Pan-Am, assured itself of no worse than two silvers when a second Canadian reached the finals. Light middleweight Michel Trevet of Montreal outpointed Charlie Walker of the U.S. and will fight Orlando Gardner of Cuba, the defending champion, for the gold. Featherweight Chris Clarke of Halifax won his semi-final bout Wednesday.

The Canadian field hockey team also geared for a championship contest after downing Mexico 5-1 in its semi-final. The Canadians, who have never won a Pan-Am medal in the sport, will face Argentina, which is seeking its third successive gold.

The Canadian men's basketball team, already relegated to the ranks of the also-rans, foiled Cuba's medal hopes with a 70-65 upset. The baseball team lost 5-4 to Colombia and the men's volleyball side was beaten 3-1 by Venezuela.

Record List Slim

NEW YORK (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds-Boston Red Sox World Series of baseball may have been among the most exciting in recent years, but you'd never know it from the list of series records that were set.

The list shows that only one individual and six team records were set, and a host of marks were tied. But none are particularly memorable.

For example, the individual mark set was for highest fielding average by an outfielder with the most chances in a series—1.000 by Dwight Evans and Fred Lynn of Boston and Cesar Geronimo of Cincinnati, each of whom had 26 chances.

The teams marks were most pitchers used, both clubs, one game, 12 in the sixth game; fewest saves by one club, series, zero by Boston; fewest saves, both clubs, series, two; highest fielding percentage, one club, series, .993 by Cincinnati; most pitching appearances, one club, series, 30 by Cincinnati, and most pitching appearances, both clubs, series, 58.

Among records tied were three by Boston's Bernie Carbo: most pinch-hit home runs by one player in a series, two; most runs batted in by a pinch-hitter in one game, three; and most total bases by a pinch-hitter in a series, eight.

Can't Top This Says Reds' Bench

CINCINNATI (AP) — "No matter what happens after this I don't know if anything can top winning a series," Johnny Bench said to the more than 20,000 people drawn to the city centre Thursday to celebrate the Cincinnati Reds' World Series.

"Even if we win it again, they say the first time is always the sweetest."

Bench, like most of those on Fountain Square, a traditional spot for such gatherings, had only read about the last World Series celebration 26 years ago in the city which has drawn more than two million fans to Riverfront Stadium for each of the last three years.

The Reds captured the series the hard way, beating Boston Red Sox in seven games after they had levered through the regular season and National League playoff competition.

The fans, like many of the veterans, had been frustrated in the past by their failure to win the big one, the World Series. They failed to take the series in 1970 and 1972 and stumbled against New York Mets in the 1973 NL playoffs.

A crowd of about 15,000 spilled on to the square Wednesday night after the victory in an impromptu celebration which lasted into the early hours.

Police said about 200 persons were arrested, most of them on charges such as disorderly conduct. Fifteen persons were injured in the celebration, from bottles and cans thrown into the crowd.

In Memoriam

SHARP — In loving memory of a dear father, Lorne, who passed away June 18, 1971.
You left behind an aching heart,
That loved you most sincere,
I never did for ever will,
Forget the day you died.
Forever sadly missed and lovingly remembered by daughter Hilda and son-in-law Richard.

CARD OF THANKS

I would like to take this opportunity to thank all our relatives, friends and neighbors for their gifts, cards and visits while I was a patient in and recovery while a patient in Belleville General Hospital. A special thank you to Father Coleman of Holy Rosary Parish for his comforting prayers and visits, also to the Doctors, Nurses, Nurses aides and staff, 8th level and Canadian Corbeville. Women's Institute, for their gift and well message. Words cannot express my sincere appreciation to you for your kindness during my stay in hospital. I thank you from each and everyone.
Sincerely, Mrs. Marian Golden.

Your Horoscope

By BERNICE BEDE OSOL

For Saturday, Oct. 17

ARIES (March 20-April 19) If the family pulls together at this time there will be a very definite upswing in the status of its financial affairs.

TAURUS (April 20-May 21) You're going to gain a real-lesson today. Don't involve yourself in anything that could tie you to one place too long.

GEMINI (May 22-June 20) There are dollar signs about you today. If you're a go-getter, Push a little harder on those business deals.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You have wonderful imaginative qualities today as long as you've resolute in your decisions and don't back off. Few will resent your orders.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) There are some slow starters in the family today. They'll require a gentle, but firm shove to get them moving.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Get together socially with one who can help further your business plans. Keep it light, including the tab. Split the expenses.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) Although others may have leisure hours in while away today, you should press, with all your strength, a goal very important to you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) In order to accomplish your aims today, you may have to employ tactics that others find to be tough but fair and you'll win.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Don't be too quick to follow advice of others. If you listen to what they have to say, but do what you feel best, you'll make out better.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Set your ambitions and worthy interests aside for the day. Latch on to a few friends who know how to have a good time.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) Something unusual will occur to you today that offers a better way to do a difficult job. Don't wait. Tell the boss and start working on it.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) If you get an invitation today to go somewhere you can meet new people, go by all means. A surprise is in store.

Pioneered Tramcar

HALIFAX (CP) — This city was a pioneer of electric tramcar service in Canada. It's first tram, built in Amherst, N.S., had its maiden run on Feb. 13, 1886. The streetcars did disappeared in the 1940s to be replaced by the electric trolleys which in turn gave away to the diesel bus as the city's main public transportation vehicle.

To Your Good Health

Staph Germ Stubborn Problem

By G. C. THOMPSON, MD

Dear Dr. Thoelsson: I am hoping you might be able to help me with a serious problem. It seems I contracted staph germ about two years ago. Since that time I have had approximately 20 boils.

I have been treated with antibiotics and test application but my doctor has not been able to come up with a permanent cure.

What causes the boils? Can vitamins help to build up resistance? Once you have staph germs in your body can it be cured?—Mrs. D.M.

Recurrent staphylococcus infections are indeed serious. The germ involved is one of the most stubborn and severe in encounters and its effects can be painful and frustrating. You need a specialist who knows what it is and how it works.

First of all, you did not contract this germ once and for all two years ago. It is a recurrent infection you are dealing with. You are unfortunate in that your body is not resistant to the germ, and you have managed to come into contact with it on a regular basis.

It is a rather common germ, but fortunately most of us are resistant to it. The germ is present in the skin. Common sites are the nose and the genital area. In fact, the commonest cause of boils is the staph germ, although strep germs are also associated with them.

To your specific questions: you should have an adequate diet with sufficient protein for your general health. Your diet should, of course, include adequate vitamins, but no particular vitamin helps against boils.

In the treatment, penicillin and other antibiotics have been helpful, for the reason that the germ has become resistant to some drugs that were used in the past. There are new antibiotics which can be used, several of the "mycin" family among them.

Heat applied to a boil should be dry heat (as with a lamp or a hot water bottle) rather than with wet compresses.

Scrupulous hygiene is essential in avoiding this "colonies" of the germs. Antiseptic soaps and detergents are helpful. You should be careful about massage of the area and be extra cautious in handling soiled dressings used for the boils.

The germ can be easily transferred, so you should keep your fingernails short and keep fingers away from your eyes and nose. A nasal antibiotic spray may be necessary if infection occurs in that area.

Why some people are prone to this infection and others are not is unclear. I recall years ago going through a series of boils (from a staph infection). I probably had gotten a little careless in protecting myself in my examination room.

After some agonizing months I gained control of infection stopped, and I haven't had trouble since. I hope you eventually are able to lick this problem.

Incidentally, the pus from the boil should be examined to match the germ against various antibiotics to determine which is most effective. At one time vaccines were made from this pus, but this method was not effective. It has seemingly lost support in recent years, especially with new drugs available.

You are just going to have to persevere and be meticulous, scrupulous, clean persons.

Dear Dr. Thoelsson: Is there any common food or drug that can cause temporary or permanent impotency?—L.M.

No food does this. Use of depressant drugs such as alcohol, sedatives and tranquilizers can do it to a degree. Temporary impotence is the result of certain neurological or psychological factors.

Dear Dr. Thoelsson: I am 12 years old but I have a big problem. I have been told that if I eat too much bubble gum it takes seven years to digest it.

If this is true I am in a lot of trouble.—Ann

Bubble gum is not digested, but it passes through the bowel readily.

Spells Danger

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Putting racing tires on a passenger car is like playing with a loaded pistol, warns Leo Mehl, Goodyear racing director. Mr. Mehl says racing tires reduce handling of a car at speeds less than 30 miles an hour and give little traction.

By OSWALD and JAMES JACOBY

Anyone can look at the hands and see that in spite of the bad diamond break and the loss of the spade finesse, South can take a club finesse and make his slam. Then how did expert South wind up in the soup?

It was because an even better player sat East over the first spade and led the suit back. South started after diamonds and East had to make three discards. The average good player would chuck one club right away; not our great expert. He first two diamonds were spades and then and only then did he jettison a club.

South cashed dummy's last spade and East let another club go. The seeking and queen of hearts and ace of clubs were cashed leaving West with the jack of hearts and 10 of diamonds while East was holding on to the queen and 10 of clubs.

South knew where the jack of diamond was. He didn't know who had the jack of hearts and who had the queen of clubs. He led a second club from dummy. East played the 10 and South decided that East had started with four clubs to the 10. He ruffed with the king and another slam had bit the dust.

Ask the Jacobys

An Idaho reader wants to know "is there a card called 'The curse of Scotland.'"

The idea of diamonds has that unhappy title, but no one knows just how it came about.

Syncrude Tackles Housing Problem

FORT McMURRAY, Alta. (CP) — Mobile home accommodation for 30 per cent of the 2,700 employees in this community on the Athabasca oil sands, 275 miles northeast of Edmonton.

But when the Syncrude Canada Ltd. oil-extraction plant swings into production in 1978, only a small number of the consortium's 1,800 permanent staff are expected to live in trailers.

"We hope to be able to offer more home choices in housing," John Barr, director of public relations for Syncrude, said during a tour of housing development.

"Most will live in houses or multiple dwellings such as condominiums."

There now are three main housing developments in this community of 13,000—Thickwood Heights, Beacon Hill and the Gregoire Mobile Home Park.

With the population expected to swell to 25,000 by 1978, Alberta Housing, the housing arm of Great Canadian Oil Sands (GCOS)—has developed 706 housing units for its employees in the area. GCOS began production here in 1967.

Syncrude's housing firm, Southwest Development Ltd., expects to complete 197 new homes in Beacon Hill by 1972 and is working on an initial development of 500 units.

Syncrude, which offers incentive plans to home buyers in deriving through its housing policy to minimize the number of transient workers, Mr. Barr said.

"The experience of GCOS has shown that most people who buy homes here are prepared to stay and become a permanent work within the organization," he said.

Town houses, temporary and permanent mobile home parks, other housing projects and apartments are included in the future plans of the two companies and the Alberta Housing Corp. to cope with population influx.

Meanwhile, about 4,700 construction workers are housed in two trailer camps on the construction site, 35 miles north of the community. The labor force is expected to hit 5,000 when it reaches its peak next summer.

He said the company, which established Canadian Bechtel Ltd. as its engineering contractor, was faced with a 35-per-cent staff turnover during the summer months.

A gymnasium, arts and crafts facilities and a tavern are being built by it to ease the situation during the critical construction period, the official said.

"We want to minimize the number of people just coming in for a few months."

Kid's Stuff

LONDON (CP) — Two men who set out to "con" a shoplifter ended up buying $2,000 ($4,800) worth of obscene films were arrested recently and it was discovered the boxes contained innocent kitchen utensils. But they were charged with handling pornography anyway, because of obscene photographs pasted on the outside of the boxes. One was fined $100 ($235) the other $50 ($112.50)

Ottawa Dashes Hopes Of Time Magazine

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal government moves Thursday to close off the last hope of survival for two Canadian editions of Time magazine and Readers Digest.

Finance Minister Bud Cullen announced content restrictions which will force the two magazines to have 80 per cent different in content from foreign parent publications or lose tax exemptions for advertisers.

Mr. Cullen made it clear that the tough new content requirement was designed to leave "no room for doubt" that the magazines—especially Time—are no longer considered by the government to be welcome as Canadian.

The announcement ended months of speculation over what the two foreign-owned magazines must do to qualify as Canadian and continue gaining the benefit of 100-per-cent business-expense-tax deductions claimed by advertisers.

Under legislation scheduled to go ahead in the Commons this fall, the two publications plus a number of smaller periodicals no longer would be entitled to the benefit of the exemptions unless they met content and ownership requirements.

Besides being 75 per cent Canadian—owned—either Time nor Reader's Digest is—the magazines must be free of foreign editorial control and "not substantially the same" in content as a foreign publication to be classified as Canadian.

By "not substantially the same" the government measure means the magazines must be more than 80 per cent different in content, excludes gadvertising but including photographs. A topic may be the same as one covered in a foreign publication "but additions or deletions to Canadianize a composition do not create substantially different content."

Mr. Cullen said the effect of the 18-per-cent-content stipulation likely will be to force the Canadian edition of Time out of business.

But Reader's Digest, with its larger readership of 1.5 million subscribers, may be able to survive without the rid of advertising exemption, he said.

Paul Zimmerman, Reader's Digest Association (Canada) president, said, "We believe that legislation limiting or regulating editorial freedom beyond the normal confines of copyright conventions and that laws is not consistent with Canada's national interest," he said.

In Toronto, Stephen Lalize, president of Time Canada Ltd., said that "given Canadian ownership and full editorial autonomy, it would seem to me that we will be completely satisfying the Canadian government."

He said that if content rules still apply, Time Canada after the transition to Canadian ownership, the rules would apply to all publications including newspapers.

No One Wants Liberal Leadership

TORONTO (CP) — They're off and walking in the Ontario Liberal leadership race—or so it seems, anyway.

Since Robert Nixon announced Sept. 30 that he was stepping aside as leader, prospective successors haven't exactly been clamoring for the job.

With three months to go before Liberals from throughout the province meet to elect a new leader, not a single candidate has stepped forward.

For a while, Liberals hoped former federal finance minister John Turner might take on the provincial cudgel, but Mr. Turner has made it plain he's not interested in being Ontario Liberal leader.

Another former federal cabinet minister, Jean-Luc Pepin, also is being touted as a possible successor to Mr. Nixon but, while he's keeping his options open, he has stated publicly that it is highly unlikely he will run.

And Murray Gaunt the popular MP from Huron-Bruce, who would have been agriculture minister in any Nixon government, announced this week that he won't be a leadership candidate.

The Liberals increased their numbers to 36 from 34 in the Sept. 18 election but fared badly in Metropolitan Toronto where they won only three of 25 seats.

If the party is to overhaul the New Democrats, with 38 seats, or topple the 33-year-old Progressive Conservative government, which has 51 seats, it will have to do better in urban areas.

One of the provincial MPP's given the most chance of making some impact on urban voters, James Bullyard (Sarnia) also has little real penchant for the job. He values his privacy too much.

Federal MPs still being mentioned include Mark MacGuigan (Windsor Walkerville) John Roberts (Toronto St. Paul's) Tony Abbott (Mississauga) and Norman Cafik (Ontario).

Some of the candidates are expected to get out of the starting blocks during or shortly after the federal Liberal convention in Ottawa Nov. 7.

Labor Congress Vows War Against Wage, Price Controls

OTTAWA (CP) — The powerful Canadian Labor Congress (CLC) vowed Friday to use every legal weapon at its disposal to fight the federal government's selective wage and price controls.

CLC President Joe Morris said the congress, which represents two million workers through its affiliated unions, will hire constitutional experts in a bid to challenge the legality of the anti-inflation program before the Supreme Court of Canada.

The 30-member CLC executive council authorized "the establishment of a special fund to fight this proposed legislation and assist the 130 affiliates to combat its injustices."

Mr. Morris said at a news conference that the government's anti-inflation program amounts to a "cold, calculated move to fight inflation on the backs of the workers."

He said the program will fail because of the difficulty in monitoring price and profit increases.

"Collective bargaining is conducted in the public spotlight while price increases take place behind the closed doors of corporate board rooms," he said. "It will be impossible to provide any meaningful surveillance of the practices of 1,300 large companies with an anti-inflation staff staffed to 700."

He announced the CLC's "outright rejection" of the program and outlined plans to launch a nationwide campaign "to expose the injustices and failings of the government's program to restrain prices and incomes."

Generally, the selective controls limit about 4.3 million workers to a basic pay increase of 10 per cent in the first year of a contract. Companies covered by the controls are supposed to hold price increases to the amount necessary to offset production costs. The government has asked those not covered by mandatory controls to voluntarily comply.

"It will not be able to control prices, corporate income, professional fees, nor does it intend to control interest rates," Mr. Morris said. "But it will effectively put the lid on wage increases."

He said the executive council will advise the heads of its affiliates at a meeting Thursday "to pursue their collective bargaining objectives with vigor and determination in the private and public sectors."

A position paper presented by the CLC executive council said that "trade unions have no alternative but to carry on negotiating as usual."

"The trade union movement in Canada . . . will not permit employers to escape their economic and social responsibilities or erode the collective bargaining process through the use of the proposed legislation."

Labor Minister John Munro said in an interview that the selective controls will interfere with the system of free collective bargaining, but only until the program is scheduled to expire three years from now.

Mr. Munro said he "rather expected" the CLC would reject the government's program.

"I believe the labor movement in this country has a vested interest in free collective bargaining," he said. "They fought hard to get it."

Timbrell Will Cut Gas, Oil Increases As Freeze Lifted

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario Energy Minister Dennis Timbrell said Friday that Ontario oil companies will be subject to price controls after the province's petroleum price freeze ends Nov. 15.

He told a news conference that the government will not allow the price of gasoline and home heating oil to increase by more than 5.4 cents a gallon until the final report of a royal commission into petroleum prices has been released in February.

Mr. Timbrell said the government will not hesitate to pass legislation forcing uncooperative companies into line.

The royal commission, headed by Claude Isbister, presented its interim report Friday. It says Ontario's freeze has accomplished its objective of making sure the oil companies used up all reserves before raising their prices.

NDP Leader Stephen Lewis said Friday that his party will oppose lifting the freeze on petroleum products Nov. 15 even at the expense of the minority provincial government.

"We are prepared under any circumstance to vote against the government in this oil price freeze," the opposition leader told a news conference.

Mr. Lewis said his party is opposed to allowing the companies even a 5.4-cent increase, a move he said will cost Ontario consumers about $50 million in a single year.

Ontario instituted the freeze last July when the price of crude oil increased to $8 a barrel from $6.50. It was later extended to Nov. 15. Mr. Isbister was appointed to investigate the matter and asked to decide what procedures might be followed in relation to future price increases in the cost of crude oil.

Mr. Timbrell said the 5.4-percent ceiling on increases is based on the findings of the interim report and applies only to heating oil and gasoline. However, he expects the cost of other petroleum products to be controlled through competition in the marketplace.

He said he did not know whether the ceiling would continue after the final commission report. That is something that will be determined in February after the government has seen the final report.

Mr. Timbrell said 4.6 cents of the allowable increase will be to cover the cost of crude oil, 0.2 cents for additional financing and 0.6 cents to pay increased federal tax.

The government's action is a program of voluntary control, he said, but he added that some might consider such action price control.

Mr. Timbrell said he plans to meet Nov. 7 with Alastair Gillespie, federal energy minister, to discuss the possibility of a national energy pricing policy.

In the interim report, Mr. Isbister said all reserves in Ontario will have been exhausted by Nov. 15. He also said the freeze benefited Ontario consumers and that oil companies would be on "weak ground" continuing this fact.

BC Freezes Food And Service Prices

VICTORIA (CP) — The British Columbia government moved Friday to plug what it called loopholes in the federal government's anti-inflation program with an immediate price freeze on food and other essential commodities and services.

—The movement of oil via pipelines.

—Tariffs for trucking food and drugs within the province.

He said the province is introducing these inflation-fighting measures because it feels the federal program of selective wage and price controls is not fair and equitable.

He said the federal procedures for controlling prices and profits need strengthening, food prices will likely continue to rise and there is nothing in the federal program to limit escalating house prices.

Mr. Barrett said that at the end of the province's price freeze on Jan. 1, he expects the federal anti-inflation board will be in a position to exercise effective price control.

To further help those on low incomes the premier announced an increase in the minimum wage, a boost in financial assistance to the elderly through the government's guaranteed monthly income program, special measures in the housing field and government, actions related to rent controls, energy and civil servants salaries.

Foxboro Cheese Factory Closes Retail Shop Nov. 1

By HARRY MULHALL
Staff Reporter

The retail section of Foxboro Cheese Factory — a long-time fresh-cheese shopping rendezvous for many Belleville-area dwellers is closing down.

For years, the outlet has provided cheese — from the factory — packaged in domestic-size weights.

Several factors have contributed to the shutdown, scheduled for Nov. 1, indicates manager Ted Foley.

The store, part of the factory in one small, the space is required as part of production operations which have vastly expanded in the past year — a time during which it changed hands as an independent and has since been twice sold.

Consumers now are buying up to 200,000 lbs. of cheese a year over the counter. But this is only a small segment of the factory's big industrial output.

Since it tripled operations in the past year, the Foxboro factory now is producing about six million pounds annually, estimates Mr. Foley.

It's an expansion now employing 65 workers on two shifts.

The factory — now located on Harmony Rd. just west of Highway 37 — has been long established. But its operation as an independent — one of the few remaining in a long Hastings County tradition of locally-owned cheese producers — ended Jan. 1 this year.

At that time it was purchased by the British-owned Cow and Gate enterprise.

Several months ago it was announced that the Cow and Gate dairy processing operations in eastern Ontario and Quebec has been bought by Ault Foods, a Canadian company at Winchester south of Ottawa.

Rent Control in 2 Weeks

TORONTO (CP) — Rent control legislation will be introduced in the Ontario legislature within two weeks, Housing Minister John Rhodes said Friday. The minister said in an interview after a cabinet meeting that Treasury Darcy McKeough's commitment Thursday to attempt to reach a prior national consensus on rent control does not alter Ontario's plan to bring the legislation in early in the session.

Juneau Resigns Friday

OTTAWA (CP) — Saying his defeat in the Oct. 14 federal by-election in the Quebec riding of Hochelaga made it "inadvisable to remain in the cabinet," Pierre Juneau resigned Friday as minister of communications. No successor has been named.

Franco Near Death

MADRID (AP) — Gen. Francisco Franco, ruler of Spain for 36 years, was given the last rites of the Roman Catholic Church today, the news agency Europa Pegas said. Franco's wife of 32 years, Dona Carmen Polo de Franco, was at his bedside, and top government leaders rushed to his Pardo Palace.

Workers Uncertain

MONTREAL (CP) — Less than a third of the Olympic construction work force returned to the job Friday and some work on the site of the 1976 Summer Games got back under way for the first time since an illegal work stoppage began Monday. A City of Montreal spokesman said about 500 of the 2,000 workers compiled with a Quebec Superior Court injunction issued Thursday ordering the men back to work.

Demands Notification

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal anti-inflation board can demand prior notification of price increases for cars and some household goods, Finance Minister Donald Macdonald said Friday. But advance notice on food price increases would be hard to ask, he said as the Commons completed second reading debate on a government bill to implement its price and wage controls.

Trudeau Gets Swamped By Anti-Controls Groups

TORONTO (CP) — If Prime Minister Trudeau was expecting a warm reaction to his wage and price control program in Toronto, he got more than he anticipated Friday—the reception was hot.

Mr. Trudeau said that "you asked for leadership — you've got it.

"You wanted rules that would be fair," he said. "Now you have them."

He said many persons had been raising prices as a hedge against future inflation although the government had been convinced last June that inflation was coming under control.

"We were wrong and the economists were wrong," Mr. Trudeau said.

He warned the gathering not to expect the program to be a cure-all. Prices and rents still will rise, he said.

"If you pay more to produce — you will charge more," he said. "Don't expect our program to eradicate poverty.

Some of the Rotarians looked upset as Mr. Coutts lashed out at government spending and an increase in the size of the civil service.

Mr. Trudeau replied that governments do not increase the size of the civil service in enrich the politicians.

"We fought an election against them last June when Mr. (John) Turner brought down his budget," he said. "We waited until we felt we had to have them—now is that time."

Faulkner Backs Trudeau's Wage, Price Restraints

By HARRY MULHALL
Staff Reporter

Introduction of federal price-wage restraint was no sudden philosophical reversal for the Liberal Government, State Secretary Hugh Faulkner insisted Friday.

Canadian would have opposed such a program two years ago, he said.

Imposition of controls became a crucial issue of the 1974 federal election when proposed by the Progressive Conservatives.

"The change hasn't been one of political philosophy as a "major change in the nature of the problem." Mr. Faulkner told a press conference at the Four Seasons Hotel Friday.

During the last election inflation caused by factors beyond external — including increases in world oil and food prices.

Since then the problem has become internally-generated — included inflation psychology and "one sector in fact, we can exercise some control if we so decide."

"I don't think Canadians would have even begun to accept wage and price controls back two years ago," he said. "Look at the amount of opposition we're getting today when it was generally conceded there was a consensus across the country (for controls)," he said.

As a cabinet minister he said he mail had been running into-1 in favor "of doing something" before Prime Minister Trudeau announced the restraints Oct. 12.

With protest now being voiced "you can imagine what little support we would have been back two years ago (for controls)."

As a result he felt the government was then right in resisting such a program.

But introduction of restraints now "doesn't represent a major change in philosophy for the prime minister because the prime minister has always said that we had contingency plans — that the moment we felt this type of remedy really corresponded to the nature of the problem then we would be ready to do it."

Yoga Students Get Together

Yoga enthusiasts — more numerous than commonly realized — are being invited to participate in a special Quinte area workshop session Nov. 8 in Belleville.

The event is being sponsored by municipal recreation departments in Belleville and Trenton.

Yoga has grown steadily in popularity in recent years. The Belleville recreation department now has about 200 attending various courses — not including 25 senior citizens.

In fact, the workshop is being conducted by a recreation official who is solely assigned to its programming in her community — Margaret Borthwyck, yoga program supervisor for Sarnia.

Missionaries Nearing End of Duty Tour

Two Quinte area Mormons are completing their second year of missionary work in Ontario before returning to their homes and resuming normal activities.

The two are Elder Dale Anderson, 21, of Belleville and Elder Richard Ewer, 20, of Trenton, who both hail from Logan, Utah.

Elder Anderson works with Elder Bruce Dodenhier, 19, from Denver, Col. and Elder Ewer shares duties with Elder Terry Stark, 21, from Moose Jaw, Sask. All are members of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints.

Elder Anderson says he has spent the past two months in Belleville and has four months remaining in his Ontario tenure. "Eventually, (when he return home) I'd like to pick up a trade and be an electrician," he comments.

Elder Ewer has been in Ontario for 13 months and in Trenton for the past two months. When he goes home, he says he will likely return to college and major in music.

Elder Anderson says there are about 125 missions around the world containing about 31,000 missionaries mostly between the agess of 19-23 years.

He says Mormons have a chance when they become 19 years of age whether to become a missionary.

He explains they have to spend a two-year tenure as missionaries in one mission which is chosen by the Mormon prophet, church president Spencer W. Kimball, 80-year-old leader of the 2.5 million Mormons around the world.

"I was an auto mechanic and worked as a farm before becoming a missionary," he adds.

Elder Ewer says he had completed one year of college and was majoring in geology before he became a missionary. He says missionary activities include door-to-door visitations, teaching families of any religious denomination about the Mormon church and speaking at churches and schools on invitation.

"The (Mormon) church doesn't have a professional clergy," he says, so congregation members have church duties which former missionaries take up as well when they return home.

Elder Anderson points out that each missionary spends his entire two-year tenure at his own expense and has no rent accommodation wherever he stays.

He notes that congregation members can assist missionaries but that assistance cannot be financial.

Elder Dodenhier has been in Ontario for nine months and in Belleville for the last two month. He was an auto mechanic before taught in mission work and plans to return to his trade upon completion, says Elder Anderson.

Elder Stark was also a former auto mechanic and will resume his trade later. He has been a missionary in Ontario for only about a month — the entire time in Trenton.

Teachers at Class

More than 1,200 teachers attended the day-long conference entitled Focus on Learning, sponsored by the Board of Education.

Education Beat

County Board Loses Hawkins

BY RON CARSON
Staff Reporter

The Hastings County Board of Education is losing a valuable man this month. Spelt Hawkins, controller of plant for the board for the last four years, has resigned to take a new post with the Greater Victoria Board of Education in Victoria, B.C.

Mr. Hawkins cites his reason for leaving as a "family decision based on career considerations." Director of education Eric Runstores regrets losing Mr. Hawkins and acknowledges he has done a terrific job for the board despite a frustrating and stormy period experienced in the last six years due to the province's spending ceilings which have greatly curtailed school construction.

Mr. Hawkins is a professional engineer and new constructor is his raison d'etre. Although he chooses not to discuss the problem it is undoubtedly apparent that Ontario's school system is stifling many of its plant and engineering personnel.

The result is a slow and gradual brain drain from Ontario's school system, labelled by the province as the world's best. No doubt some controls were needed on the quickly expanding education system but in the process there are trade-offs.

For the past six years, by admission of its own director, the Hastings County Board of Education has seen its long term construction program cramped and in many cases eliminated due to cuts in spending by the province.

The controller of plant has been primarily absorbed in making do with existing buildings which in some cases require large capital expenditures for renovations and repairs to the basic systems like heating, plumbing and ventilation. Even additions to new buildings have been dramatically reduced in recent years.

It is little wonder that a man who is at the peak of his professional career is lured to another province where rigid controls on construction do not exist. The province-wide confrontations between teachers and boards hasn't made the atmosphere any more appealing.

It is unfortunate that the trade-off in this case means the loss of experienced personnel to another education system. It is hoped that this will not start a trend in Hastings County.

Teachers Evaluate Learning

Belleville and area teachers spent Friday in classes at Centennial Secondary School evaluating and making recommendations about the new Learning Outcome Project.

Professional Development Day, sponsored by the Hastings County Board of Education, was a break for students as more than 1,200 teachers attended seminars and group sessions based on the theme "Focus on Learning."

Guest speaker was Dr. Robin Farquhar, assistant director of the Ontario Institute for Education Studies who discussed the outcome program.

Lloyd Jones, co-ordinator of history for the Hastings County Board of Education said the Learning Outcome Program was aimed directly at evaluating the education system.

Fun and Work Days

Ontario Scholar and valedictorian at Belleville Collegiate Institute Friday and 13 graduation Friday, Richard Hounslow told fellow students his school days were filled with fun and work and a camaraderie between staff and pupils. He gave his address to 92 Grade 13 and 140 Grade 13 graduates.

Graduates Advised To Look Outward

In North America, people assume that their wants are their needs and don't recognize their unfair attitude towards the people of the Third World, former student and teacher of Belleville Collegiate Institute Kathleen Morrison told graduating students at the school's Friday night commencement.

In North America, we feel that we are born with some innate superiority, said Miss Morrison, now English department head at Listowell District High School near London.

If our living standard drops, we say unfair. But she asked students whether we, as North Americans, understand a man in the Third World who says "I'm hungry."

In her guest address to 92 Grade 13 and 140 Grade 13 graduating students, Miss Morrison concentrated on the need for students to understand the language of others and their attitudes towards people.

She called on students to empathize with the less fortunate, and at the same time, to become involved in solving existing social problems.

There are 15 universities in Ontario and about 56 in Canada. In Nigeria, where she said she taught for three years, there are some three universities for a population thrice Canada's.

She touched on questions dealing with our bias in use of language, saying that when Canada sells weapons, Canada sells them as weapons of defence. But when the Soviets sell weapons, they are weapons of aggression.

Miss Morrison called upon students to become involved and not leave the work to the anonymous "they". She urged them to reason that "if I don't do something, I have no right to expect them to do something."

Her speech was followed by that of Grade 13 valedictorian Richard Hounslow who briefly recalled the "fun and work" and "good relationships" in the school between teachers and pupils over this five year of attendance.

He concluded his comments by saying that "If we (graduating students) give the world the best of us, the best will come back to us."

The valedictorian, along with 11 other former students, received $100 Ontario Scholarship awards. The cash prizes were among 13 handed out to various students Friday.

WHAT IS BIG BROTHERS?

* The Big Brother is an average man, married or single, over 18, interested in the welfare of a boy and willing to spend time regularly with him.

* The Little Brother is a fatherless boy 7 to 16 years old in need of friendship and example. He is not a juvenile delinquent, only a boy who misses the regular companionship of a father.

* The process involved in becoming a Big Brother is simple. The prospective volunteer completes an application form giving 3 references who attest to his maturity, moral character and reliability. The Big Brother then has a choice of which boy who will be his Little Brother.

* The Big Brother is asked to see his Little Brother once a week for 2 or 3 hours; hopefully for at least 1 year.

* The Big Brother is responsible for only 1 boy; and is neither a babysitter nor a disciplinarian.

* The Big Brother need not and should not spend a lot of money on his Little Brother. There are many inexpensive, everyday activities for them to share and very often the Big Brother can include his own family.

* Being a Big Brother requires patience but there is the satisfaction of knowing that you helped a boy become self-confident and independent giving him the opportunity to approach his potential.

* If you would like more information please call. A Little Brother is waiting.

ANSWER!

If death should occur while you are out of the province or country the most inexpensive way is usually to contact your local (or family funeral director, by Telephone — or Wire.
His years of experience and association with the various funeral organizations both in and out of the country enable him to work closely on your behalf with the funeral directors in whatever area you may be. By making the arrangements locally he is also able to keep your family and friends at home better informed. Stand Against Inflation Must Begin Somewhere

By JERRY BROWN
Staff Reporter

TRENTON — The inside workers at the Trenton Post Office must be commended for the anti-inflationary stand they took when they voted to accept the government's conciliation offer last week.

For American consumers and farmers.

The future grain exports are expected to have some impact on consumer food prices, though forecasts vary about the magnitude of such price increases.

—Lets Russia buy between six million and eight million metric tons of corn and wheat annually, beginning a year from now. Officials say the deal will be worth $1 billion a year to the U.S. trade balance. Soybeans and rice are not included in the agreement.

—Gives the U.S. an escape clause in case of domestic crop failure if the U.S. supply of livestock feed grain dips below 225 million tons. This year's supply is estimated at 263.1 million tons.

—Commits the Soviet Union to try to space their grain purchases and shipments as evenly as possible each year.

The oil agreement, which is tentative and requires further negotiations, calls for the Soviet Union to offer to sell 200,000 barrels of crude oil and other petroleum products a day during the five-year period.

This amounts to about 3.5 per cent of recent U.S. daily imports. By comparison, the Alaskan pipeline is expected to handle 1.2 million barrels daily during initial operations in 1977.

Not many people will be inclined to follow their example, especially in the light of the current nation-wide postal strike which has made their gesture futile.

On the streets of Trenton, in restaurants and in homes, local residents have been openly condemning all postal workers never realizing that Trenton is bucking the national trend.

Municipal and provincial officials who have been shaking their fists at their federal counterparts claiming a program instituted on a national scale would be the only type that could provide guidance, should set an example for their communities. Large unions are obviously making exhorbitant demands but they claim they are being forced to play the bargaining game.

Big business has not been as severely hurt by inflation as an average family of five, but no one is seeking to openly examine their profit ratio.

Though the postal strike may be a local affair and Canadians may have to endure hardships because of it, it is important that the postal workers and other large unions are not used as everyone's whipping-boys.

For, as the old saying goes, every dog has its day.

Embargo Lifted On Grain Sales

WASHINGTON (AP) — United States farmers now are free to sell grain to the Soviet Union following the announcement of a long-term U.S.-Soviet agreement Monday covering the sale of U.S. grain and the purchase of Soviet oil.

As the embargo was being lifted Butz said as much as seven million more metric tons of U.S. grain might be sold to the Soviets this year. There are 2.205 pounds in a metric ton.

The two-month-old embargo was imposed by President Ford last summer after the Soviets purchased 9.8 million metric tons of grain from U.S. exporters. The embargo was the result of concern over the impact on U.S. prices that exports could have and some nervousness that predictions of bumper U.S. crops this year might not prove true.

The long-term agreement is hailed by some as the economic equivalent of detente but is being criticized by farm organizations as an unprecedented government intervention in agricultural markets.

Ford says the pact will provide stability in U.S.-Soviet trade and help U.S. workers and consumers. AFL-CIO President George Meany, who last August ordered U.S. longshoremen to boycott Russian-bound grain, said it was "good news

Gardening Column

Indoor Plants Brighten Home

By ROSS HAWTHORNE

From my discourses so far on indoor light gardening, you may have reasonably assumed that I'm going to confine my remarks to seed germination and the growing of bedding plants and vegetables. Which just isn't so.

We'll also be covering house plants — foliage and flowering, all the way from the Amaryllis to the Zebrina. (The latter used to be known as wandering Jew, but in these days of ethnic sensibilities, it's designated name is now Jacob's Ladder)

But first, we must deal with both the principles and benefits of indoor light gardening. And for good reason. To dispel the notion that it is an expensive filled with pitfalls and loaded with difficulties. When actually nothing could be further from the truth, as you will find out in subsequent columns. And so for now, let's get into some of the economic benefits.

Let's assume you've built or bought an indoor light ler garden with four shelves, four feet long by two feet wide, each lighted with a double tube 48-inch fixture. That provides you with a growing area of 32 square feet, although, remember when you grow in tiers, in four stacked shelves, the floor space occupied is only eight square feet.

That 32 square feet translates into 1152 square inches. Now, let's say you grow in cell paks, plastic growing units with six growing cells. One cell pak occupies 17 square inches. That means you can get, without crowding, 60 cell paks per tray. Multiply that by 4 trays and you have 240 cell paks. Multiply that by 6 plants per pak and you end up with a total of 1440 plants — all in an area of 32 square feet.

Now, let's assume you buy your annuals at a cost of — let's say eight for 75 cents (some hope). That means 1440 annuals at retail would cost you $135. All grown in an area of 32 square feet.

Let's look at perennials. 1440 perennials at say $1. each. That's easy. $1440. worth of perennials. And with vegetables. Let's say tomato plants from seed. 1440 tomato plants should produce about 25 tomatoes per plant. That's a total of — are you ready — 36,000 tomatoes. At the low cost of three tomatoes for 50 cents — that adds up o $5,625. worth of tomatoes.

And, let's try it with growing plants — say African violets. A two by four tray will comfortably hold 40-three inch violet pots. Four shelves will hold 320 violets which at a low $1.50 retail selling price adds up to $480. And of course with an indoor light garden, it's easy to produce three crops a year. That adds up to a violet crop with a retail value of $1440.

Now, after your initial investment for materials, which can run anywhere from $150 to $250., your annual cost for seed, soil mixes, vermiculite, perlite, peat, nutrients, containers and electricity, should not exceed $30 per year.

In summary then, your return on an annual investment of $30. could be: Annuals — $135; Perennials — $1440.; Vegetables, such as tomatoes — $5625.; Violets — $1440. Which is an even better investment than second mortgages.

Questions: All questions are welcome and will be answered. Simply address your query to Ross Hawthorne, The Intelligencer, Belleville.

Charge Owners Of Stray Pets

BY MARG HAYLOCK
Staff Reporter

PICTON — The dog-gonded thing happened in Picton town council this summer in its efforts to rid the streets of canine delinquents.

The drama started to unfold in the early spring when several councillors reported complaints from members of dogs at large.

It was observed that animal control officer Donald Tucker of Stirling lived too far from town to provide the prompt brand service needed to weed out the canine offenders.

Council promptly decided to take action by advertising the job of dog catcher soon after notifying Mr. Tucker his services were no longer required.

But action backfired when not one application from a local resident was received for the job. Suddenly the town was without an animal control officer foreign or native.

Into the breach stepped Donald Tucker of Stirling who informed council that he would be willing to accept his position with just one slight change. He wanted $2250 a year instead of the $2000 previously paid.

In the meantime, taxpayers harrassed by dogs at large have no recourse except to contact the town police. The merit f this step has been derided by a number of Picton residents who prefer adopt "what's the use" attitude.

On Dibrell Street where low rental housing units were constructed by the Ontario Housing Corporation dozens of dogs run at large. They run at large despite the spacious, well-fenced backyards of all units.

On many other back streets in Picton stray dogs and dogs owned by supposed animal lovers wander at will to ruin lawns and shrubs and to annoy pedestrians and bicyclists.

Obviously, council cannot cope with the perennial problem of pet owners who refuse to obey municipal bylaws by tying their dogs. These flagrant lawbreakers are free to flout the rules while council and taxpayers impotently fume.

If it is impossible to hire a dog catcher to clean up on the canine delinquents then the town police should be requested to do the job with much greater zest than has been demonstrated to date.

Ratepayers should be encouraged to call the police and to complain loudly if no satisfactory action is taken.

Also, the taxpayers who do complain should shoulder their share of the responsibility by agreeing to back the police in the matter of laying charges against pet owners who allow their dogs to run at large.

Controls Lack Urgency of Wartime When U.S. Sought Ottawa's Advice

By JOHN D. HARBRON

Foreign Affairs Analyst

Thomson News Service

There is a story that Leon Henderson, the late president, Franklin Roosevelt's price and administration chief during the Second World War regularly phoned Ottawa for advice and guidance on running Washington's Office of Price Administration.

If so, he was probably phoning the late Donald Gordon, chief of the Canadian Wartime Prices and Trade Board or WPTB and later president of the Canadian National Railways, who ran our last wage and price mechanism with toughness and efficiency.

H. CARLES MORTON

Ha Ottawa partner in a totally controlled economy between 1940 and 1946 was the late C. D. Howe, minister of munitions and supply, the first super-minister in our history, which in 1943 controlled the resources allocated to 80 per cent of all Canadian industries.

In addition to these total controls over food, salaries, raw materials and profits, there were other regulations like the defence of Canada regulations which were in force for the essential security period of a country in its first total war.

It's an impressive observation if true, that the Americans looked to Ottawa for guidance in running a wage and price control mechanism efficiently.

Unlike Canada, the U.S. had already gone into a very phase of federal government involvement in the sagging economy after Roosevelt's election and inauguration as president in January, 1933.

Within days of that event, Roosevelt launched the famous "100 days" of new federal legislation which created such depression remembered agencies as WPA (Works Progress Administration) to get people back to work, the CCC (Civilian Conservation Corps) to get people going and the NRA (Recovery Administration) to get people back in business and, the stock market whose collapse was the immediate cause of the depression.

There were other agencies which put more people not only in camps as here, but on government-inspired creative programs in architecture, fiction, creative writing and the popular rebuilding of smashed small business through the RFC (Reconstruction Finance Corporation).

Yet had none of these in Canada as a resistant Conservative government tried old-fashioned pump-priming methods to get us through the depression, but mainly avoided direct state interventionist methods.

It was a great credit to Canada that the head of the OPA in Washington should come to watch the Canadian experience which is what the Americans must be doing now as we fight tough controls again.

Except as in the early '40s the Americans had tried state controls over wages and prices before us under the Nixon administration and with a mixed result.

They were implemented in late 1971 with so-called absolute wage and price restrictions for a short fixed period, then classified more precisely in what was called Phase 2, then eased off to more-less voluntary controls in Phase 3, but still reporting to government as required.

The whole experiment was finished by early 1974.

And now we wait and see if the new Canadian entry into over-all controls will work as well as they did in the now very faroff early '40s, too far back altogether for most living Canadians to recall.

What we had then and do not appear to have now was a "national will" or acceptance to use a less severe version to support the massive controls of World War Two. We had and fixed enemy in Nazi Germany and her allies and a firm and fixed goal, their obliteration.

Will the fight against inflation ever grab us quite the same way?

Managing Without Mail

For all the inconvenience, Canadians should be able to survive without mail service. We could also survive without the Olympics next year — which could further labor unrest dictate that eventuality.

At the same time, it will be to the country's detriment and great loss if this kind of thing persists. The record is not good — spanning a variety of work stoppages, from transportation tie-ups that threatened grain shipments overseas, to unrest among Olympic site workers in Montreal.

Olympic workers are upset over a "blacklist" they say the authorities have drawn up to keep out alleged troublemakers. Trouble indeed has been the name of the game at the Olympic site, and it is not surprising attempts might be made to weed out those liable to create more friction, or bring about more stoppages.

Our society has become so obsessed with what it can get, with unions in the van of this process, it has forgotten how to serve and give — in everyone's interests.

Toward Understanding

Epilepsy is a neurological disorder that has long been shrouded in mystery — from the standpoint of the public at least.

And yet, information on the subject has not been lacking. It was the subject of one of last year's Rehabilitation Week seminars in Belleville.

Next month also, the week of November 16-22 has been declared Epilepsy Week and the Ontario Epilepsy Association is preparing a special campaign to inform people about the ailment.

One of the factors that have helped give the uninformed erroneous ideas on the subject is the dramatic way it manifests itself in some cases — such as in a grand mal seizure. In very many cases though medication controls this symptom and enables epileptics to lead virtually normal lives.

Some of the great names of history were epileptics, from Julius Caesar to the poet Swinburne to Alfred Nobel.

However, epileptics have for long been subjected to public mistrust and misunderstanding, not to say official discrimination.

A. V. Meeke, president of the Ontario Epilepsy Association, notes such mistaken ideas that the disorder is contagious, and that its victims are mentally retarded, or even insane.

Happily, official discrimination may soon be at an end, if the parliamentary committee on immigration policy recommendations are accepted. According to a draft report, the committee is urging an end to the exclusion of prohibited categories among whom are epileptics.

Even now epileptics are not excluded entirely. An immigrant who is an epileptic may be admitted at the discretion of the minister, under a "Minister's Permit." There's a woman in Belleville who came to Canada eight years ago under such an arrangement, and is now married with two children. Each year she must renew her permit, and while it is a routine matter, it points up the discrimination that still exists. Now it appears the day is coming when she and others like her may officially be declared "landed immigrants." Certainly it would be a forward step where our social legislation is concerned.

Grits Are Between the Devil And the Deep Blue Sea

TORONTO — Robert Nixon has been doing his best to have us think otherwise, but the Liberals are going to be in a hot spot and the NDP will be up to its neck in good luck in the session opening next Tuesday.

The Liberals are going to be handicapped while the Lewis party will be able to do pretty well anything it wants to without worrying.

The reason is that the Liberals desperately don't want a quick election. And to avoid one they probably will, as the saying goes, have to swallow their spit.

While the NDP, fully aware of this will be able to live recklessly, just as recklessly as it pleases.

The Liberal problem is that the party at present is to all practical purposes leaderless.

Nixon is now only a caretaker and the possibility of having to run the country under him is unthinkable.

The situation won't be corrected until the leadership convention in January.

And the interim times will be dismal for the party legislatively.

And it also could be set back politically.

At the session Lewis and his cohorts will be storming to the attack.

They are so hot to get off the mark you can pretty well feel it in the air around here.

The Liberals won't be able to storm.

But it will have to be a disorganized, catch as catch can effort and in the final result almost certainly will flounder.

The party in recent years on its balance consistently has received more than its share.

This has been partly because it has concentrated highly on emotion issues—good demagoguery, and good news copy.

And also because it has been adept in playing the press—the quick Lewis witticisms and sword thrusts (often in sometimes thoughtless) slashes of his colleagues, are what the press, particularly radio and television, eats up.

In contrast the Liberals will be in the shadows. They probably will get trapped into several votes against the government which in their long-term interest they should support but which realistically they will have to perform out of.

Levelling-off in Interest Rates a Sign Curbs May Work

By VINCENT EGAN

Business and Consumer Affairs Analyst

Thomson News Service

A levelling-off in interest rates looks like the first sign of success in the government's new anti-inflation program.

Anyone who has to pay 12 per cent or so on a first mortgage may disagree. Nevertheless, interest rates generally have been stable since mid-October, a couple of mortgage lenders have even lowered their rates fractionally and—in the specified money market—fractionally. Bill yields are the lowest since June.

—The anti-inflation philosophy may actually be catching on, stiffening the public opposition to all high prices (including the high price of borrowed money) and convincing lenders that their anti-inflation intentions need not be quite so high.

If a general lowering of interest rates is confirmed in the weeks ahead, it could be a real shot in the arm for the economy, especially, for the sagging stock market in particular.

History shows that when the cost of borrowing money goes down, economic activity picks up—from housing starts to plant expansion.

The stock market nearly always responds too, as it did late last year when interest rates declined from approximately the same peak that they reached this fall.

Looking at the long-term trends in interest rates and stock prices, it becomes clear that the usual lag has been growing steadily shorter, and that now the market reacts much more quickly to any change in the trend of borrowing rates.

The fuel for a stock market rally is on hand, in the form of a high level of savings among individual investors, and a strong cash position in the treasuries of institutional investors such as insurance companies, trust firms and pension funds.

The one element that is still missing is convincing evidence of restraint in government spending.

If all levels of government—but especially the federal—were to show some genuine intention of curbing spending, this would release substantial amounts of funds into the capital market at attractive rates of interest.

Those funds could then be used for expansion of business. That would mean the creation of more jobs and the alleviation of the kind of shortages that contributed to inflation.

But the anti-inflation program seems perversely to be anti-investment—and the government seems unable to grasp the idea of cutting its own spending.

(When plans for a grandiose school for international airport were scrapped, the prime minister peevishly remarked that his government would just have to spend those hundreds of millions of dollars some other way.

The trend to lower interest rates, if it is to go beyond its modest beginning, will need much more practical support from governments.

Firemen Have Tough Job

Editor,
The Intelligencer:

Many ills befall the professional firefighter. Some diseases and crippling injuries that are unavoidable and I, might add, at an ever alarming increase in the business of fire fighting, are not as minor as the news media would sometimes have you believe when referring to heat exhaustion, overcome by smoke, or a back injury while showing a picture of an unemployed student, policeman, postman, assisting some elderly man or woman away from the scene of a disaster.

It is not the usual but the unusual when someone makes mention that while others are moving away it is the firefighters that are moving in. And I think we can all testify to the fact that there are thousands of helping hands once outside in the clean fresh air but little company inside.

I would be careless in my duties as a firefighter if I did not speak out on a stigma and affliction we the firefighters seem to suffer from. Silent apathy and silence and let the other guy take the glory have taken precedence over letting the public know how its firefighters serve them. Indifference has become our undoing.

Today carries the length and breadth of this nation the cry of every mayor, councillor or politically-minded johnny-come lately is to cut back on public spending and although we all agree that this is an apple pie issue, the target more often than not is the card-playing, pipe-smoking, armchair philosopher we the firefighters have allowed the public to accept as their firefighter. Too long, much too long.

The firefighter is this country's number one defence, not today, not tomorrow, but every day, 24 hours a day, seven days a week, 365 days a year. It is our job to protect the lives and the property of the men, women and children we have all taken an oath to, and at what ever price we are called upon to pay to make.

Fire in itself is no joke. It is as it always was, man's first discovery and his greatest fear. And for those of us chosen to do battle with nature's number one power, it is wrong to allow this image to continue. When danger threatens we are there. When life is challenged it is the firefighter who must pick up the pacifier. We are the picture of this business, in harm's way.

We dare not step aside because there is a risk involved this must be told again and again. We need not justify our job but it is wrong if we do not acknowledge it. There are many injustices in these times. There is a need for re-evaluation of our priorities. But if we the firefighters of this nation allow this crime to continue, to cut back on fire service by a politician who does not know a man from a hydrant wrench, this my friends is the greatest crime of all.

I ask you to let this message be heard loud and clear. We the professional firefighters, take pleasure our productivity on the safety of our people. Let them put a price tag on that.

In the article entitled "New Art Gallery Grows from Studio," Friday, Oct. 19, it stated that I said there was "no competition" in the field of portraiture.

What I meant was that there was less competition in my field than in landscape painting. This misunderstanding might result in ill-feeling between myself and both the public and other artists.

An Evening Of Theatre

Editor,
The Intelligencer:

Perhaps the most enjoyable evening I have spent in some time, was spent at the Pinnacle Playhouse. I was a part of the audience to "Around About 1883-84."

The playhouse was packed and I was thrilled to be a part of it.

The play was a tribute to the early settlers, but perhaps most of all to Belleville.

Mixed emotions was the course for the evening. Laughter, tears, joy, all of all — emotions.

In my opinion, anyone who saw the play and did not both enjoy and relate to it, didn't deserve to see such an attempt at perfection.

Of one thing, however, I am certain, I was completely involved from 'around about 8:30 p.m. to 11 p.m. on Saturday October 18, 1978.

Bible Still Outsells All Other Books

NEW YORK (CP) The story is 2,000 years old, yet it outsells everything else in the bookstalls year after year after year.

It is the story of Christianity, now 1,900 A.D.—and still at an astonishing rate—in a popular new modern-language version with a catchy new title: Good News For Modern Man.

It is published by the American Bible Society in a paperback edition and is essentially a translation into common-language English of the gospels set down on papyrus 19 centuries ago by apostles Luke, Mark, John and Matthew to proclaim the news of Christ's birth, crucifixion and resurrection.

The fact of its publication is not new. It has been in print since 1966. What is news is the fact that the 875-page paperback has just gone into its 16-millionth copy, a phenomenal showing considering that booksellers give best-seller status to anything selling as few as 50,000 copies. And this has been accomplished without fanfare and with no advertising.

The Bible Society, which has its headquarters in a modest 7-storey building here at Broadway and 61st Street, says it ships out, on request, 4,000 to 50 copies a day to churches, schools, religious institutions and other groups throughout the world. The society makes no profit on the sales, handling the book at cost.

Top other editions, produced by private publishing companies, sold an newsstands at 95 cents a copy. The Bible Society edition goes for 65 cents in the United States.

The new version is read by Roman Catholics as well as Protestants. Official approval for its use by Roman Catholics has been granted by several archbishops.

In Canada where distribution is handled by the Canadian Bible Society, the book also is a best-seller.

Rev. Howard Ilsrbrigg, secretary for production, supply and distribution in the Toronto-based organization, said there is no question about it being a top-seller in Canada.

Sales in 1974 totalled 178,085 copies and sales so far in 1975 amount to 143,500. The figures include 40,000 distributed in the armed forces and 35,000 copies presented in New Canadians receiving their citizenship.

Canadian prices are $13.50 for a carton of 46 when ordered in quantity. Single-copy prices vary from 75 cents to $2.40 depending on quality of paper and size of type.

It has been translated into many languages, including Spanish, German, Dutch, Finnish, Korean, Chinese, Portuguese, Filipino and Arabic.

The modern-language version—called TEV for short—is what is known as a "common-language" translation, limited to a vocabulary of 3,000 words. It deliberately avoids technical terms whgever possible and refrains from using difficult polysyllabic words, using the part of the English language common to all who read or write it, regardless of the degree of formal education or of national origin.

All the "thees" and "thous," the "untos" and "hadsts" of the traditional versions are gone. Measurements and units of currency are converted to "a Sabbath d a y ' s journey" becomes "about half a mile." A "talent" is "a thousand dollars." Times of day are clarified: "It was nine o'clock in the morning when they nailed Him to the cross." Jesus was getting on toward evening when Joseph of Arimathea arrived, . . .

Many passages become clearer. Dough perhaps less poetic. The familiar King James version's rendering of the first beatitude, "Blessed are the poor in spirit, for theirs is the kingdom of heaven" becomes "Happy are those who know that they are spiritually poor; the kingdom of heaven belongs to them."

The Christian Herald, illustrating the ease with which the new version may be read, reported the case of a 13-year-old school girl who picked up a copy, leafed through its pages and exclaimed: "This can't be the Bible. I can understand it!"

Good News for Modern Man began 13 or 14 years ago with an idea by the society that it was time to bring out a version of the New Testament for people for whom English was a second language.

The job was turned over to Dr. Robert G. Bratcher, the society's translation department and a graduate of Southern Baptist Theological Seminary in Louisville, Ky.

For the next 7½ years, working mainly at home, Bratcher translated an ancient Greek text of the New Testament into language that sounds as though it might be spoken today on any North American street corner.

To illustrate the book, the society chose Anne Valdelon, noted Swiss-born artist who lives in Paris. Two hundred or so of her tiny line drawings—the figures mostly faceless—appear in the book.

TEV has not been without its critics. When a British edition appeared in 1968, critic Malcolm Muggeridge took strong exception in London Observer to the gospels being conveyed "in the jaunty prose of tabloid newspapers, advertising copy and public-relations handouts."

But the society notes that the King James version of the Bible, following its publication in 1611, went through 50 century years before it received wide acceptance.

The society also notes that modern-day translations are based on Greek texts that are far more accurate than those available in 1611.

The gratest outcry from critics came over the variations of the translation of the Greek word "hainos" which ordinarily is translated as "blood." In passages about the ro- redemptive death of Christ.

The society says "haima," as well as the Hebrew word "dam" in the Old Testament, usually means "violent death," which the English word "blood" does not.

When Pilate washed his hands before the crowd and says, "I am innocent of the blood hainos of this man," it is clear, says the society, that the subject is the execution (the death) of Jesus, and in Greek it is natural and idiomatic to speak of his hainos.

But in English "blood" does not mean death. So the new translation becomes: "I am not responsible for the death of this man."

The new version clearly refers to the blood of Christ in passages where the context is such that the figurative and spiritual meaning of hainos is not "blood" instead of "death." For example, John 6:56, where Jesus says: "Whoever eats My flesh and drinks My blood has eternal life."

The society suggests that the meaning of idioms and figures of speech must be set forth lucidly so that today's readers, unfamiliar with the Semitic culture of most of the writers and original readers of the books of the Greek New Testament, will not miss the force and meaning of the figures used.

Worshipping God - A Public Expression

By
DR. GORDON C. SMYTH

"Let us worship God." When a clergyman makes this Sunday announcement, he appeals to a basic drive in human nature. No civilization has been discovered without some sort of public expression of religion at its centre.

However, Franz Werfel has noted, "the preoccupation with Left and Right, the world has forgotten that there is an Above and Below."

A vivid illustration of the latter was the reception over the entrance to the Buchenwald concentration camp in Nazi Germany: "There is no God here."

Worship means worthship — reverence due to worth. It is directed towards a person. One addresses a mayor as "Your Worship". Naturally, richest devotion belongs only to God.

The best definition of which I am aware was given by the late William Temple, Archbishop of Canterbury. "For to worship," he wrote, "is to quicken the conscience by the holiness of God, to purge the imagination by the beauty of God, to feed the mind with the truth of God, to open the heart to the love of God, to devote the will to the service of God."

Off the west coast of Scotland lies the tiny island of Iona. Thither, in the 6th century, sailed St. Columba from Ireland, founding a college of missionaries.

The abbey that was central to the complex of buildings, including a hospital, fell into decay as a result of excesses in the Reformation period. But, in our own time, Sir George MacLeod and the Church of Scotland (Presbyterian) have endeavored to recapture Columba's ideal of the wholeness of life.

As my wife and I stood within the hallowed walls of the new abbey, we thought of all that "the holy late" meant, for centuries, to individuals and to European culture emerging from the Dark Ages.

Nearby was a cemetery in which, a thousand years ago, were laid to rest the mortal remains of more leaders and benefactors than have been interred in Westminster Abbey.

The broken altar base, the gift of walls, the closeness of tombs of the apostolic dead, had a sobering and uplifting effect upon us. We were one with the Church of all generations. The awe of the Eternal touched us!

This is the aim of any congregation that would, as Jesus taught, "worship the Father in spirit and in truth" (John 4:23). The awe of the Eternal! This is also worship's reward.

Here's Sad News For Cheese Fans

Cheese fans from the entire Quinte region will be sorry that Penhorn Cheese factory's retail outlet is closing November 1.

Long a favorite Sunday-drive stopping place on Massey Road, the cheese factory was recently sold, for the second time in a year to Ault Foods of Winchester. The firm has decided to close the retail outlet. Cheese will be marketed through the cheese board. This move will also mean an end to the holiday traffics many people have established: ordering pounds of their excellent cheddar to be mailed to far-away family and friends.

David Rooney, controller of Ault Foods, which, incidentally, is a subsidiary of the Labatt's Company, says that the decision to close the store was based on the fact that "it was a low volume store which was losing money." He said the company felt it couldn't afford to continue on that basis.

The firm, which produces cheese, butter, skim milk powder, whey powder and whey butter, has future hopes which will interest cheese fans.

"Potentially we may be opening another store in that area," Mr. Rooney says. A retail outlet is already operated in the Winchester area during the summer months.

There's been a lot of loose talk recently about dietary fibre or roughage. But just what is it? Why do you need it?

Composed mostly of carbohydrates, dietary fibre is food of plant origin that cannot be broken down by the human digestive system.

You can increase the amount of dietary fibre you take in by eating such foods as berries, tomatoes, broccoli, cabbage, cauliflower, carrots, sweet potatoes and whole grain and bran.

Ready to eat cereals supply some bran, but not as much as whole grain cereals. Some, however, fare better than others. A cereal like All-Bran contains 7.8 grams of fibre per 100 grams; Sugar Pops contain only .37 grams per 100 grams.

Why do you need roughage? Most of the increased awareness of the necessity of dietary fibre is based on the work of a team of British physicians who compared dietary fibre intake of rural and urbanized Africans to that of Western man. The study showed that rural Africans, who consume large amounts of roughage, suffer less from digestive systems problems like constipation, hemorrhoids, diverticulitis and cancer of the colon, than persons eating low fibre Western diets.

Social Worker Hears Dad's Side

By SHARON AIRHART

As a parental support worker for the provincial Ministry of Community and Social Services, it's her job, in part, to track down deserting husbands who have failed to make regular maintenance payments to their families.

Curiously, most of the men she deals with don't regard her as an adversary.

"For years no one listened to the father . . . no one realized he has problems, too. The fact alone that someone is listening to him may get a man to begin paying regularly."

Mrs. Wilkes, who was for years a mothers' rights worker with the Ontario government in several Ontario centres, is one of a new group of social workers devoted to providing a liaison between mother and father in the family court. There are now 22 such workers in the province and, since the program's inception 18 months ago, they have collected more than $2 million in arrears maintenance payments.

For years, women who have received family benefits from the province formerly called mothers' allowance — have assigned their maintenance payments to the Treasurer of Ontario. But when the maintenance payments weren't made, no one tried to collect them. It has been estimated that nearly $8 million was owed the province in arrears maintenance payments.

Under the new program, women on family benefits still assign their payments to the Treasurer of Ontario. But if the payments are not made, Mrs. Wilkes and her counterparts contact the men to find out why they have not paid. In Hastings County, automatic enforcement procedures by the court regularly monitor the files of men who owe maintenance.

"We're helping the woman and we're helping the man because in many cases his circumstances have changed and he can't pay," Mrs. Wilkes explains.

The program, and the previous policy of assigning payments to the province when family benefits are involved, assures families of a regular source of income.

"Before, if he didn't pay, she had to get him back to court."

If the man had disappeared or had met with circumstances which made payment impossible, then the woman was unsure about her income from month to month.

Under the new program there is no relationship between the maintenance he pays the government and the family benefits she receives.

"Family benefits are related to needs and the current ministry policy," Mrs. Wilkes says.

As a parental support worker, Mrs. Wilkes also acts as a mediator in disputes about things like the father's rights of visitation with the children.

"There's a lot of bitterness when a family splits. It's the poor children who suffer. They, to me, are the ones who are not heard."

Mrs. Wilkes tries to, as she puts it, "sort it out outside the court."

But, she adds, "If you can't sort it out then you've got to let the judge sort it out."

Judges in Bowmanville, Cobourg, Belleville, Bancroft, Madoc, Trenton, Brighton, Port Hope, Napanee and Picton all hear Mrs. Wilkes' cases. She covers not only Hastings, but Northumberland, Durham, Lennox and Addington and Prince Edward County. She goes after up to 40 cases a month in court involves driving up to 300 miles a week between courtrooms.

"Over in Northumberland," Mrs. Wilkes says, "they call me Mrs. Kissinger."

Golden Anniversary Celebrated

Mr. and Mrs. Selden Homan of Carrollville held an Open House recently to celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary. The happy occasion was attended by 200 guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Homan were married October 17, 1925, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Hall of Magog, Quebec.

Muriel Duckworth of Halifax, who was her sister's bridesmaid was also present for the anniversary, as were the couple's four children, Muriel Lidster of Trenton, Luella Campbell of Red Deer, Alberta, Harry and Helen Homan of Brampton, and Burle and Kay Summers of Corbyville. Their seven grandchildren were in attendance, as well as two nieces and a nephew and their families.

Greetings and congratulations were received from Governor-General Jules Leger, Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau, Leader of the Opposition Robert Stanfield, Jack Ellis, MP and Premier William Davis. A plaque from the Ontario government was presented by Clarke Rollins, MPP.

A telegram was received from a niece in Switzerland, and telephone calls came from Quebec, Pennsylvania, California and Washington. Gifts and bouquets were received from family, friends and local organizations.

The previous evening, Mr. and Mrs. Homan were entertained at a dinner party in the home of their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Burle Summers. Guests were present from across Canada and the United States.

CAS Places Emphasis On Teen-age Welfare

The Family and Children's Services of Hastings County which is operated by The Children's Aid Society of the City of Belleville and the County of Hastings and Town of Trenton, has announced that, for the celebration of Children's Aid Week, October 19-25, attention is focused on teens.

"The most pressing reason for this" commented CAS Director, Bruce Kerr, "is that we want our community to become aware of the greatly increased number of teenagers coming to the Society with problems. That's why we're publicizing our slogan — Make Time For Teens."

Nearly half the children in care of Children's Aid Societies today are in their teens — 6,622 out of 13,262 in March this year. The same picture is true in Hastings where 47 per cent of the children in care are in their teens.

In addition, more and more families are turning to the Children's Aid Society to help straighten out problems between parents and teens. Many teenagers come to the Children's Aid Society on their own for help in relationships with parents.

"These are not just dating and discipline problems," said the Director. "With the pace of life today, parents just aren't spending the needed time to get to know their own teenagers. They are living separate lives like strangers under the same roof. This creates a vast emptiness in the young person struggling with his own development as an individual in the community."

WANDA VALERIE SYMONS, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Symons, recently graduated from Mohawk College (St. Joseph's Campus) Hamilton. Wanda, who is a former B.C.I V.S. student, has accepted a position at the Belleville General Hospital.

Good Time for Gathering Rose Hips

A rose needs no definition, but less well known is the rose "hip," the fruit of all rose plants. A research technician at the Department of Horticultural Science, Ontario Agricultural College, says rose hips or haws can be prepared in a myriad of ways to provide tasty and nourishing edibles.

A. H. Knap says rose hips are generally some shade of red in color and most garden types are about one-half inch in—diameter. Wild varieties can vary drastically in size. Bulbous, but tapered — some what like a small pear — they appear on the plants after the petals have fallen off.

They can be eaten fresh or dried as a ralin-type snack, or made into jams and jellies or hot and cold drinks. Mrs. Knap says one of her favorites is rose hip syrup added to applesauce. To make the syrup, boil two cups of rose hips in one cup of water until the hips are soft. Strain juice through a jelly bag and add one cup of sugar. Boil for five minutes. Mix one cup of syrup with every five of applesauce.

The researcher says: "Not only do rose hips taste good, but they are good for you. The vitamin C content is so high that they were jealously gathered in Europe during the last war to nourish the fighting troops. It is said that rose hip juice has 24 times more vitamin C per unit than orange juice."

Mrs. Knap advises home gardeners to bear in mind that if they have applied insecticides or fungicides to their gardens, the fruit may be unfit for consumption.

Rude 'Schnooks' Insult Their Guests

Dear Ann Landers: A certain couple we see socially has some unusual ideas about entertaining when we are guests in their home. When we invite them to dinner we feed our children first and try to make it a festive evening. When we go to their place the kids are always underfoot making snack demands on their parents. It seems as though we are in the way.

Last Saturday we arrived at 7:30 p.m. We thought surely the kids would have been fed already so we could have an adult-type evening. Well, the children were in the bathtub. At 8:15 we all sat down to eat. The kids jabbered the whole time and there was no adult conversation.

After dinner the hostess put the little darlings to bed and proceeded to hand out her ironing board. She then hugged a basket of clothes from the back hall and commenced to press the week's laundry.

"I'm a little behind," she explained. "I hope you don't mind I iron while we visit." I felt insulted. My husband says I'm "sensitive." What do you say? — Miffed in Ohio

Dear Miffed: I say your husband has the hide of an alligator if he didn't get the message. You aren't considered guests, you're just a couple of schnooks who help cut down the heating bill for those clods. You must be pretty desperate for friends to put up with them.

Dear Ann: I can't say this to my daughter. She'd think it was corny. I'd be embarrassed. Please tell her for me.

My darling daughter (or son):

Ever since you were a baby, our knowing where you were meant you were safe. You grew from being safe in your room, house, yard, block, neighborhood, to the whole world. Still, meant you are safe is our major concern.

Remember when you were little and came home from school and I asked, "Where? You can tell all the phone numbers you know. What I finally mean you said in your most grown-up tone, "Where have you been?" I know you were fulfilling, you were frightened. When you didn't know where I was your security was threatened.

I don't mean to be nosy. On the contrary, I want to give you as much freedom as possible. But the only way I can do it is if I know where you are and when you'll be home.

My responsibility for you will end one day. Hopefully, my insecurity about you will also be gone, and all that remains will be confidence and love. But the only way that can happen is if you help me. Asking where you are going and when you'll be home is not mother-talk. It really means, "I love you, and I hope you'll be safe." You answer when translated from child-talk, means one of two things to me: "I don't care how you feel," or "I love you, too."—Love, Mom

Dear Mom: You've expressed that thought in behalf of parents today, and I thank you.

Alex Comfort Takes on Old Age

NEW YORK (Reuter) — British poet, novelist and scientist Alex Comfort is planning to die for old age what he thinks he has already done for sex—make it more acceptable and less of a hassle.

Dr. Comfort's credentials for the task are excellent. He is the author of the Joy of Sex, a guide book to the varieties of sexual experience that has become a sort of modern-day Kama Sutra.

It and its sequel, More Joy of Sex, have sold better than three million copies in hard and soft-covered editions containing a variety of lavish and erotic illustrations.

One might think that having done as much for the cause of sexual freedom, Dr. Comfort would consider resting. Certainly the wages of sin, or the Joys of sex, are such that he need never work again.

But in an interview, he quickly pounced on retirement as one of the great evils facing mankind.

"The whole point is not to stop working," he said.

"I don't know what you have in mind," he said. "but I'd like to talk about aging. I've been studying it for 25 years and doing it for 35."

Subject set, sex excluded, Dr. Comfort proceeded.

"My next book is going to be about growing old.

"You know that only about 25 per cent of aging is biology. Seventy-five per cent of it is laid on us by society. You know, the thing I mean, old folks can't have jobs, old folks can't have sex, that sort of thing.

"What I've written is a survival manual for the old. A sort of 'how not to let the bastards grind you down.' Informate such things as picketing those people who own nursing homes. I'm a great fan of the Grey Panthers, the militant group of old people.

"There are so many myths about old age to destroy. Things like people lose intelligence as they grow older. What happens is more often the effects of untreated hypertension than anything else.

"We hear about how old people lose their sanity. Well what happens is that some people are crazy to begin with or the 'boredom of having nothing to do gets them.

"The most important thing is for old people not to stop working, but a man should not too long occupy the same ground. There should be no such thing as a 'president for life.'

He warmed to his thought that no man should be stuck in the rut of one job, then retirement.

"This leisure thing is one big con. You can't spend your life playing shuffle-board. People when they retire, should go into politics or get an education or go into another field of work," he said.

Asked how long it took to write the newest book, he answered, "nine days, preceded by 25 years of study."

It will be dedicated to his father who died recently at age 92, a model example of how an old person should be in advanced age, Dr. Comfort said.

Mental Health Workers Hear Agency Criticized

VANCOUVER (CP) — Social service agencies, concerned about their own image, empire building and acquiring government funds were criticized at the opening Thursday of the three-day national conference of the Canadian Mental Health Association.

The aim of the conference is to unify services for people under mental and emotional stress. About 250 delegates representing 80 social groups were in attendance.

Patricia MacKay, president of the Canadian Council on Children and Youth, said social service organizations frequently work in isolation and are "prone to compete rather than see themselves in complementary roles."

She said part of this trend is because of a scramble for funds and if agencies would forget public images, empire building and territorial rights, they could more effectively supply their services.

Judge Victorl Cardoza of Nova Scotia said leadership should come from the CMHA.

"The services for troubled people are so fragmented, agencies so often protecting their own territory, that just to single out the right service often aggravates the problem for the individual rather than alleviates it."

Dr. Stanley Freeman, a Toronto psychiatrist, said he becomes disenchanted with the approach taken by some community psychologists.

"All we have done is discredit ourselves. Not just here in Canada, but money has been withdrawn from common mental health problems all over the world."

At a seminar for physicians, Dr. John Fry of Kent, England, said it is medically unnecessary and administratively impractical to treat mass groups of people for hypertension.

Dr. Fry said about a quarter of the population in developed countries has high blood pressure to some extent and it cannot really be considered a disease.

"We should try and pick up younger hypertensives either by routine clinical checks or by some screening surveys so they can be assessed and possibly treated," Dr. Fry said.

He estimated it would cost Britain between $250 million and $750 million annually to screen and treat the whole population and it would tie up 5,000 doctors and 25,000 nurses.

Performers Give Campaign Boost

The United Community Services opened Friday you can still get a lot for $1.50.

More than 100 local performers volunteered their talents for a two-hour show at Centennial Secondary School to raise funds for the October United Way campaign.

The musical variety show entitled a Parade of Stars is the first large scale production for the campaign. Lord Mullin, UCS executive director, said it may become a feature of future campaigns.

Jim Gubb, public relations director for the campaign said organizers of the variety show estimated more than $500 was raised towards the $146,000 goal.

Master of Ceremonies Dick Lovering started the program with the CFB Trenton Band followed by Arden's Concert Accordion Orchestra. The Highland Dancers with nine performers in full regalia were next with the Sweet Adelines, a ladies' barbershop singing group, finishing the first half of the program.

The Gad Guys, a six-man combo opened the second half with the Trenton Shag Out Group dancing and singing on stage and a ballet performance by Donna Kelly and Peter Locke from Quinte Dance Centre.

CFB Trenton Pipes and Drums provided a spectacular finale with a haunting version of Amazing Grace to a combination of enthusiastic applause.

According to her father, Krista Hennebury, 4, "had a great time" at the event and that musical great time will likely continue as the youngster won a stereo component set as a door prize from Prince Edward TV and Appliance Friday.

Volunteers for the United Way drive will continue their washing businesses and homes Monday as the campaign continues.

What It Means

State Secretary Hugh Faulkner emphasizes detail in federal anti-inflation program Friday. The cabinet minister explained various phases of government's plan to combat inflation at press conference called at Four Seasons Hotel.

Farm Produce Not Subject To Restraints?

By HARRY MULHALL
Staff Reporter

Food before it leaves the farm will not "generally speaking" be subject to federal price restraints said State Secretary Hugh Faulkner Friday.

It's when it works along the distribution system, gathering increments along the way, that the government's program of wage-price restraints will come into effect said Mr. Faulkner.

In fact the problem worrying politicians is not food prices at the farm gate but keeping farmers on the land, Mr. Faulkner told a press conference at the Four Seasons Hotel.

He said there was "very little argument" for food price restraint at the farm "in that the price at that stage is not out of whack at all."

Those at us who represent farmers, particularly in eastern Ontario, agree that the individual farmer is not making a fortune," said Mr. Faulkner, who is MP for Peterborough. "Our problem is not farmers making a fortune. It's keeping farmers on the land."

A major problem posed is the lure of industry — with its higher wage opportunities — which draws young people away from family farms.

"One thing that worries me in my constituency is the average age of the farmers. It's my area is going up to 55, 60, maybe 60 years of age."

Given a chance of earning $5-56 an hour" in industry or "staying home milking cows seven days a week 12 months of the year doesn't take that much time to make a decision," he said.

Three Hurt In Crash

PICTON — Three men were treated for cuts and bruises at Prince Edward County Memorial hospital early today following a two-car collision on the Cherry Valley Road, about two miles south of Picton.

Injured were drivers of the vehicles Kristen Maloney, 25, of Kingston, and Donald Tuttle 19, RR 1 Cherry Valley and a passenger in the Tuttle car, James Robeson, 15, of Picton.

Damage to the Tuttle car was estimated at $200 and $400 to the Maloney vehicle. The accident occurred at 2.30 a.m. today.

Victoria Widening Discussed

City hall has set the date for a public meeting to give property owners details of the second phase of the Victoria Road reconstruction project.

It will be held Oct. 30, starting at 8 p.m. in the south gymnasium of Nicholson Catholic College, city manager Wilbur Purcell announced Friday.

The meeting is being given formal newspaper advertising.

But to ensure all householders are aware of it: session notices soon will be sent door-to-door, said Mr. Purcell.

Girls Face Theft Charge

TRENTON — Two 18-year-old girls from Trenton have been charged with car theft town police report.

Joyce Elizabeth Bently of 14 Barker St. Picton, and Sharon Irene Monroe, of 41 Union St. Picton are charged police said.

A 1971 Bravada owned by Dave John Bowerman of 98 Bonneau St. Wellington was recovered by the Brighton detachment of the provincial police on Highway 2 west of Brighton Thursday night. Provincial police reported seeing two persons fleeing the parked car.

Bently and Monroe were picked up by the provincial police hitch-hiking west of Brighton, and brought to the Trenton police station.

Faulkner Predicts Quick Passage For Federal Inflation Restraints

Legislation on federal inflation restraints should receive parliamentary approval "fairly quickly," State Secretary Hugh Faulkner predicted Friday.

And it's a program — involving more than just wage and price controls — that will apply fairly to everyone, he said.

"If there is any doubt in anyone's mind that the government is serious . . . we're going to carry on this thing . . . because we're going to get inflation down from 19 per cent to four per cent. And we will do it, and we're serious about it," said Mr. Faulkner.

It was to emphasize this that Mr. Faulkner was in Belleville, at a press conference called at the Four Seasons Hotel — one of similar sessions in eastern Ontario ridings which are his territorial assignments as other cabinet ministers travel the country explaining the program.

The legislation should receive quick approval since the Progressive Conservative opposition generally support his principles.

"However, that "is not to say that people won't get a chance to comment or interest groups won't have a chance to be heard," he added.

He stressed the program was a four-part attack on inflation:

(1) — The guidelines for wages and prices. And, in an interview, he said a "principle concern" was that people might not feel controls would be fair to all. "Let it be clear. It applies to everyone in the same way." And some unions have expressed concern about price controls. "We believe we have an effective mechanism at getting at prices and profits." But, if defective, "we would like to hear from them precisely how they propose to strengthen it." It is necessary that such unions join in the anti-inflation fight "to ensure that what is equitable both on the wage side and the price side." He said plans by the Canadian Labor Congress for a fund to help unions fight government wages controls and retain experts to decide if they should be challenged only mean the CLC wanting a staff-watching process. "I think that's their right and I think it's fair ball."

(2) — Monetary policy restraint. Money supply will be cut back. Previously, the government hadn't felt this, by itself would have been sufficient discouragement" to "inflationary psychology".

(3) — Cuts in government spending. Already $1 billion has been slashed from government spending in July. There will be more cuts and a ceiling on public service hirings.

(4) — Areas contributing to inflation because of shortages or bottlenecks. For example "There's no point in pulling a ceiling on something that is in short supply . . ." More money will be made available for housing to ease costs, develop more land — a program to be announced in coming weeks by Urban Affairs Minister Barnett Danson.

Mr. Faulkner said there was no plan immediately to control interest rates. The problem is compounded by a country's participation in world trade and monetary systems.

Deloro Family Move Son

DELORO — A family still remains puzzling its plight in this tiny Hastings County village six days after leaving their home was feet away from dangerous radiation levels.

But Ted and Sylvia Galloway contemplate one positive move this weekend. They're moving their teenage son away from home.

It follows the advice of family physician Dr. H.G. Parkin of nearby Marmora. Mrs. Galloway said Friday night.

She said the doctor wanted them their son — 17-year-old Barry — could be "susceptible" to radiation problems because of his age.

Barry graduates from Centre Hastings High School tonight. But after that, said Mrs. Galloway, he will probably move in with his sister, Mrs. Anne Scrimshaw, of RR 3 Roslin.

Meantime, Mrs. Galloway said she and her husband may have to move themselves — on the advice of what she called "good authority", although she didn't divulge the source.

"We're still concerned. We're not happy with the situation. I can tell you that," she said.

The Galloway house is the closest in this small community to speed around the abandoned Deloro and Smelting refining operation, before it closed out in 1961. The Galloways bought what once was a company house 12 years ago.

Results of tests by the Atomic Energy Control Board (AECB) released last weekend revealed the radiation.

The AECB said there didn't appear to be a "widespread hazard. But there is some concern regarding areas within a few feet" of the slag, part of which is buried adjacent to the Galloway home.

A provincial health ministry official took readings in the area again Wednesday, said Mrs. Galloway.

In the meantime, Ted Galloway, 52, had been in Deloro General Hospital clinic for a regular checkup and took the results of the radiation tests to his doctor.

Mrs. Galloway said the clinician expressed concern about possible effects on their other children who have grown up and left home at various intervals in recent years — and urged radiation tests.

On Their Toes for Funds

Donna Kelly and Peter Locke of Quinte Dance Centre perform pas de deux as part of community fund-raising program at Centennial Secondary School Friday. Proceeds go to current United Way campaign.

Court Told Accused 's Father Had Planned to be Married

The Crown's case against Jeremiah James Arthur Meneely, charged with the shooting death of his father in their Rawdon Township farmhouse in August, 1973, will continue into early next week following the fourth day of testimony in Ontario Supreme Court here Friday.

Justice Lawrence Pennell and a 12-member jury heard testimony from two provincial police officers, the brother-in-law of the dead James Meneely, 46, and an uncle of the accused and executor of the elder Meneely's estate.

Testimony was also heard from a woman who described the dead man as her "boyfriend" and soon-to-be husband.

Charged with murder punishable by life imprisonment, is 19-year-old Meneely, who, through his Toronto lawyer Ronald Thomas, has admitted he was in the attic of the RR 1 Marmora farmhouse when the shotgun he held discharged, killing his father, Aug. 1, 1973.

Earlier in the trial, the defence lawyer said Meneely, who is pleading not guilty to the murder charge, had no intent to shoot his father.

His testimony, given with the aid of two medics of the house, was presented under several assumptions drawn from testimony of other witnesses and admissibly by Meneely through his lawyer.

In posing questions to Corporal Walker, Crown Attorney Glenn Deline also requested an assumption that the elder Meneely, "was in an upright position."

The OPP officers were followed on the stand by Elva Burleigh, two years ago of Brighton, who testified that the elder Meneely "was my boyfriend" and she saw him "an average of three times a week."

A day after his death, she told the court, he spoke to young Meneely to ask him if it had been mentioned by his father that they were planning to marry. She said young Meneely was silent about the marriage.

Raymond Joseph Austin of Toronto, uncle of the accused and executor of the elder Meneely's estate, next testified that the young Meneely was major beneficiary of an estate he estimated was valued at $50,000 in August, 1973.

In court Friday, Det.-Sgt. Ronald Graham from the OPP in Belleville, read into evidence a statement signed by Meneely three days after the shooting death.

The written statement said Meneely was told by his father on about two groundhogs the youth had seen in a field near where the two Meneelys were cleaning a pig pen of manure.

The young Meneely went into the farmhouse, had a cup of coffee, and took the shotgun, "pulled the hammer back, had finger on trigger" and on the lip in the doorway between the kitchen and the laundry room, stumbled, continued the statement. The gun went off and Meneely was looking where I'd fall" and didn't see his father.

The elder Meneely, earlier testimony revealed, was struck by a "massive shot" which entered the body" from above downward at an approximate angle of 45 degrees to the skin's surface."

Corporal Gary Stewart Walker, a technical investigation branch officer with the provincial police, testified that the elder Meneely was shot in the laundry room "in the neighborhood of three feet" inside the doorway between the laundry room and the attached rear woodshed.

Mr. Austin said he has signed an agreement to sell the farm for $25,000, after receiving permission to do so from young Meneely "maybe a year ago." He testified that Meneely told him that after the sale he would "maybe go out West."

Gerald Elliott Burkitt, the elder Meneely's brother-in-law and resident of a farm immediately beside the Meneely's farm, testified he heard "a bawling of calves from his farm and went to the Meneely farm to help feed the calves, Aug. 2, 1973.

He told the 12-member jury he asked Meneely what to feed the calves but said he responded other than a statement from Meneely that he knew "everything that's in the will." Meneely, testified Mr. Burkitt, said that he had signed the will about two weeks earlier.

Mr. Burkitt's testimony concluded Supreme Court proceedings Friday.

Crown attorney Mr. Deline said that hopefully" the Crown will conclude its case Tuesday after video dire hearings must of Meneely. The trial will move into its fifth day Monday.

Clothing Sprinkled

The result may have been some damp clothes but a possible blaze was kept under control until firefighters arrived, said a fire department spokesman.

The blaze was centred in the pressing room of Belle Cleaners, 256 Coleman St. Clothes sheathed in cellophane and articles in a hamper awaiting pressing were damaged by fire, smoke or water.

Firemen today were still seeking the cause of the 8 p.m. outbreak. There was no estimate of damage.

Piglets Lost in Fire

ROSLIN — Young pigs were lost when fire destroyed a large frame barn on the property of Harry Sayers, about a mile east of here Friday.

Mr. Sayers earlier had gone to a spring for water. When he returned he noticed smoke and flame coming from the barn.

Lost in the blaze were 14 piglets, an entire season's hay crop — owned by son-in-law Ronald Hagerman. Wind blowing the flames from the nearby Sayers' residence helped save the house, said Tweed volunteer firemen.

Sold Fast

Gardening season is almost finished and people are spending time indoors redecorating and refurnishing rooms. Miss W. found this to be the case when she advertised dressers, a vanity and single beds with box springs for sale and had immediate response.

If you have furniture for sale call The Intelligencer Classified at 962-9171 and take advantage of fall clean-ups.

Legion Gets Answers

TRENTON — Questions raised about the method of selling and publicizing of a touring variety show sponsored by the local Legion, were satisfactorily answered in a meeting of the Legion's executive Friday night, said Mr. Dumky of 1 M. Gardens Co. of Trenton, the variety show's coordinator.

Mr. Demsky said any questions raised concerned the idea of Legion asking for donations from the public. "It's not the company's policy to ask anyone people to ask for donations."

"Nowhere does it state in the presentation (which is read to the person phoned) does it use the word donation," said Mr. Demsky. "It's possible that one of the workers changed the presentation, which is a violation of the work contract."

In a four-hour work period, about 1,000 calls may be made, and it is possible the word donation may have been used by a caller who was too eager to make a sell, said Mr. Demsky.

Michael Nofrio, advance agent for the show, said there was one girl he caught using the word donation and she has since been released.

The presentation asks the person to sponsor less fortunate persons to attend the show if the person does not wish to buy a ticket for himself. The sponsorship balances the debt of the tickets given to charitable homes, said Mr. Demsky. "There are approximately 150 tickets that are going out to the Institutions." The tickets go to the institute regardless whether the contributions cover the costs of them or not, he said.

It was questioned that in the presentation, the Legion's share of the show's proceeds would be going to minor sports and underprivileged children when the Legion has committed to donate the $400 to the hospital for its 25th anniversary. Mr. Demsky said he would increase the guaranteed fee of $400 to $500 for the Legion. The $100 added will go to minor sports or as the Legion decides, he said.

Postal Strike Has Variety of Inconveniences

A survey of shoppers at Quinte Mall Thursday by the Intelligencer indicates many people are not concerned with the current nationwide postal strike but find it an inconvenience.

Most said they believe postal workers should have the right to strike but they were not sympathetic with the reasons behind the strike action.

The strike of inside mail workers and postal clerks began Tuesday.

Local businesses and individuals are making use of bus, train and courier services to ship necessary parcels and letters.

Many said they were conducting their personal long distance business by telephone.

Peter Greg

A 22-year-old university student, Peter Greg said he really misses the mail delivery. "I can't keep in contact with my friends and associates at the university," he said. "It must be affecting everyone, especially the small businesses."

Charles Pohl

Charles Pohl, 75, of Arden, is worried his pension cheque won't be sent in his next month. "It's a good thing they rent one cheque out early this month," he added. "I don't [illegible] strike-they are making enough money." Mr. Pohl said he also misses receiving his personal mail.

Joan Westfall

Joan Westfall, 35, of Stirling, said the strike was not affecting her at all. A housewife Mrs. Westfall said she does not think the right to strike should be taken away but it doesn't really matter to her. "It doesn't bother me at all," she said.

Katherine Pohl

Katherine Pohl of Arden, an astrologer, said the strike is affecting her correspondence with clients. "Business is at a complete standstill." Mrs. Pohl said it was also frustrating not to receive any personal mail from her relatives in the United States.

Steve Clare

Steve Clare, 23, of Belleville said the strike is a real inconvenience as he is making preparations to visit friends and family in Vancouver but can't let them know about his plans. "It doesn't really bother me," he said. "but I won't be able to let them know when I'm coming."

Christine Wardle

Christine Wardle, 20, of Belleville said the strike is causing lots of problems "I'm moving to the west coast next week and bills that should be said before I leave aren't getting to me." Ms. Wardle said she is also waiting for a cheque that's been held up.

Sullivan Makes Most Of Chance With Jets

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Bobby Hull set out the World Hockey Jets' World Hockey Association game Friday night but the club got along well without him.

Peter Sullivan, who missed a month of training with the Jets because of a contract dispute with Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League, filled in for Hull and led the Jets to a 5-2 win over Denver Spurs.

In other games Friday, New England Whalers edged Toronto Toros 5-4 in Toronto and Phoenix Roadrunners handed Calgary Cowboys their fourth loss in five games with a 6-3 score.

In less than a minute they manufactured goals by Sullivan and Nilsson, giving Winnipeg a 3-2 lead.

Ted Green, Willy Lindstrom and Heinz Rühkopf scored the other Winnipeg goals. Don Borgen got both Denver goals in the first period when the Spurs led 2-1.

The loss ended a three-game Denver winning streak and Phoenix gave Winnipeg sole possession of first place in the Canadian division.

The victories by Phoenix and New England also lifted Denver into first place in their respective divisions. The Roadrunners leaped ahead of Minnesota Fighting Saints in the West and New England moved into a share of the East Division lead with Cincinnati.

Only 4,098 fans were on hand in Calgary to watch the Roadrunners shake off the determined Cowboys.

Peter McNamee broke a 3-3 deadlock late in the third period when his [illegible] from the corner hit Calgary defenceman Duane Rupp and slipped through the [illegible] of goaltender Don McLeod.

John Gray and Michel Courtemier got the other Phoenix goals. Dave Hanson and Butch Deadmarsh also scored for Calgary.

In Toronto 7,177 fans were on hand to see a spirited, [illegible] rally by the Toros fall short. The Toros scored twice in the first [illegible] to cut the lead to [illegible] but couldn't get the tying goal.

MIKE WALTON

Suspended Sentence

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Mike Walton of Minnesota Fighting Saints has pleaded no contest to a charge of assaulting a fan at a World Hockey Association game last season at the San Diego Sports Arena.

Walton received a one-year suspended sentence and was placed on probation Friday by Judge T. Bruce Iredale of municipal court.

Walton was accused of striking Perry Crosh ,29, of Poway, Calif., in the face with his stick during a Feb. 6 game between the Fighting Saints and San Diego Mariners.

Walton had been charged with felony assault, but pleaded no contest after the charge was reduced to a misdemeanor.

Meanwhile, Crosh has filed a $1 million damage suit against both teams, the WHA, Walton and the operators of the arena.

Bobby Hull

Absence Triggers A Guessing Game

WINNIPEG (CP) — Bobby Hull's problem with Winnipeg Jets remained uncertain today following conflicting reports on the reason for his absence from the Jets' World Hockey Association game Friday night.

The Jets issued a brief statement Friday saying the star left winger had been given permission to miss practices and games "temporarily in his own attempt to protect hockey ability and the type of game hockey fans has been treated recently."

But a report on one Winnipeg radio station, said Hull denied the statement and said he has been given a few days off on test.

Hull was otherwise unavailable for comment.

The Jets said Friday that Hull has called a news conference for 5 p.m. EDT today.

Ben Hatskin, chairman of the board of the WHA was also unavailable for comment.

Jets' general manager Rudy Pilous maintained that the reason for Hull's boycott was his desire to have more ice time and more involvement.

But he added that play could be illegal use of hockey sticks.

"That incident we had here the other night was one of the worse I've ever seen," he said, referring to an incident when Pierre Guite of the Jets fought the one Cincinnati Stingers and received an eye injury.

"Bobby is mad at coaches like Cincinnati's Terry Slater. The other night it was so obvious, the game was only 52 seconds old and they were going after Ulf."

But Slater, who coached the Jets when they were in Winnipeg, said Hull's problem with Winnipeg now-defunct Los Angeles Sharks the first year of the WHA is penalty records, says the game today is no rougher than it was when Hull played in the old [illegible] National Hockey League.

"Sometimes when you get near that retirement you get Bobby something like this is maybe just a way out," Slater said. "One of the great hockey players I remember was coming back those years. It was a big picture of Bobby bleeding after a fight with Ferguson.

Club president Bob Graham said physical fitness is not much a factor as violence to Hull's absence.

Coach Bobby Kromm said Hull asked Wednesday to be excused from practices for a few days and then from the Friday game.

"But he gave no indication how long he would be gone," Kromm said. "I could give you a possible reasons but they could all be wrong or they could all be right."

Bill McFarland of the Phoenix Roadrunners said there's not exactly as much hockey here in the WHA, at least not very mean hits in the NHL or hockey in general.

But McFarland said he does agree with Hull's action if he is referring to incidents involving the illegal use of hockey sticks. McFarland said a lot of improvement could be made by better officiating.

He also suggested double major penalties "for some games. "A misconduct, doesn't really mean much because coaches often only use the guys a couple of times a game," he said.

But double major penalties would leave the team short-handed and cause coaches to think twice before sending the player on the ice.

Reds on Target In Overtime Win

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Providence Reds made their shots count Friday night in a 5-4 overtime victory over Rochester Americans in an American Hockey League game.

The Reds were outshot 41-18 but got and an overtime goal from Bernie Lukowich to pull out the victory.

The Reds opponents had elapsed in the extra period when centre Lynn Powis of the Reds fired a deflector towards the Rochester net. Lukowich was credited with deflecting the puck into goalie Ross Brooks although it appeared it was the puck just bounced off the skate of a Rochester defenceman.

In other league games Friday night, Baltimore Clippers beat New Haven Nighthawks 3-2 and Hershey Bears edged Springfield Indians 3-2.

The Reds were outshot 23-5 in the first two periods and trailed 3-2 before Joe Zanussi, Pete Maloney and Powis each scored early in the third period.

Don Grierson backhanded in a rebound off a shot by Ken Speck at 13:32 of the first period to give Baltimore its win over New Haven:

Paul Curtis, who signed to play with the Clippers only hours before the game, scored the first goal.

Although the Clippers outshot New Haven 29-11 in the first two periods, Nighthawks goalie Brian Holderness held Baltimore to Curtis's goal for the first 40 minutes.

Fred Speck scored for Baltimore after 32 seconds of play in the third period, but New Haven rallied to tie the game with goals by Brian Watts at 8:05 and Richard Nantais 1:50 later.

Dennis Onacar and Wayne Bianchin scored six seconds apart with less than four minutes remaining in the game to give the Bears their comeback win over the Indians.

It was the first victory of the season for the Bears and broke a three-game losing streak. The Indians fell to their fourth consecutive loss and fifth of the season.

Reg Bechtold's power-play goal late in the opening period gave the Indians a 1-0 lead and it stood up until Bianchin scored his first goal of the game at 9:37 in the third period to tie the game.

Rookie Don Cairns put Springfield ahead 2-1 less than two minutes later when he drilled a 30-footer by Hershey goaltender Gordon Bell. Dave Owchar put in a rebound for the Bears goal at 15:27 and Bianchin flipped a trickler behind Springfield goalie Bob Taylor 30 seconds later with another rebound shot to turn the game in Hershey's favor.

All the Flames Needed Was Visit from Kings

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Los Angeles Kings turned out to be a tonic Friday night for the ailing defence of Atlanta Flames.

The Flames, lowest-scoring team in the National Hockey League, had 31 goals in six games before Friday, pelted themselves together to stun the Kings 7-1 at Atlanta.

"We needed this win. It was a must," he said Claude St. Sauveur, who scored his first two goals against the Kings. "We'll be playing more relaxed from now on."

In Friday's other NHL games, Toronto Maple Leafs stopped Washington Capitals 6-3 and Vancouver Canucks defeated Minnesota North Stars 4-2.

Hilliard Graves also scored two goals for the Flames, his second and third of the season. Tom Lysiak, Rey Comeau and Larry Carriere added one each.

The Kings, trounced 9-0 by Montreal Canadiens in their season opener, were missing the discipline Friday night that gave them the league's fourth best record last year.

Los Angeles coach Bob Pulford said Dave Hudson was the one sided score on goalie Gary Edwards. Hudson, Pulford, "seemed we weren't up to play against Atlanta."

Lanny McDonald's breakaway goal with 8:57 gone in the third period proved to be the winner at the Leafs' expense. Washington's winless streak to nine games. The Capitals have only one tie to show for those nine losses.

Darryl Sittler scored twice for Toronto, the second goal into an empty net after the Capitals pulled their goalie with 1:02 to play. Don Ashby, Errol Thompson and Inge Hammarstrom had one goal each for Toronto.

Nelson Pyatt, Stan Gilbertson and Bob Gryp scored for Washington.

Pierre Bordeleau and Dennis Ververgaert scored in the same minute of play Friday night to give Vancouver its win.

Bordeleau picked up a flip pass from Ralph Backstrom in Los Angeles after cutting behind the Minnesota defence. Backstrom got netminder Cesare Maniago and nearly tucked the puck into the corner.

Tonight's schedule has the Rangers playing the Islanders in a battle of New York rivals, Philadelphia Flyers at Pittsburgh Penguins, Atlanta at St. Louis Blues, Boston Bruins at Montreal, Buffalo Sabres at Detroit Red Wings', Chicago Black Hawks at Kansas City Scouts and California Seals at Toronto.

Knights Stop Greyhounds

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Tom Rowe scored his 18th goal of the season for Sault Ste. Marie Greyhounds in Ontario Hockey Association Friday night.

In other games, Hamilton 7-4 at Kingston, the Rangers Cowboy Toronto Marlboros 9-4 at Kitchener and Windsor Spitfires and the 'Oshawa 6-3.

London's victory was the club's third straight win against Sault Ste. Marie and helped retain first place in the Emms Division.

Other London goals were by Ron Ryan, Gerry Desmond and rookie Wayne Smith. Smith's goal, his first in Junior A play, broke a 4-4 tie in the third period. Rowe scored the second of 14-1.

John Tavella and Mike Hordy scored for Sault Greyhounds.

Sunday's schedule has Sault Ste. Marie at Toronto, Kingston at St. Catharines, Sudbury at Oshawa, London at Kitchener and Ottawa at Hamilton.

Flacons 7 Canadiens 4

Hamilton scored three goals in the final seven minutes Friday night to beat the Canadiens.

Captain Dale McCourt scored once and assisted on four other goals to lead the Flacons. Ted Sator scored twice including the winner and Danny Shearer, Archie King, Joe Kowal and Joe Contini had one apiece.

Hamilton jumped into a 3-1 lead in the opening period on three power-play goals. It led 6-3 going into the final 20 minutes of play.

Barrie On Top

ORILLIA, Ont. (CP) — An 8-4 win by Barrie Flyers over Orillia Terriers on Friday gave them sole possession of first place in the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A League.

It was the only game scheduled.

The teams traded two goals each in the first period and the Flyers led 5-2 in the second period.

Play resumes tonight with Whitby Warriors travelling to play Cambridge Hornets. On Sunday, Orillia visits Barrie and Lindsay Lancers meet Napanee Comets.

Greco Roman Wrestling Event In the Spotlight

MEXICO CITY (CP) — The honey in Javier Serrano's water bottle turned to vinegar at Friday night and the crowd at the Greco-Roman finishing finals didn't care for the miracle.

A United States wrestler, blind in one eye, suffered a cut over the other eye when accidentally kicked by an opponent but fought on to win a gold medal.

And another American with a bullet lodged in his liver and his jaw held together with surgery wire finished second behind Howard Stupp of Montreal, but fought on to win a gold medal of the day.

Greco-Roman wrestling, in which the wrestlers are only permitted to apply holds above the waist, normally commands little space on North American sports pages. But it commanded the most excitement on a day that saw the U.S. sweep four swimming finals and three tennis championship finals.

The Americans also did well in the wrestling, capturing seven of the 10 weight divisions, but were beaten in men's platform diving by Carlos Girón of Mexico.

Canada's share of the medals consisted of Stupp's gold in the featherweight area of wrestling, two bronzes in other wrestling divisions and a silver and three bronze in the Pan-Am pool.

Serrano, a Mexican light heavyweight, was wrestling at Terre Williams of the U.S. for a gold medal and leading on points when officials decreed he was drinking a liquid containing honey between rounds and disqualified him. International rules bar the competitors can drink only water.

Serrano's reaction was expressive. Its disapproval, showering the ring with bottles and other debris until Williams, in the diplomatic cup of the Games, persuaded the officials to allow the bout to continue.

"I wanted to go home winning and not have it handed to me," Williams — a after accepting his gold medal.

Flyweight Bruce Thompson of Minneapolis, captain of the U.S. team, suffered the gash over his good eye while wrestling Jacques Jimenez of Mexico in his final bout but persevered to defeat the Mexican.

Featherweight Gary Alexander, also of Minneapolis, lost his bout to competition after being shot in the face three years ago and finished sixth by outpoinding Julio Gutierrez of Mexico after an earlier loss to Stupp. The Canadian then met Gutierrez in the final match.

"It was kind of a squeaker," said the 20-year-old McGill University engineering student, who was cautioned three times during the bout.

"I felt the home town was having an effect on the referees and they were slightly unfair to me. But things worked out well."

Things also worked out reasonably well for lightweight John McPeedran of Agincourt, Ont. and super heavyweight Harry Geris of London, Ont., who finished second and third.

A rib injury robbed McPeedran of his chance to wrestle for the gold against Patrick Mavety of the U.S. but he received his medal as one of the last three survivors in the weight class.

Geris, who was unable to win a medal in the freestyle competition earlier in the Games, settled for an Greco-Roman bronze when he was decisively beaten by Bill Van North of the U.S., who won the gold medal.

"He weighs 220 pounds and he's been named a bilter, he said Geris, who weighs 242.

"And he's a little bit round," the Canadian said in explanation that at one point he found himself unable to reach his arms around the America's waist.

The Canadian athletes were no match for the Americans, who finished 1-2 in three individual events and were handily in the men's 400-metre medley relay.

Jill Quirk of Pointe Claire, Que., finished second behind Anne Jardin of Pointe Claire to claim the bronze in the 200-metre breaststroke, in which the first four finishers were in the Games record.

Janice Stenhouse of Surrey, B.C. and Michele Oliver of Agincourt, Ont., also finished 3-4 in the women's 800 freestyle behind Wendy Boglioli of the U.S. Mary Montgomery of the U.S. was another Canadian runner-up.

Bruce Robertson of Vancouver and Gary Woodland of Mission, B.C., third and fifth in the men's 100 freestyle, returned to the pool in the minutes later to play a decisive part in winning the Canadian silver in the relay.

Swimming the third, butterfly leg, Robertson hit the water in third place, 1½ lengths behind a Brazilian swimmer. The U.S. team, headed for another out of reach.

Edmonton Team Happy With Ex Blue Bomber

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Winnipeg Blue Bombers probably won't have as much trouble identifying two former team-mates when they meet Edmonton Eskimos at Clarke Stadium Sunday as does Eskimo general manager Norm Kimball.

One recent example was at Calgary. When McLarnon was kicked out of a game, Kimball put his arm on his shoulder and said: "Don't worry about it Potter, we'll pay your fine."

Potter was a throw-in in a trade with Winnipeg and there are rumors Bombers have tried to get him back.

"Wouldn't that be wonderful," said Potter. "I'd prefer to stay here thank you."

Potter came from a Bomber club which was sagging at the time but which has improved and now is looking for the third playoff spot in the Western Football Conference.

Ray Jauch, Eskimo coach, said Potter keeps improving with every game.

Potter surprised everybody and won the Outstanding competitor for linebackers on the CTV network this year against all the big-name middle linebackers in the league.

The Bombers will make few changes for the game against third-place Winnipeg. Jauch says he will not take middle linebacker Sam Britt off the injured list and tight end Tyrone Walls, also on the injured roster, is a doubtful starter.

But the Eskimos Friday added defensive tackle, two-inch Houston Oiler veter— Solomon Freelon on a five-day trial and there is speculation he'll replace Jim Foley at left tackle.

In Sunday's Canadian Football League interlocking contest, which will be televised on the full CTV net, the Calgary Stampeders meet the Grey Cup champion Alouettes at Montreal.

Toller Cranston Turns Them On

Canadian Star Has Crowd Jumping

EDMONTON (CP) — Toller Cranston, Canada's top male skater, says he doesn't like competition, but a crowd of about 4,500 at Edmonton Coliseum and thousands more watching on television Friday night saw no sign of his discontent.

The innovative 26-year-old, participating in the third annual Skate Canada competition, showed fans Edmonton almost from the first moments of his short program in which several basic elements were completed.

Although he did not overtake Igor Bobrin, Russia's fifth-ranked skater, to capture first place, Cranston remained within behind the leader with the freeskating segment—the Canadian's specialty—yet to come.

Cranston said he was basically control with his performance, "but my best is always in the future."

He disagreed with those who said he had a poor 1974-75 season, although he once again failed to capture the world championship.

"I have said before I skate primarily for myself. I felt last year was my best one. My name became better known than before and I feel I showed skating in a new light to many people."

Cranston's continuing failure to win the world championship in some experts once considered inevitable for him has led some Canadian officials to suggest he be replaced.

"I don't think Pisarick has been bad," Levy said. "It's hard to figure out why they don't have a better record.

"To start with, they have Willie Burden and he can do so much that helps give them ball control. They have a diversified offence. They've beefed up their defence in recent years."

Levy will be hoping Calgary's quarterbacking lines down by Hobson's evaluation when the two teams meet Sunday in a Canadian Football League game at Montreal.

The Alouettes need a win to keep alive the possibility of their repeating last year's first-place finish in the EFC.

The Stampeders may feel improvements are in order but they won't be using Sunday's game for experiments. They still have a chance to capture the third and final playoff spot in the Western Football Conference.

They are tied with British Columbia Lions, four points behind third-place Winnipeg Blue Bombers. The three teams each have two games to play.

Calgary's Problems A Mystery to Levy

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Coach Marv Levy of Montreal Alouettes thinks Gary Hobson, general manager of Calgary Stampeders, is too hard on Calgary's quarterbacks.

Hobson said earlier this week that his team's two quarterbacks, Joe Pisarcik and Don Douglas, will have to be replaced.

Hobson said the Stampeders have two games more Sunday in a Canadian Football League game at Montreal.

The Alouettes need a win to keep alive the possibility of their repeating last year's first-place finish in the EFC.

The Stampeders may feel improvements are in order but they won't be using Sunday's game for experiments. They still have a chance to capture the third and final playoff spot in the Western Football Conference.

They are tied with British Columbia Lions, four points behind third-place Winnipeg Blue Bombers. The three teams each have two games to play.

Beddoes Says Goodbye To the Sports Beat

TORONTO (CP) — Dick Beddoes, the Globe and Mail's featured sports columnist for 32 years, is leaving the sports beat to write a regular feature column for the newspaper.

The Globe newspaper announced in today's editions that Christie Blatchford, 24, would replace Beddoes as sports columnist. Her column will appear five days a week, starting Monday.

Miss Blatchford has covered sports and general assignments since joining The Globe and Mail after being honored in 1973 as the top journalism student at Ryerson Polytechnical Institute in Toronto.

Beddoes, 47, began his newspaper career with The Edmonton Bulletin and was a National Newspaper Award in 1969 during a nine-year term as sports editor of The Vancouver Sun. He joined The Globe and Mail in 1963.

Richard Doyle, editor of The Globe and Mail, said Beddoes will have a free hand to write about "the politics and pastimes of Greater Toronto."

In his final sports column in Saturday's newspaper Beddoes writes that "at that time, for me, writing about sports once in a while may be preferable to doing it everyday."

"There comes a time, if you are not total jock, when you realize your horizons should be higher than the ledge on a pressbox."

Dahlia Shooting For 2 in a Row

TORONTO (CP) — Dahlia, a French-bred mare who has fallen on hard times, will try Sunday for a second successive win in the $150,000-added Canadian International Championship at Woodbine Race Track.

Dahlia, owned by Texas oilman Nelson Bunker Hunt, was entered Friday along with 11 other thoroughbreds including Snow Knight and Admiral Ross, the 1¾-mile race on the grass.

Dahlia, a five-year-old mare who has earned $1,253,087, has won several stakes in Europe, the Man o'War at Belmont Park in New York and the 1973 Washington, D.C., International at Laurel, Md.

The first mare to earn $1-million, Dahlia and a course record for the mile and five-eighths winning last year's Canadian International, will be ridden by British jockey Lester Piggott.

This year she has won only once in nine starts—the Benson and Hedges Gold Cup in England—but trainer Maurice Zilber of France isn't concerned.

"It is only due to bad racing luck and she is as good as she was a year ago," Zilber said.

Following the Canadian International, Dahlia is scheduled to run in the Washington International. She finished third last year.

Sandy Hawley of Mississauga, Ont., three times the leading jockey in Canada, will be her rider in Sunday's race, for which she was installed at early 5-2 favorite.

E.P. Taylor's Snow Knight won the English Derby in 1974 and five of seven races in the United States this year all on the grass, including the Man o'War Stakes at Belmont.

Although beaten in the Man o'War by One On The Aisle, after entry in Sunday's race, she was given the win because of repeated bumping by One On The Aisle in the stretch.

"Snow Knight would have gone by One On The Aisle had it not been for the bumping," said Joe Thomas, vice-president for Taylor's thoroughbred operations.

"Snow Knight recovered after One On The Aisle bumped him the first two times but the third time it knocked him completely sideways."

The 5-2 second favorite, Snow Knight will be ridden by regular jockey Jorge Velasquez.

Sonny Bleickmann's Lonesome Loir, the leading three-year-old filly in Canada this year, was third favorite at 5-1 odds. She recorded her lone win in five starts this year in the Prix des Erables at Chantilly.

Manassa Mauler Ailing

NEW YORK (CP) — Jack Dempsey, 80, the former world heavyweight boxing champion who admitted to New York University Hospital early Friday morning has become an unknown ailment.

Dempsey was reported in "satisfactory condition" by a hospital spokesman, who would not disclose the nature of his illness.

Known to millions around the world as the Manassa Mauler, Dempsey held the championship for seven years, claiming the crown on July 4, 1919 at the age of 24 by scoring a third-round knockout over Jesse Willard on a sweltering afternoon in Toledo, Ohio.

The 187-pound, six-foot-one fighter then went on to become one of the most respected and revilled athletes of modern times.

An estimated half-million people paid some $10 million at the box office for the privilege of watching him subdue the greatest boxers of his day.

6-6 Tie Stretches Bobcat Streak to Seven

OSHAWA — The Belleville Bobcats are still the only undefeated team in the Metro Junior B Hockey League after Friday night's 6-6 draw with the Oshawa Legionnaires here. The way in which the Cats are keeping that streak alive however is one that would give any coach gray hair, nerves and sheer fingernails. Cats now have six wins and a tie in seven starts.

The Belleville team was forced to fight back from a two-goal deficit twice and managed a four-goal third period to earn the tie. In the late stages, Cats swarmed all around the Legionaires' goal and Tony Slaughter came within a goalpost of giving the Cats their seventh win.

Grant Coegan, the Cats leading scorer, boosted his point total to 21 Friday night by adding two goals and an assist. Coegan's second goal with less than four minutes to going produced the tie. With a great individual effort Grant split the Oshawa defence and tucked the puck between the pads of goalie Dan Portesan.

"It was just a great team effort tonight," said Coegan after the game.

"Right now we're a third period club. It was the same situation as the game with Pickering last Sunday, the guys know what they had to do and they did it."

Coegan was referring to the game in which the Cats scored five third period goals to score a 7-5 win over the Panthers.

Part of the reason for the Cats' shaky start in Oshawa was a jugged lineup. Missing from the Belleville lineup were, captain Wayne Calhoerty and Paul Johnston, who were out with prior commitments, and John Murphy, who is on the sick list.

Back in action after missing several games for the Bobcats was Paul Tilney, a classy Belleville center and Jeff Bertolus, another of the hustling forwards who returned to the roster after suffering a pulled muscle in his shoulder.

The Belleville management had its first look at another newcomer from Peterborough, Dave Allen. Allen has attended a practice session or two and could possibly add some size to the blue line corps.

As in their recent games, the Cats showed the desire to win, no matter what the odds are and spirit was bubbling over in the ranks.

"He keeps everybody happy and in good harmony so that they want to play," explained Coegan.

Bob Thompson was another Bobcat who earned a good night, netting a pair of markers and adding a helper. Gerry Samis and Ricketts each added a tally to round out the Belleville scoring.

Brian Crawley and Lorne Prentice did the main goal scoring for the Legionaires, at each picked up two goals with the other two going to Dave Allen and Tom Gibson.

The Cats will have another break with their next game not scheduled until Friday night at home when the Markham Royals will supply the opposition.

Nicks Win Two

The Bay of Quinte High School Soccer League put a double header on Thursday night, with a junior and senior game being played in Madoc.

In the senior match, Centre Hastings Secondary School took on Nicholson Catholic College, who had no wins in regular season had the good outcome was a 3-1 win for NCC, with Nicholson coming back from an opening half deficit.

Scoring for NCC were Pat Scott and Mike Polk. Steve Dolan had a particularly strong game in nets for the Belleville squad. The win kept Nicholson out of last place, but neither team had the good fortune of making the playoffs.

In the other match the Nicholson Nicks junior team defeated CHSS to gain a place in the Junior East Division playoffs.

Bather In Form

Lorna Bather continues to pop in the points for Albert College in Bay of Quinte girls basketball play. In a recent win over Quinte Secondary School, Lorna exploded for 28 points.

She took care of all but 20 of her team's points in the 48-41 win. Laurie Carwright threw in six points for the winners.

Ready for Rebound

Bobcats' defenceman Neil Turner, looking for a goal, watches Oshawa's Dan Portesan having trouble corraling puck which bounces off goalie's chest during Belleville attack in Friday night's 6-6 tie. It was seventh Metro Junior B Hockey League start for Cats who posted six wins before being held to draw in Oshawa. Bobcats don't play again until Friday when Markham will be the visitor on Memorial arena ice.

Writer Boosts Soccer

On behalf of the Bay of Quinte soccer teams involved in the 18th Annual All-Ontario Invitational Tournament held at Newmarket on Saturday, October 18, I would like to take this opportunity to thank CJBQ for their coverage. Bob Saxby and McDonald's Restaurant for their assistance; and Tom Gavey for the "Intelligencer's" coverage of the games.

I would also like to make use of this opportunity to invite all those interested to attend the Bay of Quinte High School Soccer playoffs which will be held next week. The Junior and Senior Bay of Quinte Champions will be travelling to the Oshawa Civic Centre for the Central Ontario Championships on November 8.

HOCKEY TIPS
By BOBBY ORR
Copyright 1978, Toronto Sun Syndicate

ARE YOU PHYSICALLY PREPARED?

The hockey season doesn't end once you've played your final game each spring.

During the summer, it's imperative to keep in top physical shape and hold your weight as close to your playing weight as possible.

Keeping in shape begins with your diet where it's wise to make sure that what is good for your body. Then, of course, you can establish your own keeping-fit program which might include a variety of exercises and sports.

Soccer and volleyball are a couple of sports which are helpful. Tennis, one of the fastest growing leisure sports, is another and it's a game which I really enjoy. It's fun and good for the legs and arms. If tennis sports don't interest you, perhaps you can start a program which includes jogging and weight-lifting.

Since the keys to excellent conditioning are the arms and the legs, any investment in the items listed earlier would help develop those areas.

There are still many other things you can do. For instance, you might decide to strengthen your wrists at home while you watch television. How? Simply by keeping a rubber ball in your hand and squeezing it at various intervals.

You might set a daily program which includes push-ups, sit-ups and running on the spot. These exercises make sure that you can keep fit even on rainy days.

The road to maintaining your good physical condition might seem tedious at first but in the end the dedication and hard work will pay off.

You will report to training camp in top condition — which will likely avoid nagging injuries such as groin pulls and pulled muscles. And you'll always play better when you're in top shape.

In Memoriam

CHAKOWSKI — In loving memory of a dear mother, Ethel, who passed away Oct. 25, 1973.
I little knew when I woke that morn, That I would be left alone to mourn.
The call was sudden, the shock severe, To part with one I loved so dear.
Sometimes it's hard to understand, Why some things have to be.
But God knows best, for it was planned, Nothing happens by fate.
—Lovingly remembered by daughter Linda, son-in-law Ralph and family.

CHAKOWSKI — In loving memory of a dear wife, Ethel, who passed away Oct. 25, 1973.
The depths of sorrow we cannot tell, For the loss of one we loved so well.
And while she sleeps peacefully beneath, We miss her smile and her kind words.
—Always remembered by her husband Joseph.

WILSON — In loving memory of a dear mother, Marge Wilson who passed away Oct. 25, 1974.
Years of stirring, little of play,
Loving, giving, the years of the war,
A cherished smile, a heart of gold,
Memories of such the world could hold.
Happy memories, fond and true,
From us who thought the world of you.
—Never remembered by Paul, Ann and Phillip, Norma, Earl, Judy and Brian.

MILLER — In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Harry, who passed away October 25, 1970.
Today recalls the memory,
Of a loved one gone to rest,
And those who think of him today,
Are those who knew him best.
The flowers we lay upon his grave,
May wither and decay;
But the love for him who lies beneath,
Will never fade away.

MALLOY — In loving memory of a dear brother, Stewart who passed away Oct. 25, 1964.
Many things have changed since that Autumn morn when you went on your way.
But in spite of all that can happen in eleven years you remain our adoration and delight.
Joints warm and happy memories of you, sister Caren and brother-in-law Larry.

MASTERSON — In loving memory of my dear mother, Marjorie Irene who passed away October 25, 1969.
In our hearts your memory lingers,
Sweetly tender, fond and true,
A golden link Death cannot sever,
That we do not think of you.

MASTERSON — In loving memory of a dear mother, Marjorie Irene who passed away October 25, 1969.
Always a smile instead of a frown,
Always a kind word, never a put down,
Always thoughtful and kind,
Wonderful memories, she left behind.
—Never forgotten by daughter Kathy, son-in-law Bill and grandchildren.

MASTERSON — In loving memory of dear husband, father, cardiac, James Vincent, who passed away 4 years ago today, Oct. 25, 1968.
Not in a place we can visit,
But in a place another year,
In our lonely hours of thinking
Thoughts of him are always near.
Days of sadness will come and go,
Memories will fade with time,
But they will last forever the person
That lies within the hearts concealed.
—Sadly missed by wife and family.

MASTERSON — In loving memory of a dear mother, Marjorie Irene who passed away Oct. 25, 1969.
Sunshine passes, shadows fall,
Love's remembrance outlasts all.
Life is short, life is uncertain at few,
They are filled with remembrance of you.
—Dearly remembered by daughter Helen, son-in-law Ronald and grandchildren Ronald, Ross and Tracey Lynn Wood.

COTTAGE TIME THE YEAR ROUND

That's what it is in this beautiful 1-bedroom cottage, large, well equipped cottage. The wood stove soon warms it up, and you are ready to enjoy snowmobiling at its best. Need additional heat? Just switch on the heavy duty electric heat in each room. One look out of the large picture window overlooking the beautiful lake, and this one is yours. There may even be time yet this season to catch a large bass, which are abundant in the lake. Just over one hour drive, north of Belleville. A phone call will get you the directions to view on the weekend.

LOOKING FOR A LOT?

We have just listed a couple lots less than five miles from town. Lots just over one acre. Act now, good lots are a premium.

THREE BEDROOM BUNGALOW

This is a beautiful looking house from the road, and the closer you get, the better it looks. 3 large bedrooms, Hollywood style kitchen, very large bathroom and over sized 2-car garage. Less than five miles from town on paved road. Immediate possession, let's write up an offer on this one today! Please phone for an appointment.

What Can Kill, Can Cure

Copyright 1975, Toronto Sun Syndicate

Homeopathy is a school of medicine based on the old maxim about "the hair of the dog that bit you."

While today it's practised by only a small minority of physicians in North America (though, to be sure, there is an American Institute of Homeopathy) it was once a major force in American medicine and boasted 22 homeopathic colleges, including the two most prestigious, New York Medical College and Hahnemann Medical College in Philadelphia. (Both of these institutions have now been taken over by "allopathic"—the homeopathic term for orthodox medicine.)

Homeopathy, which includes in its treatments such unlikely concoctions as powdered starfish, crushed anthracite (for coal) and various types of spider webs, still enjoys prestige in Britain, where there are homeopathic hospitals and it's considered traditional for one of the physicians in the royal family to be a homeopath. Some 100 million people in Britain practise in Britain, while the logical French use the services of some 200 and the business-like Germans more than 400.

But in the United States homeopathy is looked upon as quackery by most doctors.

Why?

Well, to try to understand the attitude, you must first grasp the two main principles laid down by homeopathy's founder, a 18th century German named Samuel Hahnemann.

He discovered the "law of similia"—that "like cures like." In other words, a drug will cure a disease if the same drug taken by a healthy person produces symptoms like those of the disease. To cure a fever, a homeopath would use a drug which in a healthy person would produce a fever.

The second principle is "potentization." This means that the more a drug is diluted, the stronger, or weaker, it becomes. Homeopaths frequently use drugs up to one decillionth—a billionth of a billionth of a millionth, up to 30 of these millionths—if their original strength.

Orthodox medicine says that by the time you get that much diluting a drug is decillion times, none whatever of the original drug remains. It can cause no harm nor help a patient, say conventional doctors, but simply does nothing—except by the power of suggestion if the patient believes in it.

However, homeopaths (who, by the way, are fully-trained physicians, who add homeopathy to conventional medical training) argue that both the law of similia and potentization are proved by some unknown reason. (They say the number of a compound is made, the stronger its curative powers do become.)

In 1936 the Boyd Medical Research Institute in Glasgow, Scotland, came up with some findings, which appear to support the homeopathic belief in potentization. In these experiments a crude drug was added to a diluting fluid in the proportion of one drop of the drug to a hundred drops of the fluid. After vigorous shaking, a single drop of the resulting mixture was added to a further one hundred drops of the diluting fluid.

When this process had been repeated 30 times, the amount of the original drug remaining was of the proportion of one divided by 100 followed by 60 zeros! Yet experiments showed that even in this fantastically high dilution the drug still affected living tissues.

Most orthodox doctors say that both principles or homeopathy are crazy. The principles really just crazy or not, they work.

Dr. Frank Brodman, a psychiatrist at Englands Bristol Homeopathic Hospital says that homeopathic medicines work better than conventional ones against psychosomatic (mind-caused) illnesses such as asthma, hypertension, peptic ulcers, eczema, migraine and various skin rashes.

However they also work, he says, against such chronic diseases as rheumatoid arthritis and heart trouble.

It is here we have another paradox in a world full of paradoxes. About 3,000 doctors (taking all the Western countries into consideration) claiming a form of medicine which the overwhelming majority of their colleagues consider a nutty, though harmless, form of quackery.

Who's right?

Groom Drops A Clanger

BRIGHTON, England (CP) — Stage-stiff revellers clamped ball and chain to the ankle of bridegroom Marty Sullman but when the police arrived Marty accidentally dropped the heavy iron ball on the policeman's foot. He landed in court accused of assault, but the charge was dropped.

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—A federal judge has ruled that Jean Berlin was the wife of country singer-composer Hank Williams Sr. when he died and thus has the right to share in copyright renewals of his songs.

Williams, who died Jan. 1 1953, had taken part in three marriage ceremonies with Mrs. Berlin, but at the time of all of them her divorce from a former husband was not yet final.

U.S. District Court Judge Chare Morton said Wednesday since the couple subsequently lived together, Mrs. Berlin was qualified as a "putative wife" under Louisiana law, which defines from the French Code and as a "common-law wife" under Alabama law, which is derived from the English system.

HOLLYWOOD Calif. (Reuter)—Veteran actress Mae West, sex symbol of the thirties, has had to turn down an invitation to dine at the White House next Monday because of sickness in the family, a spokesman for the actress said Thursday.

Miss West, 83 a health fanatic and still active in Hollywood society, was invited to attend a state dinner for Egyptian President Anwar Sadat.

Her spokesman said Miss West had telephoned the White House to say she could not make it because her sister Beverly is sick.

However, the spokesman said Miss West passed on the word to President Ford that if ever he were in Hollywood he should "come up and see her some time."

Sunday and Monday Horoscopes

By BERNICE BEDE OSOL

For Sunday, Oct. 26

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You have a tendency today to spread yourself too thin. It isn't flashy things will receive their pay, although. Self-

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Keep your mind on the road today if you're going to be busy-minded in your car. Observe all traffic rules as well.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Yesterday's news proves prudent in your material affairs. The opposite is now true. Sit on your extravagant whims today.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) If things don't go your way on the first try, today you've got to give up. Victory is there, but it won't come easily.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Be your usual warm, outgoing self today. Don't let the mood of one you'll be associating with get you down.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) If you have a financial venture on the burners now, don't talk about it prematurely. It still isn't locked-down completely.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) Unless you're extra alert today, you may not realize when a big opportunity will slip past unnoticed.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You're apt to try something today that's totally off the past experience your chances of succeeding are slim.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 22) Be careful today if offered something for nothing from a person who doesn't usually treat you in such a munificent manner.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23-Jan. 19) In order to placate a member of your family today you may do something you should do despite your better judgment.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You often let things go till the last minute and luckily get them in under the wire. However, today it would be fully to follow this practice.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Be careful today or your generosity will be taken advantage of by one who doesn't give a hoot how much it may inconvenience you.

By BERNICE BEDE OSOL

Monday, Oct. 27

Aries (March 21-April 19) You'll be lucky today in many things go your way. Should you encounter a little opposition, you've got to lose your cool.

Taurus (April 20-May 20) Keep outsiders out of your domestic affairs today. You could embarrass a friend. He doesn't have to choose sides.

Gemini (May 21-June 20) Be careful in dealing with co-workers today. If you're too bossy, you'll wind up with a minor rebellion on your hands.

Cancer (June 21-July 22) Financial conditions are mixed for you today. Yet, it's very likely more will go out than comes in because of your extravagance.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22) Don't leave important projects that should be taken care of early in the day till later. Problems will occur if you do.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Unless you stand up for your rights today you will not get all that is due you. Don't let talker snow you.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) Be careful today. A friend might make some very unreasonable material demands. Unfortunately, you're likely to yield against your better judgment.

Scorpio (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You're extremely vulnerable today where your pride is concerned. You'll go out to take yourself or what others say too seriously.

Sagittarius (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Frustrations you'll run into today will be of your own doing. They can be avoided if you're not rash or impulsive.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) An influential friend who is usually helpful will resent being imposed upon today if you further him with your problems.

Aquarius (Jan. 20 - Feb. 19) Stick with decisions today that you've taken the time to think through. Last-minute revisions don't work.

Pisces (Feb. 20-March 20) Pace yourself wisely today. Don't attempt more than you can manage, nor do alone something requiring an additional pair of hands.

Win at Bridge

By OSWALD and JAMES JACOBY

With a 3-2 break in diamonds or a 3-3 break in clubs six diamonds is a cinch. Actually, if both suits break South will make seven.

The spade lead gave South an extra chance and he made it by falling into a spade-heart squeeze against West.

Of course, good players don't fall into squeezes. They tend to play in such a manner that if all else fails a squeeze may develop.

Dummy's jack of spades forced East's ace at trick one. South ruffed, entered dummy with a trump, led a club to the ace, a second diamond to dummy, a second club to the king. Then he tried to ruff a club, but East over-ruffed and forced South with a spade. South ruffed a club with dummy's last trump, came back to his hand with the king of hearts and cashed his last trump and last club.

The last club squeezed West, who had to discard his queen jack of hearts to hold on to the king of spades. The opens of spades was discarded from dummy and the last two tricks were won by the ace and 10 of hearts.

Would South have made the hand if East had failed to over-ruff? No, he would, in the world draw trumps, concede a club and wind up with the same squeeze.

Ask the Jacobys

A reader from Vermont wants to know what he should have done after his right-hand opponent opened with three hearts. He held:

♠KJ9863 ♥965 ♦AK98. We would jump to four spades. Three spades is inadequate. A double might force our partner to bid four clubs, four diamonds. Of course, we might be lucky and make four spades, but that is the chance you have to take against a preempting opponent.

Neighboring Wives

WREXHAM Wales (CP) — Joseph Jones and his second wife Lynn were happy to be moving into a town council-owned house until they recently found out their next-door neighbor was Jones' first wife. An exasperated Jones said the situation is embarrassing. "You'd think the council would have more sense" he said.

U. S. GNP Increases, Recession May Be Over

NEW YORK (AP) — Signs of economic recovery in the United States abounded last week, feeding optimism that the plight of recession-weary consumers is improving.

The first sign was the commerce department's announcement that the country's Gross National Product (GNP)—its total output of goods and services—increased in July, August and September at an annual rate faster than it has in 20 years.

The 11.3-per-cent increase in the GNP, adjusted to take inflation into account, was the quickest rise since the first three months of 1965, another post-recession period.

"Prospects are excellent for continued strong growth in jobs, incomes and profits, as well as for continued moderation in the rate of inflation," Commerce Secretary Rogers Morton said.

Also released were figures showing that personal income rose 1.1 per cent during September, slower than the 1.4-per-cent gain in August. But consumer spending in the third quarter was higher than in the previous three months, rising seven per cent.

On Friday, the labor department reported that productivity—a measure of the output per hour worked—rose at a 5.5-per-cent annual rate in the three months ending in September, the highest quarterly increase since the first part of 1971.

Prospects for the immediate future are still uncertain, however, and the debate has switched from where the recession will start to how fast it will move.

Although Morton said the statistics provide "solid confirmation of a decisive upswing in the U.S. economy," he also cautioned that the economy "isn't likely to continue to grow at such an unusually rapid pace."

Tempering the bright news of growing production was the persistence of inflation. Different government department statistical measures of inflation showed that it ranged between the five per cent and 7.2 per cent in the third quarter.

The labor department's consumer price index rose at an annual rate of six per cent during September, prodded up by higher prices for transportation, education, medical care, utilities and clothing.

The index was below the eight-per-cent annual rate forecast by the government and, for the first time since early this year, food prices at supermarkets declined.

Several major oil companies, including Texaco, Inc., Gulf Oil announced one-cent cuts in the Corp. and Mobil Oil Corp. announced one-cent cuts in the price of a gallon of gasoline. Some industry watchers said the reductions may have been caused by past retail price cuts and may not lead to further reductions in the price paid by motorists.

The Federal Reserve continued to ease its tight controls on the country's supply of money, resulting in reductions in the interest rate on money banks lend to each other and, on Friday, a drop to 7½ per cent from eight per cent in the loan rate banks charge their most creditworthy business customers.

Corporate earnings, for the most part, remained weak, with only beginning signs that the worst had passed. Steel and copper companies reported large declines from year-earlier levels, as did many of the big international oil companies.

Seeks Co-operation From Doctors on Controls

SASKATOON (CP) — Lloyd Gridale, president of the Canadian Medical Association (CMA), has urged doctors to co-operate with the federal government's wage and price controls, but warned that the profession will not be treated fairly.

"The rebellion may come at the total professional level, at the provincial level with all kinds of noise and political implications or it may come quietly, privately, at the individual practitioner level," he said Thursday.

Dr. Gridale told the Saskatchewan College of Physicians and Surgeons and the Saskatchewan Medical Association the profession will act in the economically and ethically responsible manner.

Dr. Gridale said the government controls are the economic version of the War Measures Act and "our civil liberties with respect to our economic freedom have been suspended."

He said he does not know exactly how the guidelines will apply to doctors but "there is no doubt they will be applied to us."

Dr. Gridale also expressed concern over a federal bill restricting increased federal support for medical care insurance to a maximum of 15 per cent in 1978.

Dr. Gridale said the bill will endanger the quality and availability of medical care in Canada.

Missionaries Soon to Leave Hanoi

GENEVA (Reuter) — The 14 foreigners trapped by fighting earlier this year in South Vietnam, including two Canadians, now are in the North Vietnamese capital of Hanoi and will leave for home next Thursday, a United Nations official said Friday.

Rev. and Mrs. Norman Johnson of Hamilton, Ont., members of the Christian and Missionary Alliance, are among the group mostly composed of missionaries.

The UN high commissioner for refugees also had obtained exit permits for nine Americans, two Filipinos and one Australian, the spokesman said.

They will fly out aboard a special plane to Vientiane, Laos, on Oct. 30, and then change for flights to the Thai capital, Bangkok, the spokesman said.

The UN high commission has also been asked by the Arab Republic of North Yemen to arrange for the repatriation of 779 Yemenis who had been unable to leave South Vietnam before the Provisional Revolutionary Government (PRG) took over Saigon in April.

Many had apparently been long-time residents of South Vietnam, the spokesman said.

U.S. Cheques Now on Issue

OTTAWA (CP) — Postmaster-General Bryce Mackasey said Friday he will look into the problems of residents of Canada who are dependent on United States social security and company pensions that have been halted by the postal strike.

John Wise (PC—Elgin) who raised the question in the Commons, said later that there are many thousands of persons in Canada who rely heavily and sometimes solely on cheques mailed from the United States.

As example was the town of St. Thomas in his southern Ontario riding, where "a large percentage" of the people are old age pensioners who worked for American railway companies. Transferred to the U.S., they qualified for company and American government pensions, but not for Canadian pensions. When they retired in Canada, their only income came from the U.S.

Attacks Politically Motivated

ANKARA (AP) — Turkey's foreign minister says that his country is "under politically motivated attack" following the Turkish diplomat within three days.

Two gunmen fired at point-blank range Friday into the limousine carrying the Turkish ambassador to Paris, killing him and his chauffeur. On Wednesday, three men shot and killed Turkey's envoy to Austria as he sat in his Vienna office.

A number of political organizations claimed responsibility for the killings, but none of the statement has been apprehended.

Turkish leaders refrained from publicly accusing any group, but Ihsan Sabry Caglayangil said the "chain of events" leading to the murders "indicates without a doubt that Turkey is under a politically motivated attack."

Sources close to the military said Turkey's 40,000 occupation troops on Cyprus were put on alert, as indication Turkish officials believe the assassins might be Greeks or Greek-Cypriots seeking vengeance for Turkey's invasion of the Mediterranean island last year.

The government issued a statement after an all-night cabinet session urging the country to remain calm. It said measures are being taken to protect Turkish diplomats abroad.

"Every necessary measure is being taken to clear up the conspiracies behind the assassinations and to expose and punish the murderers," the statement said.

Greece and Turkey have been quarreling over Cyprus for years. Turkish troops invaded the north half of Cyprus in July 1974, following a short-lived coup by the Greek-backed Cypriot national guard against President Makarios. They still occupy 40 per cent of the island.

Franco's Condition Still Critical

MADRID (AP) — General Francisco Franco's condition rallied again during the night, his doctors reported today, but a government spokesman announced he was still in critical condition.

Spain awaited a new era as he lite of its 39-year-old leader and his 36-year dictatorship neared their end.

After heart attacks and subsequent periods of improvement, the 13-man medical team attending Western Europe's last surviving dictator announced late Sunday night that his heart was experiencing "important rhythmic troubles with marked accentuation of the congestive cardiac insufficiency" from which he had been suffering for two days.

The announcement said he has been given a blood transfusion because of a gastric hemorrhage, and sources close to the medical team said the doctors have managed the heart. The government radio service cancelled its regular schedule and played classical music, awaiting the announcement of Franco's death.

Instead of the doctors announced at 7 a.m. that their patient had a peaceful night and his condition has improved once more.

Bombs Explode In Major U.S. Cities

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A dozen bombs were set off at business and government buildings in New York, Washington and Chicago early today. A Puerto Rican separatist group claimed responsibility for the bombings, which occurred a year and a day after five similar blasts for which the group was blamed.

The bombs went off almost simultaneously in the three cities at about 2 a.m. EST and caused only minor damage and no injuries. One of the blasts damaged the second-second-story windows at Chicago's Sears Tower, the world's tallest building.

In Chicago, a man called a newspaper after the explosion and said two more bombs were set to go off "in honor of the veterans." Police found an unexploded bomb consisting of five sticks of dynamite in a nearby quiet of roses at the Standard Oil Building. They were checking a suspicious box found in the Federal Reserve Bank.

In New York, Danny Mirenski, 19, a security guard at a West Side branch of the First National City Bank, heard one of the explosions and ran outside. He was standing 30 feet away when a bomb exploded in front of his own building.

TTC has been the registered trademark of the transit commission since 1953.

Expects Position Today

TORONTO (CP) — A statement was expected later today from the Canadian Union of Postal Workers (CUPW) on the results of behind the scenes bargaining initiatives during the weekend between union and the post office. Paul Mitchell, a CUPW spokesman said today the union statement will concern a letter received from the post office Sunday. Neither the union nor the post office would reveal contents of the letter from John McKay, deputy postmaster general.

Fighting Hits Europeans

BEIRUT (AP) — Beirut's warring Moslems and Christians terrorized apartment dwellers in a previously peaceful European residential district today, and the flight of foreigners from Lebanon was expected to intensify. Rockets exploded and machine gun bursts ripped through the alleys and streets of the downtown Quantari district as leftist Lebanese Moslems and radical Palestinian guerrillas dueled with militiamen of the conservative Christian Phalange party.

Mackasey Still Ill

Davidson Seeks Strike Sympathy

OTTAWA (CP) — With Postmaster General Bryce Mackasey ill in Montreal and union president Joe Davidson touring the west, the Canadian Union of Postal Workers Sunday ended its period of silent negotiations during the national postal strike.

Mr. Mackasey collapsed at his home Friday and late Sunday there still was uncertainty if he would return here from his Verdun, Que., home today.

His doctors said the 55-year-old minister was exhausted and sent him home, under mild sedation, for the weekend.

Mr. Davidson left Sunday for what was believed a week of gathering support for the 22,000-member union's position in contract talks that broke down late last week.

And, while the union and the post office try and work out their differences through an exchange of pointed letters, business and community groups press for resumed negotiations.

The business groups fear an extended strike will drive many of the smaller operators—those who depend entirely on the mail for their billings and payments—out of business.

Still another group soon to feel the pinch are the countries 18,000 letter carriers. Although not involved in the current strike, most of them received their last paycheque Friday until the dispute is settled.

Although they have not been laid off, they don't get paid unless they work and, with the inside workers and clerks refusing to work, there are no letters to deliver.

Mr. Davidson told a news conference in Vancouver Sunday he was then "very clear" about the number of union members ignoring the strike.

"He is trying to split the workers and discredit their leader," Mr. Davidson said, disputing that half the union members were back on the job in Newfoundland.

Meanwhile, in Ottawa, the union negotiating committee ended its pledge of silence on behind-the-scenes manoeuvring to get the talks started again.

It announced it had received the fourth in a series of notes between committee and Mr. Mackasey.

Also released were the contents of the—second and third letters in the exchange that started Thursday when the union said it was prepared to resume talks on two hours notice if Mr. Mackasey would stop insisting the $1.70 wage offer over 30 months was not negotiable.

In his reply Friday, Mr. Mackasey said the salary increase recommended by the conciliator Judge Jean Mouian of Quebec Superior Court was the best he could make and told the union his office was preparing a new package offer that included the increase.

Mr. Mackasey asked the union to "acquiesce tacitly" to the wage portion of the package.

The union replied Saturday it had no intention of acquiescing tacitly to any part of the government offer, instead suggesting that all other elements of any government offer be considered before it looked at money.

We think it normal and desireable that the wage offer be the last item to be discussed," the union letter said.

The parties refused to release the Sunday letter but union negotiators said they would make a public response to it today.

Still, the strike is not hurting everyone.

Courier services and such communications companies as CP-CN Telecommunications report business boosting. And, although this could change if the strike is extended, most people receiving federal support payments get them when the government mailed its pension, family allowance and similar cheques early this month.

Unemployment insurance and other similar cheques prepared on a less-regulated system are being handled locally with the only dislocation being the need to pick them up personally.

Originally the union wanted 71 per cent above the current average hourly wage of $4.59. Mr. Mackasey later said this demand was lowered to 51 per cent.

The government has steadfastly said it cannot go beyond the 38 per cent over 30 months recommended by Judge Mouian. Also recommended are a cost-of-living adjustment, increased holiday pay and advance notice in advance for consultation on any proposed technological changes in the postal system.

Agencies Find Ways To Deliver Cheques

By AL ZARAS
Staff Reporter

Beside individuals and businesses, government agencies and labor groups normally using the mail to send social benefit payments are now taking steps to ensure recipients receive their cheques for the duration of the postal strike.

Statements released over the past several days from the Workmen's Compensation Board, the Unemployment Insurance Commission and the Canadian National Railway have established pickup points in Belleville and surrounding areas.

In Belleville, the UIC has set up a distribution point in its 229 Dundas St. East district office from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday, the office will be open for all those living south of Bonhow.

Offices are also located in Bancroft, Madoc, Picton and Trenton.

The commission statement indicates pickup service will continue until the mail strike, which has curtailed mail movement throughout the country, has ended.

Recipients of Workmen's Compensation benefits in the counties of Hastings and Prince Edward can pick up cheques at the Four Seasons Hotel on Bay Bridge Rd. in Belleville.

A board statement indicates the cheques will be available — for about 100 recipients in the Quinte area — Monday to Friday 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.) on the day they would normally arrive by mail. Proper identification must be produced upon arrival at the distribution point.

About 2500 CN pensioners in eastern Ontario will be able to pick up their 31 pension cheques Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday at the CNR administrative offices at 220 Station St. Distribution stations also are set up in Trenton and Napanee.

Pickup points have been set up across Canada for 32,000 CN pensioners — the largest single group of pensioners outside government services, according to a CNR statement.

Moves to make benefit payments easier have been necessitated by a nationwide strike by 22,000 member Canadian Union of Postal Workers.

Woman Ends Husband's Life

CONCORD, Mass. (AP) — "It was like going to a funeral parlor and seeing the body breathe," Kristin Kramer said of her husband.

After two agonizing days of watching him in that condition, Mrs. Kramer authorized doctors to "pull the plug" on the respirator used to keep her husband alive.

"It's an unmerciful thing to do to a body," she said. "I couldn't do that to my husband. I couldn't turn him into a vegetable. People treat their sick dogs and cats better than that."

Robert Kramer, a 35-year-old businessman and salesman, was allowed to die Sept. 15, two days after lapsing into unconsciousness following a sudden devastating pain in his head. Doctors diagnosed the problem as a cerebral hemorrhage which caused such severe pressure in Kramer's skull it killed billions of brain cells.

Mrs. Kramer said she was prompted to share her feelings about her decision because of the case of Karen Anne Quinlan, a 21-year-old New Jersey woman who has been inacoma since April.

In the Quinlan case, which may be decided this week by a New Jersey superior court judge, the woman's parents are asking that a respirator be removed so that she might be allowed to die. The case has spotlighted the question of when to halt extraordinary care sustaining brain-damaged patients.

RCMP Investigates Olympic Conspiracy

TORONTO (CP) — The Globe and Mail said Sunday the RCMP is investigating a conspiracy by at least 14 Arab-Canadians to help foreign agents in an act of terrorism at the Olympic Games in Montreal in 1976.

In a copyrighted story, the newspaper says federal officials and police sources said the RCMP knew the identities of persons suspected of a conspiracy but police lacked sufficient evidence to lay charges and make arrests.

The sources said the suspected conspirators know the police are aware of their plans but the knowledge does not seem to make them less dangerous, The Globe and Mail says.

It says terrorists are expected to enter Canada at Montreal, Vancouver and move to Montreal with the help of conspirators and the use of "safe houses" provided by Arab-Canadian supporters of the Palestine Liberation Organization (PLO) or the Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine.

Security officials suspect a key man in the conspiracy was employed for a time in Montreal at the organizing committee for the Games, where he had access to confidential site plans and security arrangements, the newspaper says.

It says that the individuals considered by police as key to the conspiracy are supporters of the PLO or the Popular Front and live in Toronto, Montreal and Edmonton, where the co-ordinator of the plot for activities resides.

Other persons under RCMP surveillance live in Calgary, Windsor, Ont., London, Ont., and Brantford, Ont., The Globe and Mail says.

Cheese Fans Flock To Last Foxboro Sale

BY SHARON AIRHART
Staff Reporter

Cheese fans from all over the area flocked to the Foxboro Cheese Factory Sunday after TC was reported in Saturday's Intelligencer that the retail outlet would close Nov. 1.

Ted Foley, manager of the store, said today the retail outlet did $2,699 in cheese business Sunday, and people took advantage of one of their last opportunities to buy the widely known cheese, at the factory.

The decision to close the retail outlet was based on the need for more space in the factory, Mr. Foley said.

Deer Jawbone Study Now Province-wide

By HARRY MULHALL
Staff Reporter

A census method for keeping track of deer herd populations pioneered in the Quinte-district will be used now throughout province-wide.

As a result deer hunters are being asked to bring home more than venison again this year.

What natural resources ministry biologists also would like have are the jawbones of deer brought down by hunters.

The reason: Jawbones contain teeth and from them biologists can extract data that track of the age of deer herds and the number of kills in particular district.

The program was first started in the ministry's Tweed district two years ago as part of its deer management progess.

This year, says Frank Chesley, biologist at Tweed, its being used throughout the province.

Hunters are being asked to hand in the jaws — including those of moose in areas where the animal is hunted — to local ministry offices.

As well as the jaws, hunters are also requested to supply their names and addresses, sex of the deer, station-including township-and date of the kill.

In return, the ministry will distribute jacket crests to those who oblige with meeting the request.

The hunting season opens Nov. 3 in the ministry's Tweed and Napanee districts.

Ellis Says Arctic Resources Not Final Solution

No matter how vast Canadian resources may prove, how gigantic the supply mechanism involved, the supplies are not inexhaustible and are no ultimate answer to energy problems.

In the long run, it's all only "a stop-gap" measure to energy problems, reflects Jack Ellis, MP Hastings. All resources are finite.

The decision in a way is coincidental.

Today, the National Energy Board opens hearings in Ottawa with two big corporate contestants who want to build a natural gas pipeline from the Arctic's Mackenzie River delta to serve central Canada.

Mr. Ellis' comments are not linked with the hearings. But they're still current.

They follow an on-the-spot tour earlier this month of Arctic energy exploration sites and projects.

The trip was made by parliament's Resources and Public Works Committee — of which Mr. Ellis is a member. Its object was to gather background of a crucial topic the committee one day will have to review as a possible way to tion comes before parliament.

But even with the "grandest figures" to ponder "whatever we do in the Arctic . . . these are stop-gap measures.

"If all the gas projections proved out were used only by Canada it could supply generations maybe for 100 to 150 years," said Mr. Ellis.

But the entire Arctic area — including Alaska — also is being developed by the United States, which uses a minimum 10 times as much energy as Canada.

"And there is no way we can live in isolation," said Mr. Ellis.

So, the combined Canadian-U.S. demand on northern resources reduces the supply capacity "likelihood" to maybe 30 or 30 years.

"And once they run out — and they're finite — then we obviously have to have an alternate source of energy at some point in the future."

A major area explored by the committee was the sufficiency of reserves as a determining factor in what route a pipeline takes.

But there were others:

Environment: "It's difficult to believe . . . how delicate this northern country is." There's only a thinnish topsoil layer covering the northern permafrost. "The minute you start to destroy that permafrost you start a chain reaction that could destroy the entire ecology of the entire part of northern Canada."

— Social effects: The impact of a huge construction project — with its influx of big money and temporary residents — on not only local but while residents "but to a greater degree on the native population."

The committee found the situation "exemplified" when it crossed the border to Alaska and view the U.S. oil pipeline project being built from Prudhoe Bay of Valdez.

Mr. Ellis quoted these statistics gathered in Fairbanks, a main stopover on the pipeline route:

Liquor-related crime has increased 4,000 per cent, prostitution 700 per cent.

The city's police force had a complete turnover" in manpower in a year.

Rentals have seen rental of a small efficiency apartment — akin to a senior citizen unit in Ontario — increase to $350 a month.

Vintage

Centre Hastings Secondary school valedictorian Sharon McCrea called this year's graduating class vintage in quality at the Marlboro School's commencement Saturday. She was among 55 Grade 13 students (and 161 Grade 12 students) who attended the commencement.

Obtaining Patents - A Difficult Job

TORONTO (CP) — Some of the biggest strains placed on inventors' brains involve the cost and time in obtaining a patent.

For Brian Keith of Lockwood, Ont., his design of a small plastic door-stop would sell for less than $1 but the patent search would cost Mr. Keith $100 and may last for five years.

As well, Lawrence Peska and Associates of Toronto, the firm which is marketing Mr. Keith's invention to manufacturers, would spend hundreds of dollars for more technical development and marketing programs.

Byron Alexandroff, a Peska vice-president, noted that the company will attempt to give Mr. Keith a $2,000 advance from any interested manufacturer, plus a percentage of the sales royalties.

"That would give Keith around five cents for every door-stop sold," Mr. Alexandroff said.

The inventor maintains the patent rights for only 17 years thus giving incentive to further technical development.

David Ouchterlony, a Toronto musician and musicologist, has three patent numbers to his credit although he said he has never earned a penny from any of them.

Two of his inventions, a toy piano for children and a music teaching device, had "no commercial value at all," he said.

Inventors like everyone else follow trends.

Patent office officials noted that inventors are also following the world concern for cautious economics and thus have been reducing applications.

In the last five years, applications have dropped to 29,000 from 31,300.

But, Mr. Alexandroff said inventors have not lost their ideas since he daily talks to them about their devices, ranging from the eccentric to the highly marketable.

This 10-inch-wide circular tank contains thousands of words, each printed on a separate plastic strip.

When the tank is turned, several strips appear in a small window and are then exposed to help the viewer's imagination.

Several thousand tanks, costing more than $20 each, have been sold, he said.

Mr. Alexandroff noted that everyone is potentially an inventor but many people "don't take the trouble to explore the possibilities of their ideas."

Kiwanis Auction Nets $700 for Local Projects

The result: Belleville Kiwanis Club netted about $700 for the fund it uses for community causes.

It all came from an auction the club held to raise cash at the east end Belleville Plaza.

Even the kitchen sink — several in fact — were on the block as auctioneers Harold and Cameron Bunnett staged the event for the club, taking bids on items donated by club members and the general public.

It was the first auction ever staged by the club. But, said president Dick Lambers, in view of the returns — and the experience gained — it likely will be the forerunner of an annual event.

The 80-member club, operating out of its own East Dundas St. centre — is involved with several community projects.

It provides space in the centre for a sheltered workshop for the disabled and the Victorian Order of Nurses. It also sponsors the Elmer the Safety Elephant program of safety in public schools.

Rec Department Plans Eight-week Ski Course

Belleville recreation department is preparing for another season of ski programs.

As in the past — since it started about six years ago — the program will be run in co-operation with the Batawa Ski Club.

Starting about the first Saturday in January, the program currently allows for 100 participants and involves lessons and free skiing.

Participation fee is $22.

The program runs for eight weeks.

Transportation provides for participants to be picked up by bus — and returned — at three locations in the city: the Pinnacle St. recreation centre offices, Quinte Secondary School and the YMCA.

United Way Nears Goal

Gord Mullan, executive director of United Community Services said today that $46,000—27 per cent of this years United Way campaign objective has been raised.

The objective, set at $146,000 will sponsor 15 community — oriented agencies in Quinte area. Mr. Mullan said the 1975 campaign is seven per cent ahead compared to the same time last October 31.

Driver Charged

TWEED — A 19-year-old Stoco man has been charged with careless driving in connection with a one-car accident on County Rd. 38, better known as Crookston Rd., 3½ miles east of Highway 62 early Sunday.

Ontario Provincial Police at Madoc identified the man today as Patrick Martin of RR 4, Tweed. Martin was taken to Belleville General Hospital and treated and released for minor injuries.

Police said a 1973-model car owned by Paul Martin of Newmarket was westbound when it went out of control and overturned.

Constable Scott Robinson estimated $1,000 damage to the car in the 12:30 a.m. mishap.

Damage Extensive

TWEED — No injuries were reported in a three-car collision Sunday which caused $1,200 total damage on Highway 37 at the northern limits of this village.

Village police said the cars were a 1975-model driven by Porfirio Aguindoo, 27, of Toronto which received $100 to the rear end, a 1970-model driven by Claude Vaillancourt, 27, of Hamilton which sustained $800 to both ends and a 1972-model driven by Henry Franzen, 62, of Oakville which received $600 to its front end.

Police said all vehicles were southbound and the Aquindoo car had braked suddenly, resulting in the chain reaction.

Open House Chance To View 'Y' Facilities

Belleville families had an opportunity Sunday to see what the city's YMCA has to offer.

The chance came as the YMCA held an afternoon open-house and tryout at the centre's facilities and wipe its programming.

The centre is among recipient funds from the United Way — the 1975 campaign of which now is underway in Belleville.

The open-house also had the purpos of letting residents know what the YMCA had available as an United Way agency, said D.G. (Di) Diamantides, YMCA executive director.

The centre — first opened during 1965-66 — now operates a variety of programs — from exercising to camping — with its facilities including a nursery school and swimming pool.

It now has a year-round family membership of about 90. But total membership can range between 950 — 1,200 when all its various year-round activities are counted he estimated.

The year now drawing to a close is auspicious one for the institution. After years of struggle it's finally debt-free.

Now, said Mr. Diamantides, it's board of directors will meet Nov. 12 to discuss what future trends it is free to follow now that its financial burden has been lifted.

That meeting is hoped to produce an exchange of ideas from which a committee likely will be formed to pursue the possibility of the most viable projects.

"After all," said the director, "we have to go forward.

Body Found

MILLBRIDGE — Investigation continues today into the identity of a badly decomposed body of an elderly male discovered near this hamlet located several miles north of Madoc Sunday.

Ontario Provincial Police at Madoc said the body was taken to the forensic laboratories in Toronto today to determine cause and time of death.

Police said the body was found by persons seeking an elderly male person reported missing some time ago.

However, police would not reveal the identity of the missing person.

Rare Chair Stolen

A 100-year-old wooden rocking chair was stolen from the verandah of the home of Elaine Scott, of 223 Charles St. sometime Saturday — Sunday night, city police said this weekend.

The antique rocker was valued at about $100.

Ups and Downs

Cathy Buckley, 15, YMCA leader takes time out on trampoline during helping with visitors' program Sunday. The YMCA held open house for families to show off facilities and programs.

Art Work on Block

Auctioneer Harold Bunnett seeks bids on painting — among articles sold at Belleville Kiwanis Club auction Saturday. The event was held to raise funds for club's community projects and netted about $700.

Thieves, Vandals Keep City Police Busy on Weekend

A 17-year-old Belleville youth has been charged with mischief and wilful damage in connection with an incident at a city apartment Saturday.

He said about $200 worth of damage was done to a stereo set, two doors, glasses and windows in an apartment at 2 Elm St. Further details were unavailabe by press time.

He said the tenant discovered his front door unlocked and a screen torn in a living room window on his return. Missing are a number of eight-track tapes, a quantity of liquor and a clock.

The break-in occured sometime between 7:30 a.m. Saturday and 1:15 a.m. Sunday.

And vandals were active at International Hardware Co. of Canada Ltd. at 180 Coleman St. during the weekend, Chief Crosbie said.

He said 10 windows were broken sometime before 2 p.m. Sunday resulting in an estimated $185 damage.

He said it is not known what objects were used to break the windows.

Alarm Box

Belleville firefighters responded to the following calls for assistance during a 48-hour period which ended at 8 a.m. today:

Sunday, Oct. 26, 8:29 a.m. — investigation into faulty alarm system at Albert College Manor, nothing found.

Sunday, Oct. 26, 5:23 p.m. — accidental alarm raised due to old lumber being burnt under supervision at 110 Avondale Rd.

Sunday, Oct. 26, 7:54 p.m. — mattress fire in patient room at Belleville General Hospital, cause unknown, minor damage.

Grads Honored

MADOC — Over 50 former students of Centre Hastings Secondary School left school errands possibly for the last time here Saturday after the annual graduation ceremonies.

It was said, said valedictorian Sharon McCrea. The commencement exercises, she noted, marked a completion of one part of their lives, and the start of another part.

She spoke briefly about past school life and the development. The '75 Grade 12 graduates had experienced toward "their ideas and goals" at the school. She called the graduating class of 1975 a "vintage year."

Miss McCrea, along with 13 other Grade 13 students, won $100 Ontario scholarships. For the valedictorian, it was only one form of recognition she received Saturday. She was presented with four other awards, a bursary and a CHSS plaque.

Miss McCrea was one of 26 students, both Grade 12 and 13, who received various forms of individual recognition. Receiving the largest share of awards with eight, was Grade 12 graduate Evelyn Kornaki.

Spain Will Face an Uncertain Future Once General Franco Is Gone

By JOHN D. HARBRON

Foreign Affairs Analyst

Thomson News Service

What will Spain be like without Franco? Any prognosis of a Spanish future is risky, but in the short term, it will probably be as Franco prescribed the system in his lifetime.

This will mean Juan Carlos, Franco's self-appointed candidate for future king will indeed become king of Spain with the support of the army and the monarchists and hopefully attempt to create a truly democratic or open Cortes (parliament).

And if he didn't have troubles assuming the throne in the very early weeks or months after Franco's passing, he will certainly do so with the formation of a representative Cortes.

The power and status of Spain's emerging political parties is the great imponderable among the many unknowns of a Spanish future without Francisco Franco.

But as we move further to the left from Social Democrats to banned Socialists to outlawed Communists, party identity and purpose are much more obscure.

Juan Carlos could be faced with an Italian or Greek-style political situation with the emergence of more and more splinter parties on right and left, making government at times close to impossible.

If that happens, there is still the Spanish army in the wings, at the present time not a highly politicized organization as the Portuguese army turned out to be, but loyal to Spanish authoritarian values.

Right now that means Francoism. And in the future, it could mean loyalty to the grandiosity's imposed formula of "Francoism without Franco."

Then there is the Spanish middle class, perhaps 10 times the size it was at the time of the Spanish civil war's outbreak in July, 1936, which did well in the Spanish boom of the last 15 years.

Although many of its restive sons and daughters have been among the terrorists and opponents to the Franco regime, it is largely committed to the status quo, a cautious majority who will cast their lot with a stable monarchy.

The other two pillars of the Franco era besides the army, church and Falange party will have to be dealt with in a post-Franco Spain.

The Catholic church once the most reactionary in Europe, has moved a long way indeed from the time in 1937 when a collection of Spanish bishops and cardinals thanked the warring Franco for saving their nation from Bolshevism.

Hundreds of protesting priests have been jailed since 1965. The number of bishops in open opposition to Franco exceeds those who support him.

The Falange stripped of Franco's leadership and support as the true creature of the regime, will be in difficulty in a post-Franco Spain. It could become like Italy's Fascist party, an extreme right-wing rump causing as much trouble in a democratic Cortes as the Communists there.

But before all this transpires, Spain will lay to rest the general in the vast cathedral in the rock called the Valley of the Fallen he carved out for that purpose close to Madrid.

And in doing so, the Spanish fascination with death will be formalized yet again.

The other major event will be the pomp of a traditional Spanish coronation on a scale not seen in Europe since that of Queen Elizabeth in June, 1953, and not in Spain for 60 years.

A Country Adrift?

Patriotism is something which broadly speaking we take for granted, but with another Remembrance Day rock far off the mood of the land is not so much one of renewed allegiance to Queen and country but more something akin to uncertainty and drift.

At the economic level an attempt is being made to grapple with monetary and psychological forces that threaten to destroy us. That at least is evidence of leadership, belated though it is. But cynical too, in light of the fact the same government rejected controls as put forth by the Opposition in the last federal election.

Any overt patriotism, aside from that evidenced annually on Nov. 11, is confined for the most part to bumper stickers proclaiming a "Proud Canadian." That's about the limit of our demonstrativeness in the routine day-to-day.

The Monarchy still stands firm through the vicissitudes of time, circumstance, and the hostility of its inevitable detractors. It is as fine an example of stability and integrity — qualities most would like to see preserved at the national level, while allowing for due change and evolution — as any in the shifting circumstances of our day.

Of course there are those who sneer, even to the point on a U.S. weekly television comedy program that the Queen is caricatured, and there are others who say the Monarchy is an anachronism. Yet it survives. Without it, and those who represent it, mere mortals though they may be, this country would have less going for it than it does.

Between the end of the first World War and the start of the second a little over two decades elapsed. Another 30 years have passed and a whole generation has grown up since the 1939-45 conflict ended.

There was much in those days by way of grief and sacrifice. In countless ways life is richer and better today, but these are also days of ease and complacency which for a variety of reasons cannot be expected to last forever.

Who knows when patriotism and resolve of the kind that once were more urgent than they are today may be rekindled — by events of which we are not yet aware?

Rehabilitation Week

When people talk about someone being in "the hospital" it reflects the ongoing and all-embracing nature of the "medical fact," as it were, and the premise that "the hospital" touches us all, directly or indirectly, from the beginning to the end of life.

Next month the relationship between public and hospital will take on renewed significance with another Rehabilitation Week at Belleville General.

From Nov. 10 to Nov. 14 physicians from Belleville, Toronto and Kingston will conduct seminars on Nutrition, Respiratory Disease, Headache, Amputation and the Physically-Handicapped Child. The program will include public presentations related to the above subjects.

Once again the details come to us via an interesting brochure put out by Belleville General. There is information about the work of the hospital, with accompanying pictures. There are also segments about the Rehabilitation Institute of Montreal and the Sunnybrook Medical Centre in North York both of which are sending personnel.

An interesting postcript to the brochure draws attention to corporate and educational co-operation in its production. Mead Johnson donated printing services and binding of the publication, and Loyalist College the typesetting and layout.

At the same time the total project, as Ivan Wright, director of the Department of Rehabilitation Medicine at BGH, points out, "depends upon the support of many . . ." He also acknowledges the co-operation of local doctors, other professional staff members and the generosity of professionals from out of town in giving of their time and services.

Now in its fourth year, Rehabilitation Week is well-established at BGH. It brings together an array of medical talent and the public whom they serve. It is an event of significance in this community.

Compromising Situations Face Liberals

By DON O'HEARN

Queen's Park Bureau

Thomson News Service

TORONTO — Recently I noted that the Liberals would probably be behind the eight ball, perhaps several times, through embarrassing votes at this first session of the house.

Just how many times this will happen can't be said, but it should be enough that the third party (remember that's what the Liberals are now) should be well accustomed to red faces before the end of the fall sittings.

The NDP has made it clear that it doesn't at all like the Davis decision not to set up a provincial control board but to leave the administration of the restraints with Ottawa.

In fact it doesn't at all like the whole restraint programme.

But other votes could be really embarrassing.

Almost definitely the NDP will also be opposing the government's rent control program, whatever it may be (and at this point it appears as an increase).

Even if the government were to take everything Stephen Lewis had ever advocated on rents and boil it down in a bill the NDP would be expected to be against it. Their position is to be against.

And on this the Liberals would probably find it more painful and difficult to vote with the government.

Then other even more trying issues would come up.

No matter what the government proposes it will be wide open to be fasted. And the Liberals will be forced to vote with it. And no matter what explanations it gives in the outlines of the house or on the street it will look as though it is endorsing the government effort in housing.

Then there is store closing, energy, health costs, food prices, mercury poisoning . . . a wide variety of questions which are either promised or will probably crop up at the session.

And on all, or at least most of them the government will be facing challenges and probably votes.

Greed and Envy Stronger Than Logic in Controls Situation

By VINCENT EGAN

Business and Consumer Affairs Analyst

Thomson News Service

In the war against inflation, can victory be won by volunteers?

(Mail sorters railway workers and other labor and professional groups have already registered as conscientious objectors).

The prime minister and his cabinet colleagues have been travelling around the country in support of a volunteer effort much as the late prime minister Mackenzie King was doing in the early stages of the Second World War.

Consumer and Corporate Affairs Minister Andre Ouellet, who is responsible for the Anti-Inflation Board, put it this way in a speech on Oct. 23:

"There will be a maximum emphasis on voluntary compliance with the guidelines and a minimum need for detailed regulation, reporting and surveillance."

In a world unfolding as it should, all of us would willingly act in accordance with the logic of the situation as described by the prime minister—with economic growth at a standstill, how can everybody expect pay increases of 30 50 or 70 percent?

The trouble is that logic comes last when emotions like greed and envy take over.

In recent years, while ever greater inflation has been establishing itself as a way of life, more and more people have abandoned logic and surrendered instead to greed for more and envy of those who have more.

Their target today is the income level that a mature, responsible Canadian may have reached through many years of study, self-denial, risk-taking and on-the-job experience.

That praiseworthy objective is demanded, as a matter of right, by people with few skills, little job experience, no wish to accept responsibility—but with a mob's confidence in its own power.

To expect voluntary acceptance of income restraints under those circumstances is unrealistic.

Yet that's the position of the leader of a country whose people, for the most part, are fed up with inflation, work stoppages in essential services, and flagrant abuses of tax-supported programs of social benefits.

Some measure of the political leadership that Canadians have been waiting for was contained in the prime-minister's Thanksgiving speech announcing his anti-inflation program.

But once then even that welcome initiative seems to have been confused. Public attention has been thrived toward exemptions and the problems of compliance, rather than being focused on the danger of economic chaos that unchecked inflation brings.

There's nothing essentially wrong with volunteerism. But volunteers, in any war, must have a leader and a sense of direction.

Our political leaders would find plenty of political support if they were to demonstrate that they can be trusted with groups that are fighting for still greater inflation.

A good place to start showing leadership would be in the cutting of government spending. The prime minister's proposal to let an already bloated civil service grow 1.5 per cent larger every year is certainly not restraint.

The inflation rate for the 12 months ended Sept. 30 averaged 11.28 per cent.

That rate can, and must, be brought down. But lip-service and half-measures won't do the job.

Vandalism A Problem

Editor,
The Intelligencer:

The preceding year has seen a notable increase in vandalism, petty theft and drug abuse in this area (although the latter is usually ignored in the hope that it will disappear of its own accord). This increase is not too surprising in consideration of the lack of community responsibility to its younger members.

If a student or young adult needs help with a family, emotional or drug problem, who can he go to? Doctors, psychiatrists, clergymen, teachers and policemen are unlikely candidates in that they represent the authority seen as one of the initial causes of the problem. Other community resources only come into play after the personal problem has become a community problem, usually by way of the court.

A help centre run by young people for young people (on the lines of Centennial peer counselling program, but with more experienced counsellors) is needed immediately before the problem gets completely out of control. Other cities are not ignoring 25 per cent of their population. Why is Belleville?

Man Shot, His Wife Charged

COLBORNE — A 27-year-old Colborne man is in serious condition in Cobourg General Hospital from a gunshot wound to the chest, on Saturday, the Brighton detachment of the Ontario provincial police report.

Police said William Clarey was shot in his home, 41 Percy St., Colborne.

The investigating officers are Constable W. B. Hunt, and Corporal R. J. Hervey of the Brighton Detachment. Det.-Insp. W. B. O'Rourke from the criminal investigation branch, in Toronto, is also investigating.

Child Burned In 401 Crash

BRIGHTON — A single car accident sent four people to hospital, one a 20-year-old girl, in serious condition, three miles east of Brighton on Highway 401, Sunday morning.

Transferred to Sick Children's Hospital in Toronto from Trenton Memorial Hospital (TMH) with facial burns and internal injuries was Stacey May of Stauffville.

Police say the child was thrown from the car and then pinned under it.

Randol May, 21, and his wife Sheila, are in TMH in fair condition with back injuries. Another baby, one-year-old Shawn, was held in hospital for observation.

Police said the family was travelling eastbound on the 401 going to the Belleville and District Kennel Club in Frankford when Mr. May lost control of the car and it rolled over.

Two Hurt In Crash

PICTON — A Picton woman and her infant daughter were taken to Prince Edward County Memorial Hospital for treatment Friday night following a two-car collision at the intersection of Main and Bowery Sts.

Injured were Bonnie Frost, 21, and her eleven-month-old daughter, Angie. Both were passengers in a car driven by Dennis Frost, 23, of 294 Main St., Picton.

Car Rolls, Driver Hurt

HILLIER — A Trenton man is a patient in Kingston General Hospital today with undetermined injuries following a single-car accident early Saturday on County Road 1 about a half mile east of Highway 33.

A spokesman for the Picton detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police said Morgan was westbound when he swerved to avoid an animal in the road. His car overturned and entered the ditch.

He was taken to Trenton Memorial Hospital and later transferred to Kingston.

Damage to the car was estimated at $500 in the mishap which occurred at 1:30 a.m. Saturday.

Annual Dog Show Draws 1,800 Entries

By RON BUSER
Staff Correspondent

FRANKFORD — The Belleville and District Kennel Club's annual all-breed dog show here was a success, says Lew Barks, club president.

Held Friday, Saturday and Sunday, the show drew about 1,800 entries from Ontario Quebec, and from the United States.

"The furthest people to come to the show, I know of, is a couple from North Carolina," said Mr. Barks.

The objective of the show or any show is to improve the quality of the dog, he said. A person who comes to the show wants to display the dog and promote it for the higher quality, he added.

A year in the planning, the show has grown every year, Mr. Barks said, "we held our first show at Ben Roecker in 1970, and as it grew we needed more space. Since it was hard to get the room in Belleville, we now hold it here."

Mr. Barks said that if the show continues to grow the club may inquire about getting a hangar in the Mountain View Air Base.

Gary MacDonald, a professional dog handler from Oakville, said he comes to the show every year. "It's getting bigger. There is a show in Barrie which has about 1,500 dogs every day competing." The Belleville show has about 600 dogs each day.

An owner of a Scottish Deerhound, Barbara Heiderreich of Peterborough, said she comes to the show for the competition and the social aspects.

Judges examine each dog and choose the one which they believe is nearest to the breed standard, both mentally and physically, said Mr. Barks.

Since the number of dog shows is increasing, Mr. Barks said the club has to reserve the judges five years before show date.

A competitor from Michigan, Nel Korbijn said the show was well run. "There has been no delay, or traffic jams in the show." She said all her dogs (poodles) were Canadian - American champions and she plans to return next year with some puppies.

Best in show Friday was a chow-chow, Ch. Foo H'Sing's Mr. Lin Wu, owned jointly by J.C.F. Peddie, H.E. Williams and J.L. Williams.

A Doberman Pinscher, Ch. Jagermeister's Seven-conclaven, owned by Mrs. and Mrs. Fred J. Heal was judged best in show Saturday and Sunday.

Quinte Cuisine

Edward Zimits, manager of the Sun Valley Motor Hotel since August, came from the Hilton's Mount Soudan Hotel in Toronto. No stranger to Belleville, he worked at the Quinte Hotel 10 years ago. A chef by profession, Mr. Zemits has won awards from the Food Service Executives' Association. This recipe, which he invented for hotel use, is good for home fare too.

Chicken Canadian

For each serving:
two slices of white chicken (or turkey) meat
(approximately 3 inches by 3 inches)
OR two slices, 1¼ oz. each, from a chicken (or turkey) roll one oz. slice of cheddar cheese (Mr. Zemits uses local cheese) flour — for covering beaten egg — as needed for dipping mixture of half bread crumbs and half cracker crumbs oil for frying

In between the two slices of chicken or turkey, place the slice of cheese. Fasten with a toothpick on both sides so the "sandwich" won't slip as you dip it into a plate of flour, covering it completely. Then dip into the beaten egg wash, and then onto a plate of the crumb mixture, covering it well.

Deep fry until golden brown. Remove toothpicks, and top with any type of sauce you like. (Mr. Zemits prefers as a la king sauce with a chicken stock base.)

NSA Workshop Examines Role of Business Women

The typewriter, according to Lin Good, guest speaker at the National Secretaries Association Workshop on Saturday, is the invention responsible for bringing women into the business world. And it has been an enormously liberating, as well as a restrictive instrument, she said.

Mrs. Good was discussing the status of women in the work force as part of the Workshop's theme: "Business Women — What is their role?" She pointed out that there is still considerable disagreement, even among women, about where women belong — in the home or in the office.

"Only the wives of the wealthy can afford to stay home if they wish," she said, adding that most families now depended on two incomes. "Until recently, most working women were in domestic employmnts in other women's homes," she said, adding that the industrial revolution brought the changes that have made women being an essential part of the business world.

"In Lancashire, England, where I grew up, women's place in not traditionally in the home' but instead is 'traditionally in the textile mills,' she said. 'at present, there are more women in the Lancashire work force than men."

Nevertheless, women still have a long way to go toward equality in the business world, said Mrs. Good.

"After all the anxiety and furor of International Women's Year, where are we?" she asked. "Economically, women are worse off now than they were 10 years ago. The gap between what men and women are paid is wider than it used to be. There are more women working now in the low-pay jobs than there were before."

Mrs. Good stressed the responsibility that women must bear toward improving their condition, saying that "it is time for each woman to pay more attention not only to herself, but to her children and her community at large" in terms of bringing about sexual equality.

However, she made clear that women have choose to stay home, and who can afford to do so, should not feel that they're "letting down their side." Women should do what they think is best for themselves and their families.

"After all," said Mrs. Good, "a happy home is not to be despised."

What she hopes to promote, as part of her work on the Ontario Status of Women Council, is the kind of social atmosphere in which all choices are available to women.

"Women have been told what to do all their lives," she said. "I don't want to dictate to women, not at all. But we should open all the choices so that barrier of sex disappears."

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Davidson

Davidson — Pulver

C. Ann Elizabeth Pulver, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Pulver of Carrying Place, and Gary Stewart Davidson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Davidson, were married September 27 in the Salvation Army Citadel.

Given in marriage by her mother and father, the bride wore a gown of knitted jersey with long pointed sleeves and full train, highlighted by seed pearls along the waistline, bodice and stand-up collar. The waist-length three-tier laced-edged veil was caught by a crown of seed pearls. She carried a nosegay of yellow and blue mums with red carnations and stephanotis.

Jill Bake of Kingston was the bride's maid of honor in a yellow printed swiss dotted gown with puffed sleeves, trimmed with orange velvet. She carried a nosegay of orange, yellow and white mums.

Sherry-Lynn Burrows, the groom's niece, was flower girl in an outfit similar to the maid of honor's, and carried a basket of orange, yellow and white mums.

Lionel Rae was the groom's best man. Ushers were Stan Davidson, the groom's brother, Gerald Pulver, the bride's brother, and Ken Hurford of Peterborough.

A dinner was held in the Citadel hall following the wedding.

The newly-married couple travelled to Ottawa and then through New England before making their new home in Bayside.

By And About Women

THE LIFE OF IVY COMPTON-BURNETT

By Elizabeth Spettge

One looks at the face on the cover of this book and sees: the obstinate chin, deep eyes, old-fashioned hair-do, and light, humorous mouth — the very image of her idiosyncratic novels with their macabre undertones and stylized wit.

Dominant daughter of one of those complicated Victorian families, comfortably off all her life, almost nothing whatever happened to her in all her long life save the death, much resented, of her companions of many years, Margaret Jourdain. Yet the biography is interesting, since the author, Miss Spetzge, is plainly full of admiration for this quirky, brilliant woman. Many of her novels were adapted for radio, stage, and television, and she was a Dame Commander in 1967 and Companion of Literature in 1968, all of which delighted her and brought her much pleasure.

This book is available in the Corby Public Library.

Lin Good Joined by Panel

A panel of local women and men joined guest speaker Lin Good in discussing the role of business women at the National Secretaries Association Workshop on Saturday at Centennial Secondary School.

Olive Delaney, chief librarian at Corby Library, Judge Russell Honey, Hastings County court judge, Marie Huffman, teacher of business at Centennial Secondary School, Leslie Reid, deputy director of the Hastings Board of Education (and NSA "Boss of the Year"), and Jean Smith, Belleville alderman composed the panel.

Head of the bibliographic operations at Queen's University Library in Kingston, Mrs. Good is also chairman of the monitoring committee for the Ontario Status of Women Council. She instigated the investigation of stereotyping of women in advertising that led to the booklet "About Face." She is especially active on the committee presently studying the status of women at universities and community colleges.

Big Multi-racial Family Grew Large by Adoption

KITCHENER, Ont. (CP) — Adherents of family planning can hardly resist the lack of it by Prof. and Mrs. Don Clough who have adopted seven children in the last 20 years.

"We never discussed family planning," said Marylou Clough, 44, of Baden, Ont., a small town 10 miles west of Kitchener.

She and her husband, a professor of management science at University of Waterloo, welcomed their first-born Michael with joy.

But the couple's second child was stillborn. And so the Cloughs adopted Matthew.

"Then — when Michael started going to school," said Mrs. Clough, "Matthew was lonesome," so they adopted Phillip.

"That's how the family grew, said Mrs. Clough, mother of nine aged 3 to 23.

"They're all mixed—Negro, white It's always been easy to get them because I said I'd take any child as long as it wasn't retarded," the mother said.

Most of the children arrived as infants, ranging from 10 days to 10 months of age.

"The 10-month-old had been turned down eight times for adoption because she had Negro blood," said Mrs. Clough. "I couldn't see any difference in mixed blood. I couldn't believe people had turned down this child. She was beautiful."

Derek, now 20 and married, was the only older child to be adopted by the Cloughs. At 13 "he sort of found us and moved in."

A child's query about Little Rock, Ark., turned the family into a multi-racial household. Michael was about five when visiting broke out in the southern town over desegregation.

He couldn't understand why people were behaving as they were because Negroes wanted to go to their schools.

His parents explained that some people couldn't accept anyone who looked different from them. They asked if he'd like a colored brother.

A brother was fine but his color, one way or the other, was no big deal to Michael. Then the Cloughs asked the Children's Aid Society for a "hard-to-adopt" child.

Hard-to-adopt then usually meant mixed racial background.

Mrs. Clough has had only one incident where someone resented her large, interracial family.

"When one of the girls was a teacher in Toronto she came home one day with the news she and her playmate were forbidden to play together on orders from the other little girl's dad."

Mrs. Clough was upset.

"I thought there was something wrong with my daughter, that she was rude or something."

Then she discovered the admonition was because of race and stopped worrying: "If he's an idiot ..."

Her children "know what they are and that the odd child will comment on it," sometimes through normal childish curiosity or honesty, sometimes through ignorance.

When someone on the school bus made comments about "niggers," Mrs. Clough advised her daughter to tell him that "first of all the word isn't nigger, it's Negro, and secondly, I'm not Negro, I'm a mulatto."

Mrs. Clough feels sorry for women who look back at motherhood and see only dirty diapers and not the beautiful, wonderful, cuddly babies.

She also feels, many women who tout careers other than homemaking as the ultimate accomplishment "do so because they're married to the wrong man."

Mrs. Clough doesn't plan to adopt any more children. She feels it would not be advisable at her age.

At least, she "wouldn't go looking for a baby but if someone left a child on my doorstep, I'd take it in."

First In Canada

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario government will provide research funds of up to $45000 for a study of unsupervised private day care of children, the first study of its kind in Canada, Dr. Ted Harvey, Social Planning Council research director, estimates that more than 90 per cent of day care in Canada is the informal unsupervised type.

Ann Landers

New Respect and Love for Handicapped Brother

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a teen-ager who never thought the day would come when I would be writing "Dear Ann" but it has. Maybe I can help some of your readers who had the same problem I suffered with for years.

My brother is brain-damaged. Until today, I was very ashamed with him because he got more attention from my folks than I did. Last night my father explained to me for the first time exactly what is wrong with my brother. He told me how hard he has to work to do simple ordinary things and how much progress he has made in the last few years. I know now how frustrating life must be for him and I respect him very much for the way he is trying to cope with his handicap.

Now I see him through different eyes, love him and admire his courage. Please pass this on. Ann — JB

Dear JB: What a beautiful letter! It's too bad your father didn't talk to you a few years ago. You would have been wiser sooner and your brother's life as well as yours would have been easier. Thank you for writing.

Dear Ann Landers: Maybe this will sound like chicken feed compared to the serious problems that cross your desk daily but it's been bugging me a lot lately and I'd like your opinion.

Why would a bright, successful professional man who is well respected in the community show up with obviously dyed brown hair when for the last 20 years his hair has been a beautiful steel-grey? Does he think people don't remember what he looked like?

I (and several others) were shocked to see this sight. Of course it made him look older, poor fellow never read Robert Burns: "O wad some Pow'r the gittie gie us—To see ourselds as ithers see us!"

Dear B. In B.: Maybe the poor fellow never read Robert Burns: "O wad some Pow'r the gittie gie us—To see ourselds as ithers see us!"

Even Cave Men Loved Leather

TORONTO (CP)—Leather as clothing goes back to cave days. In medieval time it was reserved for royalty and rich merchants. Today it includes not only shoes, handbags and fashion garments but also furniture.

The Canadian tanning industry is wholly Canadian owned. Dollar volume of leather products was $102 million in 1974.

Several of the present tanneries, among the largest and the most modern in North America, are more than 100 years old. Four are fourth-generation firms. Most belong to the Tanners' Association of Canada, formed about 1915. The president is Fred A. Glasser, Oshawa, Ont.

The association has a public relations arm, the Leather Bureau of Canada.

In September, five Canadian tanners attended the prestige Semaine du Cuir (Leather Week) in Paris. This is an international showcase for the leather industry.

Recently the Canadian government has helped promote the industry with financial assistance such as the market research tour by tanners to eastern Europe and Cuba.

Probably the oldest of the large contemporary tanneries dates from 1843, in Barrie Ont. Eighteen years ago it was turned over to the 185 employees. Its specialties are cowhide for workboots and belting. Barrie Tannery won the race as oldest by by one year.

In 1844 the Beardmore Tannery opened in Acton, Ont. Exactly 100 years later it was sold to Canada Packers. It employs 450 and specializes in leathers for belts and luggage, for industrial uses and sole leather for shoes.

A third tannery came along another year later, in Oshawa. It closed down briefly and was reopened in 1868 by James Robson. Almost 100 years later the firm bought out the Lang Tannery, retaining three of their four factories, in Kitchener, Cobourg and Barrie.

A. R. Clarke Ltd., the outgrowth of a small tannery started by John Clarke in 1833 in Peterborough, Ont., was moved by his sons to Toronto in 1885. Later, one son, Alfred R. Clarke, became sole owner.

Two of John's great-grandsons now run the business. The company has 350 employees and can process 750,000 hides a year. Some 50 per cent of all the output is exported, amounting to more than half of all the upper leather exported from Canada annually.

A recently acquired division firm, started in 1927, A by Clarke, is Breithaupt formerly spelled Louis D. Breithaupt, was a lieutenant-governor of Ontario. It employs 90 workers in Hastings (sole leather) and Campbellford (work glove leathers).

Wen Do—Self-defence Especially for Women

TORONTO (CP) — Ned Paige is a Toronto karate instructor who has developed a self-defence technique for women that has female students shouting "live la difference" along with their other war cries.

Called Wen-Do, which means either women's way or circular path, Paige claims it can provide a woman with 75 per cent or more of the self-defence techniques she will ever need after just 14 hours of instruction.

"It can't deal with guns . . . but with a knife you have a chance and with an unarmed attacker you have a great chance," he said.

The technique which more than 3,000 women have learned since Paige began teaching in three years ago, is based on four abilities: circularity, surprise, smoothness and self-trust.

Paige said many of the movements are rotation: because "if you can turn a direct movement into a circle it becomes enormously powerful — a woman's strength is multiplied."

An optometrist by profession, Paige said he developed Wen-Do because as a karate teacher he found that existing techniques required more time and strength than most women could give.

"So many frills were taught with it that women were coming to me and saying, 'I just don't have the time.'"

The classes do, however, include Zen meditation to teach women how to relax and concentrate on escape, as well as exercises to develop strength.

Self-trust, Paige stresses that the quickly-learned technique provides women with the "most important element" of surprise because most people don't expect women to know how to defend themselves. Smoothness of movement is needed to prevent an attacker from recovering and fighting back.

Alice MacPherson, one of 26 qualified Wen-Do instructors in Metro Toronto, explained the fourth element, self-trust.

"Most women are told they should be passive," she said. "We try to break them out of that role by saying something like: 'Imagine your child-en's lives are at stake.'"

UN Move Threatens Sinai Peace

WASHINGTON (AP) — The recent United Nations resolution declaring Zionism a form of racial discrimination threatens the UN capacity as mediator in the Middle East, U.S. State Secretary Henry Kissinger said Saturday.

Speaking at a UN Day dinner celebrating the 30th anniversary of the organization's founding, Kissinger called "on all nations to reconcile their vote with universal moral principles."

"We have seen a disturbing contrary trend—ideological intolerance, procedural abuses, blue majorities, unrelated voting—resulting in a one-way morality that clearly undermines the UN's role as an instrument of conciliation," he said.

Referring to the resolution passed Oct. 18 by the UN special affairs committee naming Zionism as a form of racism, Kissinger said:

"It undermines the UN's necessary and valuable campaign against racial discrimination and it threatens the UN's capacity as mediator in the Middle East. We will work to defeat its passage by the General Assembly ..."

Under Attack

MOSCOW (AP) — Andrei Sakharov and his recent award of the Nobel peace prize came under attack from his fellow scientists Saturday for the first time.

A statement purported to have been signed by 72 members of the Soviet Academy of Sciences was published by the Soviet news media portraying the 54-year-old physicist as a slanderer of the Soviet system and enemy of peace.

Exceeds U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Central Intelligence Agency estimates that Soviet defence spending has exceeded that of the U.S. every year since 1971.

Jumps Buses

KINGS MILLS, Ohio (AP) — Dareelwil Evel Knievel, 37, guided a red-white-and-blue motorcycle to his longest jump ever, vaulting 150 feet over 14 passenger buses Saturday in a performance that was on television across the U.S.

Decision Expected

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — The Royal Ontario Museum expects a provincial government decision early in 1976 on the museum's proposed $40-million renovation and extension program, museum director Dr. James Cruise said Saturday. He told an Ontario Museum Association conference that the expansion, to be completed in 1980, would facilitate exhibits until the year 2000.

Wants Input

CORNWALL, Ont. (CP) — Judge Lucien Beaulieu, a member of the Ontario royal commission on violence in the communications industry, said Saturday he hopes members of the communications industry will appear before the commission to give their assessment of violence.

Overpasses Wanted

BARRIE, Ont. (CP) — Oro township officials plan to present a petition of 1,000 signatures to the Ontario ministry of transportation and communications asking that three overpasses be built on Highway 11 between Barrie and Orillia. A township official said that since Jan. 1, 11 persons have been killed in traffic accidents on that stretch of the highway.

Plane Crashes

ST. CATHARINES, Ont. (CP) — Two men suffered head injuries Sunday when their plane crashed into a vineyard near Niagara District Airport just west of here. The pilot, George Qua, 42, of Niagara Falls, Ont., and his passenger Lloyd Lebanse, 30, of Akron, Ohio, were in fair condition in hospital. The engine of the four-seat Cessna 180 lost power as the pilot made a landing approach.

Horses Collide

Improve Bank Service

COVENTRY, England (CP) — A rapid automatic method of producing braille bank statements has been developed at the University of Warwick. The system enables blind customers to receive braille statements about a day later than sighted customers.

Lang Sees Value In Subsidizing Railways

OTTAWA (CP) — Transport Minister Otto Lang says he accepts the general principle the government should subsidize railways when they are forced to ship grain at rates which are below cost.

He also said he favors more competition in the airline industry where feasible. Mr. Lang was speaking in an interview taped for the CTV program Question Period.

Mr. Lang said he supports the general philosophy of the 1959 MacPherson royal commission on transportation which said the government should make up the difference between fixed freight rates and the real costs of shipping the goods.

The railways say they are losing money shipping Western grain at the Crowsnest Pass rates. The rates—half a cent a ton per mile—are enshrined in law and are backed by Western grain farmers.

Mr. Lang said a commission named by the government is studying the exact costs of moving grain and the revenues CN and CP Rail receive under the rates, set in 1899.

The minister, who represents the Saskatchewan riding of Saskatoon-Humboldt, said Western farmers consider the Crowsnest Pass rates sacred because they are not convinced their current prosperity will remain and want a cushion against increased costs.

Mr. Lang said he agrees with the general transportation policies presented by his predecessor, Jean Marchand. But he says viewing transport policy solely as an instrument of public policy is too sweeping.

AMA Endorses New First Aid Technique

CHICAGO (AP) — A first-aid technique developed by a Cincinnati surgeon for saving the lives of persons choking on food or other objects has been endorsed by the American Medical Association's commission on emergency medical services.

The technique, called the "Heimlich manoeuvre," was developed by Dr. Henry Heimlich of the Jewish Hospital, Cincinnati. It came into general use following a report by Heimlich in Emergency Medicine, a medical journal, in June, 1974.

This is how the manoeuvre is performed:

—Grasp your fist with your left hand and place the thumb side of your fist against the victim's abdomen, slightly above the navel and below the rib cage.

—Press your fist into the victim's abdomen with a quick upward thrust, repeating several times if necessary until the food or other object is expelled.

Despite Restraints Bell Canada Resumes Fight for Rate Increases

OTTAWA (CP) — The government's new wage and price control program meets one of its first major tests today as Bell Canada Ltd. resumes its controversial campaign for more than $182 million a year in rate increases.

Bell will urge the Canadian Transport Commission to grant a two-phase increase that the privately-owned telephone company says is vital if service to 4.5 million subscribers in eastern and northern Canada is to be maintained.

The application is the first by a government-regulated utility for higher rates since Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau clamped wide-ranging wage and price controls on the economy Oct. 14.

Officials at the new anti-inflation review board said Friday the transport commission is required by the control program to ensure that any Bell increase is "no more than the amount required to recover additional costs."

An official said the company is prepared to argue that the proposed increases in basic residential, business and other rates are well within any of the price restraint rules set out by the government.

He said the company might make "some changes in the details" but would not alter the overall size of the latest rate application because of the restraint program.

But some of the 15 intervenors in the Bell application are expected to demand at the hearing that Bell justify each portion of the rate package on the basis of whether or not it is necessary to meet higher costs.

A transport commission official said a three-member panel headed by telecommunication committee chairman Anne Carver likely will open the hearings today with arguments over the impact of the wage and price control program.

The anti-inflation board official said the commission will have to exercise discretion in judging whether or not the Bell application meets the wage-price restrictions.

The company is arguing it must increase its income in order to be in a better position to borrow money to pay for the needed expansion and replacement of equipment.

A Bell official said the proposed rate package amounts to a net increase of 6.2 per cent in over-all revenues, well within the restraint program and substantially less than the 11 per cent-plus rate of inflation.

The total package sought by Bell includes:

—Increases of 6.5 per cent to the nearest five cents for primary residential and business telephones and for centrex services and for telephone extensions.

—A 10-per-cent increase in service charges and a $10 increase in the charge for a change of number, omission of number from the directory or suspension of service.

—Increases of one to three cents for the first minute of direct-dialed long-distance calls; five to 20 cents more for the first three minutes of operator-assisted long distance calls; 10 to 20 cents more on person-to-person long distance calls.

—A variety of increases for interexchange services such as wide area telephone service (WATS) and business data transmission service.

Minister Puts Christian First

CALGARY (CP) — Being a minister with the Canadian Army Forces means working as a Christian first and denominational second, 43-year-old Colin Curties has discovered.

Mr. Curties, a United Church of Canada minister, is known simply as unit padre of the 8th Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry.

"In my day-to-day work I am seeing Anglicans and people from other denominations, usually without knowing it", he said.

The minister is the United Church representative attached to Canadian Forces Base Calgary, which also has two Roman Catholic priests and two Anglican ministers.

Once a candidate for the Anglican church ministry, Mr. Curties was led into the United Church by a mission to Moosejaw. He gave up a lucrative job in the aircraft industry in that city and began cramming seven years of study into four.

In 1963, at age 31, he was ordained and sent to a small isolated community in northern Quebec, where he first experienced an interdenominational ministry. The community was so small he was the only Protestant minister.

After four years he joined what is affectionately known as the Canadian Pieces "God Squad".

"I found in the civilian ministry that you end up catering to the "in" crowd, the ones who come to church, and don't have nothing to do with the rest of the community," he said.

He has found work in the military quite different.

My ministry in the armed forces is evangelism in the positive sense.

Mr. Curties has no problem justifying his work in the light of questions about how a Christian minister can reconcile his involvement with war.

"Well, first of all I am a non-combatant, and the country I serve is not an aggressor," he said.

"But basically I am ministering to a certain group of people. It doesn't matter what those people do. They still need a minister."

Pilot Error Blaimed in Crash

OTTAWA (CP) — Pilot error was a major factor in the crash of a Panaretic Oils Ltd. aircraft at Rea Point, N.W.T., a year ago, the worst air accident in the history of the Canadian Arctic, says a transport department report.

However, Panaretic Oils Ltd., owner of the Lockheed Electra which crashed into the ice while approaching Rea Point on Melville Island, disputes the report's findings on the ability of William Brian Thomson, 36, of Leduc, Alta.

Mr. Thomson died in the accident which killed 32 of the 34 persons aboard.

The company said in a statement following the report's release Saturday that the conclusions of transport department investigators are unsubstantiated and give an "inaccurate and negative picture."

Transport Minister Otto Lang said in another statement released with the report that he department will examine closely the air operations of Panaretic, an oil company which is 45-per-cent owned by the federal government.

The report is critical of federal transport regulations for large private aircraft but Mr. Lang said these are being tightened.

An inquest into the crash is to resume Wednesday after months of delay as the coroner has sought unsuccessfully to get the two survivors, co-pilot David Hatton and flight engineer Gary Weyman, to testify.

Coroner Walter England has said if he cannot get vital witnesses to give evidence, he may repeat his call for a full public inquiry with power to subpoena.

Transport department investigators said Mr. Thomson brought the aircraft in below the minimum altitude prescribed by the company.

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, MONDAY, OCTOBER 27, 1975

Belleville Olympics' goalie Gary Donovan is set to make one of several saves he recorded during Tuesday's 4-0 defeat of Cobourg Tony's Sunday, in Bay of Quinte Soccer Association Trenton Challenge Cup Final at Trenton. Cobourg forward Gleueppe Cutro is set to cut loose. Cutro had more than one chosen try but couldn't get ball past Donovan who earned his shutout with standout effort.

One Loss and Out in Football

The six-team Bay of Quinte High School Football League, senior division, unable to prove much on the regular season when four of the squads finished with identical 3-2 records, opens sudden death playoff competition this week.

Tuesday, Bayside Secondary School Red Devils (1-4 on the season) are at Quinte Secondary School Bobcats (1-3) to pry the lid off the post season activity.

Saints, with 64 points against its five league games, second only to Trenton High School Tigers' mark of 66, face a team which has given up 124 points, tops in the league.

Offensively, Saints' edge is much slimmer. The Quinte team scored 58 points to 29 by Red Devils. When the two teams met in league play, Quinte scored a 32-18 win.

In other first round play, Trenton is at Moira Secondary School Trojans and Centennial Secondary School Chargers visit Centre Hastings Secondary School Centurions, Wednesday.

The Moira-Trenton match shapes up as a natural, considering the fact that Tigers came up with their worst defensive effort of the season when they met Trojans during the regular schedule. Both teams had 3-2 records.

Tigers' defence, stingiest in the league with only 46 points against, was burned in the game with Moira. The Trenton club, playing at home, failed to make a 7-point lead stand up and came out of the short end of a 22-21 score.

Trenton's offence generated 72 points in five games, well of the pace set by Trojans who put 106 points on the board. Its defence, Moira's mark was 33.

The Centennial-Centre Hastings showdown pits the top in offence against the weakest, in at least on regular season play.

Centre Hastings Centurions scored 109 points and gave up only 53 on the way to a 3-2 season mark. Chargers scored just 52 points while surrender ing 86.

Centurions equalled Chargers' season output in a single game, knocking off Bayside 32-29.

First round play in the junior section, scheduled to open on two fronts today, had third place Centennial Chargers at home to sixth place Bayside Red Devils while Quinte Saints, fourth on the season, had home game in a confrontation with fifth place Centre Hastings.

Earning byes to semi-final play, are Trenton Tigers and Moira Trojans. The Tigers, first with a 7-0 record, take on the winner of the Quinte-Centre Hastings matchup in Trenton, Friday, while Trojans, second at 5-2, play host to either Centennial of Bayside.

Flyers Add to Woes Of Hapless Rangers

By NEIL CAMPBELL
The Canadian Press

Even a change in goaltenders didn't help the floundering New York Rangers on Sunday night.

The Flyers directed only 25 shots at Giacomin, but seven of them go? by the veteran and the Flyers had a 7-2 triumph at Madison Square Garden.

Coach Don Stewart started Giacomin in place of John Davidson, who endured a 9-1 loss to Buffalo on Wednesday, then took a 7-1 beating from the Islanders on Saturday.

Meanwhile, the Sabres won their fifth game in a row by a margin of two goals, defeating the hapless Detroit Red Wings 7-3 and Los Angeles Kings defeated Minnesota North Stars 4-2 in Sunday's other games.

In Saturday's other games, Toronto Maple Leafs tied California 3-3, St. Louis Blues topped Atlanta Flames 7-3, Philadelphia tied Pittsburgh Penguins 4-4, Montreal Canadiens whipped Boston 6-2, Buffalo downed Detroit 5-3 and Chicago blanked Kansas City Scouts 4-0.

Bill Barber scored three times for Philadelphia, twice in the third period, and Bob Kelly, the third goal in the period, scored by Bobby Clarke.

Jacques Richard, the former top draft pick acquired from Atlanta in a pre-season deal, scored for Buffalo midway in the third period to break a 2-2 tie.

The Sabres, going without any scoring help from Rick Martin and Gil Perreault for the second night in a row, had squandered a 2-0 lead.

The Irwins, struggling to play NHL hockey without injured defenceman Bobby Orr, found a soft touch in the Wings, who have only three ties in 18 starts.

Landon Holds the Fort For New England Squad

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Goalie Bruce Landon figured it was just a matter of holding on until New England Whalers pulled themselves together.

The Whalers survived a rash of first-period errors, thanks to Landon and defeated Calgary Cowboys 3-1 Sunday night in a World Hockey Association game.

"Calgary forced us into too many mistakes in the first period," said Whalers' general manager-coach Jack Kelley. "We were fortunate to come out of that period with a 1-1 tie."

The Whalers took only one shot on goal during the first 10 minutes of the game and only excellent goaltending by Landon kept the Cowboys from rolling up a big lead.

"I felt I had to hold them and just hope our guys would come around in the next period," said Landon, who has won both his starts this season.

In Sunday's other games, Winnipeg Jets blanked Phoenix Roadrunners 5-0 and Indianapolis Racers edged Edmonton Oilers 4-3.

On Saturday, San Diego Mariners whipped Minnesota Fighting Saints 6-1, Cincinnati Stingers upset the struggling Houston Aeros 7-4, Cleveland Crusaders dropped Edmonton 5-3 and Quebec Nordiques edged Toronto Toros 3-2.

The Whalers came back to win with a goal in each period. Thommy Abrahamsson scored in the first period, Tom Webster in the second and Rossire Paiement in the third before a crowd of 7,041 at Hartford, Conn.

Bobby Hull returned from a one-man, one-game strike to team with Ulf Nilsson and Anders Hedberg to produce three goals. Mike Ford and Veli Pekka Ketola had Winnipeg's other goals.

Hull sat out one game in a bid to draw attention to the problem of salaries in hockey.

Winnipeg goalie Joe Daley recorded his third shutout of the season, turning aside 39 shots. Ketola's goal, scored by Nick Harbaruk and scored the winner late in the third period.

Voyageurs Can't Shake Off Stubborn Providence Reds

Lynn Powis end Ed Johnstone scored two goals each for Providence on Sunday night to help the Reds keep pace with Nova Scotia Voyageurs in the race for top spot in the Northern Division of the American Hockey League.

The goals helped the Reds down Richmond Robins 8-5. Providence has moved to within a point of the leaders Saturday night with a 4-2 win over Springfield Indians.

The Voyageurs, who have played two more games than the Reds, held first place by defeating Hershey Bears 5-2 Sunday night.

Rochester Americans dropped New Haven Nighthawks 6-4 in Sunday's other game. In Saturday's other game, Richmond dropped New Haven 5-2.

Rookie Bob Ritchie scored twice for the Robins, who got single goal performances from Dave Kelly and Bob Paddock. It was Richmond's first loss of the season after three defeats.

Barrie Flyer a dropped to second place Sunday when they were defeated 2-1 by Orillia Association Senior A game.

Cambridge Hornets' 4-1 victory over Wesley Warriors on Saturday puts Cambridge in first place with four wins and one loss. Barrie has won three games lost one and tied one.

In the other game during the weekend, Toronto Comets and Lindsay Lancers tied 6-6 on Sunday.

Play resumes tonight with Napanee at Lindsay.

In Barrie, the game was scoreless until Paul Regan got on a goal for the Flyers midway through the second period.

Also Sunday, Bob Taylor led Lindsay with three goals. George Cornell scored twice and Paul Grilli once in the game for Lindsay.

FIGHT INFLATION. SPEND LESS. AND GET MORE.

In the face of the Canadian Government's recent tough stance on inflation, Toyota would like to re-introduce the stance we've taken all along: we'd like you to spend less of your money. And get more for it.

While that may seem to be a contradictory piece of logic to many of you, we'd like to assure you that it's far from fiction. And our 1976 Corolla 1200 is a good example of just how true it can be. It costs less than a Pinto, Datsun or Chevette—yet it gives you more.

So, if you were to choose between a Toyota Corolla 1200 and any of those three basic cars, the less you spent, the more you'd get.

THE CHART TELLS PART OF THE STORY.

And the part it tells, you're not likely to hear from the other small car manufacturers.

Because the facts and figures shown are proof that Toyota 1200 gives you more standard features than Pinto, Datsun or Chevette. And that is something they wouldn't want you to find out about. Or maybe they think the extra standard equipment the Corolla offers isn't important.

The fact is we think much of it is essential. We look on our electric rear window defroster, our power front disc brakes and our heavy duty battery as safety features, not as luxury options. And we don't think you should pay extra to get into a comfortable driving position.

That's why we offer you adjustable reclining bucket seats at no extra cost.

THE PART THE CHART DOESN'T TELL.

It doesn't tell you how fastidiously we build our cars on some of the world's most thoroughly automated assembly lines. With computers controlling the tedious jobs so there's no chance for human error.

Or how we torture test our cars as if we hated them, to make sure they'll stand the test of time.

Which they do—9 out of 10 Toyotas ever sold in Canada are still on the road. (If that doesn't mean you're fighting inflation by making your dollar go farther, we don't know what does.)

Perhaps that's why Toyota Corolla is the top selling automobile model in the world. And the number one import in Canada.

Sonny Wade Leads Als to Comeback Victory

By GLENN COLE
The Canadian Press

It was Fan Appreciation Day at the Montreal Autostade Sunday afternoon and the 21,700 fans were anything but enthralled with the efforts put forward by their hometown heroes in the first half of their Canadian Football League game.

As Montreal Alouette slumped off the field at half time, they trailed 17-0 to Calgary Stampeders and the fans were restless. Loud jeering descended from the seats with most of the abuse heaped on starting quarterback Jimmy Jones, who could not generate any offence in the first 30 minutes.

In the second half, Montreal coach Marv Levy decided to insert Sonny Wade in the quarterback slot and the veteran spurred Montreal to a 28-point outburst which carried the Alouettes to a 28-20 win over Calgary.

On Saturday, Toronto Argonauts moved into third spot in the East with a 27-23 win over Hamilton Tiger-Cats.

The Montreal win gave the Alouettes a 9-5-1 record for 19 points, one behind front-running Ottawa Rough Riders who play host to the Als next Sunday in Ottawa in the final game of the regular schedule.

Wade threw two touchdown passes to Johnny Rodgers and Steve Ferrugbelli bulled over from four yards out for Montreal's either TD. Peter Dalla Riva and Joe Petro each added two-point conversion passes from inside and Don Sweet kicked a single and a field goal.

It was Sweet's field goal at 2:07 of the final quarter that put Montreal ahead 19-17 but Cyril McPall, who had a second-quarter field goal and converts on touchdowns by Henry Snoyo in the first quarter and Willie Burden in the second, booted a 17-yard field goal on the next series of plays to put the Stamps back in front.

An indication of Calgary's first-half dominating was their net offence of 212 yards compared with 51 for Montreal. But Montreal finished the game with a net offence of 347 yards compared with 291 for the Stampeders.

In Toronto, running back Doyle Orange served two touchdowns for the Argonauts, including a 56-yarder on Toronto's first offensive play of the game.

The other Toronto touchdown came on a 63-yard pass from Ealey to Dickey Morton, putting Toronto ahead early in the game. Jesse Ancelovici converted all three touchdowns and had a pair of field goals.

Ian Sunter had three field goals and two converts for the Ticats. Speedy Thomas and Jody Hopkins scored the Hamilton touchdowns.

The victory moved Toronto two points ahead of the Ticats in the fight for the final playoff berth. The Ticats must win their game at home with the Argonauts next Saturday by 10 points or more to make the playoffs.

The Argonauts hold a 3-1 edge in games between the two clubs and should Hamilton win the fourth, the tie would be broken by reverting to points scored in the four games, where Toronto has a 15-point edge.

A crowd of 40,284 attended the game, the second largest in Canadian Football League history. The only bigger crowd was for the earlier this year.

Gerry Organ of Ottawa Rough Riders is second with 108 points followed by Don Sweet of Montreal, who kicked a field goal and a single in the Alouettes 28-20 victory Sunday over Calgary Stampeders to increase his season total to 107.

Quarterbacks Pay the Price

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Sunday's games took quite a toll on National Football League quarterbacks, but their pain was nothing that suffered by Joe Ferguson, signal-caller for Buffalo Bills.

New England's Jim Plunkett, hit in the first period on a lateral play, suffered a recurrence of his pre-season separation of his left shoulder.

But it wound up hurting San Francisco 49ers more. His replacement, rookie Steve Grogan, passed the Patriots to a 24-18 victory over the 49ers.

Atlanta's Steve Bartkowski also got hurt in the first period against Cincinnati when he suffered a dislocated elbow. He'd already directed the Falcons to a touchdown and although Kim McQuilken got them another one, Cincinnati Bengals pulled out a 21-14 victory.

Pittsburgh's Terry Bradshaw got hurt in the fourth period when Green Bay linebacker Fred Carr bashed him and shook him up. Joe Gilliam took over and directed the Steelers into position for Roy Gerela's field goal that beat the Packers 16-13.

But without doubt the most pain was suffered by Ferguson—and he brought it all upon himself. He threw the ball when he shouldn't have.

With 3:00 to play and the Bills leading Miami 30-28, Buffalo was on its own 15-yard line.

Instead of trying to run out the clock on the ground, Ferguson chose to get out of trouble in a hurry. Instead he got into it. On first-and-ten, he threw the ball—right to Miami safety Jake Scott on the Buffalo 22.

The Dolphins took that gift and drove for the winning score. Don Nottingham's third touchdown of the game with just 1:25 to play, beating the Bills 35-30.

In Sunday's other games, Dallas Cowboys edged Philadelphia Eagles 29-17, Houston Oilers blitzed Detroit Lions 24-8, Kansas City Chiefs whipped Denver Broncos 33-13, Baltimore Colts routed New York Jets 45-28, Washington Redskins bedeviled Cleveland Browns 23-7, Los Angeles Rams trounced New Orleans Saints 38-14 and Oakland Raiders blanked San Diego 25-0.

Eskimos Clinch First in the West

By THE CANADIAN PRESS
Edmonton Eskimos wrapped up first place in the Western Football Conference Sunday with a 46-41 victory over Winnipeg Blue Bombers after Saskatchewan Roughriders' mistakes-ridden quarterback Ron Lancaster ran out of steam Saturday, losing 12-6 to British Columbia Lions.

The outcome of the two weekend games left the third and last playoff position in the WFC in doubt. Winnipeg has a two-point margin over the Lions but B.C. can move into third place by defeating the Eskimos at Vancouver next Saturday night if the Bombers lose to Calgary Stampeders in the final regular-season game Sunday.

At Edmonton Sunday, the game was delayed before 35,307 fans in a light but steady snowfall, conditions which Bombers' quarterback Ralph Brock said were the worst he had ever played. Brock, who took a lot of physical punishment, said he "just had to keep going."

The Eskimos took a 21-3 lead in the first 16 minutes and then staved off the Bombers' desperate comeback attempt.

The Eskimos opened the scoring quickly when Larry Highbaugh returned the opening kickoff 109 yards for a touchdown. Edmonton got their other touchdowns almost as easily, a 36-yard punt return by Mike Fink, a 53-yard touchdown pass from Tom Wilkinson to George McGowan, an 80-yard touchdown pass from Bruce Lemerman to John Konikowski, a 30-yard fumble recovery return by Bill Stevenson and a 116-yard punt return by Highbaugh.

Dave Cutler converted all six Eskimo touchdowns and booted single points in Canadian Football League record and another, another. With one game remaining, Cutler has 157 points, eight more than the Eskimos' season mark set in 1969 by Tommy-Joe Coffey of Hamilton Tiger Cats. He also has 36 field goals, equalling the number for a single season established by Gerry Organ of Ottawa Rough Riders last season.

Brock collected 407 yards passing, producing touchdowns on a five-yard toss to Peter Rubins, a 43-yarder to Mark McDonald, a 30-yard heave to Jim Washington and a 36-yarder to Bob LaRose. Washington got the other touchdown on a three-yard run on the last play of the third quarter.

Bernie Ruehl converted three of the touchdowns, adding a field goal and a single. The Bombers got the other points on a pair of two-point conversion passes from Brock to LaRose.

Ron Lancaster didn't give up easily Saturday at Vancouver but he ran out of dramatic comebacks against a stubborn B.C. defence which played before a hometown crowd of only 15,858.

He had three passes intercepted, adding one by former team-mate Bob Pearce with 1:39 remaining in the game.

Quarterback Peter Liske and wide receiver Ross Clarkson combined for the Lions' only touchdown, a 45-yard pass in the second quarter. Another former Saskatchewan player, Brian Berg, booted a 14-yard field goal and a convert and punter Eric Guthrie kicked singles of 52 and 58 yards.

Lancaster directed only one touchdown drive which ended with a 15-yard toss to Ibbetl Dawson. Jack Abendschan booted the convert and added a single point on a wide, 31-yard field goal attempt.

Dave Cutler Connects

Western Conference

Dave Cutler, runaway leader in the Western Football Conference individual scoring race, booted six converts and two field goals Sunday as Edmonton Eskimos defeated Winnipeg Blue Bombers 28-41. The effort boosted the Edmonton place-kicker's season total to 157 points, a Canadian Football League record.

Cutler's points total surpassed by eight points the single-season record set by Tommy-Joe Coffey of Hamilton Tiger-Cats in 1969. Cutler's 36 field goals equalled the CFL single-season record set last year by Gerry Organ of Ottawa Rough Riders.

Canadians Pick Up 91 Medals

MEXICO CITY (CP) — Swimmer Jackie Stenhouse of Surrey, B.C., cried when she received her 800-metre freestyle bronze medal to the cheers of other Canadians. "It really got to me," she said.

On the other end of the spectrum, runner Joan Wenzel of Waterloo, Ont., who said she took a cold capsule inadvertently, was absolved when Pan-American Games officials suspended her after a routine urinalysis for drugs turned positive.

The capsule contained ingredients that are on the Games' prohibited drug list. And Mrs. Wenzel had to give back the bronze medal she won in the women's 800 metres. "I couldn't believe that it had happened," she said.

Joy and sadness were all part of the seventh Pan-Am which officially closed Sunday after two weeks of competition by nearly 4,000 athletes from 33 countries.

The Canadian team had its share of both before flying home with a record 91 medals, including 18 gold. A gold, two silver and a bronze won during the weekend helped the team surpass the previous Pan-Am high of 90 at the 1967 Games in Winnipeg.

Doug Clement, manager of the 330-member Canadian team, said he was satisfied with its performance despite minor disappointments.

But winning at the Pan-Ams is not the same as a medal at the Olympics in Montreal next summer, he noted.

"I think I would temper our successes here with a reminder that this is a regional competition," Clement said. "If we can get into the top eight in an Olympic event, it's going to be similar to winning a gold medal here."

Pan-Am performances were mediocre by world standards in all sports. Only two world records were broken—Joao Oliveira of Brazil in the triple jump and shooter Edegario Vasquez Rama of Mexico in the individual air rifle.

Half the Canadian medals were won in swimming and track and field. But 13 of Canada's 18 gold medals came from other sports.

There were more events here than at Cali, Colombia, four years ago. Tennis and judo were put back on the Pan-Am program and Greco-Roman wrestling, an Olympic fixture, made its debut.

But there also was a reduction in weightlifting medals since the press was admitted to the last year. Weightlifters were awarded gold medals for three classifications instead of four as in 1971.

Canadians competed in 21 of 22 sports, bypassing tennis because many eligible young players were in university.

The curtain on the 1975 Games came down with the completion of the final event, the colorful equestrian team jumping Sunday, and the closing ceremony.

Michel Vaillancourt of Hull, Que., riding UFO, recovered from a disastrous first ride and lowered his faults sufficiently on the second ride to help Canada rose out Brazil for the bronze medal.

The United States team, which didn't compete four years ago, won the gold with a total of 44½ faults, slightly ahead of Mexico. Canada had 76½ faults and Brazil 84.

Jim Elder of Aurora, Ont., riding Count Down, had the only clean ride in the first round and incurred only eight faults in the second round. Norma Cherniwska of Midnapore, Alta., and Frank Sellinger of Calgary rounded out the Canadian team.

On the last full day of competition Saturday, Cuba won 11 gold medals to five for the United States. Cubans swept seven of 11 boxing gold medals. Canada wrecked the boxing gold treasure trove for the first time ever when little Chris Clarke, a 57-lb Halifax lightweight, took a low blow from his American opponent. Aaron Pryor, in the second round of their bout and dropped to his knees. Pryor was disqualified and Clarke declared the winner. At the time the Canadian was ahead on points.

"I didn't want to win it that way," Clarke said. The American later offered his apology, saying the low blow was not intentional. Clyde said.

Light middleweight Michel Prevost of Montreal settled for silver, dropping a decision to Rolando Garbey of Cuba, a veteran of more than 160 fights and world amateur champion.

6-2 Win Gives Knights Lead

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

London Knights took first place Sunday in the Emms Division of the Ontario Hockey Association Major Junior A series, defeating Kitchener 6-2 before a home crowd of 3,826.

In other games, Oshawa 67's downed Hamilton Fincups 7-3, Oshawa Generals edged Sudbury Wolves 4-3, St. Catharines Black Hawks upset Kingston Canadians 4-3 and Sault Ste. Marie Greyhounds defeated Toronto Marlboros 4-2.

On Saturday, the Marlboros defeated Sudbury 6-3 and Peterborough Petes handed Windsor Spitfires a 4-1 loss.

London, unbeaten in its last five games, was paced Sunday by Dave Hillborn with two goals. Dwight Schofield, Larry Riggin, Tom Rowe and Dean Hopkins also scored for the Knights.

London led 2-1 after the first period and 3-1 after the second.

League play resumes Tuesday and Kitchener at Hamilton.

67's 7 Fincups 3

John Wilson paced the visitors with two goals. Len Wilson, his brother, and Larry Skinner, Bob Smith, Tim Higgins and Steve Marantette had one goal apiece.

Dale McCourt, Cal Herd and Ron Rescor scored for the Fincups, who outshot the 67's 42-32. Hamilton scored two goals in the second period when it held a 18-7 edge in shots.

Ottawa led 2-0 after the first period and 5-2 after two periods.

The Fincups tied the game in the second period but Ottawa came back with five unanswered goals, three in the second and two in the third period.

Generals 4 Wolves 3

Oshawa took a 2-0 first-period lead and went into the third period holding ahead 4-1.

The Wolves struck with two goals in the final period but could not get the equalizer as Al MacIlroy turned in a shutout performance in the last half of the period.

Sudbury outshot the Generals 37-35.

Hawks 4 Canadians 3

Because of injuries, the Hawks started the game with only 16 players, three under the limit. They were forced to complete the game with only three defencemen after losing Bob Manno in the second period. Manno received a game misconduct for continuing his fight with Mike Forbes in the penalty box.

Referee Jim Labalce had difficulty keeping the game under control. He handed out 105 minutes in penalties, 59 to Kingston and 46 to St. Catharines.

The penalties included a 10-minute bench penalty to Kingston coach Jim Morrison who was ejected after arguing several calls with the officials.

St. Catharines outshot the Canadians 38-32 before 1,011 Hawk fans.

Greyhounds 4 Marlboros 2

Randy Borbely gave Sault Ste. Marie a 2-1 lead with the only goal of the second period.

Petes 4 Spitfires 1

Peterborough took period leads of 1-0 and 3-1 Saturday, defeating the Spitfires on goals from Gary McMonagle, Keith Acton, Vic Battey and Tony Cassolato.

Marlboros 6 Wolves 3

Lynn Jorgenson led Toronto with two goals. Mike McEwan, Gary Farsill Trevor Johansen and Mike Brady—a newcomer up from Markham Waxers—had one apiece.

Snow Knight Leads Field

TORONTO (CP) — Snow Knight had trouble getting into the starting gate, but had no trouble in the stretch getting ahead of the field Sunday enroute to a 1½-length victory in the $150,000-added Canadian International Championship Stakes.

"He refused to go into the gate the first time, but he walked in good the second time," jockey Jorge Velasquez said following the race.

The Canadian International, which offered a Canadian record thoroughbred purse of $168,700, was the second major victory for Velasquez in as many days. He won the two-mile Jockey Club Gold Cup at New York on Saturday aboard Green Plan.

Velasquez eased Snow Knight ahead about midway in the field of 11 horses Sunday before surging to the front and winning with only slight pressure from the French horse, Commese de Loir.

The victory over 1¼-miles of Marshall turf for the English-bred Snow Knight, owned by Toronto industrialist E. P. Taylor, was worth $113,225—another Canadian record. Snow Knight will race under United States colors next month in the Washington, D. C., International.

It brought the chestnut colt's career earnings to $482,655 and bolstered his position as North America's top grass runner. The four-year-old went off at 4 to 5.

Taylor purchased 60 per cent of the colt following its early 1974 win—the Epsom Derby in England—from Neil Phillips of Montreal. Phillips had purchased it as a yearling at the Newmarket Sales for the equivalent of $14,000.

Anti-poverty Group Opposes Restraints

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario Anti-Poverty Organization said Friday it plans to ask the Ontario Federation of Labor and the Civil Service Association of Ontario to support the unemployed and working-poor peoples' stand against wage and price controls.

In a statement, the organization's provincial executive committee said it has sent telegrams to Prime Minister Trudeau and Premier William Davis urging that wage and price control policy be supplanted with a massive unemployment program.

The organization also said it wants a guaranteed annual income assuring "a decent standard of living for the aged, disabled and single-parent heads of families."

Mike Carson, president, said that "wage control works most effectively on those with limited bargaining power, and particularly on the unorganized working poor."

Lewis Rejects Oil, Gas Increases

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Stephen Lewis, Ontario NDP leader, said Saturday that Ontario oil companies should not be allowed to increase home-heating oil and gasoline prices by 5.4 cents a gallon.

He told 300 delegates to the Canada Jaycees Great Lakes region fall conference that the oil companies were getting the increase without having to reveal company finances or appear at a public hearing before the Ontario Energy Board.

Energy Minister Dennis Timbrell announced Friday that Ontario oil companies will be subject to a ceiling of 5.4 cents a gallon after the province's petroleum price freeze expires Nov. 15.

Mr. Lewis also commended the "strong and intelligent policy move" of Premier Dave Barrett of British Columbia, who announced an immediate freeze Friday on the price of food, essential commodities and services.

"I wish in Ontario we had some of that political leadership," Mr. Lewis said.

Ottawa Considered Total Controls

TORONTO (CP) — Federal Finance Minister Donald Macdonald said Friday that the federal government considered imposing a national freeze on wages and prices before it decided on selective controls as anti-inflation measures.

He said in an interview that the cabinet chose the controls "rather than squeeze out the harder's from the center."

Mr. Macdonald also said the government wants "the labor movement movement to see the program in a broader perspective."

"It is very clearly in the interests of organized labor to break the spiral of inflation," he said.

Mr. Macdonald, Barney Danson, urban affairs minister, Energy Minister Alastair Gillespie, and Mitchell Sharp, president of the Privy Council, addressed a meeting Saturday of the Toronto and District Labor Council.

Mr. Macdonald said the wage and price guidelines would lead to some income inequities, adding that the anti-inflation board would act as an ombudsman for individuals and organized labor.

Trudeau Promises Tougher Controls

TORONTO (CP) —Prime Minister Trudeau says the federal government may use tougher measures to make wage and price controls work if the voluntary self-restraint policy fails.

During the show Let's Discuss, B. broadcast Sunday on radio station CFRB, Mr. Trudeau said: "We'll have to keep authoritarian forms around longer" if Canadians are not prepared to practise self-restraint.

The prime minister announced a program of wage and price controls on Thanksgiving Day. He said the program is expected to continue for three years.

Asked about possible refusal by some unions to support the controls, he said unions for years had been asking for price controls but now are afraid they would not work.

The prime minister said some people had been expecting inflation to get worse and were protecting themselves by demanding and receiving large wage increases.

He said the government was hoping that inflation would correct itself but many people in the economy "haven't been playing the game that way."

Ottawa Overhauls Unemployment System

OTTAWA (CP) — The Commons begins debate today on a bill that could prove almost as controversial as the government's new anti-inflation legislation.

Legislation to overhaul the country's unemployment insurance system will come up for second reading, giving MPs a chance to open up on the government's record on employment.

It will be the first chance for MPs to speak on the measure said it was introduced and given routine first reading in July.

The bill, which proposes higher unemployment insurance premiums and new restrictions to reduce benefits paid out, already has been rejected by the NDP and criticized by the Progressive Conservatives.

NDP Leader Ed Broadbent said before Parliament reconvened Oct. 14 that his party would wage an all-out battle against the bill.

Conservative House Leader Gerald Baldwin said Friday his party also has "a number of major objections to the bill."

The proposed changes, originally announced in the June 23 budget, would raise worker premiums to between $1.60 and $1.70 for every $100 of earnings from the current rate of $1.40.

For employers, the rate would go to between $2.25 and $2.40 from $1.96.

Canadian Writers Picket Coles Over Royalties

OTTAWA (CP) — Almost 50 Canadian writers, including Pierre Berton, Margaret Laurence and W. O. Mitchell, picketed in front of a downtown Coles bookstore Saturday, saying the company is cheating them out of their royalties.

The writers say Coles has been importing U.S. editions of their books and has been selling them at cut-rate prices in direct competition with Canadian editions. Coles Books Stores Ltd. has 70 stores in Ontario and western Canada.

Pierre Berton said in an interview the store was selling a condensed U.S. version of his two-volume work on the building of the CPR. But neither he nor his Canadian publisher was getting any royalties from sales of the American edition in Canada.

The store manager said later Coles sells Canadian as well as American versions of books by Canadian authors. But the American editions sell better because they are less expensive.

The hard-cover Canadian editions of The Last Spike and The National Dream by Pierre Berton sell for $12 each, he said. The American edition, a cost-volume abridgement of the two books, sells for $7.95 in a hard-cover edition.

A Canadian paperback abridgement of the books is also available—at a cost of $4.95.

Conference Planned

LONDON (CP) — An international conference on the processing and marketing of tropical fish is planned for next summer. Organized by the Tropical Products Institute, the conference will involve discussions of fish resources, handling and marketing of fresh and frozen fish and post harvest fisheries development.

CBC Uncovers More Evidence Into Canada's October Crisis

MONTREAL (CP) — Differing views between the federal and Quebec governments on the FLQ manifesto were disappointed in a major CBC-TV production televised Sunday night.

And a poignant moment in the sometimes bizarre story comes at the end of the 2½-hour production when kidnap victim James (Jasper) Cross is asked a simple question as to who "won" in the crisis.

"I did," replies the former British trade diplomat who emerged alive—then he goes on to say with deep emotion: "Who won? Pierre Laporte and his family."

Precious few winners in the political sense emerge from this chilling account of events surrounding a revolutionary stroke by the Front de Liberation du Quebec (FLQ), which sought separation of Quebec from Canada by violent means.

Mr. Laporte, Quebec labor minister, was kidnapped and slain seven days later while Mr. Cross, then British senior trade commissioner in Montreal, held for the ransom by the FLQ before being released in a deal that sent his FLQ captors into self-exile.

The CBC effort represents the most comprehensive review yet seen on the fifth anniversary of the crisis. Costing "somewhere around $100,000" and in the works for nearly a year, it had journalists conducting hundreds of interviews.

"I think the cell could have murdered me without any of them feeling individual responsibility," said Mr. Cross, who gave the CBC a five-hour interview in London.

CBC-TV will carry at 7:30 p.m. EST tonight an additional half-hour program on the interview with Mr. Cross, who is severely critical of media coverage during his "knife-edge captivity.

"There was a lot of pious stuff said by the media about their responsibility, but it seems to me, as the victim in all this . . . that they forced that they have a responsibility to him.

"Speculation about what he is doing, speculation about what the government should do may endanger the life of the person involved."

Federal and provincial government figures emerge in disarray over the reason for proclamation of the War Measures Act (WMA) on Oct. 16, 1970, at a time when Mr. Cross and Mr. Laporte were being held by separate FLQ cells.

Cross says in his interview use of the term "apprehended insurrection" did not mean Montreal was on the verge of civil unrest but only that he wanted the WMA to calm the population and demonstrate that the government was taking all measures available.

The CBC attributes major importance to an Ottawa think-tank—the Strategic Operations Centre (SOC) whose existence had been "kept secret until now"—specially created to help manage the crisis.

Comprising Trudeau associates along with a military officer and an RCMP intelligence officer, SOC evolved various "scenarios," including the possible fall of the Bourassa government through internal weakness.

The CBC investigators say all authorities were prepared for the October crisis and they feel their studies shatter a widespread assumption that it came as a surprise.

Rent Boards Will Not Bring Outcries

TORONTO (CP) — Barney Danson, federal urban affairs minister, said Saturday he hopes Ontario's "opposition parties" will not use rent review as an issue to defeat the provincial government.

Mr. Danson, Finance Minister Donald Macdonald, House Leader Mitchell Sharp and Energy Minister Alastair Gillespie attended a meeting to discuss the federal government's selective wage and price controls.

Mr. Danson said he strongly opposes including rent review boards in a rent-control system because such boards would "place an unfair burden of social responsibility on to one sector of the economy."

The Ontario Liberal party and NDP have said they would demand rent review as part of the government rent-control system so that individual cases might receive special attention.

Both parties said they might vote against the government if Premier Davis did not create rent review boards as he promised in his election campaign.

Mr. Danson said rent controls set a fixed percentage increase he and "whatever the fixed figure is, the landlord knows the context in which he is working—and so does the tenant."

And saw your tired face.
He put his arms around you,
And lifted you to rest,
Then he whispered to the beautiful
Far far away land the angel,
It broke our hearts to lose you,
But you did not die alone,
For part of us went with you,
The day God called you home.
—Husband and baby missed by daughter Ila, son-in-law Gordon and grandchildren.

REED — In fond and loving memory of a dear son and brother Vernon Reed who passed away October 27, 1962.
Close to his home he rested in rest,
Close to the voice we loved to hear,
We far away but light of speech,
But not far far for thousand to reach.
Sweet to remember and sweet once was here,
Dear who, though, absent, is just as dear.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our deepest appreciation to relatives, friends and neighbors for their many kindnesses during the illness and death of our dear son and brother. Thank cards, floral tributes, cards and visits. A special thanks to Rev. Ken Smith, Mr. O'Brien — Steele Funeral Home, the Nursing Staff of Ward 3 of the Belleville General Hospital, the Catholic Women's League of the Catholic Women's Guild, the staff and students of the St. James Whitney School, the Retired Teachers' Section Local 48, and Mr. Ken Hoover for the use of the Hotel Quinte and to our neighbors on Octavia Street, who were so very kind.
Helen Hoover and family.

Getting Warm

Soloist soprano Ann Colebourne warms up with organist Alec Gordon prior to an organ recital at Bridge St. United Church Sunday. It was the first time the two performers had worked together at the church. Proceeds from the Three Score Years recital will be given to St. Thomas Church congregation to assist in their church rebuilding program. The church was destroyed by fire this year.

Fellini Film on TV Causes Little Reaction

ROME (AFP)—Italian television recently showed the film La Dolce Vita (The Sweet Life) by Director Federico Fellini which shocked the world 15 years ago but now is passed by without a murmur—for that era of the scandalous '50s and 60s no longer exists.

All that remains are the memories.

Fellini told the story of Italians recovering from the austerity of the war and post-war days and entering into all the luxury of a consumer society.

Today Romans look back at those times "which are so near but seem to us now to be back in antiquity". Others talk about them as "errors of youth".

The Dolce Vita period was the time people bathed nude or half nude in Rome's Trevi Fountain and indulged in eccentric behavior which shocked puritans. It was the time of the Cinecitta, the Italian Hollywood outside Rome with all its splendors, today covered over by weeds.

It was the day of the "paparazzi," the photographers who hunted film stars even in their boudoirs.

One of the paparazzi, Mario Pelosi, remembered: "Each time a new film star arrived, there was a battle between us and the bodyguards."

He had a bad memory of Frank Sinatra: "The worst enemy of the paparazzi" who threw down a challenge: "Let me see one of them take my photo".

It was the kind of challenge that they could not ignore.

"One night we all found Sinatra at the Cafe de Paris on the Pavement Terrace", Mario said. "As the flashes started, about a dozen tough-looking athletes rose from side tables. They were Sinatra gorillas. The evening ended with broken teeth and smashed cameras. But we won. It was the biggest battle that has ever been fought on the Via Veneto".

Cabaret owners on the Via Veno regret those "good times." These days they complain, "All you find here are tourists and prostitutes. In the old days you could meet Henry Fonda, Soraya, The Begum Aga Khan, Gary Cooper and Liz Taylor".

One day Jayne Mansfield did a strip tease right in the street and blocked the traffic for hours. A photographer remembered how an actor pulled a revolver on him.

Nicola di Nunzi, the manager of the Cafe de Paris, the hub of the Dolce Vita, proclaims: "Everything imaginable happened here. Once an American western actor rode in on a horse and ordered a whisky. But it was just one of the many crazy things. In fact, the paparazzi hired a caravan so they could be around 24 hours of the day.

The caravan had beds, spaghetti-boiling equipment, and a dark-room and went from one cabaret to another.

Italians watching the film on television were uncertain whether Dolce Vita was a symbol of prosperity or of decadence.

They know one thing.

It is all completely finished. Evenings today in Rome are sad, with cabarets facing closure with few free-spending people about.

Two Are Non-whites

TORONTO (CP) — A Canadian Civil Liberties Association survey has revealed that all but two of the city's 1,300 firefighters are white. The association recently asked the city to publicly advertise job vacancies, rather than review old application files, which now is hiring policy.

Bears Invade

HULL, Que. (CP) — It was a Goldilocks tale relived in this city recently, only without Goldilocks. Residents notified police that a father bear, three young bears and four cubs were walking down a main street. A police spokesman said bears have been wandering in residential areas lately and two have been shot.

REIDSVILLE, N.C. (AP) — Former Bluegrass performer Charlie Monroe died in hospital Saturday night after several months of declining health.

Monroe, 72, a native of Rosine, Ky., had been a Bluegrass singer for 50 years.

He began recording in 1927 with his famous brother, Bill, as the Blue Grass Boys. The two played together until 1938, when Charlie began recording on his own.

He produced singles as Charlie Monroe and the Kentucky Partners from 1938-55 for Bluebird records, and was best known for the single Down in Willow Valley.

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (Reuter)—British rock singer Elton John had his car set in the sidewalk of Hollywood Blvd. on Thursday before 3 000 screaming fans, as squads of security police looked on.

For the first time in the 15-year history of installing the stars, Hollywood Blvd. had to be closed off so police could control the crowd.

John, wearing an avocado towler hat and suit and star-shaped spectacles, drove to the ceremony in a golden Jeep with gold-sequined tuxedo-shaped mudguards, a telephone and television set on the dashboard and a pink bow tie brocaded in gold and silver the emblem of his name and brass-shaped star John was the 1,662nd Hollywood celebrity to have his name immortalized in the sidewalk.

Your Horoscope

By BERNICE BEDE OSOL

Tuesday, Oct. 28

Aries (March 21-April 19) Your enthusiasm is easily aroused today. Others will find you a fun person to be around. You'll be fortunate through social contacts.

Taurus (April 20-May 20) Wait things out today. Time is your ally. Don't settle for less than the best in any important dealings.

Gemini (May 21-June 20) The good news you've hoped for is on the way, but you must keep channels of communications.

Cancer (June 21-July 22) Your material prospects are far above average today. If you play your cards right you should benefit businesswise.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22) Your opinion on an important issue will be sought by others. If you have any special points to make, now's the time to do it.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Two good deeds that you did in the past are about to bear fruit. The rewards from one of them will be surprisingly large.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) Someone in a key position to help you with an important matter will look upon your requests with favor today. Seek him out now.

Scorpio (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Conditions with a direct effect upon your work or career are beneficial at this time than you realize. Be alert for opportunity.

Sagittarius (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You'll be able to spot possibilities today that others will overlook. Back your judgment with action.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You will eventually profit from something you'll do today where you put interests of those you love before your own.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You'll have the opportunity today to turn a difficult situation to your advantage without upsetting anyone else involved.

Pisces (Feb. 20-March 20) Rewards you're not yet aware of will come from service performed today. Be extra persistent. Finish whatever you start.

Bundle Branch — A Heart Block

By G. C. THOSTESON, MD

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I was hospitalized recently for a heart condition diagnosed as a bundle branch block. How is the heart affected in this, and what are the chances for recovery?—Mrs. B.

We'll need a brief anatomy lesson here.

The heart has four chambers, two upper ones (auricles) and two lower ones (ventricles). Blood comes into the right auricle first, then moves down into the right ventricle and is pumped into the lungs, where it picks up oxygen. The blood returns from the lungs to the left auricle from where it is pushed down into the left ventricle. From there it is pumped into the general circulatory system throughout the body.

The neural impulse for the heart beat originates in the wall of the left auricle and travels down specialized fibers, branching out to activate the lower chambers (the ventricles). Any disturbance in this complex nerve network will have an adverse effect on the heart rhythm.

An electrocardiogram is the only method of detection. If the defect is in the bundle of fibers that branch out to serve the right chamber, the condition is called a "right bundle branch block." If the defect is in the left, it is called a "left bundle branch block."

While the disturbance on the right side can occur without any apparent disease, an L.B.B. (left bundle branch block) is usually associated with a heart disease, particularly arterial hardening.

The seriousness as well as recovery depends on the degree of blockage and the progress of the underlying disease. There is no specific treatment for the block itself.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What is the cause of bright red (sometimes purple) palms of hands and soles of the feet? Also what causes the brown spots on the face and hands of elderly people? Is there anything on the market to remove them?—Mrs. E. D.

The brown spots result from exposure to the elements—the sun and the wind. The "beta" of pigment cells tend to appear with age. The best answer to this is found at the cosmetic counters, although they can be removed surgically.

The red palms (and soles) have been termed "liver palms," which may be a misnomer since it implies liver disease as the cause. The liver is usually thought to be associated with a wide variety of disorders of the skin, heart disease, alcohol excess, thyroid disease and blood disorders.

Dr. George R. Morrison of St. Louis has studied the "problem" and concludes that red palms are not necessarily due to liver disease. His studies showed that the redness comes and goes, and that poor nutrition is a factor in the elderly. His studies also indicate that the redness occurs more often in patients weighing 100 pounds or less.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have a pain every time I sit on a hard seat on my tailbone. My doctor tells me to sit on a pillow. I do, but I sit sideways to keep the pressure from it. What do you think?—Mrs. W.

You should sit on a pillow, but you should be sure that the chair itself has a firm bottom to encourage sitting upright. A semi-arched position can worsen the problem.

Sitting in hot baths and massaging the muscles attaching to the tailbone are helpful measures. The massage is done through the rectum—and it should be done by your physician.

Union Urges Transit Workers to Strike

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — The negotiating committee for 337 striking employees of the London Transportation Commission will recommend that workers reject the commission's latest offer at a meeting Tuesday, a union official said Saturday.

William Leslie, president of Division 741, Amalgamated Transit Union, said tentative agreement on working conditions and vacations was reached Saturday after two days of negotiations with provincial mediator John Hopper.

"However, agreement could not be reached on the wage package," he said. "In effect, the talks are ended."

Canadians Face Fewer Challenges

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Canadians face fewer challenges than persons living in other countries, J. P. Leddy, president of the University of Windsor, said Saturday.

Speaking to more than 600 graduates in the faculties of arts and social science on the final day of the University Western Ontario fall convocation, Dr. Leddy said: "Perhaps there are some places in the world where here is politically or socially—than there is in Canada . . . although I doubt it."

Dr. Leddy, who received an honorary Doctor of Laws degree, said "there is no country in the world in which there is a more solid and assured combination of equality than we enjoy here in Canada today."

U.S. Will Administer Panama Until 1999

SANTA CRUZ, Bolivia (Reuter) — Panama will allow the United States to administer the Panama Canal until the end of the century, Panamanian leader Omar Torrijos said here during the weekend.

But he also said Panamanians are determined that the canal zone should be "liberated."

Postal Union Threatens Trenton Local for No Strike Support

BY JERRY BROWN
Staff Reporter

TRENTON —The town's 12 member local of the Canadian Union of Postal Workers has been told by the national body if it doesn't begin picketing and actively supporting the nationwide strike it will be forced to join with a larger area group, said Arnold Gould, national director for Ontario.

Mr. Gould said he would be in Trenton to talk with the local later this week to "lay it on the line," and if they do not comply and the amalgamation action is taken, Trenton will become the third local chapter to be swallowed up under the mail strike began last week. Prescott, with eight members and Arnprior with seven, have both suffered this fate, Mr. Gould said.

Mr. Gould said he has been authorized, under special strike powers, to take this action by the national executive to consolidate support for the national body and to help present a united front of support for the negotiators.

The Trenton workers knew of this possible threat to their autonomy before they took the strike vote and decided to accept the government's conciliation offer and vote against the strike.

R.C. Pickell, president of the Trenton local said he has not heard from Mr. Gould, "who had his phone number and he had no comment until he spoke with the national director.

"The issue was discussed at a regional meeting this September in Ottawa, and it was decided to amalgamate the locals that were not serving their members properly and who were not supporting the national body or its action," he said. Walter Yateman, president of the Belleville local.

The Trenton workers will not lose any strike pay because the national body does not have a strike fund but it will probably lose its local executive board and the right to administer the $3 rebate from the $8 monthly dues payed to the parent organization

"We carefully hoarded our money until we could afford to pay $20 a week for workers without children and $25 for workers with children. We can hold this fund with us out within 2½ weeks," said Mr. Yateman.

The Belleville union president said he did not think the Trenton local had made any provisions for strike pay for its members.

"If Trenton is amalgamated with Belleville, which is also responsible for Brighton workers, we will probably appoint a shop steward for every shift who will represent the local at executive meetings," said Mr. Yateman.

PUC Buries First Cable

By CLIFF KENYON
Staff Reporter

Belleville's Public Utilities Commission was to begin trenching today along Bridge Street from Century Place east to the front of the armoury.

It is the first time in Belleville power and communication cables will be buried.

"The load that is being supplied to Century Place is such magnitude it really can't be supplied overhead in a downtown area," PUC manager Neil Britton said.

The underground cables are to run from the east side of the lower bridge to the second pole east of Pinnacle Street.

The job will take about two weeks. Mr. Britton said it is the beginning of a long term project to get downtown cables underground.

Ducts in front of Century Place are already installed, said Mr. Britton: "We did it while they were removing the sidewalk for their work."

Injures 6 Others
Student Gunman Shoots Himself

OTTAWA (CP) — Eighteen-year-old Robert Poulin, described by his principal as quiet and "a bit of a loner," burst into a high school religion class Monday and opened fire with a shotgun, wounding six students, one critically, before killing himself.

All about the same time, firemen recovered the charred body of Kimberley Rabet from the boy's home, after answering a call to put out a fire. Police said she was 17 or 18 years old.

Police Supt. Tom Flanagan said Monday night both incidents are under investigation but he did not make any other links between the two cases.

The dead girl was described by a neighbor as "a very nice teen-ager", who did babysitting in the quiet neighborhood along the Rideau River, about five miles from the school.

School authorities and witnesses said Poulin, who planned a career in the armed forces, kicked open the door of a main-floor classroom at St. Pius X Roman Catholic high school, raised his shotgun and started firing into a class of 35 to 40 students.

The incident occurred at about 2:30 p.m. EST.

Six students in the class were sent to hospital with injuries. Mark Hough, 17, was reported in critical condition with head wounds late Monday night.

Three others—Terry Van Denhandeberg, 18, Marc Pelvin, 18, and Barkley Holbrook, 16—were reported in stable condition at Ottawa Civic Hospital.

Two other students, Kurniadi Benjamin, 17, and Michael Mosette, 17, were sent to hospital but released a short time later.

Poulin fired several shots—at least three—randomly across the room with a sawed-off Remington pump 12-gauge shotgun. He then turned it on himself.

"He shot his head in two," said Ted Taylor, 17, who was in the class when the shootings occurred. "I couldn't believe it."

The incident comes about five months after Michael Slobodian, also a student, killed two persons and wounded 12 others before killing himself with a rifle at Centennial secondary school in Brampton, Ont.

Rev. Len Lunney, the school principal at St. Pius X, said in an interview he believes the two incidents are linked.

"I thought to myself at the time of the Brampton incident that the exposure is not a good thing," he said.

"Exposure by the media does tend to play its role in these things."

Father Lunney described Poulin as a quiet student whose grades were good and whose main interest was his membership in the militia.

Postal Talks Resume Today

OTTAWA (CP) — Negotiations in the national postal strike—now in its eighth day—were scheduled to resume today following a frantic round of activity Monday that went from hope to despair to hope again.

The day began on an optimistic note when talks resumed for the first time in a week between negotiators for the post office and the striking Canadian Union of Postal Workers (CUPW).

The resumption of the talks resulted from a weekend exchange of letters between the two sides. The post office tabled a new package of proposals for the union to consider but they were produced an angry reaction from union officials.

Jean-Claude Parrot, chief CUPW negotiator, termed the new package "completely irresponsible" and charged Postmaster-General Bryce Mackasey with "subolaging negotiations."

Mr. Parrot called a news conference and angrily accused the post office of rolling back on clauses already initialled by both parties.

"They want to move back wards," he said.

The union was particularly upset by post office proposals to include only full-time personnel in any agreements reached, Mr. Parrot said.

He also charged that the post office had made no move on counter-proposals submitted by the union last week and that "after 10 months of negotiations and seven days of a national strike, surely the time has come for serious discussion."

Earlier, Mr. Mackasey told reporters outside the Commons that the union may have to settle for less than the original wage offer of $1.70 an hour increase over 30 months. He said the union may have to take less in some areas if they want more in others.

Bell Meets Hostility

OTTAWA (CP) — Bell Canada took its case for $102 million a year in higher telephone rates to the Canadian transport commission Monday and encountered hostility over its abrupt cutbacks in service to subscribers. The company told a three-member commission panel it needed "immediate relief" in the form of proposed rate increases that includes 6.5 per cent more for basic monthly residential and business telephone charges.

Fire Out of Control

LONDON (AP) — Fire is raging out of control in the second room of the container ship New England Hunter, 200 miles west of the coast of Ireland, British Coast Guard sources reported Tuesday. The 7,289-ton ship was enroute from the Netherlands to Boston when it spreaded for help from ships in the area about dawn.

Sadat Seeks U.S. Weapons

WASHINGTON (AP) — Egyptian President Anwar Sadat becomes his quest for United States weapons after praising President Ford for moving toward "an even handed policy in the Middle East." Sadat calls first today on Defence Secretary James Schlesinger at the Pentagon, then has a second session with Ford at the White House.

Crash Kills 52

LA PAZ (Reuter) — Fifty two persons, including two cousins of President Hugo Banzer, died when a Bolivian air force plane crashed in the Andean foothills Monday, air force spokesmen said. The plane was crowded with military officers and their families, including 12 children, who were returning from a weekend at the military vacation resort of Tomonica, northeast of here.

Total Production Increases

OTTAWA (CP) — Total production of the economy for domestic purposes increased by one tenth of one per cent in August from July, Statistics Canada reported Monday. Output by goods producing industries rose three tenths of one per cent, the third consecutive monthly increase. However, output of service producing industries declined one tenth of one per cent in August, "the first decline in five months.

RCMP Investigates Fraud

OTTAWA (CP) — Solicitor General Warren Allmand confirmed Monday the RCMP is investigating allegations of fraud in the handling of contracts for Mirabel international airport north of Montreal. Mr. Allmand said in an interview no evidence has been found to support allegations involving kickbacks" on multi-million federal contracts to build what is to be the largest airport in the world.

Teachers May Strike Against Final Offer

TORONTO (CP) — Negotiators for Metropolitan Toronto's 8,300 secondary-school teachers said Monday they will recommend that teachers go on strike against the school board's final offer of a 40-per-cent wage increase over two years.

A spokesman for the teachers said the board's salary offer was the same as the one made last August and would raise the minimum annual salary to $11,375 from $8,100 by next September. Maximum salaries would be increased to $24,850 from $18,000.

The teachers have been without a contract since Aug. 31.

The spokesman said the 18-member negotiating committee will suggest teachers accept nothing below what was recommended earlier this month by Stanley Hartt, a Montreal lawyer appointed by the province when contract negotiations broke down last summer.

Mr. Hartt said salaries should range from a minimum of $11,256 to a maxium of $23,224 and that teachers should get the cost-of-living protection.

Harry Arthur, chairman of the salary committee for the city's 250 principals and vice-principals, said the principals have developed more than just their salaries to a contingency fund for teachers if the teachers vote to go on strike.

Yatemen Asks Trenton Local to Resign

BY JERRY BROWN
Staff Reporter

TRENTON — Leaders of the Trenton local of the Canadian Union of Postal Workers should resign because they are not doing their job, says Walter Yateman, president of the Belleville local.

"They are not serving the local members and keeping them properly informed of the union's activities," Mr. Yateman charged.

The Belleville president said he was talking with R.C. Pickell, head of the Trenton local on the first day of the strike and was told by Mr. Pickell he had not called a meeting because it was futile and the same members always turned out.

Mr. Yateman said he was talking with four of the Trenton workers after the vote and said they had not read the information supplied by the union but only the bulletin put out by the post office department explained the government's side of issue.

Mr. Pickell said the Trenton workers never received any information about the ballots from the national body.

"They read the government information because they were told to do it and the local executive didn't keep them informed the national body's side of the issue," he said. "Then they listened to Mackasey on television and expected to vote on the wrong issue," Mr. Yateman said.

Mr. Yateman said the union was voting to show support for the national negotiating team not on whether to accept the government's conciliation offer.

"Mr. Pickell also complained about not being able to get national people down to Trenton to help with grievances but that is the locals responsibility," Mr. Yateman said, you can't send someone down from the national headquarters for every grievance," he added.

Mr. Yateman said the Trenton group was a bad local because they were letting him and all the other union members, who were picketing and working for the national organization down because they had not done their homework.

Unemployment Bill Termed Miserly

OTTAWA (CP) — Government plans to add more of the burden of unemployment insurance costs to workers and businessmen were termed miserly and regressive Monday as the Commons debated a bill to amend the Unemployment Insurance Act.

The changes, announced in the June 23 budget, are designed to cut government spending. Manpower Minister Robert Andras said the bill's amendments are in force in 1976, the government will save $600 million.

Employees and employers, however, will be expected to pay $400 million more under a revised formula for collecting premiums.

The amendments have become part of a government economic policy which includes the controversial wage control legislation that won approval at second reading in the Commons Monday night.

The legislation would raise the premium rate paid by employees to between $1.60 and $1.70 for each $100 of insurable earnings to a maximum of $3.38 or $3.40 weekly. The premium rate now is $1.65.

For employers, the premium rate would rise to $2.63 to $2.65 for each $100 of collings paid out. The maximum paid out for each employee per week would be between $4.50 to $4.80. The premium rate now is $1.96.

Both Progressive Conservative and New Democratic Party critics termed the premium increase and other changes move that would harm low-income workers most.

Spokesmen from all three opposition parties were critical of a provision to exclude persons between 65 and up from jobless benefits.

Lincoln Alexander (PC—Hamilton West) said he did not like the government talking about such programs as the pensions and relating them to unemployment insurance.

John Rodriguez (NDP—Nickel Belt) said it was not good enough that people had to be satisfied with old-age pensions.

"For many year-olds, retirement is not a matter of taking your ease at the summer co'tage or in a condominium in Florida. . . ."

Legislature Opens Today

Minority Government Faces Tough Opposition

TORONTO (CP) — Although the first session of the 30th Ontario legislature does not open until 3 p.m. today, tension already is rising as the minority government of Premier William Davis faces tough opposition in the fields of rent controls, gas and oil prices and hydro rates.

For the first time since George Drew started the Conservatives' 32 years of uninterrupted power, they will face a combined opposition which outnumbers them.

Following the Sept. 18 provincial general election the Conservatives were returned with 51 seats.

The New Democrats, headed by Stephen Lewis, took over from the Liberals as official opposition with 38 seats and the Liberals under Robert Nixon held 36. Mr. Nixon already has resigned and will step down after a leadership convention.

Lieut.-Gov. Pauline McGibbon will convene today's opening ceremonies, which will be televised.

House Leader Robert Welch has said the session is not expected to last more than six or seven weeks and the target date for completion is Dec. 5.

Although most members returned to the Conservatives' election is unlikely unless something unforeseen happens, the tone being set by Mr. Lewis has left some government members wondering.

The NDP leader said Friday that his party will vote against lifting the freeze on petroleum products, Nov. 15.

Following the submission of the Isbister Report on gasoline pricing, the government announced the freeze will be lifted and companies will not be allowed to increase prices by more than 5.4 cents a gallon for gasoline and home heating oil until February.

Mr. Nixon also said he was disappointed in the report.

The subject of rent controls still may be the thornier one for the government. Subject to what the federal government, with its new wage and price controls, has in mind. Ontario is looking at increases of no more than 10 per cent over an extended period.

Both opposition parties are insisting on some rent review mechanism with power to roll back increases. Housing Minister John Rhodes has said rent legislation will be introduced within two weeks.

The cabinet, with seven new members since the last session, has already announced an all-party committee to study Hydro's announced 25-per-cent increase in rates.

Spirit World Examined at Meneely Murder Trial

By ROBIN CHASE
Staff Reporter

Defence lawyer Ronald Thomas of Toronto delved into the spirit world here Monday during the murder trial of his client, Jeremiah James Arthur Meneely.

However, he was unsuccessful in his attempts to have a 16-year-old witness admit she had seen a spirit named Priscilla, clad in a pink, flowing gown, visit her home.

Meneely, 19, is on trial for murder punishable by life imprisonment in connection with the shooting death of his 49-year-old father, James Meneely, in their Rawdon Township farmhouse at RR 4, Marmora on Aug. 1, 1973.

The trial enters its sixth day today before Ontario Supreme Court Justice Lawrence Pennell of Toronto and a 12-member jury.

Crown attorney Glenn Deline said at the close of Monday's session that the crown has closed its case subject to review of several unfinished matters when court was to resume at 10 a.m. today at the Hastings County Courthouse.

The spirit issue appeared during testimony by Debbie Thompson of Campbellford who, under cross-examination by Mr. Deline, said Meneely visited her on the day of the shooting at a Campbellford apartment where she was babysitting.

Miss Thompson said Meneely asked, "do you remember what I told you the other day?" She related that when she replied, "yes", Meneely responded, "well, it came true."

She testified that Meneely had met her July 31, 1973 in a Campbellford restaurant where she said he whispered to her that "... he had ESP and he had seen he and his father had been in an accident if she had heard of the spirit named Priscilla. He suggested to her that she has seen Priscilla visit her home in a pink, flowing gown.

Miss Thompson appeared upset and confused, at one time denying she has seen the alleged Priscilla and later saying she did not know what Mr. Thomas was talking about.

"It's she (Priscilla) a spirit or isn't she, in your opinion?" Mr. Thomas asked. Miss Thompson replied, "I guess so."

When Mr. Thomas asked if she believed in spirits Miss Thompson said she did not know anything about spirits and did not know whether to believe in them.

Mr. Deline rose once to object to the spirit questions "with great respect to my friend (Thomas) before we all join hands in a seance." However, Justice Pennell overruled the objection.

James Wright, 20, who lives about four miles from the Meneely farm, testified that he was at the Meneely farm on the day of the shooting. Wright was a nephew of the elder Meneely.

He said he was helping the accused and his father shovel manure when the younger Meneely went into the house and returned with a shotgun. He said the younger Meneely and his father had conversed but he could not overhear the conversation.

Wright said the younger Meneely went back to the house and later, both he and the elder Meneely also walked to the house. He was about 25-30 feet behind the father when the elder Meneely entered a woodshed which leads to a laundry room and into the farmhouse kitchen. He said:

"I heard a bang," Wright testified. "Jim came out the woodshed door ... he was blown apart ... sort of staggering."

He said he went to where the elder Meneely fell to check for signs of life and then into the house where "Jerry was leaning against the wall ... in the laundry room there ... sort of bent over ... I went in and went to the telephone."

"Jerry said he was going out the (kitchen) door and he tripped and the gun went off," Wright said. He testified he said it would be better if I say him trip."

Under cross-examination by Mr. Thomas, Wright said he had lived with the Meneely family in Oshawa previously and that they had played a large role in his upbringing. He said he knew the younger Meneely loved his father.

Previous witnesses have testified that Meneely knew his father, in widower, had planned to marry Elva Burleigh of Brighton, and that he knew he was the sole beneficiary of a life insurance policy valued at at $50,000 in August, 1973.

Another witness Monday, Lusanne King, 19, of Chatham, who lived in the nearby hamlet of Bonarlaw at the time of the shooting, testified she had stayed overnight at the Meneely farmhouse along with the accused in July, 1973.

She said he pounded his fist on the kitchen table and "he said — no god-damned woman was going to take this away from him."

Miss King said when she asked how he would stop it, he replied that "he had ways."

She also testified that Meneely visited the King home the day after the shooting and that he said he had "blown his father's heart out."

She added that Meneely said "that he would be a millionaire but money didn't mean everything to him."

Miss King said that during the Bonarlaw visit Meneely appeared "not that upset. He wasn't crying in any great amount of tears or anything."

Mabel King of RR 1, Marmora, Lusanne's mother, testified that during the same visit Meneely said "he had blew his father's heart out and he'd be a millionaire at 21."

She said Meneely was not crying and "I wouldn't say he was depressed."

Earlier in the trial, Meneely admitted through Mr. Thomas that he was holding a 12-gauge, single-barrel shotgun while in the attic of the farmhouse when it discharged, blowing his father in the chest.

Police testimony has revealed the elder Meneely was shot in the laundry room where a hole in the ceiling opens into the attic.

Many Trentonians Would Like to See New Bridge

TRENTON — The future of the problem-plagued Dundas St. bridge here may be determined by the end of the year.

Earlier this month, tests on the bridge were conducted by the ministry of transport, checking for a safe weight load for the structure. The two-day tests were requested by town council to determine the feasibility to repair or to replace the bridge. The report on the study is expected within eight weeks.

Originally rated at 15-tons per vehicle, the tonnage has been reduced to its current 5-ton rating.

To replace the bridge would cost more than twice the $1,035,000 required to repair the structure. With repairs, it would last another 15 to 20 years, while a new structure about 60 years.

In an informal survey in the downtown area, people were asked their opinion to the question: What do you think the future of the Dundas St. bridge should be?

Here are some of their responses:

BOB JACKSON

A retired airman, Bob Jackson said he is in favor of a new bridge built on the present site.

The present swing bridge is not "the best," said the 53-year-old Trenton resident.

"There's a limit now to the weight, the other type (high-rise bridge) is better," he said.

The only problem Mr. Jackson noted is the height of a new bridge may not be the same as the Macdonald bridge because he said there may not be room to build the ramps.

ROY YATEMAN

"We'd be better off if we had a new one," said Roy Yateman.

The 59-year-old Trenton resident said the council should build a bridge similar to the Macdonald bridge.

"With the swing bridge there is the hold up of traffic, and it's time for a change," he said.

Even with the higher cost of building a new bridge, Mr. Yateman said it would be worthwhile.

BEATRICE JONES

Beatrice Jones, a resident of RR 4 Trenton, said if the bridge should be repaired it would be good.

"Since they got the new bridge (Macdonald bridge), it takes a lot of traffic" and the Dundas St. bridge is sufficient, she said.

"It's broken down before so why not repair it. It would just as good," Mrs. Jones said.

SANDRA YEAGER

A Trenton secretary, Susan Yeager said she would like to see a new bridge built but since it would take three to five years to construct, the town should have the traffic patterns changed. "It should be one way into the town on the Dundas St. bridge and one way east, on the Macdonald bridge," she said.

"This will help the situation at this time," she said.

Look at the other comments. We need a new bridge but the new traffic patterns would help, Mrs. Yeager said.

ALICE SMITH

Alice Smith, of RR 3 Belleville, said the swing bridge should be replaced with a new, wider bridge.

Mrs. Smith, who comes to Trenton to do a lot of shopping, said she has waited many times to cross the bridge. "It's too old to do the job."

A nurse's aid in Belleville, Mrs. Smith said that most of the people use the Dundas St. bridge and it causes a bad traffic situation.

JAMES AITKEN

The bridge should be repaired, said James Aitken, 20-year-old Trenton resident.

"I don't understand why the MacDonald bridge was not four-lanes.

"We will need four-lanes if the Dundas St. bridge is to be replaced. It is going to be hard to have a high level," said Mr. Aitken.

Mr. Aitken said council should plan for a new bridge to be built around 10 years.

Taxi Fare Increase Passed

TRENTON — It now costs the same to take a taxi for one mile-ride in town as it does for the identical distance in Toronto following town council approved Monday of a fare hike for two local cab companies.

Taking action on a request by the local taxi firms, Doug's Taxi and Graham's Taxi, council approved a 30-per-cent increase, raising the cost of a one-mile ride from $1 to $1.30.

The two Trenton companies had requested a 30-per-cent increase but after hearing figures supplied by town treasurer Brian Fagan, council agreed with his recommendation that the 30-per-cent increase was not justified.

It will cost 70 cents for the first sixth of a mile and 10 cents for every sixth of a mile thereafter. The old rate was 60 cents for the first fifth of a mile and 10 cents for every fifth of a mile thereafter.

Ron Rushnell, manager for Graham's taxi, was present at the session and said he was satisfied with the increase, calling it necessary.

Mr. Fagan told council the last increase in taxi fares had been February, 1974, and taking into consideration the raise in expenses and the federal government's new guidelines he felt that the 30 per cent increase was not called for.

In addition to the fare increase a charge of 25 cents per package will be levied for every item the cab driver handles. There will be no parcel charge if the driver is not required to leave the cab to handle packages.

Awards Night Highlight Of Equestrian Season

By MARG HAYLOCK

PICTON — The Prince Edward Horse and Pony Club held its second annual trophy and awards banquet recently at the Elks' Hall with 200 members and guests in attendance.

Organized in 1973, the club sponsors four horse shows at Picton fairgrounds each summer with entries open to all horse enthusiasts in the Quinte area.

The 1975 trophy for over-all English horse was won by Kathy Burtch of Belleville and the trophy for over-all performance pony by Helen Bett of Picton.

Trophy for over-all performance horse was won by Louise Bordeau also of Belleville and the trophy for overall games pony by Brenda Way of Milford.

Over-all games horse trophy was presented to Elaine Way of Milford for his entry Teque's Lady 312.

The trophy for hunter — hack was won by Kathy Burtch, Belleville with runners-up Joanne Schoostra, Picton and Valerie Goodeve, Picton.

Trophy Time

When the Prince Edward Horse and Pony Club held its annual awards night here recently more than 70 trophies donated by community businessmen and merchants were presented to class winners and runners-up. Shown with the awards displayed before presentation are club president Laverne Way of Milford, vice-president Ted Dainard, Picton and club director Dennis Calaan, Picton.

Trenton Begins Own Study Of Future Growth Direction

TRENTON — Town council has approved an independent study to find the most advantageous direction of growth the municipality can take in the future, Monday night.

The study, to be done by Stevenson and Kellogg Ltd., a Toronto firm, will provide council with information assessing the advantages and disadvantages if Trenton should join Northumberland or Hastings counties or remain a seperated town.

Council had requested the town clerk Aubrey Sharp contact an agency to undertake the study because they felt they could not make a decision on Trenton's growth direction based on information being supplied from studies currently under way in Northumberland County. The Northumberland Task force has recently been critical of Trenton's request that industrial land be annexed from Murray Township. The Northumberland Restructuring study, which is developing a governmental growth plan for the county, has been receptive to Trenton's request for additional acreage from Murray Township.

The new study, will examine the financial impacts any move might have on Trenton. If the town were to join either Northumberland or Hastings it would have to assume a portion of the county's capital debt and council would like to know if there is anything to be gained from this pooling of finances and expenses.

A preliminary report will be filed with council in January, 1976.

Quinte County Folklore In 76-page Almanac

PICTON — Bookworms who regularly visit the Picton Public Library are familiar with the wide selection of free reading material available to them but recently a unique "freebee" was added to the shelves.

Striking Times, The Workints of Prince Edward County is a 76-page almanac compiled by four county students through an Opportunities for Youth grant and offered as a free gift to all interested readers.

Prepared by Candy Burley, Alice Cowan, Bonnie Johnston and John Mason the booklet offers interpretations of Prince Edward County, quotes, ghost stories, recipes for Wind Blown Cake and promotion to cure all ills.

Persons indisposed by "windy spasms" are advised to place an ounce of camphor in a pint of rum and take one tablespoonful every 10 minutes until cured.

Victims of frostbite and itchy feet are told to mix equal parts of goose manure and lard and rub on the affected parts.

In addition to its remedies the booklet provides practical information on how to make hard soap and hand lotion.

An informative page titled The Cost of Living reminds readers that in 1939 a gallon of gasoline sold for 28 cents and an oil change, including labor and four quarts of oil, was $1.20. A grease job and an over-all check-up cost 75 cents.

Striking Times offers several short stories such as The Story of the Wishing Tree, a famous West Lake landmark and Heventon House, Picton's original hotel.

Semester System Rejected

PICTON — The semester system has been studied by teacher and students from Prince Edward Collegiate Institute for almost a year and PECI principal Paul Burd says there is a unanimous decision against support of semestering at this time.

At a meeting with Prince Edward school board trustees at PECI Monday night Mr. Burd explained the semester committee has visited schools across Ontario to study the system.

He observed that semesters offer "some very positive things" but it would also take away "very good things."

"We are not prepared to recommend semestering in 1976," said Mr. Burd.

He added that many students at PECI work on family farms in the first three weeks of the school year. A semester system would make it impossible for them to catch up on their work. Under the present system they can keep pace with classmates.

It was agreed that the flexibility at PECI is too good to be lost in a switch to the semester system.

Students Good Fundraisers

Mr. Elson told Prince Edward school trustees Monday he predicts the pupils will raise more than $2000 this year for needy youngsters. In 1974 the school raised $1,600.

School Library Popular

PICTON — About one-half of the student population of Prince Edward Collegiate Institute visits the school library each day says librarian Philip Robins.

Mr. Robins told trustees Monday, it is a common error to think that there are only books in the library.

At PECI there are thousands of magazines, about 500 tapes and a number of records as well as files with magazine and newspaper clippings.

Bank Economist Predicts 4 Per Cent Rise in GNP in 1976 Despite Curbs

By VINCENT EGAN

Business and Consumer Affairs Analyst

Thomson News Service

No radical change is likely in Canada's economic performance during the next 12 months, despite the anti-inflation program, in the opinion of one of Canada's top bank economists.

Real gross national product (GNP)—the value of all goods and services produced, discounted for inflation—will probably rise four per cent or more in 1976, Dr. G. E. Angevine believes.

He's senior economist at the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce.

This year's GNP will be a little less than last year's. "Industrial production and service sector employment are both turning out to be significantly below last year's levels," Dr. Angevine noted in a talk in Calgary.

The most important reason for the temporary halt in Canada's economic growth, in his view, was the slowdown in the economies of our major trade partners.

Now, however, the U.S. economy has begun to revive. Similar growth is likely in the economies of other major customers—with the possible exception of the United Kingdom.

Those countries will be stepping up their purchases from Canada, thus boosting production and employment here.

The role of federal tax policy in stimulating the Canadian economy has been over-stated, Dr. Angevine said.

The federal deficit much roomed between John Turner's budgets of November, 1974, and June, 1975, because the economy (and therefore tax revenue) were not growing as anticipated—not because Ottawa was trying to boost public demand during tax cuts and spending increases.

The impact of the new anti-inflation policy will be greater on incomes than on prices, the bank economist says, partly because prices are still rising in response to earlier inflationary pressures on costs.

The long term success of the anti inflation program depends on the public's willingness to adhere to guidelines, Dr. Angevine said.

But neither guidelines, nor the comprehensive price review commission that the government has threatened to impose if necessary, get at what he considers to be the root of the problem—demands for increased shares of national income by diverse interest groups.

Consumer spending is likely to grow more slowly during the coming months, because the guidelines will dampen the previously rapid growth of personal disposable income.

Similarly, price restraints will curb the growth of corporate profits, and this will lead to cutbacks or deferment of job-creating capital-spending programs.

"In the housing sector," says Dr. Angevine, "the reality of country-wide rent controls may turn many developers away from multiple-dwelling-unit projects unless special measures are adopted."

Retailers have been largely ignored in the public discussions of economic restraints since they were announced Oct. 13.

In Dr. Angevine's opinion, the outlook for the retail trade between now and next spring is a cause for concern. Consumers will tend to save more and spend less than the anticipated rise in real income would indicate.

But, he adds, if the inflation rate shows signs of moderating early next year, consumer sentiment will improve.

His guess is that the consumer price index will rise by nine per cent in 1976, vs. 11.38 per cent in the latest 12-month period, ended Sept. 30.

Immigration Policy

For some years now Canada has been receiving a steady stream of immigrants from abroad. There was a time when the bulk of these came from Britain, then it was Italy that was sending the most, and we seem to recall that at one point Americans were arriving in even greater numbers than the British.

All that is changing now. Curiously enough, it is some time since we have seen any updated figures from the Government that they would surely reflect this changing scene.

In short — and we have it from the parliamentary committee on Immigration Policy — Canada is becoming a multiracial and multicultural country. For one thing this means that while yearly quotas may be set, Canada "must remain non-discriminatory in its admission of immigrants from all parts of the world." This is all very liberal and interesting in the context of multiracialism, but it is also very radical — it smacks of too much too soon — and it contains the seeds of possible trouble within the not too far distant future.

It would be nice to think that amid this fascinating milieu of peoples everyone is well-educated, well-behaved and law-abiding. But that would also be naive. Thus it is reasonable to suspect that among recent "refugees" from Latin America for instance, and "students" from the Caribbean are a few whose ideas about democracy differ markedly from what obtains here, and who may be preparing to rock the ship of state in the days ahead.

Columnist John Harbron warns of such a possibility, perhaps within a decade, and embracing the kind of urban guerrilla horrors that now are prevalent elsewhere. Look at Britain, moreover, where in addition to the violence spilling over from events in Northern Ireland, they are also experiencing race problems in London and other big cities.

It is rather ironic that there are being admitted to this country people from emerging island states in the Caribbean which are not all that friendly to Canada or Canadians, as tourists are finding out.

There is word too that Palestinian Liberation sympathizers here are in league with terrorists overseas who could make trouble at next year's Olympics in Montreal.

Let's hope that the parliamentary committee and the Government itself, in their enthusiasm for the new multiculturism, don't get played for suckers. And the rest of us along with them.

City's Growth

Belleville is a good place in which to grow up — in more ways than one.

More and more it is becoming a good place for kids — in childhood and as they reach adulthood, a place in which to find jobs.

The city's latest industrial starter, Procter and Gamble Specialties Ltd. for one has 200 employees and they are in the business of producing disposable diapers.

Bellevillians can take satisfaction in establishments such as these, and in the drive by many other enterprises, of which not a few, like Procter and Gamble, have come here in recent years.

In this respect the city is moving ahead in a manner which is the envy of other communities of its size.

Outside the Law

It's a heartbreaking problem for the women concerned, and all the more so when court orders against the fathers are ineffectual.

The Attorney-General for British Columbia was interviewed and he said he would bring up the matter at the meeting of provincial attorneys-general in Halifax. Obviously provincial court orders would have much greater authority if they could be enforceable throughout Canada and, with the backing of Ottawa, overseas as well.

Government by Opposition Committees' Whim Could Work to the Advantage of the PCs

By DON O'HEARN

Queen's Park Bureau

Thomson News Service

TORONTO — It should be fascinating but this session also could turn into an awful mess.

And one hell of a house in which to try and run a government.

From the start we have known that the government, with the opposition holding the majority of members would be in trouble in the house.

But also it has developed—it is going to face the same situation downstairs in the committee rooms.

For it has been agreed that the opposition parties will also have the majority of members on the committees.

What this means really is that government is taken out of the hands of the administration.

All that the government will be able to do is introduce legislation. From that point on it will be in the hands of the opposition to change it at its will.

The consequence will be that no legislation will be charged with administering what essentially is opposition legislation.

And that certainly isn't the way we have been used to doing things in our system.

It could turn out to be a very weak way.

For it will mean that in this house the government will be able to shove the responsibility for anything that is unpopular onto the opposition.

It already has, indicated it will probably stick to its course tenously by announcing that the hydro rate problem is being handed to a committee of the house.

And to a large degree it certainly is. Men of pride (and and good government has pride) want to set their own show and win or lose on how they do this.

But the situation does have some compensations for the PCs.

One is that it could give the government considerable elbow room in calling the next election on its terms.

Contrary to the popular belief, a defeat of the government in the house on anything except certain set proceedings (Throne speech, budget debate, three opposition resolutions) does not mean an automatic election.

The position of the question of what should comprise "defeat" is definitely grey, but it appears that the government will probably be able to decide it.

On any issue, other than the automatic ones, the government will say that it considers it only a defeat on that issue and a lack of confidence in the government itself.

But then if there is a potential defeat on a question on which it believes it has a good chance for an election it can declare in advance that it will consider such a defeat a lack of confidence, and poof, ball game over.

This is only the surface, of course. Beneath it are many intricacies. And they add up to what should be some very perplexing times in this new legislature.

Postal Strike

Editor,
The Intelligencer:

I am writing to register my complete and absolute disgust with that spineless bunch of inside workers in our post offices throughout Canada. When are they going to learn that they cannot hold up the country for ransom every time Joe Davidson thinks it's time to tip the country's mail service again?

The inside workers have gone out on strike to force a wage settlement that will exceed the far 'no liberal offer made then by Postmaster-General Mackasey. They have turned down an offer that would have given them a raise that is eight dollars a week more than my total weekly earnings.

On the dairy farm where I am employed I get $60 for what averages out at a 70-hour work week. I'm not complaining. It's not what I make — it's what I don't have to spend. I have no fringe benefits except God's great out of doors. I pay my own hospitalization, have had no holidays other than the statutory holidays and a few extra days now and then, in the five years I have been working out on the farm. One thing I can do is hold my head high and buy my little poetry magazine died aborning in April of 1971 — owed my printer in Belleville over $800 and was earning $50.00 a week at that time. I was advised to declare myself bankrupt, but a man is never bankrupt as long as he keeps his integrity. During the past four years I have paid off every cent of that indebtedness, and had over twice that amount in my bank account before I paid cash for a 1971 car in mint condition with only 18,500 miles on the speedometer.

I'm one year away from retirement and I think I'll make up some signs and get a few of our senior citizens to go out with me and picket those who have the gall to set up their picket lines outside our federal buildings.

If Bryce Mackasey settles for over that ten per cent increase as laid down in the federal guidelines established by Finance Minister Donald MacDonald, he is a traitor as Joe Davidson is greedy.

But where are you when monopolies play

Up shoot costs of sugar and gas,

While stockpiles amass and amass and amass.

Where's the price restraint on profits and credit?

No money down and you can get it.

Our wages are not the only factor

Which brought us to this — a Fascist reactor.

Nobody remembers the prothecy of —Carlyle?

Pan-Am Games and Sport Marred by Boorish Crowds

By JOHN D. HARBRON

Foreign Affairs Analyst

Thomson News Service

Sports gets more political at each major world event. That's not news. It's just a disturbing trend which turns off many nonathletic Canadians who might otherwise contribute to athletics either by attending major international events or supporting Canadian teams financially.

The latest and somewhat disgraceful example of politics in sport is the incessant anti-U.S. booing, jeering and catcalls from the largely Mexican audiences at the Pan American Games in Mexico City.

Some of this is done to intentionally disconcert the athletes—especially the Americans and Canadians—including our young female Canadian track-and-field star who burst into tears as a result.

The audience favorites seems to be any Latin American participating country which wins medals, (and not many are), with a special boost for the Cuban teams which are very good and are winning many medals.

In spite of the politicized crowd of Rude Mexicans, most of the medals are going to the very unpopular United States in any case, and Canada vying with the Cubans next.

The political biases are not restricted apparently to the stands but appear to influence decisions of judges. They certainly play a part in the enthusiasm with which national teams are playing, again with special reference to the Cuban performance.

Our athletes at the Stadio Olimpico in Mexico City are finding out what our business men and political scientists already know. Mexicans are pro-nationalists, fired up by their own historical revolutionary experience against all forms of foreign influence in their country.

On the other hand the Mexican audience at an event like the Pan American Games is not representative of Mexicans en masse, but of young students en masse, a strongly anti-American element in Mexico at any given time.

Many of them have not forgotten the police massacres of students and the indiscriminate use of force at the 1968 Olympics in Mexico City which marred the Summer Olympics of seven years ago.

And speaking of the Olympics, they are the occasion for more useless political gamesmanship of the kind which belongs in the United Nations.

Hang-ups about Rhodesia and South Africa in the Olympics, what to do about the athletes from the People's Republic of China because the silly Taiwanese keep insisting they are the real Republic of China.

Remember the equally silly hassle a few years ago about East German and West German athletes performing together as though one was contaminated and the other was not? Stupid, stupid.

And then we come to the highest political aspect of recent times, the 1976 Montreal Olympics. It is turning into a huge boondoggle embodying the best, or the worst, in the decade of Quebec political manoeuvring and a disgusting $1 billion outlay.

The Montreal 1976 Olympics will be heavily tie up our armed forces in massive security operations that inside the military, future planning is now put in terms of pre and post-Olympics.

So-who needs Mexican Kids, Rhodesian athletes, Chinese, Communist and non-Communist using sports for politics?

Montreal Mayor Jean Drapeau is the biggest operator of them all.

Lang Won't Press Inquiry

OTTAWA (CP) — Transport Minister Otto Lang says he will not press for a public inquiry into the crash of a Nordair Ltd. aircraft at Rea Point, N.W.T., a year ago.

The minister said in the Commons Monday, responding to a question from Erik Nielsen (PC-Northwest Territories), he is satisfied with results of a transport department investigation into the crash, which killed 22 of 24 passengers and crew on the Panarctic Lockheed Electra. The accident was the worst in history in the Canadian Arctic.

Outside the House, he said as far as the transport department is concerned, it has all the information it needs on the crash.

Growers Cautious

TILLSONBURG, Ont. (CP) — George Jennings, chairman of the Ontario Flue Cured Tobacco Growers Marketing Board, said Ontario tobacco growers and domestic and foreign buyers were cautious Monday at the opening of auctions in Tillsonburg, Aylmer and Delhi.

Return to Work

CORNWALL, Ont. (CP) — The 120 employees of Versatile Rolling Co. returned to work Monday after accepting a two-year contract, ending a 36-day strike. The contract gives the workers an 18-per-cent wage increase during the first year and another 10-per-cent raise in the second. The average wage before the agreement was $3.6 an hour.

Blast Rocks Alcan

MONTREAL (CP) — An explosion rocked a small Alcan Aluminum Ltd. plant adjacent to the firm's giant aluminum-processing installation in Arvida, Que., shortly after 3 p.m. EST Monday night, sending three men to hospital with third-degree burns.

A spokesman at the plant, 250 miles northeast of here, said the men were injured while making routine safety checks. They were listed in satisfactory condition in a Jonquiere, Que., hospital.

The spokesman said a small fire which followed the explosion—which may have occured in the boiler-room—was quickly extinguished.

Alcan officials would not comment on the cause of the blast at the Arvida plant. The adjacent main installation is the largest aluminum-producing plant in the world.

A police spokesman said an investigation into the blast is already under way and production at the smaller plant has been suspended. Operations at the main Alcan plant, however, were not interrupted.

Ottawa Forms Civil Disorder Legislation

OTTAWA (CP) — The government still plans to introduce legislation later in the session, Bill Marsden, Minister of Manpower and Immigration, said in the House of Commons Monday.

Marsden said the government is prepared to use the proposed legislation to deal with civil disorder, Opposition House Leader Mitchell Sharp said Monday.

He told the Commons the bill will deal with peacetime emergencies and that the legislation dealing with civil disorder will be introduced soon.

He was replying to questions from Ed Broadbent, New Democratic Party Leader.

Mr. Broadbent said Quebec Premier Robert Bourassa and former Liberal cabinet minister Eric Kierans were quoted Sunday on CBC television as saying the circumstances in the 1970 Quebec crisis did not warrant invocation of the War Measures Act.

Both men were quoted as saying "a state of apprehended insurrection," given by the government as the reason for invoking the act, did not exist. Mr. Broadbent told MPs.

Mr. Sharp, acting for Prime Minister Trudeau who is in Rome with the Pope, disputed the assertions.

He quoted what he said was a letter from Mr. Bourassa to the federal government at the time. The Quebec government was convinced that such powers are necessary to meet the present emergency," the letter said.

Mr. Broadbent said the Quebec premier had obviously changed his mind since 1970. He asked for a full federal inquiry into the crisis.

Mr. Sharp said there are no plans to call an inquiry.

Analyst Urges Investment In Western Oil Shares

Investment in the oil industry should be concentrated in western Canadian oil shares because Alberta has the greatest potential for oil production and lower taxes will encourage exploration in the province, says one Montreal analyst.

Manuel J. Madden, an analyst with Maison Placements Canada Inc., says that although the emphasis on exploration in Alberta is for natural gas rather than oil, the trend will be reversed as oil producers are given the required incentives to explore for new reserves.

"During the period from November, 1974, to June, 1975, Ottawa and Edmonton were forced to increase incentives to the oil and gas industry to slow down the exodus of men, money and equipment in the industry that was moving to the United States." he says in a review of the oil industry.

A lack of producers were allowed to benefit from an increase in the price of oil and the level of taxation was reduced, says Mr. Madden.

He predicts that economic pressures will again force a decline in taxes for crude oil, which will benefit, the major producers. For investment purposes, Mr. Madden recommends shares of Dome Petroleum Ltd., Home Oil Co. Ltd., Pan-Canadian Petroleum Ltd. and Voyager Petroleums Ltd.

When the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC) increases its oil prices in 1975, it gave the industry time to explore in places which had been regarded as uneconomic, says Mr. Madden.

"As a result, we are now experiencing oil exploration on a world-wide scale and at an accelerating rate."

Mr. Madden says because the world is becoming less dependent on OPEC oil, the organization will start reducing its prices next year. He predicts that by 1980, the price of OPEC oil will be less than half of current levels.

"The recent OPEC meeting at which the new price effective Oct. 1, 1975, clearly showed that Saudi Arabia understands the fundamental problem, that any further increase in oil prices would actually decrease the revenues of OPEC," he says.

Sharp Warns More Measures If Canadians Don't Show Restraint

OTTAWA (CP) — The government will present new legislation to Parliament to "beef up" its anti-inflation program if Canadians will not practise self-restraint, Acting Prime Minister Mitchell Sharp told the Commons Monday.

However, he rejected suggestions by former prime minister John Diefenbaker that legislation similar to the War Measures Act, which—without parliamentary approval — suspends civil liberties, may be in reserve.

Prime Minister Trudeau had said Sunday if the selected wage and price controls imposed Oct. 13 do not work voluntarily, then "we'll have to keep authoritarian forms around longer."

But Mr. Sharp said any further action taken to fight inflation will be presented to Parliament.

Mr. Diefenbaker later attacked Mr. Trudeau's comments in a radio interview Sunday for being inflammatory.

"Who is this petty dictator?" he said.

Meanwhile, with stiff union opposition and legislation to enact the program not yet in place, the anti-inflation board meets for the first time in Ottawa today.

Anti-inflation board chairman Jean-Luc Pepin said the board wants to set its priorities and decide how it is to carry out its job.

Finance Minister Donald Macdonald said Monday the government hopes it can win final parliamentary approval for the anti-inflation act shortly.

New Democratic Party Leader Ed Broadbent said his party will propose specific changes in the legislation at the committee stage, including a freeze on prices for certain products.

Interest Groups Object To Northern Pipeline Hearing

OTTAWA (CP) — A challenge over the impartiality of Chairman Marshall Crowe of the National Energy Board sidetracked a hearing Monday on competing applications to build a multi-billion-dollar northern pipeline.

Objections to Mr. Crowe taking part in the hearing came from two public interest groups shortly after he officially opened the proceedings, describing them as unprecedented both in their scope and effect on the country's energy future.

The two groups—Canadian Arctic Resources Committee and the Committee for Justice and Liberty Foundation—say they are concerned about Mr. Crowe's earlier involvement in pipeline projects.

He served as a director of Canadian Arctic Gas Pipeline Ltd., one of the applicants, from 1971 until 1973 as a representative of the Government of Canada Development Corp. of which he was president.

He also took part in government planning on northern pipelines from 1969 to 1971 as deputy secretary to the federal cabinet.

In the wake of the challenges, the board adjourned the hearing until today, giving it time to consider the objections and plan a course of action.

One possibility is a reference to the Federal Court, leaving it up to the judges whether Mr. Crowe should head the board panel on the case.

Referring the issue to the court was suggested Monday by a third public interest group, the Consumers Association of Canada.

The association made the suggestion after saying it could not state a stand one way or the other on whether Mr. Crowe might show bias in the case.

Central issues in the hearing are whether a natural gas pipeline should be built from the North and selecting either Arctic Gas or Foothills Pipeline Ltd. of Calgary to build it.

But the board did not get much beyond the opening formalities Monday before it ran into problems over its chairman's past involvement.

After Mr. Crowe read a statement rejecting suggestions of personal bias and vowing that a decision would be based on the evidence, board lawyers asked each of the 87 intervenors—interested parties—whether they had any objections.

Both applicants and a major ity of other parties at the hearing said no.

First to object was the resources committee, an environmentalist group set up with federal funds. The committee said it objected both on the grounds of Mr. Crowe's involvement in government talks and as a board member of Arctic Gas.

The JL Foundation, described as "a Christian action foundation," said it sees no evidence to support fears the chairman might favor one company over another. It said it is concerned he might be biased in favor of a pipeline.

The hearing, expected to last nine months to a year, is looking at two rival bids for the right to build a line along the Mackenzie River Valley.

Arctic Gas plans an $20-mile pipeline at a cost of $4 billion, linking gas in the Mackenzie Delta to domestic markets.

Arctic Gas proposes a larger, 2,400-mile pipeline that would carry Alaskan gas to consumers in the United States.

Davis Blaims Housing Industry

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario's housing industry must share the responsibility for the shortage of rental accommodation in the province, Premier William Davis said Monday.

In a speech to the Ontario council of the Housing and Urban Development Association of Canada, he said the industry should co-operate in reaching a consensus on how to solve the problems of accommodation shortages and increased rents.

While the government is "less than enthusiastic" about rent control, Mr. Davis said it will introduce legislation this session to deal with the problem.

But controls represent only a short-term solution, he added.

Ontario needs to move housing—a job best left with the private sector, Mr. Davis said. Ontario does not want to become the prime builder and supplier of housing.

Today's housing shortage is the result of a high vacancy rate a few years ago, he said. If private developers had recognized that what the demand for housing now would be, "some of our problems would be less today."

Arabs Accuse Israelis

TORONTO (CP) — The president of the Canadian Arab Federation said Monday that lies by an Israeli agent led to a Globe and Mail story which said there is a known Arab conspiracy to foster terrorism at the 1976 Summer Games in Montreal.

Khaled Mouammar said in a statement that the story is "trash . . . which defames Arab-Canadians in general and Palestinian-Canadians in particular."

He said the newspaper is a victim of a "well-orchestrated Zionist campaign aimed at slandering Arab-Canadians, intimidating all Canadians critical of the racist state of Israel and discrediting the Palestine Liberation Organization."

Mr. Mouammar said the federation wants the RCMP and the minister of immigration to clear the matter up immediately by repudiating the newspaper story.

LeBreton Flats Experiments With Recycled Buildings

OTTAWA (CP)—Other architects have called him a leader, a maverick, a troublemaker and a prophet, but they have never called Jack Diamond dull.

Now the man who first told Canadians they didn't need high-rises to put a lot of people in a small area is about to mould 200 acrs in the core of Ottawa into a community that Urban Affairs Minister Barney Danson says "will explore just how far human ingenuity can go."

When he talks about developing LeBreton Flats, a prime riverfront tract bought by the federal government 13 years ago and cleared of buildings, a light comes into Jack Diamond's eyes.

"It's a new theme in my career, the next thrust of my efforts. I want to show that the city core can be a choice place to live."

Teaching people that old homes in a city's core can and should be recycled was a big accomplishment, said Mr. Diamond. But now that the public has accepted the idea it's time to move on.

"I'm not ready to repeat old prototypes. I'm going to use a kind of probing technique. I'll expose people to innovative forms of housing based on their own preferences."

The way to do this, said the Toronto-based consultant architect, is to ask people what they like about the houses and neighborhoods they know and build these general concepts into his designs.

Working with Mr. Diamond on the project are five consulting firms, three levels of government—the National Capital Commission, Central Mortgage and Housing Corp. and the city of Ottawa—and various citizens groups.

"Think about the Victorian era," he said. "The city was the only place to be then. It was the centre of culture and society, the place where the action was. There was nothing more fashionable than an elegant row house in the city centre."

Retirement Bonuses Cost Taxpayers $7 Million a Year

TORONTO (CP) — The Globe and Mail says a provincial study shows retirement bonuses to teachers will cost the public $7 million in education taxes in 1975.

The newspaper says that under provincial legislation, retiring teachers or other school-board employees can get the regular pension as well as up to 50 per cent of one year's salary based on the number of unused sick days.

In the Toronto borough of North York, for example, the director of education would be allowed to claim up to half his $35,000 salary under a plan, the newspaper says.

The provincial study, not yet released, shows the cost of such attendance credits to taxpayers is expected to rise rapidly in the next several years, the newspaper says.

However, not all plans are based on accrued sick leave, it says.

In the Muskoka board of education, administrators get a retirement gift of a full year's salary under a plan that involves building up three months' pay for each year's service until six per cent of the employee's salary is reached, the newspaper says.

Some officials in the ministry of education believe such retirement bonuses are about 50 per cent too high, it says.

Liberals Will Cut Leadership Costs

TORONTO (CP) — Jeff King, president of the Ontario Liberal party, said Monday the party is considering limiting expenditures in its forthcoming leadership race.

Mr. King said expenditure proposals have been given some consideration recently by the party but no consensus exists. He said there will be further discussion when delegates of the party meet in Ottawa for the party's annual convention Nov. 7-9.

Mr. King said $20,000 would be "a fair amount for a fair campaign." Costs of transportation, hotels and printing literature have risen, he added.

However, he said that from what he knows of the eight most probable candidates: "I don't think any of them are going to spend a great deal of money."

Meanwhile, after a six-hour caucus meeting Monday, Robert Nixon, party leader, again said his party will not support a government rent-control bill with no provision for rent review.

Mr. Nixon said his party also will press for provincial control over the implementation of the federal government's selective wage and price controls.

The Liberal leader said his caucus would not object to the cabinet's proposed 5.4-per-cent increase in gasoline prices. But the party will press for review by the Ontario Energy Board in future price increases, he said.

Change of Pace

From Shopping Complex to Village Store

By ISABEL HUGGAN

Of course, he'd been attracted by small town and rural life since his childhood visits to relatives who lived in the country. And he'd risen through the Hudson's Bay Company, after his graduation from Ryerson Polytechnical Institute in merchandising, to become general manager of two suburban shopping centres. But he never thought he'd someday have his own store on the main street of Tweed.

Since the summer, however, he's been the owner of Quinn's, the clothing and dry goods store formerly operated by Tracey Quinn, who retired in August. And Mr. Stafford couldn't be happier about the move he's made from Toronto to Tweed.

It all started, he says, with a friend who told him about a good lot for sale on Skoco Lake. He and his wife Gale decided to build a summer cottage, and for the past few years have spent their holidays there.

When his taxes went up this year, Mr. Stafford drove up from Toronto for the assessment meeting in Tweed. Speaking to one of his acquaintances in the village, he expressed interest in a vacant lot for sale on Victoria Street. "If you're interested in buying property," he was told, "you'd be better to look into Quinn's store."

It suddenly struck Jim Stafford as a perfect opportunity, and after several months of financial dealings, he was owner of the store.

"I think my wife thought it was one of my ideas that would eventually pass," he said. "But it all worked out, and here we are."

The Stafford family, which includes Christopher, 4, Jennifer, 2, and a waterloo dog, will be living in their cottage until they eventually build a new home. There are some inconveniences — they must transport drinking water from the store — but they're outweighed by the pleasures of leaving suburban life far behind.

"We lived in a subdivision of about 600 people," says Mr. Stafford, "but we knew only three other couples. I was so busy with my work that I was away a lot, and when I was home was too tired to socialize.

"But it's already different than that in Tweed. Maybe people have more time for talking and getting to know each other here."

Mr. Stafford is enjoying the slower social pace, but finds himself "busier than I've ever been in my life" at his store.

He's restocking the store slowly every Monday' he drives to Toronto to make the new outfits. "The way I'm keeping up on current trends at the big wholesale houses and is still in the process of changing the interior of the store."

Much of Mr. Stafford's background is in merchandising technique, until now on a larger scale. His job before moving to Tweed was as general manager for D.I. Design and Development Consultants, a firm that specializes in shopping centre design. Relating to consumer's needs in terms of atmosphere — the color, textures and shapes of mall interiors — has provided him with useful experience he can transfer to his own store.

"I think what I'll like most is doing things myself," says Mr. Stafford, talking about the switch he's made. "I'm sweeping the sidewalk out front every morning and loving it. Much better than pushing paper around! I've always liked getting really involved in jobs I've had, and preferred being on the floor dealing with saying in an office. So being in contact with customers suits me well."

Assisting him in the store are former staff members Elizabeth Rashotte, Evelyn Leal, Carmel DeMarsh and Joan Molloy.

Jim Stafford checks tags on women's clothing to keep tab on his color coding system that lets him know the date the garment was first stocked. After six weeks, if the outfit has not yet been bought, he starts marking the price down.

Country or City, Styles the Same

— those a little above the medium price range — sell extremely well. Although he's dealing in smaller quantities, he says he's selling the same lines as large ladies' wear departments in Toronto.

How different are the fashion preferences of village women and city women?

"There's no difference," says Jim Stafford, after observing what his customers are buying in the ladies' wear section of Quinn's.

He admits he hadn't anticipated how fully fashion-conscious Tweed buyers would be, and at first listened to those who advised him "Don't buy skirts. Only city girls are wearing skirts." But he found that the few he stocked were bought immediately, and now he's bringing in more.

He knew that he should stock more larger sizes than a city shop might — size 14, 16, 18 dresses — but he didn't know that there'd also be a big demand for junior sizes as well. "There are a lot of young people here who want the latest styles in smaller sizes," he observes.

Another of his surprises is the fact that "better" dresses

Mr. and Mrs. John Luxon

Luxon — Stewart

Holloway Street, United Church was the setting for the September 27 wedding of Katherine Blanche Stewart, daughter of Ralph and Marjorie Stewart, and John Norris Luxon, son of George and Jean Luxon of Cannifton.

Rev. J.C. Kellogg officiated at the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of sheer organza with an overlay of Alencon lace across the bodice and down the front of the skirt, in an apron silhouette. The scoop neckline and long sleeves were edged with matching lace. A chapel train of sheer organza and taffeta fell from the waistline, and the three-tier illusion and the finger-tip veil was held by a Juliette cap of Swiss lace with seed pearls and rhinestone trim. She carried a bouquet of peach roses and baby's breath.

Rhonda Stewart, cousin of the bride, wore a peach-colored gown with a matching lace cape. She carried a nosegay of dried flowers in shades of yellow, gold and beige.

Sharon Stewart, Lisa Bailey and Elizabeth Horncastle were bridesmaids in green gowns identical to the maid of honor's, and carried nosegays in shades of green and gold.

Flower girl Veronica Horncastle wore a peach-colored gown like the maid of honor's, and carried a basket of dried flowers.

The groom's brother Eric Luxon was his best man, and his ushers were Murray Luxon, Bill Stewart and Jim Brennan.

A dinner and dance followed at the Belleville Shrine Club. After a honeymoon in Niagara Falls, the newly-married couple have settled on Moira Street.

Mr. and Mrs. William Ayrhart

Ayrhart — Leach

Linda Louise Leach and William Maurice Ayrhart were married in a September service conducted by Rev. George Ward in Bridge Street United Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W.T. Leach of Perth and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J.E. Ayrhart.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white vanin princess-style gown with puffed sleeves with a detachable train and short veil. She carried a bouquet of assorted dried autumn flowers.

Elaine Evans of Perth was maid of honor wearing a yellow A-line gown with puffed sleeves.

A buffet luncheon at the Belleville Shrine Club followed the ceremony.

After two weeks in Florida, the newly-married couple have settled in Belleville.

Area Anglican Church Women Meet

Anglican Church Women delegates from Bancroft, Marmora, Madoc, Stirling, Benarlaw, Roslin, Frankford, Trenton and St. Margaret's, St. Thomas' and Christ Church, Belleville, along with their clergy, gathered for the annual deanery meeting at Hastings at Christ Church, Thursday.

Following registration and coffee, Holy Communion was celebrated by Canon Peter Tell, Rural Dean, assisted by Canons R.H. Wright and Reverend John Utley. Organist was Mrs. Averi.

At the morning business session, chaired by Betty Price, Trenton, area chairman, the 85 delegates were welcomed by Lois Beeby of Christ Church. Greetings and news of the diocese A.C.W. activities were brought by Mary M. Mackay diocesan president and other members of the executive. Luncheon, with Christ Church A.C.W. as hostesses, was enjoyed by both delegates and clergy.

During the joint afternoon session the guest speaker was Reverend James Draper of Toronto, who has been a missionary in the Solomon Islands on the staff of the Patterson Theological Centre. He presented slides and a talk on the work carried on in these islands near Australia.

The speaker was introduced by Reverend Gordon Knakey of St. James Church Tweed and thanked by Hazel Wilson, St. Paul's Roslin. Bishop Henry Hill, of the Ontario Diocese, closed the meeting with a short message and the blessing.

Paincourt

Island of French Canada in Ontario

PAINCOURT, Ont. (CP) — Also first station, Paincourt looks much like any other village in southwestern Ontario. But walk into the small snack bar near the outskirts and the difference becomes obvious. The woman behind the counter is chatting with customers in the rusting tones of English and French.

That's right. French. Right in the heart of Kent County, less than 10 miles from Chatham, is this one village called "an island of French Canadian culture."

The village is undeniably French. Most signs carry bilingual messages, and names such as Gagner, Belanger, Bourassa and Primeau adorn mail boxes.

Paincourt, pronounced "pancore," means scarce bread. Legend dates back more than 150 years to the days when the first settlers from Quebec and Detroit subsisted on meagre crops.

Progress has brought changes to the village since those times, but the people have not changed very much.

Villagers say the very nature of Paincourt has made it a drawing card for French-speaking people from all over the world.

Canada Manpower in nearby Chatham says new blood is being injected into the community every year as migrant farm workers stay beyond harvest time to marry local women and settle down.

Township clerk R. W.Gagner says the first influx came from Brittany in France about 15 years ago and the next large group came from northern New Brunswick five years later.

In recent years, the cultural boost has come from Quebec. Rev. Leo Charron, pastor of Immaculate Conception parish, says the immigrants he remembered strongly Roman Catholic in the 15 years they had been there.

Father Charron originally came from Belle River, a small French community near Windsor. He said he found, now nearly 90, speaks almost no English.

The brand of French spoken is characterized by borrowed words or has a blend of international French, Quebec and Acadian, with a dash of English.

Education has been the community's main concern for preserving its culture.

Fantasy

This collection of fashion jewelry entitled 'Fantasy' is the latest in the 'Country Garden' series designed and produced by Corocraft Limited of London, England. The pendants, brooches, rings, earrings and hair decorations have all been inspired by birds, bees and flowers — the small wonders of nature that can be found in an English country garden.

Welsh Weaving Industry Revived

RHYDLEWIS, Wales (CP) — Ten years ago, with the revival of the Welsh woollen industry, Mrs. Kay Poulson and her son Roger started a weaving business in the village of Llandysul.

Today she has 15 looms and employs dozens of home workers for her mill, Curlew Weavers, named after the curlew bird, which is the family trade mark.

The mills surrounding Llandysul are open to tourists who are able to watch the weaving process and buy the products in adjacent shops.

At the time Mrs. Poulson started her mill, the Welsh woollen industry had been in a precarious situation.

For although in early times weaving in Wales enjoyed prosperity, the Depression of the 1930s forced many mills to close.

In earlier days the weaving was done in cottages scattered over the countryside.

Most small farmers were growers of the sheep, spun the wool and wove it into fabric. Servants were hired not only to work in the fields but also to weave.

By the end of the 18th century, with mills going full force, the Welsh cloth industry reached its most prosperous period. It was almost entirely dependent upon exports.

After the Depression, the cottage industry and about 25 mills continued to supply merchants due to the craft shops in the larger towns for the tourist trade.

The investiture of Prince Charles as Prince of Wales on July 1, 1969, and the influx of foreign visitors for that occasion stimulated the industry.

That year the Welsh Weavers Association was set up to develop the sale of pure wool cloth woven in Wales through craft shops, in holiday resorts, in the United Kingdom and overseas.

Their first task was the creation of the Welsh woolmark, the Red Dragon of Wales, side by side with the international woolmark.

Welsh woven wool cloths range from freize, tweeds and flannels to tapestries. Actually, tapestry has become the mainstay of the industry.

It is highly original as to texture and color. Tapestry is used for coats, skirts, bed covers, bedroom floor coverings and wall hangings.

Recently, Mrs. Poulson has begun to design fashions. One of her suits combines a wool tapestry jerkin and striped wool pants. Another is a fisherman's wool smock with dropped shoulders and wide sleeves. For evening, she has fashioned a lined evening dress in a lens weave in bands of color on the skirt.

By And About Women

FROM CHALK DUST TO HAYSEED

— By Helen Richards Campbell

In 1972, at the age of 75, Helen Richards Campbell enrolled at Queen's University to earn her Bachelor of Arts degree. The thirst for knowledge and the zest for life which brought this about are evident throughout this autobiography of a very remarkable woman.

"Nostalgia" is a popular theme these days, and indeed it lies as thick in these pages of stories as the chalk dust in the little country schoolrooms which inspired many of them. But there is much more for the reader than the chuckles and lively pictures of earlier, simpler days, evoked by her reminiscences. Her characters are real and based upon real people, they have many a prototype still in the rugged stock of "back" country school and farm life.

Though barely sixteen, she embarked on her teaching career in a North Frontenac Country School. It was two years later before she attended Peterborough Normal School. What she lacked in years and formal training, she made up for in determination and an elementary but very successful kind of basic psychology which enabled her to handle fractious children and parsimonious trustees equally well. Her plea to go beyond "the three R's" brought threats of dismissal, but as her pupils brought home the results of nature study trips, art classes, a visit to a Wild Animal Circus, the resistance to change was gradually overcome.

Her story continues past her teaching days when she married and her husband moved from their farm to Kingston and operated a boarding house for university men. These years provided a fund of further stories and the mutual regard and affection between Mrs. Campbells and "their boys" is strongly evident in the accounts of their fourteen years as "housemom" more than landlords.

Scattered through the book are pictures of her pupils, their families, her farm friends, and finally, a 1907 reunion at Sydenham High School. But her own words are the best illustration of a life which says by its own example, full meaning to the concepts of integrity, simple wisdom, love and humor, by which she lived.

This book is available in the Corby Public Library.

Ann Landers

Shocked Mother Needs Help

Dear Ann Landers: My 16-year-old daughter recently found a book and thought it might be in her sister's purse. When she opened the purse she found some contraceptives that make me the sister girl is 17!

The 14-year-old shrieked my what she had found and I was shocked. When I confronted the 17-year-old with the evidence she flown up and down. She said was carrying the contraceptives for her girl friend. She even told me the name of the girl.

Two questions, Ann. Should I confront the mother of my daughter's friend and inform her of the situation?

Second question: If my daughter lied to me and I having sex, how can I stop her? She goes three or four nights a week young fellows and I can't imagine her sleeping with any of them. Please give me some answers soon.—Wrung Crowd

Dear W. C.: Answer to Question No. 1: Don't call anyone's mother. It's not your place to pass on such information—which, incidently, may not be correct.

Answer to Question No. 2: If your daughter is having sex, your chances of stopping her are about 150 same as your chances of emptying Lake Michigan with a teaspoon.

I suggest you sit down with your daughter and have a frank talk not only about the moral aspects of what she is doing, but the possibilities of pregnancy and VD, and the ramifications of promiscuity. On another occasion have the same talk with your 16-year-old. For her it may not be too late.

Dear Ann Landers: I have a crazy question. Why doesn't everybody? I work in an office that receives phone calls for several people. This certain woman who is nobody's feel (she has a master's degree in English) always asks, "Is my husband there?"

There are at least a dozen "husbands" here. How in the world am I supposed to know which one is here? I've been asked on occasion and calls "Who is your husband?"—but it never made a dent. The next time she calls it's the same story.

I have talked to other switchboard operators and they tell me such things happen to them quite often.

One woman calls and simply asks, "Is HE there?" It really drives that operator up the wall.

We're all hoping you will print this letter and help educate some of those supposedly smart wives. Thanks, Ann.—The Only Husband I Know Is Mine

Dear The O.H.I.K.I.M.: — It seems to me, however, that by this time you should be well acquainted with Mrs. Masters people coming up to me and saying, "Why don't you smile? You look so glum."

I know several people who laugh a great deal and I'll bet most of it is put on. I don't want to be one of them.

It's too bad I wasn't blessed with a cheerful look and a happy smile, but I am what I am and I wish people wouldn't assume I'm an old meanie. Any Pennsylvania

Dear Judge: Any idiot can smile a lot. It's what you say and how you treat people that registers. If you are friendly, considerate, and pleasant, and have a good sense of humor, nobody will take you for a sourpuss. So cheer up, already.

Finds Family She Never Knew

TORONTO (CP)—A long search ended happily for Marilyn Waugh, 30, of Vancouver, who traced a family that never knew she existed.

Mrs. Waugh was reunited recently with her Toronto half-brother, Bob Hineman, 29, and her half-sister, Lorraine Carnon, 32, who are both married with two children each.

She thought she was the daughter of a Vancouver couple by the name of McCallum until she applied for a birth certificate at 21. Government records held her name was Leslie Rosemary Hineman and her Vancouver mother admitted she had been adopted.

Mrs. Waugh learned that her natural mother had died in 1973 and her husband had remarried. He told Mrs. Waugh that while he was overseas with the Canadian army, her mother had an affair with a British intelligence officer who returned to the United Kingdom without knowing that she had become pregnant.

When the Canadian soldier returned he refused to accept the child who was then adopted by the Vancouver couple.

He also told her about her two half-brothers and one half-sister.

When Mrs. Waugh contacted Mrs. Bob Hineman she said, "The rest of the family never knew I existed. They knew there had been a weight on our mother's mind but had no idea what it was.

"There was maybe a 50-per-cent chance that the others would turn me away, so I gave a lot of thought to how to approach them with the news," she said.

The Hineman family accepted Mrs. Waugh without hesitation.

"All my life I had never felitled here."

"I feel at rest now," she said. "I wanted to know my roots. It is better to know than go through the rest of life living with a question mark."

Poaching Poses Problems

HALIFAX (CP)—Poaching is rapidly developing into a major headache for law enforcement agencies in the Atlantic provinces.

The problem extends to Atlantic salmon streams in New Brunswick and Newfoundland, game birds and fish in Nova Scotia, and big game in all three provinces.

A few years ago, lands and forests departmental game wardens needed only to travel infrequently through forests and down rivers. Today they use a sophisticated network consisting of fleets of cars and trucks and, more recently, aircraft.

During the last six months game wardens in New Brunswick and Newfoundland have been beaten, thrown into rivers, shot at and threatened. In some parts of the region the wardens now are armed and travel in pairs.

When the problem got so bad that game wardens were being sent to hospital and conservationist began expressing alarm at what they considered a serious threat to the region's wildlife, the RCMP got involved.

The RCMP in Nova Scotia formed special two-man squads stationed in Truro, Sydney, Halifax, and Yarmouth. Their sole duty is enforcement of the Shipping Act and the Migratory Birds Act.

Lands and forests spokesman Fred Sturmy explained the significance of the RCMP tactical squads:

"There have been times when we have had to fear for the attention here would get out of hand. Now we think we have a way of dealing with it if it worsens."

Hugh MacIsaac, a Nova Scotia lands and forests department enforcement officer said an aerial campaign used in the province should help to cut down on hunters who "jack" deer.

"Jacking" is a form of poaching using a light, usually a powerful flashlight, at night.

"The aircraft will be used to help spot the lights at night and when they see what they think is a suspicious light they'll alert the ground patrols which will be able to pinpoint the location quickly," he explained.

Until now the unsuspecting game warden or lands and forests protection officer who inadvertantly stumbled onto the scene of poachers or "jackers" was the person most likely to be subjected to beatings.

One reason game protection officers give for believing that illegal hunting is likely to worsen is the rising cost of red meat.

"As commercial meat becomes more expensive, we think some small restaurant operators will provide a ready market for big game such as deer which are hunted illegally" Mr. MacIsaac said. "We've already had evidence of that."

The penalty for jacking deer has been increased but game conservationists complain that profits from poaching are too great to make the fines an effective deterrent.

Revised penalties provide fines not exceeding $500 and not less than $300. Alternatively, poachers may be sentenced to a maximum of 14 days in jail or a combination of a fine and imprisonment.

Mexican Government Takes Over More Private Industry

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The Mexican government is taking over more and more private enterprises, raising claims among businessmen and opposition politicians that the country is heading full tilt into socialism.

A spokesman for the government denies this, contending that what it is doing is guiding economic development in a nation that still has a large population of poor.

The government says that the state operated 258 enterprises in 1974, but some leading Mexican businessmen say the state already owns or may have some participation in more than 1,000 companies, valued at more than $5 billion which were formerly in private hands.

The government controls such basic industries as oil, electricity, mining, railroads, agriculture and petrochemicals. It also runs hotels, nightclubs, bicycle factories and taxi stands.

Because of this, some businessmen and opposition politicians think this country may be gradually joining the socialist camp through what they called a creeping state takeover of free enterprise.

"I think we are heading to absolute state control of private enterprise," said leading industrialist Alberto Santos de Hoyos, a member of the so-called Monterrey Group of conservative businessmen.

Monterrey is Mexico's third largest city and its industrial hub.

Santos de Hoyos was supported in his views by auto executive Armando Fernandez, who is also president of the Mexican Employers Confederation, and Jorje Sanchez Mejorado, as industrialist and president of the National Chambers of Industry Confederation. "We are seeing a move by the government to control business," he said.

Leaders of the National Action party, the largest Mexican opposition body, also have voiced support for the business attitude.

Labor leaders estimate there are five million unemployed Mexicans, about 25 per cent of the work force.

The country has a population growth of 3.5 per cent annually, one of the largest in the world. Of the 58 million Mexicans, an estimated 40 per cent live at subsistence levels. The per-capita income is $600 a year.

The government says it is not against foreign or private investment so long as it contributes to the country's development.

"Mexico is not heading toward socialism," commented Fausto Zapata, press spokesman for President Luis Echeverria and despite mutterings of the presidency. "The state . . . guides economic development."

Asked if the government planned to abolish private enterprise, Zapata said, "No. To abolish private enterprise would be contrary to the principles sustained in our social pact. Some businessmen suffer from a type of illiteracy in politics."

Zapata said the government is trying to "modernize Mexican society" through what he termed new ways of ruling. He added that this has "surprised" private enterprise.

All major banks are private but regulated strictly by the government in terms of interest rates and credit lines. The government, however, directly controls six banks, some formed by the government itself to provide credit to peasant farmers and others acquired from private owners who are said to be in debt.

The government also controls newsprint distribution, the largest newspaper chain and the main national news agency. The major radio and television stations are private but are forced to give up 12 per cent of their air time a day to government broadcasts.

Western diplomats are at odds in their opinions on what Mexico will do about foreign concerns. Some say that if an area that was co-operated Mexico nationalizes foreign businesses, it will frighten away badly needed foreign capital for development projects.

Others say that modern Mexico, with its roots in a constitution of more than 50 years ago that was perhaps the most leftist document up to Russia's Bolshevik revolution, has started something it cannot stop.

One diplomat said anti-imperialist and pronouncistion talk has captured the imagination of Mexico's poor people and antigovernment urban guerrillas.

Policeman Launches Campaign For Drivers to Lock Cars

OTTAWA (CP)—Staff Sgt. Victor Rawlins, 18-year veteran of the Ottawa police department, was asked early in 1973 to prepare a report recommending a Criminal Code amendment that would make it a crime to leave ignition keys in a car.

"I tried," he said in an interview, "but we had too many laws already."

On the auto-theft squad he had found that most thefts occur when a passing teen-ager sees the keys in a car and drives it away.

The result is often expensive — an arrest, court appearances, publicity, a criminal record, all of which cost everyone money.

However, Rawlins, without spending a cent of public money, raised $56,000 for an advertising campaign based on the slogan, «Don e Boy a Break—Lock It and Pocket It.

Dozens of 70 Ottawa restaurants found themselves looking at a Rawlins-inspired placemat reminding them that if their car wasn't locked while they were eating, some one might be stealing it.

Kids wore T-shirts with the Rawlins logo—an economy car with an oversize chain and lock around it. At Police Week exhibitions he gave away imprinted key holders and buttons.

The campaign began in May, 1973, and Ottawa car thefts dropped by 60 in the next eight months. Sgt. Rawlins says young joyriders average 10 car thefts before they are caught. He estimates that at least 40 youths were kept out of the judicial system as a result of the campaign.

Police did not have to investigate 625 auto thefts, giving them more time to combat serious crime. Superior officers did not have to read 625 reports, giving them more time to consider policy. And 625 reports did not have to be followed up through the courts.

Auto thefts again are on the upswing in Ottawa—they rose 14.8 per cent in Canada last year to 84,431—and Sgt. Rawlins plans another advertising campaign as soon as he can

Arab Money Deposits Suspect By U.S. Senate

WASHINGTON (CP) — A comfortable - looking executive with one of the biggest banking investment firms in the world twitched his brandy with measured confidence and commented:

"Look," he said, "the first thing you have to remember about the United States Senate is that if everyone asked Aristotle's question, it wouldn't exist."

Aristotle once wrote that for a democracy to survive, citizens must constantly ask of their politicians and government institutions: In whose interest and for whose good do they rule?

"In this case," the banker was saying, "nobody is being naived except the politicians themselves. It's the biggest fraud of all."

The issue in question was a recent decision by the Senate subcommittee on multinational corporations to investigate the dangers of the banking system from holding Arab, short- short Arab oil money deposits.

The banker's hostility to the investigation was predictable but in this case, at least, he has the backing of a large body of economists who have come to believe that fears of a sudden withdrawal of billions of dollars in oil money are groundless.

The consensus among economists which seems to be emerging is far from complete but its outlines have a compelling logic.

Suppose, they argue, that in a showdown over Middle East policies or some related issue, Arab oil producers tried to move their money out of United States banks and their European branches and into, say, French banks.

As money was withdrawn from American banks, interest rates in the U.S. would be driven up and probably pushed even faster by competition between banks for deposits and French investors would almost certainly take advantage of this to convert their currency into dollars, causing a major increase in the U.S. currency's value.

Then, if the oil countries decided to use their new French deposits to buy up French securities, this would bid up stock and bond prices, further depressing French interest rates and making the dollar even more attractive.

Added to all this is the fact that most European countries, with the exception of Britain, don't really want the oil money anyway because it forces up the value of their currencies, something they are trying to avoid.

So, all the oil countries would have succeeded in doing by withdrawing their dollar deposits, according to this line of thinking, is to have altered their investment portfolios without causing any serious long-term damage in the U.S. currency.

"This committee," said the banker, permitting himself a second brandy, "would get a hell of a lot more value out of its time if it spent the next two months investigating Aristotle."

Helicopter In Demand

WASHINGTON (AP) — The helicopter has become a valuable aircraft because of the energy crisis.

The National Geographic Society says a survey shows that the whirlybird is in demand by oil and coal companies.

It also ranges far beyond coal and petroleum fields to perform energy missions, herd livestock, dust crops, control traffic, fight crime, fight forest fires freed fishermen stock fish in remote lakes and streams and aid in pollution-control projects.

Helicopters fly regular pollution patrols over places like San Francisco Bay.

Fish farmers are also taking the place of the cattle rustler and his horse or truck. Not long ago, a whirlybird swooped out of the sky and spirited away a number of large bass.

The first helicopter designed for useful work was not seen publicly until its early Saturday model rose from Bridgeport, in flight for delivery to the United States Army Air Corps. It mystified onlookers in its 600-mile maiden voyage. One startled air-raid spotter reported, "A windmill just flew by."

Watch Cat Breeds

EDMONTON (CP) — You can get stung pretty badly if you don't know what to look for in a cat, says Judy Kubrak, a cat breeder and secretary of the Edmonton Cat Fanciers' Association.

"People really don't know the difference between a reputable cattery and one of those terrible cesspools selling phoney purebreds," she said.

For example, one Edmonton girl recently paid $50 for a Persian purebred kitten, only to be told later the animal was anything but purebred.

"The instances where people are taken in by these phoneys really put a black mark against anyone selling animals honestly," Miss Kubrak said.

She advised buyers to obtain a litter registration validating a kitten's blood lines, if they can't recognize a purebred immediately by his color, hair length and bone structure.

A purebred kitten sold as a pet sells for between $50 and $125, while a breeding kitten will sell for about $175. A top show kitten will cost between $300 and $500.

Radial Tires Pose Problems

OTTAWA (CP)—Radial tires pose some problems the driver accustomed to other types may not know about, the Canada Safety Council advises.

The safety council and the Rubber Association of Canada make the following suggestions:

—Never use a criss-cross pattern when rotating radial tires. Change only from front to rear on the same side. Changing sides increases wear heavily and affects brakes and steering.

—Check pressure before adding air. Radials often look soft because the sidewalls flex more than other tires. So your eyes aren't an accurate gauge.

—Punctured radials can only be repaired if the hole is in the centre area of the tread. A puncture in the sidewall or shoulder ruins the tire.

—Radials shouldn't be mixed with other types of tires. If mixing is unavoidable, never put a radial and another type on the same axle. The result can be loss of control when cornering.

—Putting radials on your old car? Make sure the shocks and suspension are tuned to handle them. Most newer cars are adapted for radials.

Restaurant Business Going Down Hill

HALIFAX (CP) — A Nova Scotia restaurant business Jack Ellett knows what he's talking about when he says people ate better in past decades.

Mr. Ellett, who retired recently, said there certainly were better breakfasts and lunches. Lunches were the meat and potatoes type, comparable to evening meals today. There were no fast food outlets and everything was cooked to order.

Orange juice was freshly squeezed every morning. A practice seldom employed nowadays. But there was a reason, and a look at a typical menu from Mr. Ellett's coffee shop of 1937 showed why.

Veal steak hot plate . . . 35 cents. Coffee, tea or milk, bread and butter included. Special cubed steak sandwich . . . 10 cents. Dessert, a variety of homecooked tasties, went for five cents. Guaranteed freshly laid egg, ham, toast, potatoes and coffee . . . 20 cents.

The most expensive item on the menu was usually fried oysters, in season only. And they cost 25 cents.

One year after opening the refurbished Leland Coffee shop at William Avenue and Albert Street in downtown Winnipeg, Mr. Ellett was operating a popular business where tables were filled and patrons waited two-deep to sit at the counter.

Through his 28 years in the business, Mr. Ellett encountered only a few major problems: like a gas explosion in an adjoining hotel in 1943 that left a hole in the middle of the coffee shop floor. The 1950 flood filled the basement with seven feet of water and forced Mr. Ellett to carry on the daily business with oil-burning stoves until the crisis passed.

He opened the present Ellett's Restaurant in 1950 and it was an instant success, giving him the money and time to become actively involved in the Manitoba Restaurant Association which he served as chairman, and later president.

Alexandrians Regain City from Tourists

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt (AP)—The 1.5 million summer vacationers, including President Anwar Sadat, are gone and Alexandrians have their ancient and historic city to themselves again.

They have reclaimed their favorite cafes as crisp autumn breezes push away the summer sultriness and talk abdut an improvement in their daily lives now that Egypt and Israel have taken a step toward peace.

"Everyone is preoccupied with money they expect to start rolling in," said the proprietor of the Cap d'Or Bar, a workingman's place whose brass fittings and marble counter top hint of better days.

Already there is talk of Saudi and Kuwaiti petrodollars behind plans to build new hotels and apartment buildings along the tacky, overdeveloped 10-mile-long seafronte that shuts the sea.

Some of the 2.5 million residents have mixed feelings about this. After years of shortages and drabness they would like to see their city bounce back.

"But not with buildings that foreigners will occupy," said Mohammed Said, a shopkeeper. "We need new sewers, new public transport before there can be development."

Because President Sadat has escaped the heat of Cairo for past two summers for the breezes at his seaside villa at Maandura, east of the city, Alexandria has recaptured some of the former importance it enjoyed under the monarchy when it was Egypt's summer capital.

The second largest city in the Middle East, Alexandria has played host to history starting with its founder Alexander the Great in 332 BC. Later came Anthony and Cleopatra, St. Mark the Evangelist, the Arab conqueror and poet Amr, and Napoleon whose fleet was sunk by lord Nelson in 1798 off Abi Kir, a sandspit farther east.

In the years before King Farouk was overthrown by army officers in 1952, Alexandria was rich, cosmopolitan, sensual — the place for a good time. Beirut, Lebanon still was a backwater.

Greeks, Italians, Syrians, Jews of many nationalities and Armenians called Alexandria home and imbued the city with its own character.

With the downfall of the monarchy, the military government began Egyptianizing the city and imposing a philosophy of Arab socialism, taking over the cotton market and giving streets Arab names.

But it still is easy to imagine what life must have been like before.

Black horse-drawn "carriages of love" still clop clop down streets at night past gingerbread balconies. In the Union Restaurant near the old stock exchange building, fans whirl on high ceilings as old waiters shuffle among crisp, white-covered tables.

The Cecil Hotel retains a certain speedy elegance. Its chief importance in recent years was to Western military attaches from Cairo who booked seaside rooms to photograph the first SAM2 and SAM3 missile batteries deployed outside the Soviet Union.

Nearby in the Athienos nightclub a Greek band plays while men in the audience take to the floor separately or in groups dangling a napkin for their distinctive dance that is accompanied by the clatter of breaking plates tossed on the dance floor.

The streets still are dusty. There are flies and beggars, but a ride on a jammed bus and a ride double-decked trolley through some of the poorer residential areas turned up little evidence of the grinding poverty one becomes accustomed to in Cairo.

Northern Electric Recalls 11 Workers

A group of production workers have been re-called to their jobs at Belleville's Northern Electric plant — the first sign of any turnaround in employment at the plant in the last year.

A company spokesman said during a telephone interview Monday, 11 workers have been re-called.

Layoffs at sbuck Northern Electric Co. Ltd. for the first time last October when more than 100 junior production staff were sent home. Subsequent layoffs in the following six month period another 250 from the payroll — at the time one of the largest employers in the city.

Currently, the plant employs approximately 900 compared to a year earlier when employees numbered more than 1,300.

Asked if the recall of staff, was the herald of refining business as company spokesman said only that business had "stabilized."

"We're not bringing them (employees) back in great waves," the spokesman said. From the beginning, the company which produces communications instruments, said a softness in U.S. economy accounted for the business slump.

But the economic and order situation is more stable now than it has been during the past year," said the spokesman.

He said there are no immediate plans for further recall of staff.

Reactionary Attitude Prompts Inmates' Visit

Moira Secondary School English teacher Ryan Judd said Monday he requested inmates from Warkworth Medium Security Institute to speak to a class of Grade 12 students because their attitude to prisoners was "reactionary".

The attitude, Mr. Judd said, became apparent in classroom discussion of the book, The Loneliness of the Long Distance Runner by Allan Sillitoe, which deals with a 19-year-old prisoner.

He said his students felt that hanging should be enforced in Canada.

By requesting the attendance of two "real people", the teacher said he hoped his student would be able to understand "emotionally" the problems of prison inmates.

Discussion during the 1½-hour morning class Monday ranged from whether the prison had a place in treatment of sex offenders by other inmates.

The two prisoners were at the school on a temporary absence from the Warkworth institution under the supervision of life-skills coach Jeff Donnell.

Labor Council Condemns Anti-inflation Controls

By COLIN BRUCE
Staff Reporter

The Quinte District Labor Council has condemned the federal government's price and wage, anti-inflation policy and will urge member union to follow their individual international executive in forming wage demands.

Reluctant to take an independent stand on the controversial 10-per-cent wage ceiling, council president Doug Sword said Monday he is urging members to follow the recommendations of the Canadian Federation of Labor convention scheduled for the first week of November.

This past weekend, the Canadian Labor Congress, representing almost two million workers, vowed it will fight the legislation all the way to the Supreme Court of Canada.

Mr. Sword said the legislation is "unethical and unworkable" and agreed with the labor congress statement that federal machinery would only be able to monitor wage increase and would not be able to control prices and profits of 1,500 designated corporations.

"The policy is more wage restraint against unions than anything else," said Mr. Sword. "Labor, generally, agrees with restraint providing there is equity allowing the poor to catch up and keeping the prices stable.

"I and the delegates that will go with me to the convention will advocate that locals follow the results of the convention," said Mr. Sword.

My opinion — regardless of the convention, hasn't changed concerning the legislation, said Mr. Sword. "It has worked in other countries and economists are saying it won't work here either."

Mr. Sword said his council will not attempt to influence area locals unless there is some change of labor position at the Ontario Federation of Labor convention.

"Other than the collective approach (convention), the Labor council will not be suggesting restraint to area locals," said Mr. Sword. Elsbehavior, he said anti union demands are generally the result of recommendations made by the union's international executive and not on recommendations made locally.

Teachers Like Students?

Describing teachers as "typical classroom of children" Bancroft trustee Earl Hawley threw much of professional development failure onto their shoulders.

Faced with criticism from the public, Mr. Hawley said he attended a two-day professional development (PD) session at Centennial Secondary School last week to get a first-hand impression of the much-talked about PD days.

Mr. Hawley said he saw teachers at the meetings who were bored, unattentive, and talking about issues other than what was being discussed at the two-day event.

However, Mr. Hawley did say he saw many teachers taking keen interest in the program being offered. "It was very much like a classroom of students where you have some good ones and some bad ones," he added.

Inspection Department To Get More Manpower

The expansion of the city's building inspection department should be completed in the first of the new year, city manager Wilbur Purcell said Monday.

Due to an ever-increasing workload in the building permit department and the adoption of a building standards bylaw, considerable attention has been given to enlarging the three-man department. Anticipating the situation, city council last spring approved the expansion to include an additional two inspectors.

Mr. Purcell said he intends formulating a total "re-organization proposal" to submit to council in the latter portion of December and in "round council of their budget approval."

"The department is operating under a heavy workload now and the building standards bylaw will be the straw that breaks the camel's back," he said.

He said the workload has been a problem evolving over the past few years — "both in building and plumbing inspection areas. Nothing has been left to go bad . . . but the department could do more," he said.

"The expansion is an absolute necessity if the standards bylaw is passed, he said.

Fit to be Tied

Motorists at Wallbridge-Loyalist Road and Concession 2 of Sidney Township were fit to be tied Monday as traffic backed up as railway workers replaced ties at the road crossing. A spokesman said due to heavy traffic and trucks ties at the crossing are replaced twice a year.

Museum Takes New Approach to Tours

Curator Marten Lewis has been kicked upstairs.

But it's not a promotion for him, just a change of scenery. His office, once inside the front door of Glanmore House, now is on the second floor.

The movement of his office upstairs is part of an on-going policy adopted by the museum.

Now, says Judie Carty, president of the Hastings County Historical Society, visitors to the museum will experience more of the flavor of the Victorian house. They'll be away from the rinting of phones and the clatter of typewriters.

The front office now is a reception room in which museum guides will receive visitors: "It will lend a more realistic atmosphere to the house," said Mrs. Carty.

"Guides are really attempting to get people into the spirit of the house."

The move is in line with a recently completed six-session guide training program instituted by the museum to acquaint guides with a more interpretive method of conducting tours.

Teen Hitchhiker Injured

A 17-year-old Belleville youth was injured in a hit-and-run accident on Highway 401 Monday morning.

Police said the youth was hitchhiking when he was struck by a car while crossing the highway near Wallbridge-Loyalist Road.

Final Touch

Armed with drills Brian Pollard (top) and Hank Douven put finishing touch to special light-weight aluminum scaffold at Foley Supply and Machine Co. The apparatus is a prototype designed by Lake Ontario Cement for bricklaying inside a cement kiln.

Hijack Hoax Results In Fine and Probation

Two Toronto men were each fined $300 or 30 days in jail and placed on probation for two years on a charge of public mischief in provincial court here Monday.

Clifford Michael Nolan, 18, and Mario Simonelli, 21, had pleaded guilty to the charge in an earlier court appearance.

The charge resulted from a fruitless 18-hour search by Ontario Provincial Police for a reported truck hijacker armed with a gun.

Police were informed Sept. 15 that a truck transport driver and a passenger were ordered by a gun-wielding man at a Cobourg-area service station to drive him east on Highway 401.

An extensive search by police and tracking dogs failed to turn up anything.

Building Permits On Rise

City Building Inspector Grant Stickle reports $13 million in estimated new building value has been processed through his department so far this year.

During the month of October, building permits for $1.2 million were issued.

During entire previous year, the city department issued $17 million in building permits.

Historically each year the city sees increase in the dollar value of building permits issued.

According to inspection department staff, it will be difficult to compete with last year's figures which included a $4 million permit for the construction of Procter and Gamble and a $1.1 million permit for construction of a senior citizens project.

"We've been busy this year and while the dollar value is similar to last year, in fact we have processed 478 permits so far this year compared to 450 in the entire previous year," a department spokesman said.

Woman Hurt In Mishap

BAYSIDE — A Trenton woman sustained minor injuries in a two-car rear-end collision on Highway 2 in front of Bayside Secondary School early today.

Passenger in a car driven by her husband Ronald, Gail Vanderveide, 31, of 5 Bayview Dr. was taken to Belleville hospital where she was treated for head injuries.

The Vanderveide vehicle was in collision with a vehicle driven by Clark Young, 17, of 2 Wilson Cres., Trenton.

Police are still investigating the collision and no damage estimates are available.

Body Identified

MILLBRIDGE — A badly decomposed body found in bushland near here Sunday has been identified by police as that of Camille St. Cyr, 72, of the hamlet of Millbridge.

Police from the Madoc provincial police office and neighbours had been searching for St. Cyr, since his disappearance during first week of September.

The body, found by neighbor Don Donaldson of Millbridge, was taken to the Toronto Forensic science laboratories in Toronto Monday for examination.

Juvenile Delinquency Topic of Planning Seminar

A planning seminar will be held at Moira Secondary School 8 p.m. Oct. 29 sponsored by the Ad Hoc committee for the Prevention of Juvenile Delinquency.

The committee has just submitted an interim brief for Community Prevention Programs proposing funding of a community based, prevention program for juvenile delinquency.

The committee will discuss improving conditions for prevention of offences committed by teen-agers and how a community can provide help for these teen-agers.

Official Confident City Can House Athletes

Is the Belleville area marked for substantial development of hotel facilities in the immediate future.

The speculation is prompted by the recreation — area committee's decision that there will be the site of the 1978 summer Ontario Games — despite a report indicating present accommodation for athletes is insufficient.

Ald. George Zegouras, committee chairman — who views having the Games as a stalwart boost to the city's 1976 centennial year celebration — said his group was unanimous in its decision to have city council apply to have the provincewide athletic meet is a centennial centrepiece program.

But one qualifying stipulation laid down by Ontario government officials to co-ordinate the games was that the community be able to accommodate 3,500 athletes.

In total, Mr. Belch estimated, the area could provide some 1,750 beds. As a result, his survey "leaves no doubt" the Quinte Area cannot satisfy the accommodation needs of the 1978 games, he told the committee.

But, despite the "shortfall" indicated Ald. Zegouras Friday, the director may not have been aware of possible future accommodation developments when he drafted the report.

As a result his committee was "very optimistic."

He was not specific but said "certainly new hotel-motel accomodations will be built by 1978."

Otherwise, he added, the committee would not "have gone out on a limb" with its recommendation.

"We couldn't go off half-cocked and suggest that application (to counties) if there wasn't a chance of new accommodation."

Provincial government officials will be down to review and discuss details of the program by the year's end or early next year, he said.

Mr. Belch already has said he doesn't doubt the local expertise is available in Quinte communities to help co-ordinate the games — which over a long August weekend, will include a multiplicity of events including water-skiing, swimming, baseball, track-and-field events, tennis, lacrosse and soccer.

Youths Remanded

Two 17-year-old Belleville youths were remanded to Nov. 10 in provincial court here Monday for sentencing on 18 charges of break, enter and theft.

It was the second remand for James Bateman and Dennis Davis, both of 186 Station St. The Monday remand was due to a heavy court docket.

The charges were laid in connection with an Aug. 17 break-in at Moorland Chrysler Plymouth Ltd. at 290 Front St. in Belleville.

Bateman pleaded guilty to 10 charges and Davis was convicted on eight charges.

School Says Lice No Problem Radio Report Exaggerated

Reports of a mass student walkout at Quinte Secondary School Monday over an alleged epidemic of pediculosis (body lice) were quickly deflated at the Hastings County Board of Education meeting last night.

Prompted by an inquiry from Belleville trustee Eloise Burr, superintendent of education Bob Horwood, responsible for Quinte Secondary School, assured trustees the reports were exaggerated and inflated.

Mr. Horwood said one case of pediculosis, usually transmitted through sexual contact, was confirmed last week at the school and two possible cases now are being investigated. The county medical officer has been called into the situation.

He said about 12 students boycotted classes Monday afternoon apparently in protest of the conditions. Otherwise, the school functioned normally without incident.

Mr. Horwood said the school's general cleaning program is being stepped-up and there was some fumigation of the building over the weekend. He assured trustees the problem was not large and it was now under control.

School authorities sent a letter home to parents cautioning them against any unusual rash found on their children and suggested immediate medical attention if a rash occurred.

Vice-chairman of the board Miriam Graham said radio reports Monday had caused some panic among parents.

She asked the director of education to make a public statement on the problem.

Foxboro Cheese Factory to Shift Operation to Napanee

By HARRY MULHALL
Staff Reporter

Hastings County is to lose one more of its few remaining cheese factories.

But the production of Foxboro Cheese Factory will remain in the Quinte district.

The Foxboro factory will be closed next year and its operation phased into dairy industry plant at Napanee, Keith Henry, vice-president of Ault Foods of Winchester Ont., confirmed Monday.

The shutdown will leave four cheese plants still operating in the county — where small factories once were typical of rural life.

Mr. Henry told The Intelligencer Thursday the move is timed for next spring when the Foxboro cheese operation — now employing up to 40 — will be combined with a skim - milk powder plant at Napanee.

Both operations were among dairy-industry processing plants in eastern Ontario and Quebec recently purchased in a mass corporate acquisition by Ault from Cow and Gate. The Ault takeover of Foxboro is set for Nov. 1.

"Anybody that's currently working at Foxboro will have the opportunity to work at Napanee," he said.

Ted Foley, veteran cheese-maker and Foxboro general manager, will become cheese production manager of the new operation.

Reasons for the amalgamation he said, include a desire by Ault to centralize the operations and 15 ease a problem with whey — the liquid residue left after cheese is processed from milk.

Currently said Mr. Foley, whey — which until recent years had paved environmental problems for the industry — until it was solved by feed processing — has to be trucked from Foxboro to Napanee.

When whey is processed into powdered animal feed. But because of its nutritional value its potential for use in domestic food also is being examined.

Mr. Foley said the company is seeking an industrial prospect to take over the Foxboro factory site after it's vacated.

Blueprint of Change

Ted Foley, general manager of Foxboro Cheese Factory examines blueprints of new site when plant is relocated. It's expected to be amalgamated/operating with skim-milk powder factory at Napanee — a move confirmed Monday by Ault Foods of Winchester, Ont., which recently acquired both operations in corporative acquisitions i neastern Ontario and Quebec.

Minor Hockey Loses A Dedicated Worker

About 20 years ago, a sportswriter took it upon himself to chide the Ontario Minor Hockey Association (OMHA) when that group failed to make a representative available for a community's Minor Hockey Week program.

That criticism brought a brief but pertinent reply from a member of the OMHAs executive.

It was the reporter's first contact with Stirling's Doug Patterson. But it was the beginning of what became a long and lasting acquaintance which was very beneficial to the sports reporter.

In the 1960s and 1970s, Doug Patterson was the OMHA to many of us.

Ever ready to lend his assistance, Doug was just as quick to come to the defence of the association he served so long and so well. And he had the knack of getting his point across in no uncertain terms while ruffling only a few feathers.

Long time associate William (Bill) Mullholland of Campbellford, refers to Doug Patterson as "probably one of the greatest things that ever happened to minor hockey".

As one who was fortunate enough to benefit from Doug's efforts in minor hockey, I can only echo that sentiment.

Doug's death, Saturday, shocked the sports world, especially at the local level.

A former president of the OMHA, he was serving as the association's treasurer and found time to support minor hockey in his own community.

Death came early to Doug Patterson.

But he packed more years of service into his brief stay than many who are granted much more time do.

And he managed to do it and impress everyone with his attitude of helpfulness and friendliness at the same time.

The OMHA will miss this tireless worker.

So will those in this business who were given the opportunity to know the man.

Minor hockey will go on but somehow, it won't be the same.

Kelly Welch Hard to Bring Down

With a wave of teammates advancing in the background, Centre Hastings Centurions' fleet halfback Kelly Welch struggles to free himself from grasp of Coach Phil Meeks added a new wrinkle to the Red Devils' attack for this one. He had quarterback Jamie Kennedy operating out of the shotgun formation and the Bayside squad was able to move the ball.

"Unfortunately, we were moving out of our own end most of the time," observed Meeks.

Red Devils' Mitch Houle counted on a 20-yard sweep halfway through the third quarter and when Kennedy hit Houle for the two-point conversion, Bayside was right back in the game.

"Penalties we took may have turned the game around but we have only ourselves to blame for that," said Meeks.

"All in all, I think we played as well as we have all year," he said.

Chargers' coach Doug Irvin is hoping to have Thompson back in the lineup for Friday's match with the Trojans.

"I'm very pleased with the play of the guys who filled in for us today."

Five-goal Effort Sparks Police

A pair of goals by Andrew Birchard sparked Belleville Firefighters to a narrow 5-4 win over Hawkins Chips, Saturday, in Belleville Minor Hockey Association Major atom play.

Robert Istead had the other goal for the winners. Kevin Dever and Alan Marsick connected for Hawkins.

Richard Ellis Petelling got shutout goaltending from Danny Collins as the Burn Masked Quinte Home Builders 7-0. Don Tasko fired three goals with two each for Tim Cassidy and Warren Cavalier.

In the other game, Dairy Queen slapped BYBF Atom Minor Selects 3-1 on goals by Michael Holt, Steve Day and Paul Kelly. Mark Dougan was the BYBF marksman.

A five-goal effort by David Phillips powered Police Association to an 8-1 win over the Bowen and Cooke Atom Major Selects, in Peewee Minor play. Robert Masterson added a pair to the winners' total and Allen Thompson scored one. Brock Baragar notched the lone goal for the losers.

Goals by John Small, George Schulte, Larry Moon and Scott Edwards carried Fire Men past Duby Painting 4-2. Replying for the Painters were David Karakas and Kirk Malesh.

King Clothiers turned the tables on Legion 8-2. The winners got three goals from Robert Milligan, two by Bobby Bradford and one each from Don Jass, Neil Maloney and Andy Palmer. Lerion goals were scored by Mike Labarge and Mike Hubbs.

Cash and Carry got two goals from Gord Molleson but it wasn't enough as Wray's Furniture pulled out a 3-2 squeaker on goals by Mike Sims, Darryll Martin and John DeGenova.

In the final Peewee Minor match, Dairy Queen got by Mobil 4-1 with Paul Byrne netting the hat trick with a two-goal performance. Gerald Sinclair and John Gosson had the other goals for the winners. Counting for Mobil was Danny Roy.

Clayton's TV and A and D Esso scored wins in a pair of Atom Minor games, Saturday.

The Esso team had its sights on target, rolling over Maher Shoes 16-1 as Doug Schoubel connected for six goals. Steve Bergeron hit for three while Steven Ryan Mike Paddock and Mark Slim each scored twice. Dale Caddick had the other goal for the winners. Kevin Stoliker replied for Maher's.

Bob's Upset 2-0

Bruce Gibson had it rough last year. He played with a mediocre club and on the best of nights, he came out shellshocked. Still, Gibson hung in and this year he appears to be making the correct workouts of last season worthwhile between the posts of Bi-temp Healing.

Between he and cohort Steve Campbell, they have had but seven goals scored against them in four games; five of those came in the first match of the season.

Monday night Gibson led his fledgling Gas House Hockey League team to its third win with a 2-0 shutout over previously unbeaten Bob's Sports.

In the other two Gas House games Monday, Rollins Lumber edged Jim's Pizzeria 3-1 and the Yardmen nipped Belcon Engineering 4-3.

Gibson's shutout was his first of the year, even though through the last two games he and Campbell have allowed just one goal apiece.

The two goals his teammates got for him Monday were the most that have been scored on Bob's. Vern Whalen in a single game this season. Jim Meens tallied one and assisted on John Pigden's.

The victory Jams Bi-temp, Bob's and the Yardmen late second place in the 11-team league with three wins and a loss. Chuckwagon Foods, idle Monday night, are in first place with four wins in four starts.

Ron Richardson and Pat Mullins each scored a goal and assisted on one in leading the Yardmen to their win. Rob Bastedo and Terry Rappell were the other two marksmen for the winners.

For Bel-Con it was Peter Farrell and Richard Reid counting goals.

Dale Timmon, Scott McLaren and Jim Soole fired singles as Rollins picked up their second win of the year.

Michael Evans was the lone Jim's scorer.

Chargers, Centurions Advance

Two Bay of Quinte High School Football League junior teams advanced to playoff semi-finals and another two squads called it a season in Monday action.

Advancing along the playoff trail were Centre Hastings Secondary School Centurions and Centennial Secondary School Chargers.

Centre Hastings Centurions, 14-6 winners over Trenton Secondary School Saints, meet Trenton High School Tyrros while the Chargers who defeated Bayside Secondary School Red Devils 14-6, will hook up with Moira Secondary School Trojans in the other half of the semi-finals.

Moira-Centennial and Trenton-Centre Hastings matchups are scheduled for Friday. Trenton and Moira, one-two on the regular season, have home field for the games.

No one was more surprised than the Saints when they found themselves on the short end of the score at the end side of the game. Earlier in the season, Quinte had walked all over the Centurions in Madoc, but such was not to be the case in Monday's game.

A strong Centre Hastings defence coupled with the explosive running of Kelly Welch told the story for the winners at Quinte. The defence of the Centurions was able to hold Quinte's most effective weapon, Ken Revoy and Paul Benelopoulos "to little gain other than one touchdown by Benelopoulos.

Quinte's defence more than had their hands full with Welch over the course of the game as the quick running back was able to score all of the 14 points that the visitors managed.

"We played a great game today," explained Centurion coach Bob Mound.

Coach Mound had been very optimistic going into the contest as he confided after the game: "I knew if we played a good game we could beat them. Our defence bent a little but didn't break."

The visitors opened the scoring as Welch counted his first of two touchdowns in the first quarter and then ran the ball into the end zone for an extra two points. Quinte came back in the second quarter as Benelopoulos took a screen pass and ran it 50 yards for the only points the Saints were able to put on the board.

In the second half it was all Centre Hastings as Saints were unable to move the ball out of their own zone. At one point the Saints defence held two tries by the Centre Hastings offence from the Quinte one yard line.

The final touchdown for the winners came off sheer effort on the part of Welch who drove over the goal line. The conversion attempt missed.

Quinte retained possession of the ball for the final three minutes of the game and appeared to have gained some momentum, moving the ball steadily down field until an interception singnalled the end of the play and the season for the junior Saints.

In the Centennial-Bayside contest an injury-riddled Charger squad pulled their weight as a team in earn a 14-6 win over the Red Devils. Both of the starting fullbacks were on the sidelines, including Terry Thompson who has sparked so many of the Centennial wins this season.

Centennial opened the scoring, notching the only touchdown of the first half on a passing play from quarterback Ron Ferguson to Don Jess and then added another two points on the conversion as Ferguson dashed into the end zone to rack up the points.

The Chargers' quarterback took care of the winners' final major on a running play to make it 14-0.

Daley Closes Door

TORONTO (CP) — Joe Daley takes pride in his work as a professional hockey goaltender.

The veteran netminder from East Kildonan, Man., never had more reason to be satisfied with his performances than during last week when he silenced big-shooting World Hockey Association division leaders.

The 30-year-old Winnipeg Jet blanked the Eastern Division leading Cincinnati Sliegers 7-0 last Tuesday and Sunday night turned shut out Phoenix Roadrunners, 5-0.

He stopped a total of 61 shots in the two games and the shutouts gave him three for the season, lowering his goals-against mark to 1.86, second best among WHA regular netminders.

Islanders Earn 4-4 Tie

Habs in Charitable Mood Complains Coach Bowman

MONTREAL (CP) — It was giveaway night at the Forum Monday with Montreal Canadiens doing most of the giving and it almost resulted in Montreal's second loss of the 1975-76 National Hockey League season.

"We gave the puck away 18 times," coached Canadiens Scotty Bowman after Montreal battled from behind to tie New York Islanders 4-4 in the only scheduled game. "That's a big indicator."

The tie extended the Islanders' unbeaten streak against the Canadiens to six games. Last season, New York was twice tied two against Montreal and are 1-0-1 against the Canadiens this year.

Jacques Lemaire's sixth goal of the season on a low, screened slapshot at 12:18 of the third period gave Montreal the draw before 17,002 fans. Yvon Lambert with two and Larry Robinson were the other Montreal scorers.

The tie brought New York's record to 5-1-4 and into a first-place deadlock with Philadelphia Flyers atop the Patrick Division. Montreal leads the Norris section with a 6-1-2 ledger.

SCOTTY BOWMAN

Potvin shot the Islanders into a 1-0 lead with 6:36 gone in the first period as his scrimmage drive from the point appeared to deflect off Bunny Larocque's glove into the net.

Lambert's first goal came on a Montreal power play at 9:35 as he directed the puck into the net after Billy Smith had stopped a drive from Peter Mahovlich.

Howatt put New York ahead at 14:47 with his first goal of the year as he smashed into Larocque after being hooked by Serge Savard on a breakaway.

Lambert tied the score at 6:52 beating Smith on the stick side for his seventh of the year before Trottier whacked home Jean Potvin's rebound for his seventh goal.

Howatt made it 4-2 early in the first period, but Robinson cut the margin with five minutes gone, firing the puck high past a screened Smith.

Sabres Just Keep Winning

MONTREAL (CP) — Buffalo Sabres Monday equalled the post-1967 club record—which they share—for consecutive victories in the National Hockey League.

The Sabres, only undefeated and untied team in the NHL, are off to their fastest start, reportedly matching their own mark of eight straight wins Dec. 30, 1972, statistics released by the league Monday show. Buffalo's eight wins have come against seven different clubs.

The only other post-1967 teams to record eight consecutive wins are the 1972-73 Los Angeles Kings and Philadelphia Flyers in each of the last two seasons. The longest winning streak ever, and one of the oldest NHL records, is 14 straight victories by Boston Bruins in 1929-30.

The Sabres' last regular-season loss was last March 30 when Toronto Maple Leafs defeated them 5 at Buffalo. The Sabres won three games to end the 1974-75 season and their regular-season winning streak stands at 11 games.

Gilbert Perreault, with four goals and 12 assists for 16 points, has led an attack that has seen the Sabres score 46 goals in their eight games while giving up just 17.

Wheat Sinks Maroons

HAMILTON (CP) — A three-goal performance by centre Bob Wheat helped Mount Hamilton Junior A's to a 6-2 win over Chatham Maroons in the only Southern Ontario Junior Hockey League game Monday.

Other scorers for Hamilton were Gord Bryant with two goals and Ric Kelleff with one.

Dennis Brown and Tony Woitowicz replied for Chatham.

Hamilton outshot Chatham 36-22 but trailed 1-0 at the end of the first period.

Hamilton rallied to take a 3-2 lead after two periods and scored three unanswered goals in the final stanza before 231 fans.

Chatham's Jim Haesty received a misconduct for pushing referee Wak Gardner at the 12:22 mark of the third period.

The penalty carries an automatic two-game suspension and Haesty will appear at a hearing Monday in Wright's rule committee.

In tonight's action, Owen Sound is at Welland.

Gerow, Coughlin Spark Comets

LINDSAY, Ont. (CP) — Napanee Comets scored three goals in the first period and two in the second as they coasted to a 5-2 win over Lindsay Lancers before 500 fans Monday.

It was the only game scheduled. Orillia is at Whitby tonight.

In the second period, Charlie Convery and Grove scored for the Comets and Paul Grills replied for Lindsay.

Grills scored the only goal of the third period.

Lindsay outshot Napanee 44-

Napanee picked up 15 minors and two majors to five minors and two majors for Lindsay.

SPARKY ANDERSON

Reds' Leader Honored

NEW YORK (AP) — Sparky Anderson, the hard driver of Cincinnati's Big Red Machine was named Manager of the Year today in baseball's National League.

Anderson, who led the Reds to their greatest season in history, was a runaway choice in the voting by the nine-member panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

The popular 41-year-old manager won by a landslide 28-6-1 margin over Danny Murtaugh, manager of Pittsburgh Pirates, leaders of the East Division.

John McNamara, who piloted San Diego Padres to a fourth-place finish in the National League West, finished third with 30 votes while Philadelphia's Danny Ozark was fourth with 18 and St. Louis' Red Schoendienst fifth with seven.

Anderson's well-heeled Reds won the National League pennant with a flair. They swept the West by winning an amazing 108 games, including a record 60 at home, and then polished off the Pirates in three easy games.

The topping to Anderson's performance came in the World Series, where the Reds defeated Boston Red Sox in seven games to claim their first World Series title since 1940. "A lot of people say it doesn't mean anything to them, but I can't say that," said Anderson. "I'm really thrilled. "It'll be even a bigger thrill to the guys on my ballclub. They'll really look it."

Anderson, a strict leader who allows no long hair or bad conduct by his players, has had one of the best winning percentages in baseball history but only this year did he realize the dream of a world championship.

Until 1975, Anderson's best year was 1970, when his club soared to the National League flag with 102 victories. However, the Reds were taken in five games by the Baltimore Orioles in the World Series.

When Cincinnati again won the National League pennant in 1973 and lost to Oakland A's in the World Series, Anderson was tagged by some as a manager who couldn't win "the big game."

Fought Jack Dempsey, Carpentier Dead at 81

PARIS (AP) — Georges Carpentier, who fought Jack Dempsey for the world heavyweight boxing crown in 1921, died Tuesday after a heart attack, Agence France-Presse reported.

Carpentier, the first Frenchman to win a world boxing title, started out as a coal miner in the bleak and industrial northern France.

His manager, Francois Deschamps, dubbed him "The Orchid man" and led him to the first million-dollar gate in boxing history—against Dempsey in 1921.

Half-a-century later, living in obscure retirement in Paris, the former world light-heavyweight champion and national hero had become a legend in his own lifetime. Younger generations heard echoes of his former fame and sometimes expressed surprise to learn that he was still alive.

He won the world crown in that category from Battling Levinsky on Oct. 12, 1920, in Jersey City, N.J., and in Paris two years later to Louis Phal, an African from French Equatorial Senegal who fought under the name of Battling Siki.

But Carpentier's real day of glory came July 2, 1921. Still holder of the light heavyweight title, he challenged Dempsey for the heavyweight crown. Outweighed by 14 pounds, Carpentier went out for the count in the fourth round.

The fight, arranged in Jersey City by Dempsey's famed promoter, Tex Rickard, produced a million-dollar gate and made Carpentier a rich man.

Future world heavyweight champion Gene Tunney knocked him out in the 15th round in New York on July 24, 1926. Two years later Tunney took the world heavyweight crown from Dempsey.

By that time, Carpentier's career was virtually over.

He fought his last exhibition bout in Paris on Jan. 11, 1927. His last much-of-his fortune went the Dempsey way at the beginning of the Second World War he still owned a bar in the heart of Paris.

The bar was frequented by the German occupation forces, and Carpentier was occasionally suspected as a "collaborator." But no charges were ever brought against him.

Born at Lens, near Lille, on Jan. 12, 1894, he began his professional boxing career while still a pit boy at the age of 14. In his 30-year career in the ring, he fought in every division from flyweight through heavyweight.

In his total of 106 fights, he scored 51 knockouts and won 20 decisions. In 1964 he was elected to the Boxing Hall of Fame.

JOHN F. BASSETT

To Meet With National League

NEW YORK (AP) — John F. Bassett owner of the former Memphis franchise of the World Football League, said Monday night he and investors in Birmingham would continue to try and sign former WFL players and push for entrance into the National Football League.

Interviewed at Monday night's NFL game in Chicago, Bassett said Birmingham investors would meet with NFL officials Tuesday. He said he would try to arrange other meetings with the NFL as soon as possible

NFL commissioner Pete Rozelle also was interviewed by ABC-TV, and he repeated the League's contention that it is refusing to allow signings of former WFL players because of fear of legal action.

Chicago Ignores Lash But Tarkenton Doesn't

CHICAGO (AP) — "I looked up and there was no corner-back," wide receiver Jim Lash of Minnesota Vikings said. "I just kept running."

It was all the edge Fran Tarkenton needed. The scrambling Viking quarterback unloaded a 49-yard pass and Mr. Lash jogging along into the end zone Monday night to defeat Chicago Bears 13-9 in a National Football League game.

The costly lapse by the Bears at 13:43 of the second quarter allowed the Vikings their only touchdown and preserved their record as one of two teams still undefeated in the NFL.

Although Tarkenton hit on 16 of 30 passes for 232 yards, a newly toughened Chicago defence took away the big play on every Minnesota drive until Chicago suddenly found itself minus a cornerback. The other Viking scoring came on field goals by Fred Cox of 46 and 32 yards.

Chicago coach Jack Pardee said the Bears were caught a man short because cornerback Allan Ellis was injured on the previous play and neither the Chicago bench nor the officials noticed it immediately.

Pardee said holding the Vikings to 13 points and Mike Hartenstine's sack of Tarkenton for a safety in the third quarter spelled no moral victory.

"Not at all, at one win and five losses we need some real victories, not moral ones," he said.

Actually, the Bears got the first lead. On the first series of downs, Chuo Foreman of the Vikings fumbled in Bears safety Craig Clemons and three plays later Mike Adamle ran 14 yards for a touchdown.

But Grant had praise for the rebuilding Bears who took a 23-3 beating from the Vikings in Minnesota three weeks ago.

"Who said the Bears are dead?" Grant asked. "They were ready to play tonight.

"Pardee has done a good job."

Pardee, in his first season as Bears coach, drastically revamped the team. Only three starting offensive players were with the squad last year.

One of them, quarterback Gary Huff, hit 10 of 22 passes for 97 yards.

In Memoriam

BROWN — In sad and loving memory of a dear husband, father and grandfather Bernard Wesley Brown, who was called to rest October 27, 1973.
There's an open gate at the end of a garden
Through which we can see
And there, in a light we cannot see, the Father waits for you and me.
Beyond the gate our loved one.
Has gone to his home of peace.
Sweet memories are all we have left
That a loving God knows best.
— Ever relived and lovingly remembered by his wife Nora, son Wayne and family, daughter Ruth and family, and son Bert and family.

VADER — In loving memory of a very dear father and grandfather William Edward Vader, who passed quietly on October 28, 1971.
Sweet memories of one so dear,
Sweet memories we hold
In our hearts he is living yet
He lives but in death's sleep
— Affectionately remembered by daughter-in-law Dorothy and granddaughters Wendy and Karen.

SAVERSTOCK — In loving memory of a beloved mother, Nora, who passed away October 28, 1968.
Time goes and fade away
But sweet thoughts and memories stay.
— Fondly remembered by her daughter Alice and son-in-law Eddy.

SAVERSTOCK — In loving memory of a dear mother and grandmother Nora Saverstock, who passed away October 28, 1968.
Those we love don't go sleeping,
They walk by our side
We can't see them, we can't hear them,
But they are with us still.
You never said goodbye to me,
You did not leave a note
Perhaps you thought I would go first,
To me I loved so well.
— Fondly remembered by daughters Pat and Dorothy and families.

SAVERSTOCK — In loving memory of a dear father, Nathan Vader who passed away October 28, 1972.
Today recalls the memory,
Of a loved one who left us
And those who knew him best
Are the ones who loved him best.
The flowers we lay upon his grave,
May wither and decay,
But the love for him we lies beneath,
Will never fade away.
— Sadly missed and remembered by daughter Hazel, son-in-law Harry and great children Dawn and Adam.

VADER — In sad and loving memory of our dear father, Nathan Vader, formerly of Elgin St., who passed away years ago today, October 28, 1971.
Sweet memories are precious,
Our sweet dear memory still.
Time can never take away
The world the sweet memories
— Always remembered by his wife and family.

Your Horoscope

By BERNICE BEDE OSOL

Wednesday, Oct. 11

Aries (March 21-April 19) You can be both industrious and ingenious today when dealing with difficult tasks. Bright ideas will save you steps.

Taurus (April 20-May 20) This will be a rather exciting day socially. Don't pass up any invitations. You have a chance to meet someone new.

Gemini (May 21-June 20) A little preventive maintenance around the house now will save you dollars later. Repair your home's minor ills today.

Cancer (June 21-July 22) There's some you should get in touch with on an important matter. If you let it go past today this person will be difficult to reach.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22) A friend will impulsively offer you something of value today. His feelings will be hurt if you refuse it.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Your customary caution and reserve will yet be dominant traits today. You may even surprise yourself with your daring.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) A profitable secret ambition should be pursued in earnest today. Your chances for acquisition look very good.

Scorpio (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) While others today might sit around wishing for things to happen, you'll be doing what's necessary to realize your dreams.

Sagittarius (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Challenges bring out the best that's in you today. Situations that appear intimidating to associates seem look that fearful to you.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) It may take a little coaxing to get others to go along with your ideas today, but you're more than up to the challenge.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Work hand in glove today with your mate or partner on a common goal. Excellent results will be achieved if you pull as a team.

Pisces (Feb. 20-March 20) Put your imagination to work today. You'll find alternatives to a problem you thought had but one solution.

Surgery May Help Angina Pectoris

By G. C. THOSTESON, MD

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My husband has angina pectoris and is quite hampered in doing anything like working in the garden or moving the lawn. Things that require a little exertion and pressure. He wonders if there is a way around it that would allow him to do a little light work again.

What is your opinion of having this operation they call a coronary bypass? Would it help him if he had that done?—Mrs. R. B.

There are thousands of these coronary artery bypass operations done each year, and in capacitating angina pectoris is one of the chief indications for such surgery.

The bypass is done by removing a portion of a superficial starving of the heart muscle brought about by obstruction in the heart vessels serving it. Thus exertion brings pains that radiate throughout the upper chest and arm area.

The cause of angina is a vein in the leg and using it to bypass the obstructed segment in the coronary artery. Pain is relieved completely. Bypass procedure has a high success rate. The risk is considered to be about a half of one per cent.

However, in any such surgery your husband's heart status must be thoroughly investigated, since such procedures are not recommended if the heart muscle itself is in poor condition.

Also, because of your husband's age, the doctor would have to weigh carefully his general health before recommending such surgery. There would probably be an extended period of even less activity.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 60, and I awaken every morning with a vicious headache. I use each day after lunch feeling fine. On waking an hour later I have the same kind of headache. Can you explain this?—E. M.

One cause of morning headache is high blood pressure. It is not too common, but it should be looked into nevertheless.

Another possible factor at your age is arthritic change in the neck vertebrae. Arthritis of the neck spine is common and the position of your head during sleep can cause muscle spasm. You might try adjusting your pillow so head rest higher or lower to see if such a change helps.

Another cause is related to food, particularly to that containing the amino acid tyramine. This is present in cheese certain beans, wine and beer. If you snack on cheese or nip between bedtime or before your bed this could cause your discomfort.

I recall one case of a woman who had such headaches. I found out she was in the habit of covering her head with a blanket or velvet during sleep. She was breathing stale air. Good ventilation during sleep is important.

Bear Didn't Know His Limits

V A N C O U V E R (CP) — Freddy McCrimmon has faced a lot of challenges during his career, including deafness, an eye and a black bear.

The bear, said McDermott, was the only opponent in his lifetime that proved physically tougher than he was. McDermott today has his own business, operating a masseur and physiotherapist. His battered ears and cauliflower ear are reminders of his background.

McDermott, who was deaf when he was 14 years old. More than 50 years later an operation at Vancouver General Hospital restored partial hearing in one ear.

"Unless you go into a corner and cry," he said, "you are not deaf by a long shot.

"Sure, deafness can be a lonely world but it depends on how you accept it. I just went along and did things my way."

His way was swimming, playing Rugby, cycling, skiing and hockey. He also learned unarmed combat to commandos.

During the sports fields, McDermott was a fierce competitor. In hockey he loved the whistle, but he says he developed such a hatred for hearing when the whistle had blown. In football, the centre tackle gave him the signals with coded slaps on his backside.

In Rugby, weighing in at only 155 pounds, he once tackled a big opposing forward and the unfortunate fellow suffered a broken ankle.

During the next game against that particular team, McDermott was jumped by four players.

"I woke up four days later in hospital" he said. "I was on the end of the bed, trying get back on to the field.

"I didn't know where I was, but I wanted to get back for the second half."

He had eight broken ribs. Six weeks later he was playing again.

McDermott opened his first gymnasium in 1933 in the basement of his father's house. He had no money to buy weight-lifting equipment, so he used some 75-pound washers he found on the railway tracks and made his own weights with wooden bars.

In later years his gym became a mecca for weight-lifters and keep-fit enthusiasts and a girl named Marybelle, who had enrolled in one of his classes.

"One day I met her for coffee after the lesson and we held hands under the table," he said McDermott. "Five months later we were married and we've been drinking coffee ever since."

McDermott was nominated for the Canadian Sports Hall of Fame by the late Stan Smith, chairman of the 1954 British Empire Games held here.

"I never even considered the Hall of Fame because I never realized my accomplishments until they put it all together," he said.

Jarry Connects

MONTREAL (CP) — Richard Jarry scored two goals and five of his team-mates contributed a goal apiece as Laval Nationals whipped Shawinigan Dynamos 14 in Quebec Major Junior Hockey League action Monday night.

Saints' Coach Fired

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Coach John North was fired Monday New Orleans Saints owner John Mecom Jr. announced after a weekend meeting with North.

Mecom said Ernie Hefferle would be the interim coach of the Saints, now 1-5 for the season.

"It is with much regret that I have found it necessary to replace John North as head coach of the New Orleans Saints," Mecom said in a statement.

"Coach North approached his job with tremendous vigor and energy and did succeed in some areas of player development. Unfortunately, these accomplishments aren't reflected in the league standings."

The firing came after the Saints lost 35-14 to Los Angeles Rams on Sunday.

It's rehearsed," he said. "The bear, of course, hadn't been taught to rehearse.

"We were supposed to go three five-minute rounds. I came off my stool like my sick-horse said I'd was. Will Cat, and all I got was a face full of fur.

"The bear only had one hold — flying mare—one paw under the armpit and the other on the back of your neck.

"He threw me so hard I hit the ropes, bounced back and fell out of the ring on the other side. The place was jammed and there was nowhere for me to sit. So I sat on this guy's lap.

"He was furious. He shouted, 'Get back in there, you coward.'

"I said, 'If you're so brave,

Royals Get Tie

TORONTO (CP) — Royal Jerry Korn stretched their unbeaten streak to five games Monday night as they salvaged a 3-3 tie with Toronto Nationals in an Ontario Hockey Association Provincial Junior A game.

Dan D'Alvise scored both goals for the Royals, who have won three games and tied two during their unbeaten streak.

Jim Cuppoli and Doug Ray-mond scored for the Nationals.

Guards Pace '76ers

PHILADELPHIA (AP) Guards Doug Collins and Fred Carter combined for 41 points as Philadelphia 76ers beat Los Angeles Lakers 117-106 Sunday night in a National Basketball Association game before a record home crowd of 18,000.

Collins scored 3 2and Carter 19 in the 76ers first home victory over Los Angeles since Dec. 9, 1969. The Lakers had won 12 in a row here over the six-year period.

Bell Service Will Be Cut If Company Can't Get Increase

OTTAWA (CP) — Bell Canada customers will face further drastic cuts in service if the Canadian Transport commission refuses to grant the telephone company $102 million a year in rate increases, Bell President A. Jean de Grandpre said Tuesday.

Even if the commission approves the full package of rate increases now being sought, Bell will return for more next year, Mr. de Grandpre said.

He told a three-member commission panel during the second day of hearings on Bell's rate application that the company will cut $470 million from a $940 million 1976 building program if the rate package is rejected.

This will translate directly into a lower level of service to many of Bell's 4.6 million users because "if you want to stop spending quickly, you stop putting cables in the ground."

In a gloomy analysis of Bell's financial position, Mr. de Grandpre said the company urgently needs the currently-sought increases and will return "as soon as possible" with an application for further increases.

Bell encountered charges of blackmail by consumer groups and others for cutting $55 million from construction, inventory and operating budgets in August after the commission approved only half of the $110 million the company requested in emergency rate increases.

A Bell official said Tuesday the waiting list for new installations and changes in service, including number changes and installation of extensions, will grow to an estimated 47,000 by the end of the year from 30,000 customers in August.

He said a waiting period of up to six months for new telephone service remains in effect in some areas.

Mr. de Grandpre said Bell responded to the commission's rejection of the full amount of emergency increases last summer by chopping $2 million from its new service budget.

Postal Strike End May Now Be Close

OTTAWA (CP) — For the first time since the strike by inside postal workers began, there is hope today that a negotiated settlement may be reached soon. The strike is in its ninth day.

The optimism springs from a marathon bargaining session that adjourned near midnight Tuesday night with both sides agreeing that "real progress" has been made in the talks.

The negotiators were scheduled to resume today.

Postmaster-General Bryce Mackasey and Jean-Claude Parrot, chief union negotiator, said some non-monetary issues have been resolved and they hope to move on to the major issues of casual labor and wages during today's talks.

Mr. Mackasey, who personally attended Tuesday's day-long session, said following the adjournment although there are still many contentious issues ahead, "I am quite pleased so far."

"We're making progress, real progress, and we're not moving backwards," he said.

Mr. Parrot, vice-president of the 22,000-member Canadian Union of Postal Workers (CUPW), said: "A lot of progress has been made on the non-monetary issues. I hope we can move on to the monetary issues soon."

However, both stressed that many major issues remain and neither would specify which items had been resolved.

At one point during the negotiations there was a small, noisy demonstration six blocks away on Parliament Hill.

Police kept a close watch on about 200 chanting, placard-waving postal workers, whose signs indicated they were from Toronto, Oshawa, Ont., Kingston, Ont., and other cities. They were demonstrating in support of union negotiators.

There was no violence and the demonstrators left after about 30 minutes.

Mr. Mackasey, said earlier this week that the union might have to settle for less than the original wage offer of $1.79 an hour over 30 months. He said the pay offer will be reduced if the union asked for more in other areas.

The workers, who now earn an average of $4.58 an hour, have asked for a 31-per-cent increase in a 27-month contract.

The union, without a contract for 10 months, also has asked for an end to the use of casual, non-union labor and has demanded the right to negotiate proposed technological changes in the post office.

Meanwhile, workers in some centres defied union leaders and remained on the job.

Inside workers at Thompson, in northern Manitoba, and at the southern Manitoba communities of Morden, Winkler, and Altona continued working Tuesday.

Most of the Manitoba postal workers still on the job said they are of the Mennonite faith and that striking is against their religion.

In Toronto Tuesday, a few businessmen gathered in front of a downtown hotel to protest the strike.

Same Canadian firms were conducting business almost as usual, mailing packages and letters through United States post offices after they were taken across the border by courier services.

Buffalo postmaster William Miller said that several Canadian companies "have couriers bringing the mail over the border, buying postage and mailing from here."

In Toronto, a spokesman for Canada's direct mail industry said Tuesday the industry is considering setting up its own delivery service for second and third class mail.

Pentagon Blushes Over Plan Of Invasion

WASHINGTON (Reuter) — Disclosure of United States Army plans for an invasion across the border separating Canada from the U.S. has caused embarrassment in the Pentagon.

The plans were drawn up in 1919 and stored in government archives until discovered last month by an historian from the University of Missouri. They suggested pincer movement thrusts into Manitoba and Saskatchewan and artillery bombardment by cannons mounted on railway freight cars.

The plans also contained a scenario for a U.S. retreat down the Missouri River in case of a Canadian invasion.

Said an army spokesman: "The 1919 plan was a specific plan to contend with a specific invasion in the Midwest. The Army has no such specific plans today."

Ottawa Runs $2.04 Deficit

OTTAWA (CP) — The government had a loss of $2.04 billion in its financial operations during the first half of the current fiscal year, compared with a surplus of $208 million in the corresponding year-earlier period, the finance department said Tuesday.

The government spent $14.80 billion during the six-month period, up from spending of $11.14 billion in the preceding year. It took in through taxes on personal, corporate and other income $12.76 billion, which was up from $11.35 billion a year earlier.

For September alone, there was a loss of $347 million, compared with a surplus of $112 million during September, 1974.

The finance department says amendments to the Old Age Security Act that became effective June 30 mean there no longer is an old age security fund. Accordingly, benefits paid are charged directly to government expenditures and sales, corporation and personal income taxes are no longer paid to the fund.

Herrema's Life May Be Saved

MONASTEREVIN, Ireland (AP) — Police appeared confident today that the kidnapping of Dutch industrialist Tiede Herrema is nearing a peaceful end. He has been held for 38 days.

Eddie Gallagher, 28, and Marian Coyle, 19, the Irish Republican Army kidnappers, were believed ready to surrender after negotiating a "no-shooting" deal with the police holding them and their captive for the ninth day.

A police source said the two guerrilla were assured they would not be shot if they surrender and Herrema is unharmed. They also were reminded that kidnapping in the Irish republic usually does not result in long imprisonment.

Herrema was seized Oct. 5 in Limerick, where he runs a Dutch-owned steel plant. Police found him with his two kidnappers in a two-storey row house in Monasterevin, 40 miles from Dublin, on Oct. 21, and have had them cornered on the second floor ever since.

British newspapers today praised the Irish government for not yielding to the kidnappers' demands for the release of Bridget Rose Dugdale, the English heiress-revolutionary, and two IRA guerrillas from prison.

Struggles in Vain

Throne Speech Termed Frugal

TORONTO (CP) — A one-word description for the opening Tuesday of the first session of the 30th legislature would be frugal.

There was none of the pomp and ceremony that marked the opening of the last session in March when Lieut.-Gov. Pauline McGibbon arrived at the legislature building in an open, horse-drawn carriage.

This time, Premier William Davis escorted Mrs. McGibbon on the short walk from her office to the assembly.

The throne speech she read to the legislature was brief—only seven pages. And the session is still also promises to be brief, likely ending in early December.

For the first time in 22 years, Progressive Conservative members attended a legislature opening at which they were dethroned.

The Conservatives won only 51 seats in the Sept. 18 election. The NDP became the official opposition with 38 seats while the Liberals ran third with 34.

Now, Ontario's economic uncertainty is matched by political uncertainty.

The main thrust of the throne speech dealt with inflation, mortgage interest rates, rents and tenant security. Mr. Davis also promised gun control legislation unless Ottawa acts soon.

Stephen Lewis, NDP Opposition leader, smiled broadly when his first duty as opposition leader was to help Mr. Davis escort Speaker Russell Rowe (PC—Northumberland) to his chair.

As he and Mr. Davis left the legislative assembly to collect Mr. Rowe, a Liberal member commented on what a "strange-looking sight" the two men presented.

While the two men are reported to share a mutual respect, their ideas on what shall be government policy differ widely.

Direct Mail Service Seeks Alternatives

TORONTO (CP) — Canada's direct mail industry is considering setting up its own delivery service for second and third class mail, an industry spokesman said Tuesday.

Ronald Adamson, president of Herbert A. Watts Ltd. of Toronto, said a similar service in the United States pays better wages than the post office, is cheaper and is more efficient.

Mr. Adamson said direct mail advertising probably amounts to 200 million mailings a year in Canada, and more than half of this is concentrated in major urban areas where volume can generate economies of scale.

Watts, along with other mailing houses, had to lay off staff because of the current postal strike, Mr. Adamson said he expects that even after the strike ends, there will be an embargo on all but first class mail for three to four weeks.

Moderate Immigration, Urges Critic Jake Epp

BY CLIFF KENYON
Staff Reporter

Canada has to opt for an immigration flow that is controlled and moderate, immigration critic Jake Epp (PC—Provencher) said in Belleville Tuesday.

"In the last few years Canada has accepted too many immigrants," said Mr. Epp at a meeting of the Belleville Kiwanis Club.

Growth he said, should be controlled, using a base of accepting 100,000 persons a year, the base would be reviewed by parliament annually.

"In Canada today with our high unemployment rate there is a feeling we have accepted too many immigrants in the last ten years, especially in the last three."

During the last three years about 200,000 persons came to Canada a year he said.

Immigrants often add to unemployment "pressures" by locating in areas where there are few jobs.

In the second quarter of 1975 he said, more than 51 per cent of immigrants settled in Ontario.

"Part of Canadian immigration policy should be to direct immigrants to where jobs are available and where they are needed."

He said although most immigrants still come from United Kingdom: "We are getting immigration from non-traditional countries."

Immigration of large numbers of persons from "non-traditional" countries and their concentration in Toronto and Vancouver have caused race and cultural differences in those cities.

"It's a remarkable change in traditional immigration," he said. "As a country we will have to work on the assimilation question."

Present immigration policy and the point system of accepting immigrants is "in many respects outdated, he said.

Potential immigrants must get 50 points out of 100 to be awarded immigrant status. Points are awarded on criteria such as family ties with Canada and education.

"Too much emphasis placed too much stress on formal education," Said Mr. Epp and not enough stress on a potential immigrant's trade or working skills.

"Canada, he said, must adopt an immigration policy more "responsive to our needs."

Immigration policy, he said, should not be part of foreign aid. Aid should be provided to the home country rather than accepting their best people and then immigration as a minitcule solution to world problems.

Orders Couple to Separate

ST. ALBANS, England (Reuter) — A judge has ordered a bell ringer and sister who fell in love and had a child to separate forever. Frederick Stevens, 29, and Shirley Boyce, 23, pleaded guilty Tuesday to infringing Britain's incest laws. The couple, who have the same father, fell in love after Mrs. Boyce's marriage broke up. She is expecting another child.

MD Director Praises Local Fire Department

By AL ZABAS
Staff Reporter

Muscular Dystrophy Association of Canada national field director David Taylor said Tuesday the Belleville fire department has shown the greatest enthusiasm and ingenuity in raising funds for the nationwide group.

Mr. Taylor was in Belleville to accept a $4,000 cheque from Tom Nobles, chairman of the fund raising committee for Local 407 of the International Fire Fighters Association.

He said the amount raised so far this year is one of the highest by the 30-member Belleville local in recent years. Funds have been collected over the past year through special events, individual donations and corporate gifts.

Tom Nobles said he expects further donations to come in before the year ends, but he made no estimate as to the amount.

"It's been the best year we've had so far," he said. The city department has been contributing to the muscular dystrophy association for about 20 years.

Mr. Taylor said this city's contributions have been consistently higher than other municipalities of similar size.

About 70 per cent of association funds — which in the 1974-75 fiscal year ending last March was roughly $1.6-million — come from firefighters across Canada, he said.

Most of the money, — 73 per cent — goes towards medical research for a cure to the disease. Another 14 per cent is spent on patient services — provision of wheel chairs and leg braces. Operating and administrative expenses eat up the remainder.

Jake Epp, (right) Progressive Conservative MP and immigration critic from the Manitoba riding of Provencher, said in Belleville that many Canadians feel too many immigrants have entered Canada in past years. He is with Jack Ellis, Progressive Conservative MP for Hastings.

Much of Red Cross Work Done Behind the Scene

There is an organization in Belleville which is out for blood.

It's the local branch of the Red Cross.If you have time and skills to volunteer, that will be appreciated also.

The 200 volunteer members of the Red Cross have a busy schedule trying to keep up with the demand the eight special services the Red Cross has.

The local branchwill celebrate its 50th birthday in 1978 and services are still expanding.

President Murray Workman organized a new service last month. It replaced the old penny—collecting in schools and is entitled the Youth Service.

"Instead of bringing money to school, the students make crafts and friendship bags to raise funds," he said.

Mr. Workman is also proud of their record in the blood donor service. The last clinic of the year just finished, showing a total of 2,500 units of blood collected this year — a 600 per cent increase from last year.

The other well known services the Red Cross offers are the homemaker service which operates under three programs: homecare, referral from welfare agencies and direct help; the water safety program; first aid courses for organizations and industries and the Emergency Aid where money is collected to help with emergency situations here such as a family burned out of their home.

But there are other services operating behind the scenes. Women's work is the combined effort of skilled women in Belleville who are dressed with raw materials by the Red Cross to make crafts. The funds collected from the sale of these items are directed to International Aim — a program that aids a country in time of disaster.

Then is also the loan cupboard program where items such as wheelchairs are circulated among out-patients from hospitals and the Internal Committee which sends volunteers to visit patients in the hospital.

One of the participating United Community Services (UCS) organizations the Red Cross depends on the United Way campaign for over half of its budget — this year set at $18,500.

The remaining expenses will be supplemented by the Ontario Division of the Red Cross and, said Mr. Workman, municipalities services by the Red Cross will be approached for aid. He said he anticipated $3,000 will be needed to operate the Red Cross in 1976.

Brakes Fail, Transport Hits Two Vehicles

PICTON — It was downhill all the way Tuesday afternoon when the brakes failed on a tractor-trailer unit parked at J.B. Cole Ltd., farm implements on York Street.

The truck owned by Foster Enterprises of Bedeskarbony rolled down the sloping street and collided with a car owned by Terry Whatlam of Picton. The car then was pushed forward and sandwiched between the tractor and a pickup truck owned by J.B. Cole Ltd.

Damage to the Whatlam vehicle was estimated by police at $1,500. Damage to the tractor and the pickup truck was minimal in the collision that occurred shortly before 3 p.m.

Pyrotenax Undergoing $1.4 Million Expansion

TRENTON — With little pomp or ceremony the Pyrotenax of Canada, plant here is currently engaged in a $1.4 million building and expansion program that will provide at least 15 more job opportunities for town residents.

The West Street company, a Canadian-owned subsidiary of the British firm-BICC, will be expanding into the manufacturing of stainless steel tubing in an effort to capture part of the 60 per cent imperi market for the product.

Currently, Ontario Hydro is the midst of a power station expansion program which has greatly increased the market size for stainless steel tubing.

"We hope to begin production by August, 1976, and the extensions to the existing building will add more than 30,000 square feet to our operation," said Albert Ward, president and general manager of the company.

There will be 28,000 squard feet of production space in the new addition on the back of the building and an additional 4,000 square feet on West Street which will become a new reception and service area," he said.

Currently, there are two other Canadian firms making the stainless steel tubing, which is used for heat transfer in the power stations and in pulp and paper mills.

"We will be using Canadian raw materials and we hope to reduce the necessity for the imports and if all goes according to plans we should be able to expa'y the operation by the addition of more machinery, which would create more jobs," Mr. Ward said.

Pyrotenax manufactures various types of cables and employs 175 workers in the present plant which was opened in 1954.

"We have been exploring for the last few years in find an area where we could expand and diversify our production and finally we decided that stainless steel tubing would be best," Mr. Ward said.

Mr. Ward said the town would not only benefit from the increase in the job market as local people will be trained to operate the new machinery, but also in the increase in revenue for the municipality and the PUC.

School Checking Attendance

PICTON — A daily attendance check now is made at Prince Edward Collegiate Institute to catch truants before it is too late to help them says principal Paul Burd.

Mr. Burd said the daily check is "a mammoth job" but it is worth the extra time involved in a long-term view.

Night Classes Popular

PICTON — Enrollment in night school classes at Prince Edward Collegiate Institute this year reached an all-time high with a total of 425 persons taking part in 22 different programs.

Kenzie MacDonald, a PECI teacher in charge of the night school classes, said this week registration was held Oct. 1 and programs now are in progress four nights weekly.

The fee schedule this year was raised to $15 a class and attendance has increased.

Mr. MacDonald added this year two new courses, one in canning and the other in leathercraft, have been introduced.

Soon a six week radio instructor course will be added, he said.

The night school classes include one credit course, grade 12 English.

Two Hurt In Crash

SPRINGBROOK — A Marmora Township woman, Marlene Carman, 51, was treated and released from Belleville hospital after sustaining head injuries in a three-vehicle collision on Highway 14, just south of here Monday.

Also treated for a neck injury by a local doctor was Robert Pitman, 37, of 42 Rodgers Dr., Stirling.

Police say a pickup truck hauling a cement mixer and driven by Douglas Fox, 41, of 39 Elizabeth St., Stirling was northbound when the following Pitman vehicle swung out to pass and was in collision with a vehicle driven by Leonard Carman, 68, of Marmora Township.

Total damage was estimated at $4,400.

Police have charged Pitman with careless driving.

Area Residents Learn History of Courthouse

BY MARG HAYLOCK
Staff Reporter

PICTON — The County as a Classroom, a community education program sponsored through the Prince Edward County Board of Education went to court Tuesday night to study police procedures.

The courtroom of the old Prince Edward County courthouse and jail became a classroom for an interested group of area residents who lined up on 19th century bustle benches to learn the policeman's role in law enforcement.

Community Services Officer with the Picton detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police, Constable Donald Walt outlined the history of the OPP in Prince Edward County and illustrated its work with a film.

Project co-ordinator for The County as a Classroom, Sue Greetham, traced the history of the old courthouse constructed here in 1832.

Mrs. Greetham noted that the courthouse was under construction for four years but who in use before its final completion in 1836.

The court house was constructed and commissioned during the reigns of William IV and the coat of arms over room is his.

There are no flags in the courtroom, however, as they would be incompatible with the royal coat of arms. If no coat of arms is present flags are acceptable.

The prisoner's box is a relic of the past, perpetuated until the present day. Its only utility is "to keep factious prisoners in subjugation."

The only change in the court room since it was first commissioned is the replacement of the ceiling with a tin ceiling.

Courthouse Is Classroom

Project co-ordinator for The County as a Classroom Sue Greenham reviews the history of the old Prince Edward County court house and jail with Constable Donald Walt of the Picton detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police and Sandra Beattie of RR 2, Picton Douglas Caley suggested the board's discretion would be involved in any steps to cancel route contracts.

It was noted if a bus company employee is responsible for departure from a traditional route the company's contract would not be cancelled.

project co-ordinator in Norwood. A study of police procedure also was part of the program.

Operators Told to Follow Established Bus Routes Only

PICTON — Bus operators holding contracts with the Prince Edward County board of education will be advised that any deviations from established bus routes will force cancellation of route contracts.

The decision was made this week during a meeting of trustees when a motion in favor of taking action against deviations from established routes was passed in a seven to four vote.

The Case of the Rookie Grit, His Aging 'Epic', and Our Aging Armed Forces

By RICHARD JACKSON
Ottawa Correspondent

OTTAWA — So you were skeptical than an infication of a Liberal parliamentarian's interest in the defence crisis was how 30-year-old army trucks related to the maintenance of his aging British-made sub-compact?

Well, just before the 30-per-cent-is-not-enough postal workers shut down the post office some expressions of doubt killed through the slow-moving mails.

Here then, for clinchers, is the record from the Hansard transcript of the commons defence committee. Backing up Victoria Conservative MP Alan McKinnon's claim that the Liberal disinterest in Canadian defence — a stance of indifference set by Prime Minister Trudeau — not only can be repealing? But at time downright frivolous.

Peter Alan Stollery, young hip-type Liberal MP for Toronto's Spadina riding, was the government backbencher who put the new high (or low) in his party's "boredom index" on defence.

The Hansard record reads:

Mr. Stollery: Mr. Chairman, who knows very little about the Canadian Armed Forces, and does not pretend to be any authority on the subject, I would like to ask the Defence Minister about the age of some of the equipment. Are Canadian army trucks as old as I have heard they are? Are they being used some of them been in use?

George Hees, former Conservative Trade Minister and World War Two active service field officer: There are some still operating from the end of the last world war.

Defence Minister Richardson: We are replacing many of our old trucks, but in answer specifically to your question I would have to say that some of them are certainly more than 30 years old.

Mr. Stollery: We actually have army trucks that are 30 years old? I don't mean to be facetious about it, but I have a car, a 1964 Envoy Epic, and I would like to know just how you keep these 1954 trucks running because I am having a hell of a time keeping my 1964 Envoy Epic running. I would appreciate any info mation that I could get that I could pass on to my mechanic.

Defence Minister Richardson: I think there are at least two good reasons. One; we have very good mechanics, and two; we do not have any Epic trucks.

Mr. Stollery: I would really like to know if there is any possibility, some detailed information as to how this is done. I am quite serious. It would app ieciate it because I have to buy a new engine for my car and I would like to know how they do it in the Armed Forces.

So Mr. Stollery wasn't joking — he meant it when he equated the antiquity of the Armed Forces trucks with the maintenance of his 11-year-old Envoy.

Neither is Alan McKinnon, graduate of the Army Staff College wartime field officer veteran and his party's defence critic, feeling when he got upset over Canada's now all but defenceless position.

"Since Pierre Trudeau came to power," he charges Alan McKinnon, "no equipment replacement program has been initiated. Now everything needs to be replaced; tanks, planes and ships."

He might have added officers and men to the list.

For through what must be calculated neglect, the government has permitted the attrition of retirement and other wastage to cut the Armed Forces from some 125,000 only a few years ago to a current 78,000.

Result, warns Alan McKinnon, has been that Canada not only can't fulfill Nato and North American Continental commitments, but can't even enforce sovereignty in the Arctic and along the coasts.

Alan McKinnon last month headed the Canadian delegation to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization meeting, and was confronted in the report of the Nato Military Committee with this paragraph:

"The situation regarding Canadian Military Forces is far from satisfactory — the strength of their active forces has been reduced and no decisions have been made to replace major items of equipment for land, sea and air operations which have become obsolete.

"A revival of Canadian forces this year is likely to substantiate even more the plight of the plains of Canada as a country determined to participate in and loyally carry out Nato and North American Continental commitments, but can't even enforce sovereignty in the Arctic and along the coasts.

Alan McKinnon last month headed the Canadian delegation to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization meeting, and was confronted in the report of the Nato Military Committee with this paragraph:

"The situation regarding Canadian Military Forces is far from satisfactory — the strength of their active forces has been reduced and no decisions have been made to replace major items of equipment for land, sea and air operations which have become obsolete.

"A revival of Canadian forces this year is likely to substantiate even more the plight of Canada as a country determined to participate in and loyally carry out Nato and North Nato, anxious to maintain economic links with Europe, but unwilling to make a contribution to collective defence commensurate either with these aspirations on her economic strength."

A strong indictment, that.

Written, says Alan McKinnon, by an Assistant Secretary General of Nato.

Shadow Over Olympics

Not so long ago the federal government was coming under fire for refusing to permit the United Nations International Conference on Crime to be held in this country with representation from the Palestine Liberation Organization.

The Trudeau government was scoffed at by armchair critics for being so close-minded as to not wave people in this country who have taken credit for plane hijackings, bombings, and other assorted acts of terrorism.

Some went so far as to call PLO representation would be a definite contribution towards the success of the conference.

And when the venue of the conference was subsequently changed to Geneva because of obvious Canadian displeasure with some of the invited guests, commentators chided Ottawa, noting that the PLO presence at the Swiss summit did not result in any incidents.

What people might have forgotten is that Switzerland is not going to be the site of the 1976 Olympics, Canada is.

They might also have forgotten that PLO guerrillas merciless slaughtered 11 Israeli athletes at the 1972 Munich Olympics Games.

What should sharpen everyone's memory is the revelation the Royal Canadian Mounted Police are investigating a plot allegedly involving Arab Canadians aiming to commit "a spectacular international act of terrorism" at the Montreal Games, in the words of an RCMP informant.

The Canadian-based conspirators are reportedly prepared to provide food, accommodation, transportation, and weapons for Arab terrorists who would infiltrate from abroad.

Let there be no doubt that Canadians abhor organizations like the PLO and everything they stand for, whether their fanatical rhetoric comes in backroom whispers or from pistol-packing spokesmen on the podium of the United Nations.

Choice Before Mankind

"Fortunately, the Germany of today does seem to have learnt the lessons of history, and so does portwar Japan. . ."

Thus wrote the great British historian, Arnold Toynbee, in an article entitled, "What Modern Man Must Learn from History," in the Japanese magazine PHP (Peace, Happiness, Prosperity) earlier this year.

Toynbee's death has been announced, but his wise counsels will be remembered. He once spoke of the "choices" facing mankind . . . that man has the power to create a better world if he would only choose wisely. A world free of war for one thing.

Yet as Toynbee points out in the article mentioned here, within the last 60 years there have been two world wars, and many lesser conflicts before them. He speaks also of forcible takeovers,

He includes in this category the "Plantation" of Ulster by British settlers three centuries ago, with resulting discord that persists to this day, the domination of Africans by white settlers, and what he calls "the most recent and most dangerous case of all . . . the supplanting of the Arab inhabitants of Palestine by Zionist Jewish settlers in what has now become Israel.

"Now remember, don't blow it — spaghetti an' meat balls Monday."

The Disillusionment of a Hockey Player

Kitchener - Waterloo Record

Ron Ellis, a 30-year-old veteran right winger with the Toronto Maple Leafs, stunned the club's management and the players when he announced his retirement from hockey.

The decision, made by an established professional with anywhere from six to years ahead of him at a salary the average working man can only dream about—the $100,000-a-year bracket—stunned a lot of fans as well.

However, one can believe Ellis when he gives as his reason the routine, his unhappiness with the lifestyle of today's players. Was he simply upset with Leaf management, or the fact that he was not chosen team captain, he presumably would have acted to be traded.

Ellis is not the only professional hockey player who quitted the game and walked with his lot, despite the big money. Some are showing disenchantment at a much earlier age. Last week a 20-year-old Vancouver player walked away from a $250,000 Montreal Canadiens' contract because hockey "isn't a game anymore, it's a serious business."

Robin Sadler, last year a high-scoring defenceman with the Edmonton Oil Kings, said he wants to become a fireman and has applied for a job with the North Vancouver fire department. His pay as a probationary fireman will be about $250 a week. That's not bad, but it's a far cry from the salary he rejected.

The cases show a deep disconnection on the part of some players with what they have found in hockey. It is not hard to guess that the disconnect has its roots in the hard - nosed business attitude that prevails at all levels today, and the winat-all-cost philosophy of so many owners, team managers, coaches and players.

Today In History

Citizens of Budapest celebrated the anniversary today—in 1956—of Russian tanks had left their city for good. Rioting had grown into a full-scale revolt against Russian occupying forces. A week later eight Russian divisions, seven armored, entered Budapest and placed James Kadar in power. About 150,000 Hungarians fled into exile.

Emphasis on Fuel Economy

The Christian Science Monitor

"At last a United States-made automobile has joined the ranks of cars with the best fuel economy in federal tests. The newly introduced Chevrolet Chevette tied for first place with two Japanese imports, Datsun and a Subaru.

Moreover, the mileage per gallon for 1976-model cars will average 12.8 percent more than for 1975 models, according to the Environmental Protection Agency. But the EPA figures, released recently, would be more encouraging if its tests had been made under actual driving conditions with all the vagaries of stop and go traffic and individual driving habits. The EPA tests do aim to taking such variables into account. But they are at best only approximations and the EPA warns that the results do not guarantee the same economy in normal driving.

Nevertheless the EPA results do reflect fairly well the fuel economy relationship between automobiles. And they suggest that Detroit's investment in better mileage has started to pay off.

Auto manufacturers still have a long way to go in achieving more adequate fuel economy, as this year's EPA findings indicate. But the EPA has obviously been some improvement — and that is good news. After all, there has been a lot of clamoring for improved fuel economy but the public for a number of years and the auto industry forced, with the federal government, faced with the serious threat of the energy crisis, has begun to respond.

Looking Backward

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FILES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO
October 29, 1955

Harold C. Bird, Stirling, was re-elected director of the Ontario Division, Retail Merchants Association of Canada at the recent convention. Over 500 grocers from the province attended.

30 YEARS AGO
October 29, 1945

With the use of fog lights as driving lights noted as being on the increase, provincial highway traffic officers today issued a warning to dim let motorists against this practice and stated that summons would be issued to those violating the practice. Lights used for driving must be equipped with dimmers or "ditching" apparatus, while fog lights must be so positioned that they will fall on the highway at a distance not greater than 75 feet in front of the car.

40 YEARS AGO
October 29, 1935

Between 7,000 and 8,000 people of Belleville will be able to vote in the coming municipal elections it was stated yesterday, following an official count on the voters' list now posted in the office of the city clerk.

50 YEARS AGO
October 29, 1925

Belleville General Hospital's audit has been completed and sent to city council by W.J. Nugent Receipts for the year ending September 30 were $82,400.50.

Minimum Building Standards

Editor,
The Intelligencer:

On November 12 a public meeting is to be held to allow the citizens of Belleville to examine one of the most irrelevant and vicious drafts of a proposed minimum standards by-law.

The old one was hurriedly put together, as we were told by our municipal meddlers that it was necessary to acquire grants from the provincial government. Former Mayor Robin Jeffrey assured us that we had nothing to fear from the provisions that ranged from being forced to repair our homes to ultimate demolitions for contraventions.

Now a so-called "new draft" is being considered. The only thing "new" appears to be the paper it is written on. The same vicious and irrelevant provisions are contained in the proposal.

There are 13 pages of "shall". The last page still provides for demolition, fines of up to $500 a day and compulsory entry.

The intriguing thing about this present piece of meddling is that the SPAC committee elected to sit down and draft this weapon with the aid of the Sub Dividers Union if ever there was one. Hmm if ever there was one.

Now that they have placed their stamp of approval on it a public meeting, that appears more as afterthought than anything else, has been called. Indeed, one gets the impression that Mayor Corke did not consider such course of action even necessary.

After all, how many citizens concerned with such things as termite shields, cornices, embatatures, curbeis etc. Not too many, I would suggest, of city council, I suspect. For what is contained in the proposal is mandatory for the installation of termite shields, ignoring the fact that the only termite seen in this area is of the two-legged variety.

In its present form this by-law could, if implemented, make most people in Belleville, either homeless or in debt for costly renovations or repairs.

It is a windfall for builders. They stand to make a fortune in new Standards by-law renovations. For those who choose not to comply the alternative could be fined, forced imprisonment or sale. This latter is of interest no doubt to the builders and developers. What a bonanza an opportunity for the developers to make low offers to harassed homeowners unable to meet the cost of renovations or sale. To need for such controversial things as fencing — just enforce the Standards Bylaw according to the book.

Of course, as it stands this latest piece of chicanery is not on the book books. The public should never allow this council, or any committee of council, in partnership with builders and developers to formulate such a piece of legislation. It is up to you, get to the meeting and let them know how you feel about it or face the prospect of being fenced in with termite shields, having your soil treated with poison, being forced to know how to paint, repair and maintain your property. Shades of Adolf Hitler.

A Single View of World History Is the Legacy of Arnold Toynbee

By JOHN D. HARBRON
Foreign Affairs Analyst
Thomson News Service

Only once did I meet the great, all-encompassing historian Arnold Toynbee who died last week in Britain at 86, and that was during a seminar for graduate history students at the University of Toronto in early 1948.

I don't think too many of us appreciated the man most of us would not see or engage in conversation again. He was perhaps, the greatest historian of this century, one of the great ones of history because he brought world history into a single view in a way no other historian had attempted it.

That world view of his 20 ascending and declining civilizations, their course directed more by spiritual values and by the whims of leaders than by the materialistic forces of Marxism, was the basis of his 57-by of History.

It began the 12-volume study in the mid-30s, completed the last one in 1961, but is best remembered by the stimulated reader for the fifty pieces of his works to that date published in a single volume under the same title.

The inspiration was one which might have come to a band of young British scholars of the late Edwardian era, steeped in a Greek and Latin they both read and spoke, products of elitist schools with a rigorous method for training and testing all of which resulted in the prescribed visit to the seats of antiquity, Greece, Crete and the Middle East.

But it was upon Toynbee the mantle of the mega-historian would fall. Clue the muse of history inspiring him in 1912 as he realized how many of the world's great empires were thalassocracies sea powers like the sprawling British Empire of that year.

And the place to story goes, was a Cretan coastline. Toynbee was not a prophet and could see the collapse of all of Europe's 19th century empires before it happened in the crucible of the First World War.

But as scholar, foreign office research specialist and author, he pass of the mid-20th century events confirmed his basic views that the European civilizations which he represented would decline, too, and that it had already powerful influences on Islamic, African, Chinese, Japanese and South East Asian civilizations.

What were these, then? How did they too emerge and what relation did they share with each other?

The formula for the forthcoming million words was established in 1921, not to be changed much as he wrote his opus, Toynbee would go up in later years.

He was of course, attacked by scholars, intellectuals and all the others who functioned within the pigeonholes of ideas and concepts of a single civilization namely our own Anglo-Saxon environment.

The University of Toronto history faculty where he came in 1948, was the one and the same which rejected emerging history courses in equally emerging university Middle Eastern, Chinese and Russian departments.

Yet at the same time it could offer year-long harrow course on, say, the Franco-German relations from Charlemagne.

That harrow course offering was a mere flash in the pan of historical study compared to Toynbee's, brilliant analysis of say, the interrelations of Byzantine Christian empire of Byzantium, discovered by the dynamic and fundamentalist Turkish hordes when they conquered Constantinople in 1453 and which gave a major seat of Islam. And so forth.

In our age when intellectual ideas circumvent not only our universe but also outer space, Toynbee was the precursor—of the mind-bending of a Bronowski, a Kulikovsky or a McLuhan. While setting a single stage "to understand all of man's past, Toynbee visualized a very discomforting future for man, assuming that a single civilization in his theory could survive and make it through the night.

Super Sunshine Way to Save Fuel

VICTORIA (CP) — Timothy Troussell plans to save a bit on fuel bills by letting Old Sol to work at his Vancouver Island home.

He doesn't know how much he'll save but he'll find out after he builds the island's first solar-heated home on his 30-acre farm near Duncan, B.C., 36 miles north of here.

Mr. Troussell, 49, said heating homes with solar energy is well-established in some parts of the United States, but climatic conditions differ from areas to area. We don't know yet how efficiently the system will work here. It's an experiment."

A solar heat collector, designed by Christopher Matlock, a Vancouver architect, and Paul Summerlin, an engineer and carpenter from Hornby Island, will be monitored by the British Columbia Hydro and Power Authority, he said.

One object of the experiment is to build a solar energy system which the average person can afford. Mr. Troussell estimates it will cost about $4,000.

When the project is completed and in operation, Mr. Troussell says the information will be available to any person interested in building a similar solar-heated home.

"I have been interested in solar energy for some time. With the rising costs of fuels, I think more and more people are going to make use of the sun," he said.

Mr. Matlock, the architect, thinks Mr. Troussell will save between $300 and $400 a year in fuel costs and in 10 years the system will have paid for itself.

He said the solar heat will have to be augmented with electricity during colder months — between 25 and 40 per cent over a year.

"Solar radiation differs from month to month," he said. "For example, a computer study based on climatic conditions indicates the system should produce about 50 per cent of the heat in December and January, and 75 per cent in February.

"But this is based on climatic conditions, not on the solar radiation for this particular site," he added. "This has yet to be monitored."

Engineer Paul Summerlin said the house will be insulated for solar heating, which will also supply hot water for the household. The roof will have eight inches of insulation and the walls and floors six inches.

The solar heat collector is a wall 40 feet long and 20 feet high, standing at an angle of 67 degrees from the horizontal so it can absorb maximum solar energy during the winter months.

Running on top of the collector is a copper pipe, dripping water on corrugated iron panels. The collecting wall is covered with a sheet of plastic material which traps the rays of the sun and heats the water which is conveyed to an underground tank.

The tank is surrounded by gravel — a good heat conductor. The air in the gravel heats up and is sucked into the house.

The hot water system is separate. Water runs in copper coils immersed in the hot water in the tank and pumped into the house. The water comes from a separate source — not the tank.

Basically, that's it. Heating can also be regulated and the system can be used in summer for cooling the house.

Mr. Summerlin says there is nothing difficult or complicated in constructing a solar heating system.

"Some people are hesitant about adopting the system because it requires a capital outlay," he said, "But it pays and reduces to a large extent, the use of other heating fuels."

Mr. Troussell and his two daughters, Bridget, 17, and Ann, 22, live in a barn pending construction of their home. Mr. Matlock and Mr. Summerlin shared a tent on the same property.

"The single-storey, three-bedroom home won't be totally independent. Hydro power will be needed to pump the water but wind power might be a solution for the future.

"My guess is that in five to 10 years a system as cumbersome as this will be obsolete. But if everyone sits back and waits for the ultimate system to be invented, we'll never get anything done."

'Pretty Face Not Important'

Dentists Told at Meeting

CHICAGO (AP) — Two dentists say orthodontists should be more concerned about fixing crooked teeth than creating pretty faces.

Two dentists, brothers Sheldon and Harvey Peck, told the annual meeting of the American Dental Association Monday many orthodontists, dentists who specialize in correcting malocclusions and other dental problems, feel facial aesthetics is one of their primary concerns.

However, "the face will usually take care of itself," said Harvey Peck in an interview. orthodontists should concern themselves primarily with dental problems.

The Pecks, orthodontists on the faculty of the Boston University school of graduate dentistry, said most patients treated by orthodontists are in puberty or adolescence and in the midst of active growth and maturation.

It is not possible to make a dental correction which accurately envisages the contour the face will later have, because the soft tissue of the face is not fully formed in the young patients, they said.

Ann Landers

To Be Treated Like a Lady You Must Look Like One

Dear Ann Landers: I would like to comment on that letter written by a teen-age girl who complained about the terrible manners of the men-age boys in her school. She gave as an example the way the boys shove the girls around and elbowed in front of them to get a seat on the school bus.

Our children are grown but in "my day" (I know how teenagers hate this phrase) we had no such problem. Why? Because boys looked like boys and girls looked like girls and they behaved like young ladies.

Today almost every girl I see looks like "one of the guys" in her jeans or overall or hip-hugs, denim shirt, hippie jacket and cowboy hat. After all, Ann, when a girl looks like "one of the guys" she shouldn't be surprised if she is treated like one if I'm wrong, tell me. If I'm right, tell THEM.—Female Of Yesteryear

Dear Yester: Your point is well taken but I'm sure thousands of teen-agers out there are just aching to provide a rebuttal to your letter. I'll print the best one.

Dear Ann Landers: Thank God for your column. Until I read your statement that chlorine injections were illegal, I didn't know it. A girlfriend of mine has been getting them for several weeks and I was considering some for myself. I am 18 years old and very flat-chested.

Will you please tell me which of the best developers (creams and exercisers) advertised in the magazines are best? Also, where can I find out about those silicone implants?—Flat And Undeformed

Dear F. The creams and so-called "best developers" you see advertised in magazines are a crock of cranberries. The only people who profit from them are the manufacturers. Their claims DO increase the bank balance.

As for the silicone implants, ask your family doctor to recommend a plastic surgeon who does this type of work. Or write to the head of the department of surgery at a university medical school. Silicone implants are illegal, safe and thousands of women have been very pleased with the results.

Are Bright

MONTREAL (CP) — A McGill University test, carried out on Montreal primary school children, showed those educated simultaneously in two languages are brighter and more enterprising than others.

Phoney Fund Raisers Solicit by Telephone

TORONTO (CP) — The phony fund-raising season has arrived, Consumer Minister Sidney Handleman warned Monday.

The minister said Ontario residents should give only to charities they are familiar with and be wary of telephone solicitations.

"People like to give to charities, especially at this time of year," Mr. Handleman said. "And while many legitimate charities do a lot of worthwhile work, the phoney charity operator knows how to take advantage of people's generosity."

The most common scheme, the minister said, involves random phone calls asking people if they would like to buy a ticket to send underprivileged children to a circus, skating carnival, Christmas or Halloween party.

Quinte Apples: Better Than Ever and Cheaper, Too

There's a vast supply of apples this year and coupled with apples still in storage from last year's crop, consumers are in for a bargain.

If you're buying now — for as little as $1 a bushel for grounders you pick up yourself — be sure you know how to store. Apples like 32 to 40 degree temperatures and the dark. If you're going to freeze apples, choose Northern Spy, Wealthy and McIntosh. Northern Spy apples keep for three months without freezing, longer than delicious varieties.

To freeze, select firm ripe apples and slice them into a brine (two teaspoons salt to one quart water). Do not allow them to soak for more than a few minutes. Drain and pack in dry sugar (four cups apples, one cup sugar) or simply sprinkle with ascorbic acid and pack in bags.

Tub new types of apples available this year are Mared, a firm tart apple which stores well and Mutsu, a yellowish orange apple which is excellent for baking.

Apple Cheese Bread

¼ cup shortening
two-third cup sugar
1½ cups, (4 medium) grated apples
¼ cup grated sharp Cheddar cheese
¼ cup chopped walnuts
2 cups all-purpose flour
1¼ tsp. baking powder
½ tsp. baking soda
½ tsp. salt
Cream shortening, beat in sugar. Add eggs, mix well. Blend in apples, cheese and nuts. Add sifted dry ingredients, mix lightly. Turn this stiff batter into a well-greased 9 x 5 x 3-inch loaf pan. Bake at 350° for 50 to 60 minutes.

Apple Almond Squares

½ cup butter
1 cup sugar
2 eggs
2 cups graham cracker crumbs
½ cup all-purpose flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons ground cinnamon
1 cup milk
4 medium apples, peeled, cored, finely chopped
¾ cup chopped blanched almonds
1 teaspoon powdered sugar

Beat butter and sugar together until creamy. Add eggs, one at a time. Beat well after each addition. Mix together; crumbs, flour, baking powder, salt and spices; stir into the batter mixture, together with the milk until blended. Stir in the apples and almonds. Grease and flour a 9 x 13 inch baking pan. Spread batter evenly in pan. Bake at 350F for 35 minutes, or until a wooden pick inserted in the centre comes out clean. Dust with powdered sugar before serving.

Old Fashioned Applesauce

8 medium McIntosh apples cut into eights
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup water
¼ to one-third cup corn syrup
¼ teaspoon cinnamon (optional)

Put apples, salt and water into saucepan. Cover. Cook over low heat until puffy and tender, (15 to 20 minutes). Press through a sieve. Stir in corn syrup (one-third cup is 2½ cups applesauce). Sprinkle cinnamon over top if desired.

Makes about 2½ cups.

Colonial Apple Pudding

1 cu pitiely diced dried apples
1 cup light molasses
1 teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon powdered cloves
2 cups well-drained sauerkraut
2 tablespoons firmly-packed brown sugar
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 egg, well-beaten
1½ cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon baking soda

Stew dried apples, drain well, reserving ½ cup of water used in preparation. Combine apples, molasses spices, sauerkraut, brown sugar and reserved water; mix well. Bring to boiling point over medium heat. Remove from heat; stir in butter and beaten egg. Combine flour and baking soda, blend into apple mixture. Spoon into greased 1½ quart baking dish. Bake at 325 for 45 minutes. Serve warm with plain cream or cool with whipped cream. Makes eight servings.

Granola Baked Apples

4 cooking apples
½ cup granola cereal
2 tbsp. brown sugar

Core apples. Cut out centre of apples to leave a ½-inch shell. Chop ¼ cup apple from centre and reserve. Cut a strip of peel ½ inch wide around top peel ½ inch wide around top of apple. In medium bowl mix granola, reserved ½ cup chopped apple, and brown sugar. Fill scooped out apples. Place in a shallow baking dish; add ¼ inch water to bottom. Cover and bake in 350 degree F. oven 45 minutes, or until apples are tender. Serve with sour cream. Serves four.

French Apple Tart

10 cups sliced pared cored apples
(about 3 medium apples)
¾ cup sugar, divided
1 tsp. cinnamon
1 tbsp. fresh lemon juice
6 tbsp. butter or margarine, melted

In large bowl mix apple slices with ½ cup sugar, cinnamon and lemon juice. Sprinkle ¾ cup sugar on bottom of well-greased nine-inch pie plate. Spoon one-third of apple mixture over sugar, drizzle 2 tbsp. butter over apples, layer another one-third of apples over butter, drizzle with 2 tbsp. additional butter, repeat with remaining apples and butter. Sprinkle remaining ¼ cup sugar over apples. Cover with Butter pastry and seal edge around rim of pie plate. Make three slits in centre of pastry. Bake in 375 degree F. oven 45 to 60 minutes. Remove from oven and place serving platter on top of pie, invert and serve warm. Serves eight.

Butter Pastry

1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
½ tsp. grated lemon rind
1 tbsp. sugar
¼ tsp. salt
¼ cup cold butter
2 tbsp. vegetable shortening
2 tbsp. cold water

In large bowl mix flour, lemon rind, sugar and salt. Cut in butter and shortening with a pastry blender or two knives, until mixture resembles coarse meal. Sprinkle water over dough and mix well. Roll out on lightly floured surface into 11-inch circle.

Apple Fudge Cake

2 cups sifted flour
1 tsp. salt
1 tsp. baking powder
1 tsp. cinnamon
½ tsp. baking soda
½ tsp. nutmeg
2 tbsp. cocoa
¼ cup cold butter
1 cup sugar
3 eggs
1 tsp. vanilla
two-thirds cup milk
2 cups peeled and grated apples
(about 4½ to 5 medium)

Sift together dry ingredients. Set aside. Cream butter and sugar. Add eggs one at a time, beating well. Beat in vanilla. Add dry ingredients to creamed mixture alternately with milk. Stir in apples. Spread in lightly greased 9 x 13 x 2-inch pan. Bake at 350 degrees F., for 35 to 40 minutes. Cool and cut into bars. Makes 36 slices.

Zylstra — Reid

Elizabeth Ann Reid and Jacob William Zylstra were married early in October at Christ Church, Belleville.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Reid, the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Zylstra, Picton.

Rev. Canon R.B. Wright officiated.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a peau de soie gown trimmed with daisy braid and featuring a sweetheart neckline. A daisy fabric head piece caught her three tiered tulle veil. She carried white silk carnations and yellow roses.

Lillian Reid, maid of honor and the bride's sister, wore a tangerine and white halter dress with tangerine bolero jacket, and wide brimmed hat. She carried a basket of dried yellow and bronze straw flowers. Patricia Reid and Sandra Sinclair were similarly dressed in bronze.

Scott Reid, the bride's brother, was best man. Ushers were the groom's brothers Arnold and Eric.

A reception was held at the Knights of Columbus.

The couple resides in Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Zylstra

Jeffery — Kincaid

St. Paul's Anglican Church, Roslin, was the scene of the October wedding of Evelyn Elaine Kincaid, Roslin, and James Howard Jeffery, Milford.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Kincaid, Roslin; the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Jeffery, Milford.

Rev. Gordon Kinkley officiated.

Given in marriage by her mother and father, the bride wore a cream colored satin gown with sweetheart neckline and empire waist. Her waist length veil was held in place by a lace and satin crown. She carried red roses with red ribbons.

Attendants were Dianne Levesque and Lynn McKenzie, who were attired similarly to the maid of honour.

A dinner was held at St. Paul's Anglican Parish Hall.

After a wedding trip to points north, the couple look up residence in Cherry Valley.

Meneely Murder Trial Expected to Go to Jury Today

By ROBIN CHASE
Staff Reporter

Jeremiah Joseph Arthur Meneely, 19, of RR 9, Peterborough testified during his murder trial here Tuesday that he lied to police officers about the location from where he shot his father because the truth would have been too fantastic to be believed.

Meneely is on trial for murder punishable by life imprisonment in connection with the shooting death of his 46-year-old father, James Meneely in their Hawdon Township farmhouse at RR 4, Marmora on Aug. 1, 1973.

The trail enters its seventh day today before Ontario Supreme Court Justice Lawrence Pennell of Toronto and a 12-member jury at the Hastings County Courthouse.

Justice Pennell was to deliver his charge to the jury late this morning after which the jury was to begin deliberations.

Meneely spent about two hours under cross-examinations by both his lawyer, Rosalind Thomas of Toronto and crown attorney Glenn Deline of Belleville. Two witnesses were heard briefly. Crown and defence summaries in the afternoon closed out the session.

Meneely admitted through Mr. Thomas earlier in the trial that he was holding a .12 - gauge, single-barrel shotgun while in the farmhouse attic when it discharged, hitting his father in the chest.

However, he has pleaded not guilty to intent to perform the act.

Police testimony has revealed the elder Meneely was shot in the laundry room where a hole in the ceiling opens into the attic.

Police have also testified that Meneely told Ontario Provincial Police officers shortly after the shooting that he was walking through a doorway between a kitchen and the laundry room when he tripped on the doorway lip and the gun, loaded and cocked, discharged while his father was walking towards him.

Undercross-examination by Mr. Thomas Meneely said he was in the house loading the shotgun following instructions from his father to place some groundhogs in a nearby field. His father was working at an outside shed at the time.

"When I was putting the shell in the gun, I heard a noise upstairs," he said. "I assumed that it was mice I went through the kitchen and into the laundry room and up the ladder."

Meneely related he had cocked the gun and was holding it in his right hand with his fingers around "the trigger area" as he climbed the vertical ladder and walked across floor joices in the attic to search for the source of the noise.

He said when he did not find anything, he walked back toward the ladder to exit. He said he could see through an attic window his father approaching the house with his nephew, Stanley Wright, 20, who lives about four miles from the Meneely farm.

Meneely said when he had gone to get the gun, he rested and drank a coffee, so when he saw his father coming, he knew he should go downstairs quickly to avoid an argument.

"I knew I'd have to get my two cents in so he (father) wouldn't blow up at me for spending so much time in the house," he testified.

"I was going to the edge of the attic, where it's been pointed out, 'the hole in.' Meneely said. "I had to be careful walking across the beams."

He said he believes he tripped on a coil of wire, fell forward onto a beam near the hole, causing the gun to discharge.

"I seen my father and he put his hand over his chest," Meneely described. "I heard him scream and he just went back."

He said he told Wright, who had not entered the house when the shooting occurred, "that I tripped coming out of the kitchen on the bottom lip of the door," and admitted he made the same statement two days later to police investigators.

He said he did not disclose the actual happening until February, 1974, when he was living in Belleville and was visited by a provincial police inspector from Toronto and another officer.

Meneely testified he explained to police he had fabricated the first story because the attic version did not sound true and he wanted to be believed.

Meneely denied telling an earlier witness, Bobbie Thompson, 16, of Campbellford, on the evening before the shooting that he had ESP and had seen he would hurt his father in an accident.

He testified he had said, "I felt something was going to happen. I didn't mention people or places."

He also said he did not remember seeing Miss Thompson later on the day of the shooting and telling her what he had said the night before had come true.

Under cross-examination by Mr. Deline, Meneely said he did not recall telling his first story on the day of the shooting to two police officers and an ambulance attendant and also did not recall the appearance of the coroner.

In addition, he said he did not recall visiting a friend's home the next day and telling two people he had shot his father and would be a millionaire.

When Mr. Deline asked if he was inebriated that day, Meneely replied, "sir, I have not had reports to read over to refresh my memory as other people have had. And I am telling you, I do not recall having made that visit."

When asked why he had lied about the shooting, he said, "I'd stuck to one story, maybe everybody would believe me. It was my judgement at that time."

"I was what I consider in a state of shock and made very bad decisions," he remarked.

Mr. Deline asked about the angle of the shotgun blast when it struck the elder Meneely's chest. Previous testimony has indicated the blast was from above downwards.

"I'm not a ballistics expert," Meneely said. "I wouldn't know."

"I'm sorry," Mr. Deline responded, "I was wrong."

During his summation, Mr. Thomas told the jury, "no doubt about it, he (Meneely) shouldn't have taken the gun up in the attic, but it happened."

He said the length of time during which Meneely stuck to his first version of the shooting was "reasonable." "Have any of you ever been caught in a lie?" he asked.

Mr. Thomas said there is no evidence of bad blood between Meneely and his father. "It doesn't exist," he said. "What did exist was a strong bond of love between them."

Noting that Meneely's mother had died in November, 1972, Mr. Thomas said, "there is a young man who had only one person left — his father. The Crown would have you believe this (Meneely) is a greedy monster who wanted the farm and assets."

He asked the jury not to believe Miss Thompson's testimony, said she had a smiling look when she was in the witness box and questioned her awareness of the seriousness of the trial.

He said Meneely's statement of protection of a feeling he her was "blown up into illusions by some fanciful young girl. Her credibility can't be trusted. I ask you to totally disregard the evidence."

Mr. Thomas said Meneely's lack of total recall is because "that's the most tragic day of his entire life. He's had two years to blot this out of his mind."

About Meneely's confrontation with Mr. Deline during testimony, he commented, "he wasn't a perfect witness but there never is one. He's just the young man that he is."

Pointing out that Meneely currently resides with friends although his father has two sisters and a brother surviving, Mr. Thomas asked, "have you heard any evidence that any of them wanted to take him into their home?" He said Meneely's relatives did not believe him.

He said "there was plenty of doubt" during the police investigation whether a charge should be laid. The charge was not laid until Aug. 31, 1974.

Calling it a suspicious case, Mr. Thomas asked if any jury could "convict a man of the most heinous crime known to our law — murder of his own father — on suspicion?"

"If this young man was going to murder his father, would he do it with a witness present — one he could see through the window coming with his father to the house?" he queried. "They (father and son) lived alone. He could do it anytime."

Mr. Deline said during his summation, "it should be difficult to understand" why Meneely would climb a ladder and walk in the attic on uneven footing with a cocked gun.

He said Meneely did not fall through the hole himself when he said he tripped "because he was in a hurry." Asked why of them wanted to take him into their home?" He said Meneely's relatives did not believe him.

Mr. Deline said during his summation, "it should be difficult to understand" why Meneely would climb a ladder and walk in the attic on uneven footing with a cocked gun.

Regarding Meneely's statement that he held the gun with his hand on the trigger area, Mr. Deline said the accused had to have his finger on the trigger because "some pressure has to be applied to that trigger."

He said Meneely knew he was major beneficiary to his father's estate well before the shooting and that Meneely resented his father's planned marriage to a Brighton woman because he was afraid he would lose the farm.

About the presence of Wright at the scene, he said, "he (Wright) was a friend. He was recruited as a lar and followed through to some point."

Mr. Deline asked the jury to consider Miss Thompson's testimony and said, "I am so bold as suggesting to you that when he spoke to that girl that he was preparing a defence."

He said the discharge which killed the elder Meneely was designed as one shot from close range "because you can't have two or three (shots) in an accident."

U.S. Tradesmen Help Build Chemical Refinery

SARNIA, Ont. (CP) — Tradesmen from the United States are helping build the world-scale petrochemical refinery of Petrosar Ltd., an influx that might reach 2,000 before the project is completed in 1977.

It worries company and trade union officials who anticipate they will be able to maintain labor requirements, although not solely from the Canadian work force.

"A big concern is labor supply, both in quantity and mix," John Sheehan, Petrosar vice-president, said during a recent tour of the 800-acre plant site, four miles south of here.

"There are workers from the U.S. coming in now and there will be more."

While the current work force at Petrosar is about 2,000, both company and union officials are vague on the number of Americans involved.

Bruce Blackwell, president of the Sarnia Trade and Labor Council, estimates the Americans, all skilled tradesmen, at about 150.

His council, working with Canada Manpower, approves all workers for the construction, domestic and foreign.

"We have permission to bring in 1,100 U.S. tradesmen if it is a shortfall of workers," Mr. Blackwell said. "But no Americans workers will be brought in until we've exhausted the Canadian supply."

His office has been under severe pressure from workers in adjoining Michigan State, which has a serious unemployment problem. "We've been bombarded with requests from the other side (Michigan). You just wouldn't believe it."

Time Magazine Director Criticizes Censorship

CALGARY (CP) — Hugh Findlay, vice-president and advertising sales director of Time Canada, said Tuesday the federal government's move to regulate magazine content is "outrageous" and amounts to censorship of the press."

He said that if classified as a foreign publication, the magazine "could lose up to two-thirds of its advertising revenue"—which amounted to $10 million gross last year—in Canada.

Mr. Findlay, commenting on Revenue Minister Bud Cullen's announcement last week on qualifications as a Canadian publication, said Time is "finding it extremely difficult to meet the 80-per-cent difference requirement."

Under the new rules, 80 per cent of the material in Time and Reader's Digest must be different from anything in their non-Canadian editions in order for them to qualify as Canadian publications. Otherwise, advertisers will not be able to claim tax deductions for money spent on advertising.

Meanwhile, in Moncton, N.B., Peter Mayer, publisher of Avon Books in New York, said: "It is outrageous to restrict the free flow of ideas. Government is trying to help Canadian culture and they should, but not by restrictions and restraints."

Speaking at a convention of the Periodical Distributors of Canada, he suggested the government could subsidize Canadian publications.

Hockey Players May Face More Charges

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario Attorney-General Roy McMurtry said Tuesday police and Crown attorneys in Ontario have been instructed to lay more charges against professional hockey players who commit criminal offences on the ice.

Mr. McMurtry said he said he gave the order to crack down on violence in the game because he is concerned that millions of television viewers—particularly young children—see players commit acts which breach the Criminal Code of Canada.

He said the National Hockey League (NHL) and the World Hockey Association (WHA) were notified of the order by telegram.

Last year, Mr. McMurtry's brother, William, prepared a report on violence in amateur hockey for the province.

Since that time, Premier William Davis and former Attorney-General John Clement—defeated in last month's provincial election—have said they would not consider having police enforce the law at hockey games.

Mr. McMurtry said his understanding of the law indicates more charges should be laid for violations. He said a Crown attorney has been asked to prepare a report on what charges have been laid in the past.

Earlier this week, WHA star Bobby Hull sat out one game in what Mr. McMurtry said was a worthwhile form of protest against violence.

However, Mr. McMurtry said the NHL has demonstrated more concern than the WHA over the growing incidence of violence.

William McMurtry's report said there is no reason why fighting, intimidation or using a stick to injure other players should be tolerated.

The report said hockey is the only sport where physical intimidation outside the rules is encouraged and that such encouragement leads to the glorification of players who participate in brawls.

Placed In Archives

WINNIPEG (CP) — The Manitoba Women's Institute has established a provincial archives in the provincial government's archives building. The records will be collected from district and local institutes.

Given Grant

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario Arts Council has awarded a grant to the Playwrights Co-op to co-ordinate a women's playwrights competition. Women are to be the focus of one-act and full length plays, with women as the major characters.

Mayor Visits

MONTREAL (CP) — Jocelyn Sundius Smith, mayor of the borough of Kensington and Chelsea in London, will visit Quebec City, Montreal Ottawa and Toronto next month. Mrs. Sundius-Smith will be raising funds for a double-decker bus renovated to hold games and toys and travels in London to areas without playgrounds.

Many Jailed

HALIFAX (CP) — A mock jail was recently set up in a shopping mall and Halifax firefighters in a fund-raising drive for muscular dystrophy sold warrants entitling the buyer to be hauled off to jail. Among those handcuffed and placed behind bars were John Buchanan, Nova Scotia Progressive Conservative leader, and provincial Labor Minister Walter Fitzgerald.

Gillespie Calls for Conservation

EDMONTON (CP) — Energy conservation is a key part of the federal government's restraint program, Alastair Gillespie, federal mines and resources minister, said Tuesday.

"I can't think of a more attractive way to exercise restraint," Mr. Gillespie told the Men's Canadian Club.

Canada's annual growth rate in energy use during the 1960s, he said, was about five per cent. If that rate could be reduced to four per cent by 1985 and three per cent by 2000, Canada could save as much as $30 billion.

"It would be madness not to start now when the signs are so clear that we have got to change our energy-consuming attitude."

Ouellet Defends New Board

SAINT JOHN, N.B. (CP) — The anti-inflation board will not be an economic czar, but will be more of an economic watchdog and conciliator, Andre Ouellet, minister of consumer and corporate affairs, said Tuesday.

Mr. Ouellet told the Saint John Board of Trade there will be emphasis on voluntary compliance with the guidelines, rather than detailed regulations.

"A major purpose of the board will be to clarify and interpret the application of the new guidelines," he said.

"It will monitor the actions of the pace-setters in the economy, the big firms and the major wage settlements. Others will be asked to comply voluntarily with the guidelines."

GM Sales Up 20 Per Cent

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors Corp. said Tuesday its third-quarter earnings increased about 14 times from last year's levels to $363 million and its sales were up 39 per cent for the period.

Chrysler Corp. reported a record $79-million loss in earnings for the period.

Ford Motor Co. will release its third-quarter financial results Thursday and financial analysts predict the firm will show a drop in profits

Spain Puts Army in Sahara to Prevent Uprising

EL AAIUN (AP) — Spain has put its army in the Spanish Sahara on the alert, imposed a dusk-to-dawn curfew and ordered native troops disarmed in an attempt to head off an uprising by Algerian-backed nationalists opposed to Spanish plans to transfer the colony to Morocco and Mauritania.

Spanish spokesmen said the government feared "terrorist attacks" by the Marxist Polisario Front, which wants independence for the phosphate-rich territory on the northwest coast of Africa.

The precautions were ordered after an anti-Moroccan demonstration in El Aaiun Monday by 6,000 persons. Spanish troops patrolled the streets of the colonial capital, searching everyone encountered after dark. Families of all Spanish personnel were grouped together in several sections of the town so they could be protected.

Spanish troops were ordered to occupy strategic positions scattered throughout the territory.

Spanish officers reported armed anti-Moroccan tribesmen were 20 miles from the border with Morocco. It was believed they might be preparing for guerrilla attacks on the army of unarmed Moroccan civilians. King Hassan II of Morocco says he is going to lead into the Spanish Sahara to reinforce his claim to the area.

Although Spain is ready to relinquish the territory, it originally disputed the claims of Morocco and Mauritania and proposed that a self-determination referendum be held. But when much of the Arab world sided with Hassan and his plan for the civilian march and a claim was threatened, the Spanish reversed their policy and opened negotiations to transfer the territory to the two neighboring claimants.

Hassan said Monday that the march will begin about Nov. 6 and that Moroccan army units will go along to protect the unarmed civilians. He said if guerrillas from the Polisario Front attack the marchers, his army will treat them as bandits.

More than 150,000 Moroccans have assembled at Tarfaya, on the Moroccan side of the border, for the march, and thousands more are arriving every day. Also camped there are members of a pro-Moroccan group in the Spanish Sahara, the Front for Liberation and Unity, whose leaders contend that most of the 80,000 people of their homeland side with them.

A blinding sandstorm raged Tuesday, knocking out communications for several hours and delaying shipments of food and other supplies. But officials said there were no casualties and that the delays caused no hardships.

Wells Pessimistic Over Teacher Settlements

TORONTO (CP) — Education Minister Thomas Wells said Tuesday it might take Metro school teachers up to 1½ years to reach a final pay settlement through the federal anti-inflation board.

He said the many appeal procedures written into the new legislation could cause such a delay. It was essential that the teachers' settlement be governed by the board so that all public and private groups be treated equally, he said.

"The focus is on Metro teachers right now," he said, adding that some people "forget about the 99 or so private groups around the province whose contracts are also under negotiation."

Mr. Wells said he does not anticipate a teacher strike lasting 1½ years. He recommended that a contract with the board of education be concluded as soon as possible and then taken to the anti-inflation board.

He said that if the settlement is above the federal guidelines, he believes the board may pay it until the federal government

9 Companies Sold To Foreign Investors

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal government has allowed foreign investors to take over nine companies, but blocked a purchase by one more, the federal investment review agency said Tuesday.

In a statement on recent decisions, the agency said it rejected a bid by DeLaval Turbine Inc. of Princeton, N.J., to acquire Tirtec companies in Cambridge, Ont. The companies were Williams Machines Ltd., True Forge Ltd. and some assets of the material processing division of Havilk Enterprises Ltd., all involved in custom machine work for the aircraft and other manufacturing industries.

Takeovers approved by the agency included:

—A proposal by CIBA-GEIGY Corp., a U.S. company wholly owned by CIBA-GEIGY Ltd. of Basel, Switzerland, to acquire control of Airken of Canada Ltd. in Mississauga, Ont. Airtekn was controlled by Airwick Industries Inc. Of the United States.

—Purchase of control in Packaging Converters Ltd. of Scarborough, Ont., by Continental Can Co. of Canada Ltd., wholly-owned subsidiary of the U.S.-owned Continental Can Co. Inc.

—Takeover of Nadco Health Equipment Ltd. of Malton, Ont. by Diversified Products Corp. of Opelika, Ala. Nadco had been owned by Nadco Corp. of Chicago, in turn owned by Stockholder Worthington Inc. of New York.

Yewchuk Enters Leadership Race

OTTAWA (CP) — A third Alberta MP has entered the race to succeed Robert Stanfield as leader of the Progressive Conservative party.

Paul Yewchuk (Athabaska), a medical doctor, said in an interview Tuesday he will contest the leadership at the party convention in February.

There already are six in the race. They include Alberta MPs Jack Horner (Crowfoot) and Joe Clark (Rocky Mountain). The others are Sinclair Stevens (York-Simcoe), Flora MacDonald (Kingston and the Islands), John Fraser (Vancouver South) and Howard Crafter (Brome-Missisquoi).

Mr. Yewchuk said he would begin a 20-city cross-country tour today with a visit to Toronto. He will then travel to the west and east coasts before spending more time in central Canada.

Mr. Yewchuk, of Ukrainian descent, said he hoped much of his support base initially will come from ethnic minority groups.

Mr. Yewchuk, from Lac la Biche, Alta., was first elected in 1968. He has held various posts in the party caucus, including Alberta caucus chairman from 1971 to 1974 and chairman of the party committee on multiculturalism.

Canada, Europe Seek Economic Agreement

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadian and European parliamentarians Tuesday agreed a speedy start of negotiations on a contractual link between Canada and European Economic Community (EEC).

But Europeans, having made the plea, added there are many problems to be worked out before negotiations can start and there is no indication of when these will be solved.

The plea was contained in a communique released after two days of meetings between 18 Canadian senators and MPs and 18 members of the European body of the EEC.

The parliamentarians had discussed a broad range of subjects during their second annual meeting.

The European parliament has a largely advisory role in the EEC although it can by a two-thirds majority vote overrule certain decisions of the community's council of ministers. It is made up of parliamentarians from the nine EEC member countries.

Prime Minister Trudeau has sought the link in three trips to Europe, part of Canada's third option of easing dependance on the U.S.

The community has agreed to enter into negotiations and the EEC commission — the community's secretariat — has been instructed to draw up a negotiating position. This, the Europeans said, could take some time because of the complexity of the unique arrangement sought.

Design H3-716
1,120 Square Feet

Here is a compact and economical three-bedroom bungalow that would require only a 60-foot lot in most municipalities.

A corridor kitchen includes a cozy breakfast nook and a patio is suggested, secluded in the angle between the garage and rear house walls. A door from the garage to the patio allows for ready storage of patio furniture if necessary. The garage could easily be made a few feet wider if desired, for greater storage space.

If not required for that purpose the smallest of the three bedrooms could be a main floor laundry and sewing room, TV room, den or hobby room and its door to the rear entry would be handy for any of these uses. If it is a bedroom, this door could easily be omitted if desired.

The front chimney adds an interesting accent as does the vertical siding at the gable ends. The rest of the exterior is brick veneer but the plans include details for building in frame if desired.

This house should be modest enough in cost to qualify easily for the home-building incentives currently offered by various government agencies.

Plans for Design H3-716 cost $40.00 for the first set, $12.00 each additional set and are supplied by return mail. New second editions of two books, "Home Designs for Canadians" are available at this newspaper office for $1.50 each or by mail (see coupon below). Book one presents 95 designs for homes up to 1,600 square feet for one storey and split level, 1,850 square feet for one and one half and two storey. Book two shows 91 larger homes. Hoof Manicuring Makes More Milk

COMBER, Ont. (CP) — Hoof trimmer Jim Morris says manicuring the hooves of dairy herds may improve milk production.

The 30-year-old former dairy farmer notes that trimming prevents foot rot which affects milk production.

When an animal is not well it will not produce as much milk, Mr. Morris added.

As one of the five or six trimmers in southwestern Ontario, Mr. Morris trims hooves of a dairy herd of 200 cows.

On a busy day, he can trim 20 cows.

Mr. Morris, who charges $6 a cow, learned the art of trimming the hooves of dairy herds at a university in Michigan.

Last November, he sold his farm near this community, 30 miles southeast of Windsor and started touring the farming area in southwestern Ontario.

Ralph Martin of Brantford says it was the best money that he has spent in recent months when Mr. Morris trimmed the hooves of his dairy Holstein herd.

Mr. Martin says the cattle feel better, work better and more milk is produced.

Some Find Biculturalism Fun

OTTAWA (CP) — Ever since the days of Wolfe and Montcalm Canadians have skirmished with one other over language and culture. Some people, however, have found that bilingualism and biculturalism can be fun.

Last summer 300 students from the Ottawa area, aged 13 to 18, were "twinned" with 200 students from Quebec City to learn what a second culture is all about. Each spent two weeks as a member of his "twin's" family trying to speak the second language and to cope with the other culture.

The exchange program was begun last January by a bilingual exchange secretariat, organized by five Ottawa-area school boards and the National Capital Commission.

The executive secretary, Sandy MacKay, said he feels they have created "the ideal second-language learning program." The idea was to create a peer learning situation. Since each student was an expert in his own language, he was the best teacher.

French teachers from Ontario and English teachers from Quebec, who were also twinned, each took one group of six pairs of "twins." Before the activities the students studied vocabulary and grammar in the second language. Then they practised what they learned on their "twins."

Such activities as bicycle rallies, camping trips, tours and ordinary home life were conducted in the second language.

One teacher said there is no comparison between the exchange program and the classroom. "It's 24 hours a day. They have to continue to speak all the time. They learn more in one month than in the whole school year."

A student observed: "I never spoke a word of French in French class. There were 40 kids in the class and the teacher never got around to the back of the room."

Mr. MacKay said many cultural attitudes changed.

One participant wrote back to say: "I did much unlearning.

My French twin's family did not have 10 kids. They were not deeply religious. His father was not a lumberjack . . . and there were no moustached lovers among the French than there were among the English."

A Quebec student wrote: "The English aren't as stupid as they're made out to be . . . 'Les frogs' and 'les blocs' can get along well together."

"I just couldn't believe that you could select at random such compatible children," one mother said. "I have absolutely no suggestions for change, and that's unusual."

Of a total cost of $200 a student, the students themselves had to pay only $70 each. The rest came from the secretariat.

The Bilingual Exchange Secretariat also co-ordinates winter programs for schoolage children. The manager Ottawa children exchanges with school groups in Hull across the Ottawa River. The older ones have individual programs in cities further afield. Twelve hundred students took part in the 1975 winter program between January and June.

RCMP Seek Deer Jackers

HALIFAX (CP) — Slogging down shanky backroads on cold fall evenings and worrying about being shot at or run off the road by deer jackers is hardly an easy job, but the RCMP special enforcement section hopes its efforts will help preserve the species in Nova Scotia and protect honest hunters.

The new three-month-old RCMP unit has eight officers throughout Nova Scotia to help test to the jacker.

Sgt. Jesso said the RCMP's big advantage in the forests is that it can enforce the entire Criminal Code, while forest rangers are restricted to enforcing game laws.

For example, most deer jackers found operating in the woods are carrying alcohol, but lands and forests officers can do nothing about it. An RCMP officer can administer a breath

Province Removes Ugly Scars

CHARLOTTETOWN (CP) — Almost 8,000 car bodies have been picked from the Prince Edward Island landscape as part of a major sweep by the province's environment department to rid the province of what the environment minister calls "an ugly scar."

Gilbert R. Clements says the success of the program has been "very encouraging" and he notes that an average of 400 crushed cars have been leaving the province every week since the Derelicts For Dollars program got under way earlier this summer.

The province is offering a $20 bounty on derelict cars.

NEW REFERENCE BOOKS OF INTEREST TO COLLECTORS:

ENCYCLOPEDIA OF ANTIQUE RESTORATION AND MAINTENANCE.

Unless they are knowledgeably cared for, beautiful objects may become discolored, tarnished, or broken. In this book the amateur will find full instructions on repairs he can carry out himself, as well as advice about techniques requiring professional skills. Alphabetically arranged entries describe materials of which antiques are made, causes of deterioration and restoration methods, so that these objects may regain much of their original beauty.

THE ILLUSTRATED GUIDE TO COLLECTING BOTTLES

— Cecil Munsey.

Indispensable to both beginners and experienced collectors, this book examines every aspect of the popular hobby of bottle collecting. As well as describing and illustrating fruit jars, soda bottles, and other common types, the author includes unusual bottles such as witch balls and glass floats. A history of glass, information on techniques of glass making, hints on collecting, and comprehensive bibliographies make this an excellent source of information.

CONTEMPORARY ART GLASS

Ray and Lee Grover.

Representative work of twenty-six American and European glass artists is portrayed in coloured and black-and-white photographs. Biographies and portraits of each artist, reproductions of their signatures, and information about contemporary glass factories, complete this in-depth coverage of the art glass being made today.

THE GUIDEBOOK AND CATALOGUE OF CANADIAN STAMPS.

— Glenn F. Bastien.

Essential for collecting, buying, selling, and studying Canada's stamps, this comprehensive guidebook includes a great deal of philatelic history as well as recent prices and information about individual stamps. Scott numbers are used throughout, but collectors will find more varieties and grades listed than in the Scott Catalogue. Hints on collecting and information on joining philatelic societies complete this encyclopedia of Canadian philately.

STANDARD CATALOGUE OF CANADIAN COINS, TOKENS AND PAPER MONEY.

23rd ed., 1975

— J. E. Charlton.

A standard reference book for numismatists, the latest edition of this fully-illustrated Charlton guide includes the historical background of Canadian coinage and paper money, as well as listings for all Canadian paper money, notes, coins, and tokens, from 1670 to the present, with the latest retail values for various grades.

AMERICA'S QUILTS AND COVERLETS

— Carleton L. Safford and Robert Bishop.

Outstanding examples of the work of American quiltmakers over several generations are accompanied by an account of the development of styles, materials and needlework, in this beautifully-illustrated book. The main emphasis is on the expressive and colorful appliqué and patchwork quilts, however, many other bed coverings, including woven coverlets, crewel-work, crazy quilts, and candlewick spreads, are included.

Builders Hope to Demonstrate Value of Renovating Homes

The Quinte District Real Estate Board hopes to spark more interest in home renovation and cure by showing what can be done on a test home. It was announced by the board Tuesday.

Under guidelines being formulated by the Quinte Real Estate Association, the local board says it hopes to take an old home near the city's core and completely refurbish it.

Phil Bennett, president of the board, said some details still have to be worked out but "on the surface . . . there doesn't seem to be anything standing in the way of the idea."

"We hope to involve the Quinte Home Builders Association, lending institutions and area suppliers in the face lift job which should be a joint started in the new year" he said.

Without a profit motive, Mr. Bennett said once the home has been re-done, "it will be sold." Any profit after the costs of repairing the home have been recovered will be used to give to a pre-designated community charity, he said.

Gerry Joyce, vice-president with the Ontario association, said this type of re-conditioning is necessary as serviced city land is in short supply.

"There are good houses that have been left to deteriorate," he said. "Once a house is fixed up . . . neighbors will begin working on their homes to keep pace."

"We're going to try and find a particularly run-down house where the transformation will be that much more noticeable," he said.

The real estate board, if the project goes on, intends having an open house when the building is untouched and in its raw state followed by an open house when all renovations have been completed.

"We're not looking to create a dream house, just a good house to show what can be done," said Mr. Joyce.

If the first project meets with acceptance from area trades people, the board will be considering "a more drastic scheme of the same nature for a 1976 centennial project," said Mr. Bennett. "But, that depends entirely on the success of the first house."

O'Neil Sharply Critical Of Proposed Hydro Hike

By HARRY MULHALL
Staff Reporter

Hugh O'Neil, MPP Quinte, says proposed Ontario Hydro rate increases show "total disregard" for Ontario citizens.

The demand comes as pro-

Even if they were drastically reduced it would mean still "very real hardship" for thousands.

Mr. O'Neil criticized the Hydro rates proposals in a statement from his Queen's Park office Tuesday.

A proposed 25-per-cent Hydro rate increase now has been referred to an all-party committee of the legislature.

But, said Mr. O'Neil, he "diametrically opposed . . . an exorbitant increase . . . at this time."

The proposed hike is "completely out of line and shows a total disregard for the serious financial difficulties being experienced by many Ontario citizens."

Even a 10-per-cent increase, following recent federal anti-inflation guidelines "will cause very real hardship for thousands of people," said Mr. O'Neil.

"Those who are on fixed incomes and pensions are in an even more precarious position," said Mr. O'Neil.

Mr. O'Neil said "many citizens cannot reasonably afford the basic necessities of life, such as food and adequate clothing."

He said he feels the proposed new Hydro increase "couldn't be justified by rising production costs.

To a "great extent" the cause is "grandiose expansionary programs" and the fact the provincial government has made no "real attempt" at a "dynamic program" of energy conservation.

He called for a touch conservation program, delaying price regulations for all forms of energy to be "implemented without delay."

Four Area Farmers At NFU Conference

Four local members of the National Farmers Union CNFU are attending a district director's seminar in Saskatoon which concludes Friday.

Those attending are: Marie Bright, district director from Campbellford; Ken Martiell, women's advisory from Campbellford; Ken Martiell, a national director from Picton and Paul Windatt, district director from Hilton.

Purpose of the seminar is to give directors a better understanding of NFU in individual communities. The seminar will also deal with with instruction on public speaking and chairing meetings.

New Court Date Set

A 20-year-old Belleville man who was not present for a scheduled appearance in provincial court here Monday will appear Nov. 3 for the first time on a charge of robbery with violence.

Ronald Gordon Doetta of 38 College St., attended court Monday after his scheduled appearance and was re-scheduled to next week.

Doetta was charged by city police Oct. 12 after a man demanded money from 69-year-old Gerald Belle of Coleman St. in Belleville who was walking on North Front St. here.

Police said Bell was approached by a man who struck and kicked him and he fell when several people stopped at the scene.

Bell sustained bruises to his face and was treated and released from Belleville General Hospital.

Project 'Clean Street' Started

City workers and equipment began operation "Clean Street" this week on Church Street in the annual fall leaf-and-brush cleanup program. Belleville public works department crews will be working over the next four to five weeks to remove debris from city streets. About 14 additional men have been hired in the approximate $33,000 fall cleanup program.

Six Arena Sites Await Study by Committee

By AL ZARAS
Staff Reporter

STIRLING — Six possible sites have been chosen here by consultants for the location of a new arena, but no action being taken to select a final site until a special five-member city committee is formed.

Stirling resident and chairman of the new committee, Garry Mason, said Tuesday, he is waiting for each municipality to appoint members.

Stirling, along with the townships of Sidney, Thurlow, Rawdon and Huntingdon, have been working for over a year toward replacing the existing village arena.

Special finance committee chairman Jack Bush said Tuesday the 48-year-old arena is outdated — with a building and ice surface that are too small for today's games.

The finance, all well as a building committee, is expected to become a subcommittee of the new five-municipality committee. Once that committee is formed, it will qualify the arena for provincial government grants under the Community Centres Act.

Just under $77,000 has been collected so far — from municipalities, individuals and through fund-raising events — for the new arena. And about $30,000 was spent earlier in 1975 for new ice-slicing equipment for the old arena — moveable, when the time comes, to the new structure.

Mr. Mason said Tuesday the six sites already selected may go by the wayside amid talk of the need for additional land for possible future expansion of the arena into a sports complex.

The new area was first estimated to cost $400,000, but, he said he fears delays will drive up construction costs.

To date, Stirling has appointed Reeve Ray Sheett, councillor Wayne Martin, and Stirling resident Bert Bastedo to the committee. Sidney Township named Reeve Gord Wilman and councillor Ernest Kells. Thurlow picked Don McKeown as its representative.

Two Face Several Charges

A 24-year-old Toronto man was remanded to Nov. 3 in provincial court Monday to set a date for trial on charges of personation, possession of marijuana for the purpose of trafficking and possession of stolen goods.

Dennis Craig Moule of 48 West Lawrence Ave. was arrested Oct. 14 by Ontario Provincial Police at Belleville during a routine traffic check.

Michael John Breadimane, 21, of the same address and charged in connection with the same incident, will appear in provincial court here Nov. 17 for possession of marijuana for the purpose of trafficking and possession of stolen goods.

Livestock Losses Up, Wolf Bounty Urged

vincial wildlife authorities continue trapping predators in the township.

In one case — at Roslin — seven coyotes and two dogs have been trapped.

But, says a farmer who has lost 34 sheep already this year — predators now even prowl in daylight close to his farm buildings.

Norman White, 57, claims coyotes have even swum 125 feet across the Moira River flaunting his farm — something a provincial conservation officer says "is quite unusual."

Like other farmers, says Mr. White, he now often goes armed when in the fields in hopes of spotting a coyote.

Pressure for a township wolf bounty was apparently linked to mounting livestock losses and more frequent sighting of predators.

Earlier this month farmers turned up at a township council meeting demanding a $20 bounty be paid by the local government for each wolf shot in Tyendinaga.

Reeve Leonard Walsh said Tuesday council has as yet made no decision but will discuss the issue when it meets next Monday.

At that time, he imagines council will make a decision one way or the other."

The provincial government wolf bounty — one of the oldest pieces of Ontario legislation — was published four years ago, in lieu of compensation for livestock losses.

But the move has sparked no-and-off local protests. Almost two years ago Marmora-Lake Township set a precedent in the province by introducing its own bounty. In May this year, Lennox and Addington County — which Tyendinaga borders — introduced a bounty.

Claims for losses so far this year in Tyendinaga have totalled $1,700 — only half of it due from the province for prevent pay-outs made by township clerk-treasurer Bill Walsh.

Reserve Elections Dec. 6

TYENDINAGA — Election to the band council of this Mohawk reserve will be held Dec. 6.

The election date was set recently by council and nominations will be held at the reserve's community centre Nov. 22 from 9 a.m. to 12 noon, reserve administrator Elton Brant says. Elections for chief and four councillors is held here every two years.

Worker Loses Guns

MADOC — John Robert Boyle, 20, RR 4, Belleville, Wednesday was ordered not to use or have guns in his possession for two years.

Mr. Boyle was charged with carrying a weapon dangerous to the public when police were called to Eldorado, on the way 62 last June. The charge was laid during a strike of Hastings County road workers for whom Mr. Boyle then was a union steward.

He pleaded not guilty to the charge when he appeared in court here before Provincial Judge R. C. Jackson in September.

The jury Wednesday ordered Mr. Boyle to surrender his guns, permits and placed him on suspended sentence for two years.

Planning Board Meets

The Quinte Planning Board will meet in Sidney Township offices Nov. 6 at 8 p.m. to consider regular business. A board spokesman said members will also be considering a condominium application for an apartment building which already exists. A plan of subdivision will also be discussed.

Council to Meet

The Quinte District Labor Council will hold its regular monthly meeting in Belleville Nov. 11 at the Black Hawk Motel. President Doug Sward said a main topic of discussion at the meeting will be the proposed city building standards bylaw.

Rock-a-thon Planned

Students of Moira Secondary School will put their rocking skills to test Thursday at a rocking chair rock-off, rock-a-thon early November Sponsored by the Student Association, the students will enter the fastest rocker in a 24-hour marathon.

Transit Examined

Information on school transportation will be available to the general public during a meeting of the Hastings Home and School Council on Nov. 3 at 8 p.m. at the Education Centre at 156 Ann St. in Belleville. Guest speaker will be Dick Beare, transportation officer for the Hastings County Board of Education.

Seminars Planned

The Federal Business Development Bank, in co-operation with Belleville Chamber of Commerce, will be holding a business management seminar Nov. 19 at Sun Valley Motor Inn, 407 Front St. N. The seminar, designed for persons in small businesses, will include topics such as: personnel administration, management controls and financial statements. Registration forms are available at Belleville Chamber of Commerce office.

Now, They Even Swim

Norman White, Roslin farmer who has had heavy sheep losses to predators, says coyotes have even swam 125 feet across the Moira River at his farm — something a conservationist officer calls unusual. Mr. White says he's like other farmers — he often goes armed in hopes of spotting coyotes.

Woman Found Dead In Hospital Room

Belleville General Hospital and police authorities are investigating the death of a 29-year-old female patient about 3 p.m. Tuesday.

The woman, a patient in the hospital's psychiatric ward, apparently hung herself, said a hospital spokesman.

It is the second such incident at the hospital this year. An inquest was ordered after the death of a 19-year-old Trenton youth Aug. 5.

Seminar to Examine Learning Disabilities

The senior psychologist at the learning centre of Alberta Children's Hospital will give three presentations dealing with learning disabilities at a seminar Thursday in Belleville.

Margaret Golick will be speaker at the seminar, "All Children Learn Differently — to be held in Education Hall at Belleville General Hospital.

The seminar is sponsored by the Association for Children with Hearing Disabilities and Belleville General Hospital.

The professional seminar begins at 8.30 a.m. with registration and finishes at 4 p.m. The evening session runs from 8 p.m. to 9.30 p.m.

Other participants include: Arlene Aronson of Hospital for Sick Children in Toronto, Carol Beecroft of the Belleville Child Development Centre, Ted Holland and Burle Summers of the Hastings County Board of Education.

Mayor Stresses Controlled Growth

Even Belleville can't learn from the present economic difficulties of New York City, Mayor Ben Corke, said Tuesday.

Spending controls must be put on cities, said Mr. Corke at an annual breakfast meeting of the Belleville Chamber of Commerce.

"We can take a lesson from New York City. Some day we will have to say no, we won't build 40 tennis courts or a golf course," said Mr. Corke.

Belleville, he said, has grown more in the past 10 years than in any 25-year period before.

People, he said, are equally as important as the physical improvements.

"I think it is a city where people like to live and more so," he said.

Growth of the city, he said, is on an upward curve and population may reach about 50,000 by 1981 rather than about 50,000 predicted in the official plan.

"I look forward to development in the industrial area," he said, as well as more tourism facilities.

Briefing

Pat Boots, (left), public relations officer of the Belleville General Hospital Auxiliary and Selma Bochner, District No. 8 Chairman at Belleville, second from left, were on hand-opening day of the Hospital Auxiliaries Association of Ontario's 65th annual convention in Toronto this week with Ontario President Elect, Janet Cormack, to look over agenda reports and papers prior to a business session. The Belleville Auxiliary is one of many in attendance at the four-day convention at the Royal York Hotel.

Tax Shelter Helps Moderate Rents Says Builder

By COLIN BRUCE
Staff Reporter

A piece of federal legislation is allowing apartment construction in Belleville that serves to moderate rents charged and gives the owner a personal tax break, says Bob Marcotte, vice-president of Rollins Construction Co. Ltd.

A member of these apartment projects are under construction and likely, before the legislation expires at the end of this year, several more buildings will be started, he said.

Bob Marcotte, president of the Quinte Home Builders Association said during an interview Tuesday, the people behind these projects expect to make money — thereby giving them a temporary tax shelter.

Mr. Marcotte said financing on new buildings is approximately 11% per cent.

"You just can't make money on an apartment building when you're paying that high interest rate," said Mr. Marcotte.

To gain a reasonable and profitable return on the investment, the building owner would have to charge higher rents than the market would bear, he said. "They intend taking a loss and buying their personal income."

"What they're doing is deferring taxes until retirement," he said. "The motive behind losing money is to create a tax write-off against personal income at a time of life when income is at its peak."

"At retirement, when individual or personal income is low, the investor won't get hit as badly with taxes," said Mr. Marcotte.

"The investor is counting on losing money now through depreciation and losses but he's also banking on inflation continuing which will increase the building and land value and later allowing him to pick up his lesser and provide a profit upon retirement," he said.

While the investors get a tax write off, city apartment dwellers stand to "enjoy the benefit of the investor's loss through lower rents," said Mr. Marcotte.

In addition to owners not wanting immediate return through rents, the prime law of supply and demand moderates apartment rents, Mr. Marcotte added.

"Both the investor and the apartment dwellers benefit from the arrangement," he said.

"There's nothing illegal about it, it's just good business on the part of the investor interested in a long-term deal."

Visit from the President Does Wonders for Toros

by THE CANADIAN PRESS

Team president John F. Bassett should come out to watch his Toronto Toros more often.

The Toros, unable to win when Bassett is absent, haven't been able to lose when he is around.

Bassett was on hand Tuesday night to see the Toros down Quebec Nordiques 4-4 in a loosely-played World Hockey Association game that didn't especially please Toronto coach Bob Baun.

Edmonton Oilers stopped Phoenix Roadrunners 7-3, before a slim crowd of 4,261 in Tuesday's only other game.

The Toros president has been kept away from hockey by his Memphis football team, first trying to keep the World Football League alive and then, when the WFL folded, trying to get the Southmen into the National Football League.

Toronto beat Houston Aeros 6-3 in the only other game watched by Bassett. With him absent, they've lost four games and tied one.

Despite the victory, Baun was concerned over the number of goals being given up by the Toros. They have surrendered 25 goals in six games.

BOB BAUN

"We're not going to win any championships on that kind of wide-open play," he said. "I want to see 2-0 games in here.

"I want to see us hold other teams to that and we're going to have to work to get our goals-against down to that. My idea is the way to play this club (the Nordiques) is with forechecking and with hitting."

The Nordiques, playing their first road game of the season after winning five of six home starts, grabbed an early 2-0 lead and gave Toronto goalie Mario Viens, who made 28 saves, a busy evening.

Vaclav Nedomansky and Gavin Kirk scored two goals each for the Toros, who kept the Nordiques from climbing into a first-place tie with Winnipeg Jets in the Canadian Division.

The Oilers crowd was their smallest since moving to the 18,000-seat Edmonton Coliseum.

Edmonton survived an 80-second stretch in the second period with two men in the penalty box, thanks to brilliant goaltending by Dave Dryden and the inspired checking of Barry Long and Doug Barrie.

Tim Sheehy scored two goals for Edmonton and Ken Baird, Long, Ed Joyal, Norm Ullman and Bob McAneesley one each. Jim Boyd, Rob Ploeck and Del Hall scored for the Roadrunners.

Tonight's schedule has the Nordiques at New England Whalers, Calgary Cowboys at Cleveland Crusaders and Cincinnati Stingers at Minnesota Fighting Saints.

HAROLD BALLARD

It's Too Late, Harold

TORONTO (CP) — Punch Imlach on have his old job back with Toronto Maple Leafs anytime he wants it, Harold Ballard, president of the National Hockey League club, said Tuesday.

He said he would bring back Imlach "in a minute if he ever became available."

Imlach, now general manager of Buffalo Sabres of the NHL, was fired as coach and general manager of the Leafs in 1969, but Ballard said Tuesday he had nothing to do with dismissal.

"Stafford Smythe (the late Leaf president) fired Punch, not me," said Ballard. Imlach was dropped minutes after Boston Bruins eliminated the Leafs in four consecutive games in the Stanley Cup playoffs.

"Sure I'd hire Punch back, and so would every other club in the lil they had the chance. He's a good hockey man and it's a shame he was fired."

Sudbury Wolves Knock Off Hawks

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Sudbury Wolves scored their 10th win this season in Ontario Hockey Association Major Junior A action by defeating visiting St. Catharines Black Hawks 5-4 Tuesday before a crowd of 2,883.

In other games, Hamilton Fincups downed Kitchener Rangers 12-3 at Kitchener and Ottawa 67s defeated Oshawa Generals 4-1 at Ottawa.

The Sudbury line of Ron Duguay, leading scorer in the OHA, Alex McKendzy and Rod Schutt combined to pick up a total of 11 points against the St. Catharines team, with centre Duguay scoring twice and adding a pair of assists.

McKendzy scored once and added two assists while Schutt got a goal and three assists.

John Walker scored the other goal for the Wolves. Marc Phiel, Kevin Kennery, Bill Hamilton and Ken Campbell replied for the Black Hawks.

The Wolves led 2-1 after one period and 4-3 after 40 minutes before the teams split a pair of goals in the final period.

Sudbury outshot St. Catharines 47-35.

League play resumes tonight when the Black Hawks visit Sault Ste. Marie.

The line of Joe Contini, Joe Kowal and Rick Selling counted for 18 points in lead the Fincups to victory.

Selling had three goals and assist in the game played before 1,879 spectators. Contini scored twice and set up three others, and Kowal had a goal and four assists.

The Hamilton club led 6-3 after the first period and stretched the lead to 11-2 before scoring the only goal of the third period.

Rob Street, obtained from Kingston Canadiens for future considerations, also had two goals for the winners. Ed Smith, acquired from Sault Ste. Marie Greyhounds on Tuesday in a trade for defenceman Tony Horvath, helped with a goal and two assists.

Archie King, Danny Shearer and Ron Roscoe were the other Hamilton scorers.

Francis Shakes Up Listless Rangers With Waiver Routine and a Trade

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Many of the New York Rangers will be playing for their jobs when they take the ice at Madison Square Garden tonight against St. Louis Blues. They'll be playing the first game of what amounts to a five-game tryout, says player who attended a team meeting Monday.

Fresh from three embarrassing defeats and with the sound of jeers and booing from their own fans still ringing in their ears, the Rangers were told by general manager Emile Francis they had all been placed on waivers, the player reported.

Francis "said he had put the whole team on waivers, that we were all on a five-game tryout—with no exceptions—and that we had better start performing," the player reported.

Francis followed up his tirade at the club's practice rink at Long Beach, N.Y., on Tuesday by sending veteran goaltender Gilles Villemure to Chicago Black Hawks for defenceman Doug Jarrett.

However, an NHL executive who saw the waiver lists said no more than six or seven of the Rangers' 21 players actually wound up on the waiver lists.

In Tuesday's games, Los Angeles Kings blanked Washington Capitals 7-0, Atlanta Flames edged Vancouver Canucks 3-2.

The Rangers, who had been having defensive problems all season, went into a tailspin when they lost 8-1 to the Sabres at Buffalo.

They followed up Saturday by losing 7-1 to the Islanders at their Long Island arena and then losing 7-2 to Philadelphia Flyers before a wrathful home crowd.

Ironically, the first of the Rangers to go, Villemure is the one player who can't be blamed for their tailspin. He hasn't played a game for them.

Young John Davidson, acquired from the Blues in an off-season trade, played in the game, tonight's schedule has Thursday and Saturday games and veteran Ed Giacomin played Sunday's game.

"The waivers don't really mean anything because Francis can trade them," said another player, a veteran. "He just wanted to make it clear he'd trade anybody on the club.

"I've seen Francis madder, but I've never seen him as tight or nervous. And (coach Ron) Stewart was furious.

In other player moves Tuesday, Kansas City Scouts acquired forward German Gagnon from Chicago on waivers and Jim Pappin, acquired from Chicago in an off-season trade, returned to and his brief retirement and report to California Seals.

Centre Marcel Dionne scored three goals and assisted on a fourth and goalie Rogie Vachon registered his first shutout for the Kings.

Dionne, who has scored seven goals in the Kings' last seven games, moved into second place in the scoring race with 21 points, two behind Guy Lafleur of Montreal Canadiens.

Curt Bennett scored twice to help the Flames to a quick 3-0 lead that stood up. Bill Flett scored the other Atlanta goal while Dave Lewis and Dennis Ververgaert scored for Vancouver.

Besides the Ranger-St. Louis game, tonight's schedule has Buffalo at Toronto Maple Leafs, Montreal at Chicago, California at Detroit Red Wings and Kansas City at Minnesota North Stars.

They'll Waste No Time Preparing for '76 Season

Soccer at the senior level has run its course for another season. Sunday's Trenton Challenge Cup Final won by Belleville Olympics signalled the end of the 1975 campaign.

Looking back, Bay of Quinte Soccer Association president, Peter Crowle describes the season as a good one . . . "as far as soccer goes".

But in his opinion, members of the BQSA executive were put in too much extra work by a continuing conflict between officials of Quinte Hellenic and the Olympics.

"Those two premier league teams were at loggerheads and it made for an unnecessary workload for all of us," he said.

At any rate, Crowle has the satisfaction of knowing he took the reins of the BQSA for 1975 when no one else would come forward to take the job as president. And he got the job done.

Will he serve another term?

"Definitely not," is his emphatic reply to that question.

"I feel there are enough members of the executive to supply one or more names in nomination for president," he explains.

Whether someone will indeed come forward to take the responsibility of heading up the association for 1976 will be learned soon enough.

The BQSA annual general meeting is scheduled for Monday, November 3 at the Recreation Centre, Pinnacle St., at 8 p.m.

There's no chance soccer enthusiasts will have cooled to the sport by then.

The attempts to form an executive for the 1975 season were not made until February of this year. That made it difficult to generate interest.

Not so this time around.

When the BQSA holds its closing dance and buffet at the CP 3 Trenton Yacht Club, November 8, the group should already have its 1976 slate of officers.

Crowle will greet that turn of events with enthusiasm.

Seems there's plenty to be done when it comes to officiating in minor soccer and he's eager to be part of it.

Defence the Key as Saints Stop Red Devils

Quinte Saints' Steve McCracken has properly halted by Bayside Red Devils' Wayne Lachevity (25) during Bay of Quinte High School Football League senior playoff game, Tuesday at Quinte. Taking in the action is Saints' Kevin McCallum (40). Quinte will play either Centennial Chargers or Centre Hastings Centurions in semi-final action. Chargers and Centurions go to battle today in Madoc. At Moira Secondary School, the Trojans are at home to Trenton Tigers with the winner gaining a bye to the final.

"You're only as good as your defence, and our defence played a great game today."

These words belong to Quinte Saints senior football coach Ted Paddon although anyone who watched Quinte score a convincing 17-0 win over the Bayside senior Red Devils Tuesday, would have been thinking the same.

Quinte and Bayside met in the first round of the Bay of Quinte high school football playoffs to decide who would move on to the semi-finals. Quinte scored all of their points in the second half of play — including a touchdown by Steve Jones with only seconds remaining.

Both clubs looked very even in the play in the first half with the Saints having a slight edge but with mistakes and penalties nullifying any chances.

Twice in the first half the Saints were inside the 10-yard line of the visitors, once on the one-yard line, and both times a good effort by the Red Devils' defence held them out.

Coach Paddon blamed the poor offensive showing "on a bad week of practice."

The defence for the Saints and especially the front four of Quinn, Rick Gray and Steve Jones at the defensive end positions and Larry Cross and Jeff Hale playing at tackle earned well deserved praise from the Quinte coach.

The defence continued their effective style at play in the second half as Jones and Gray set up the Quinte offence in good field position only to be intercepted on the first play.

Scott Bowers went the distance for Quinte on a 30-yard punt return only to have the play wiped out on penalty calls.

On Quinte's first scoring play of the game, good field position was again obtained through the hard work of the defence as Kevin McCallum recovered a fumble. Bowers, showing good speed, moved the ball to the Bayside seven-yard line where quarterback Rick Culken scored on a sweep.

Al Rutherford who had kicked the extra point on Culken's touchdown made the score 10-0 with his field goal from 25 yards out which set the stage for the final touchdown which was, fittingly, scored by the Quinte defence.

High School Soccer

Twin Shutouts In Playoffs

Moira Secondary School Trojans A team, with a tie the only blemish on its Bay of Quinte High School Soccer League record during the six-game regular schedule, showed Tuesday it will be a force to be reckoned with in the playoffs.

Trojans made it seven games without a loss and advanced to the senior final by blanking Bayside Secondary School, second place team in the West Division on the regular season, 5-0.

In junior semi-final play, Belleville Collegiate Institute, boasting a 5-0 record while rolling to first place in the East, put Prince Edward Collegiate Institute on the sidelines, 4-0. The Picton team was the runner-up in the West section.

Bay of Quinte finals are scheduled for Friday with Moira taking on the winner of today's BCI-Trenton High Schoolmarm, while in junior, BCI will play either East Northumberland Secondary School or Nicholson Catholic College.

In Tuesday's action at Sir James Whitney School, George O'Donnell recorded the shutout for Moira.

Trojans opened the scoring at the 28-minute mark when Bruce Vatemen converted a pass from Rick Barbeau. Adding to the Moira total in the second half were on Brigin and Barbeau.

Mike Wright and Mark Clare were again solid goal keeping chores for the junior BCI squad, holding PEDI off the scoresheet.

The winners goals went to Kevin Parr, Dwight Bedley, Chris Niblett and Steven Parr.

Belleville Bantams Win 7-5

STIRLING (Special) — In an Ontario Minor Hockey Association Bantam game played here, Monday, visiting Belleville McIntyre-Maines and Stirling put the emphasis on hockey.

Only five minor penalties, three in the home side, were called as the Belleville team skated to a 7-5 win.

The McIntyre-Maines team led after a 2-2 tie in the first 20 minutes.

Five players shared the Stirling goals. The marksmen were Bruce Myers, Tom Masterson, John Klempmaker, Rob Tracey and Don Osborne.

Chuckwagon Gets Breathing Room

Fred Sickle led the charge with two goals and two assists Tuesday night as Chuckwagon Foods remained the only unbeaten club in the Gas House Hockey League.

Their 8-2 victory over Constellation Carpets extends their win streak to five games.

In other GHHL action, a rejuvenated Bayview Orchards squad edged Belleville Yardmen 4-3 and a new look for an old team paid off as Murray's Food Market squeaked past Procter & Gamble 4-0.

Chuckwagon's victory gave them 10 points on the season and four points of grace at the top of the 11-team loop. It is the first time since the season opened they have had any breathing room.

Steve Moore had two goals and Grant Sage, Dwight Rathwell, Terry Casselman and John Smith fired singles for the premier club.

Ron Mitchell and Gord Vesterfelt replied for Constellation.

Bayview, comprised of last season's second place club, got back on the right track Tuesday night with a win that gave them an even record on the season. Hyalie Bryant paced the Orchard squad with two goals while Dave Langille and George Jackiin counted singles.

For the Yardmen it was their second loss and left them in third place after five games. Terry Rappell and Jim Richardson scored once each in the loss.

Murray's made their debut in the Gas House league a most successful one. At the first of season the club was Kelly's Esso. As Kelly's, the club was winless in three starts. As Murray's they are now unbeaten.

Add 8-pt. over two col. standings.

Basketball Laurels Could Stay in City

The Second Annual Belleville Collegiate Institute Senior-Junior Basketball Tournament gets under way at 8.30 a.m. Saturday and it appears there's a good chance both titles may stay in the city.

The tourney is an eight team double elimination event (means clubs are guaranteed two games) for both divisions. Of the 16 squads entered, 13 are from out of the area.

Last year Burlington Collegiate took the Senior laurels while BCI captured Junior. This time around Burlington is not represented, however BCI will, naturally, be back to defend their championship with some stiff local opposition from Centennial Secondary School.

BCI is one of the stronger clubs entered in the senior competition. They recently won the championship at the Smiths Falls Tournament and are currently in first place in the Bay of Quinte Secondary School Girls Basketball League.

Though the local squad is almost entirely comprised of first year players, they have compiled a 6-1, win-loss record in regular season play.

BCI's juniors don't look quite as strong in comparison to the senior team, but they too are basically a first year team. Only one member of the club is back for another season. They are currently in third place in the Bay of Quinte League with four wins and three losses.

However, the local team to watch out for in the junior tournament is Centennial Secondary. They have six wins in seven regular season starts this year and hold down first place in the Bay of Quinte loop.

The two BCI clubs and Centennial's junior team are the only three area squads entered in the day-long event.

JUNIOR — BCI vs. Renfrew, 8.30 a.m.; Pellowes, Pembroke vs. Loyalist, Kingston, 9.30 a.m.; Kenner, Peterborough vs. Centennial, 10.30 a.m.; Cobourg East vs. Smiths Falls, 11.30 a.m. — SENIOR — BCI vs. Pembroke, 8.30 a.m.; Renfrew vs. Loyalist, 9.30 a.m.; Don Mills, Toronto vs. Port Hope, 10.30 a.m.; Cobourg East vs. Smiths Falls 11.30 a.m.

Riders Beefing Up for Battle

OTTAWA (CP) — George Brancato's collection of healthy and wounded football players has grown this week but the Ottawa Rough Riders head coach is hoping it will be enough for the battle for first place in the Eastern Football Conference Sunday between the Rough Riders and Montreal Alouettes.

Former Winnipeg Blue Bomber Al Brenner has signed a contract and the veteran safety, who needed a gentle push from Canadian Football League commissioner Jake Gaudaur to report to Ottawa rather than return to Winnipeg, said Tuesday: "Just put it down to a lack of communication."

While the former CFL all-star said Tuesday why he was leaving Brancato wants him to fill the hole left by the injury to rover Bob Woodward.

Also in camp is former Rider tackle Charlie Brandon, back after unsuccessful attempts to get a job in the National Football League and the non-defunct World Football League.

The six-foot, four-inch Brandon tips the scales at 270 pounds and insists he is in top shape, but Brancato will wait out a five-day trial before making any decision.

"I know what type of football player Charlie is," Brancato said. "It's just a case of whether he has had enough contact work this season."

Meanwhile, linebacker Kent Carter has been placed on the 21-day injured list to allow a charley horse and pulled thigh muscles to heal. Halfback Jim Foley is still taking whirlpool treatment for a badly sprained ankle and his status for the Montreal game remains unknown.

Offensive tackle Jeff Turcotte appears to be fully recovered from a neck injury and should be ready as stand defensive back Al Marcelin, who is running fairly well on a sprained ankle.

Brenner, who holds the CFL interception record of 15 in one season, said of his arrival in Ottawa last week and quick disappearance amid rumors he was returning to the Blue Bombers:

"I played 12 games with Winnipeg this year and this difference with Ottawa was just a mixup. It's all behind me. There'll be no problems."

Ottawa goes into the game with a one-point lead over Montreal in the last regular-season game for the two teams.

RICHMOND HILL, Ont. (CP) — Richmond Hill Rams scored four goals in the last 16 seconds of the game to defeat North Bay Trappers 7-1 in Ontario Hockey Association Provincial Junior A action Tuesday.

Richmond Hill's volume started at the 14:09 mark in the third period and there was a lull until 18:26 when they scored their second goal. The third goal came eight seconds later and the fourth at 18:48.

Frank Nigro and Jim Clement each scored two goals for Richmond Hill. Mike Rowley Mike Gallagher and Myles McCandlet got the other goals for the Rams.

Jim Fox scored for North Bay.

Sabres In Form

WELLAND, Ont. (CP) — Welland Sabres took their fifth consecutive victory and stretched their unbeaten streak to seven games by defeating Owen Sound Greys 5-1 in the only Southern Ontario Junior Hockey League game Tuesday.

The victory, Welland's eighth this season, increased the Sabres' hold on second place to four points over third-place Chatham Maroons.

The Greys opened the scoring mid-way through the first period on a power-play goal by Mike Bullock.

Welland came back with a pair of goals less than a minute apart in the same period, then scored twice late in the second to lead 4-1 going into the third.

Welland goals were scored by Mark Teppannis, Bryan Hart, Nick Chopty, Buffy Dupuis and John Fasciano.

Welland outshot Owen Sound 34-27.

League play resumes tonight with Guelph at Chatham.

Bill Russell Blasts Referees

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Seattle coach Bill Russell was not amused by the refereeing Tuesday night in his Supersonics 101-96 loss to Chicago Bulls in a National Basketball Association game.

"The Bulls did not beat us tonight," said Russell. "It was (Jerry) Lucas and (Lee) Jones, the two referees."

Seattle entered the Bulls from the field but lost it at the foul line making 18 of its 25 free throws while Chicago cashed in on 33 of a whopping 42 attempts. Four Sonics—Leonard Gray, Slick Watts, Bruce Seals and John Hummer—fouled out as opposed to one Bull.

"I think the NBA is in for a rough time this season," said Russell. "As a matter of fact it was an out and out disgrace tonight.

"I tell my players to do the things we ask them to do, but how can they when we get this kind of refereeing."

In Tuesday's other games, Los Angeles Lakers beat Milwaukee Bucks 98-92, Golden Warriors whipped New York Knicks 111-94, New Orleans Jazz dumped Portland Trail Blazers 99-90 and Buffalo Braves whipped Houston Rockets 126-108.

In the only American Basketball Association game played, San Antonio Spurs defeated Virginia Squires 108-103.

Bob Love scored 23 points and reserve forward Rowland Garrett added 22 for Chicago.

Kareem Abdul-Jabbar made his return to Milwaukee a success with 30 points and Cazzie Russell had 33, including a pair of clutch buckets late in the game, for Los Angeles.

Rick Barry netted 34 points and Jamaal Wilkes added 25 for the Warriors against New York. Met Counts had Portland's Bill Walton in four points in the second half and Louie Nelson netted 19 points as surprising New Orleans won for the third time in four games.

Bob McAdoo scored 34 points, Ernie DiGregorio had 22 points and nine rebounds and Randy Smith added 20 points as Buffalo led all the way.

Royals Make Their Move

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Kansas City Royals of the American Baseball League have filed suit in U.S. District Court in Kansas City to stop the Major League Baseball Players Association from challenging the reserve clause.

A motion to intervene was expected to be filed today by the other 23 major league clubs.

The suit, filed Tuesday seeks to bar the players association from submitting to arbitration the cases of two pitchers who are asking to be released from their reserve clauses and be declared free agents.

The suit is intended to counteract grievances which have been filed with the Players Relations Committee on behalf of pitchers Andy Messersmith of Los Angeles Dodgers and Dave McNally of Montreal Expos, who retired last June.

The Players Relations Committee is a group of club owners and general managers set up to preside over negotiations with players, regulation of pensions and other matters.

The suit contends the players association has asserted the reserve system is an issue which can be submitted to arbitration under an agreement with major league team owners signed Jan. 1, 1973.

The Royals asks the court for a declaratory judgment that the issues sought to be raised by the players are not subject to arbitration. The club also seeks preliminary and permanent injunctions barring the players association from submitting such issues to arbitration.

The reserve system permits each team to reserve or control the relationship with all players whose contracts have been acquired by it until the player is traded or released from reserve status.

Under the reserve clause, a club may unilaterally renew the contract of a player who hasn't come to terms by March 1. The contracts of Messersmith and McNally were renewed last spring under that clause.

The owners contend they use the renewal clause indefinitely, while the players argue that after playing for one season under the reserve clause, they are entitled to be free agents.

ELLIOTT MADDOX

Yankee Sues City

NEW YORK (AP) — New York City, already beset with financial headaches, was provided with a new one Tuesday by a baseball player.

Outfielder Elliott Maddox of New York Yankees said Tuesday he has filed a $1-million claim against the city, contending the design was negligent and the drainage inadequate at city-owned Shea Stadium.

Maddox damaged ligaments in his right knee when he fell in the outfield at Shea Stadium on June 13 during an American league game. He underwent surgery and did not play again for the rest of the season.

Russians One-two In Gymnastics

LONDON (AP) — Ludmila Turischeva of the Soviet Union, reigning world and Olympic champion, won the women's over-all gold medal in the World Cup gymnastics Tuesday night.

Her Soviet team-mate, Olga Korbut, won the silver medal and there was a tie for the bronze between Elvira Saadi of the Soviet Union and Marta Egervari of Hungary.

Miss Turischeva 23, was lucky to escape injury when the asymmetric bars collapsed during her exercise.

"I was just finishing and did not feel it going until somebody shouted to me to be careful," she said.

Miss Turischeva scored nineteen marks on the vault, asymetric bars, beam and floor exercise to reach a total of 38.15 points. Miss Korbut scored 38.55, after a poor beam performance dragged her aggregate score down.

Junior Curling Away

Joe Letersky, co-ordinator of the junior curling program at Quinte Curling Club, is set to deliver while his assistant, Kelly Pender (left) and Mark Soule are poised with the brooms. Junior curling sessions are scheduled at the club on Tuesday evenings.

Junior Curling Program Opens at Quinte Club

By TOM GAVEY
Sports Staff

Junior curling is under way once more at the Bay of Quinte Curling Club, with action starting Tuesday night. Although it is quite definite there will be a program this year, things do not look as bright as they could. Membership in junior curling has fallen off, and more members are needed to supply the necessary competition.

Tuesday, about 23 young curlers attended the 4-6 p.m. session.

"The problem is, most of these people won't keep up a regular attendance all year" said one of the program's co-ordinators, Joe Letersky.

Running the junior program this year will be Dr. John Letersky, and he plans to build a fire under the junior activities this year. He hopes more will show up for the program. Eligible for junior curling are students from Grade 8 through high school.

"One of the problems is that curling doesn't get enough recognition" said Kelly Pender, a second year curler.

There are very few necessities in curling, really just a curling broom and a pair of running shoes. The yearly fee of $5 is much lower than the price for many other sports.

At the present time the junior program is also interested in a school league, with rinks participating from all area high schools.

"No experience is necessary to join the junior program," offers another member of the Bay of Quinte Curling Club, Mark Soule.

The big event in Belleville for junior curlers is the Pepsi Bonspiel, something beginners as well as veterans of the program can shoot for. Last year's winners, Joe Letersky, Jeanne Garvin, Debbie DeGenova and Tom Pender, had two beginners in the team, Garvin and DeGenova.

It is hoped that this year enough curlers will show up to make junior rinks a reality and a point rare possible. Trophies and prizes would be handed out at the end of the season, in March.

Helping to run the junior program are Joe Letersky, Paul Henderson of Moira Secondary School and the co-ordinator, Dr. John Letersky. In charge of registration is Mary Lou Letersky. Junior curling at the Quinte Club is a family affair.

Lions and Jim's Score OMHA Wins

Belleville Lions Major Midgets kept their undefeated run in regular season action intact, at home Tuesday and the tended their unbeaten streak on the year to seven games.

Both clubs played Ontario Minor Hockey Association AAA contests Tuesday and the Lions, who opened their regular season on the weekend, hoisted Trenton to a 4-4 tie. The Juveniles, who played in Kingston, edged Kingston Township 4-2.

The Pizzeria Juveniles have now won five and tied two contests in action this season. Mark Meehan, a standout between Jim's posts, did everything, including stopping a penalty shot in the win.

Brian Hamilton, Marty Lowery, Tony Bennett and Ray Skelly provided Meehan with all the goals he needed for the victory.

The Township crew beat him late in the third period. Those goals were scored by Ron Parry and Don Brown.

List of Entries Complete for Tourney

By TOM GAVEY
Sports Staff

Hockey fans will get their money's worth on the weekend of November 21-23, as the best midget hockey teams from all over Ontario and Quebec visit Belleville.

The occasion is the Fourth Annual Belleville Lions Midget Hockey Tournament, being played at the Dick Ellis and Memorial Avenue. With all of the entries for the tournament finalized it looks like quite an array of talent will be on display.

It has been rated by the Ontario Minor Hockey Association as one of the top midget tournaments in Canada. Teams competing will be among the best from the Wrigley's Tournament. The Wrigley's is the tournament which decides what team will represent Canada in Russia. It may even be superior to that tournament, according to convenor Don Gavey.

"There will be no weak teams in this tournament, clubs will have to go hard from the outset", Gavey said.

Among the teams competing will be Verdun, Quebec, who were Canadian midget Champions in 1974, and were runners-up last year. They still retain a number of players from the 1975 squad, and could be the team to beat.

Oshawa also has a strong entry in the two-day event, featuring defenceman Jim Jackson, Jackson, until just recently, was playing Junior A hockey, at the age of 16. He has a booming slapshot, and recently he had four goals and six assists in a game.

Burlington will also be in the thick of things, and a week after the Lions tournament they travel to Finland to represent Canada.

Kingston has experience in the big tournaments. They were finalists two years ago at the Wrigley's.

Barrie has six holdovers from their Canadian Championship team of last year. It was this team which toured Russia.

Other teams in the event will be Lakeshore, Whitby, Peterborough, Brampton, Ottawa and Trenton.

Cornwall is undefeated in midget play so far this season.

One of the dark horses in the tournament could well be Belleville. The local club was consolation winner at last year's tourney and are even stronger this year. Belleville knocked Kingston out of Wrigley play on the weekend.

With 10 games on Saturday, the admission price will be reasonable, at just $1. The same price will be charged Friday night, when the tourney gets under way.

"I think we have the best tournament in Ontario this year, and I'm more than pleased at the excellent teams attending," said Gavey.

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada is sending 13 canoeists to the first Pan-American Canoeing championships in Mexico City during the weekend, the Canadian Canoe Association announced Tuesday. Canoeing is not part of the Pan-Am Games. The Canadians are John Wood, Brad Oldershaw and Jeremy Abbott of Port Credit, Ont.; Susan Holloway, Karen Tipett, Dave Joyce, Bruce Raymond and John Edwards of Ottawa; Dean Oldershaw of Burlington, Ont.; Steve King and Jean Poursel of Laval, Que.; Peter Parsai and Cartierville, Que. and Ann Dodge of Halifax.

IN FAIR CONDITION

PITCHERS HONORED

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Righthanders Jim Palmer of Baltimore Orioles and Tom Seaver of New York Mets were named Tuesday by the Sporting News as the top major league pitchers for the 1975 baseball season. Selection of Palmer as best in the American League and Seaver as the National League's top pitcher was by a poll of major league players. The awards were the second for each.

LEAVES BIG ESTATE

CHICAGO (AP) — Avery Brundage, the multimillionaire and former head of the International Olympic Committee who died last May, left an estate estimated at $4.5 million, court records showed Tuesday. Included in the estate was personal property valued at $2 million and Chicago's LaSalle Hotel, appraised at $2.5 million.

MAKES OFFICIAL BID

MONCTON, N.B. (CP) — Moncton has made an official bid to play host to the 1978 Silver Broom world curling championship, and championship executive-director Doug Maxwell said it was an impressive presentation. Quebec City, London, Ont., Kitchener-Waterloo, Winnipeg, and Edmonton also have applied.

ELIGIBLE FOR RACES

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — An international auto racing agreement was announced Tuesday that would allow American stock cars to compete in 24-hour endurance races here and at LeMans, France. Bill France Sr., president of International Speedway Corp., said a new major award will be created. Eligibility details will be announced later.

CAFFERY TRADED

HARTFORD (AP) — Terry Caffery, who scored 100 points for New England and was rookie of the year in 1972-73 when the Whalers won the first World Hockey Association title, was traded Tuesday to Calgary Cowboys. In return for the 26-year-old centre, the Whalers will receive a third round and next year's amateur draft and other unspecified considerations.

ADDED TO FIELD

LAUREL, Md. (Reuter) — Comtesse de Lair, the French filly who finished second to Snow Knight in last Sunday's Canadian International at Woodbine in Toronto, has been added to the field for the Washington, D.C., International at Laurel Race Course on Nov. 8.

CONFIRM ENTRIES

CALGARY (CP) — Nineteen of Canada's best curling teams have confirmed their entries in the $35,500 Century curling classic to be held in Calgary during the Grey Cup week. The event will be held Nov. 19-22 and will involve 32 teams. Heading a long list of familiar names in curling is Canadian champion Bill Tetley of Thunder Bay, Ont. Brier runners-up Don Twa of Whitehorse, Y.T., and Tom Reed of Edmonton also have entered.

THROWS TANTRUM

PARIS (AP) — Romania's Ilie Nastase, the bad boy of international tennis, threw a tantrum Tuesday and got a warning from the umpire, but went on to beat Egypt's Ismail el Shafei 9-8, 6-4 on the second day of the Paris indoor open tournament. Arthur Ashe of the U.S. beat his countryman Dick Stockton 6-4, 4-6, 6-2 and Bob Hewitt of South Africa beat France's Patrice Dominguez 6-0, 2-6, 6-3.

HORSES SOLD

TORONTO (CP) — Eighty-four horses sold for $143,000 at the Canadian Thoroughbred Horse Society's horses-of-all-ages sale Tuesday night. The sale winds up tonight.

LOSES SPONSOR

MONTREAL (CP) — Gary Beck, 33, of Edmonton, 1974 world top-fuel champion, has lost his sponsor on the North American drag-racing circuit. Macdonald Tobacco Inc. of Montreal announced Tuesday it had dropped sponsorship of the dragster team of Beck and Ray Poets and two separate stock car racing series. A Macdonald official said the firm had cut its special events budget to create additional funds for other marketing programs.

SCOUTS GET GAGNON

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Kansas City Scouts of the National Hockey League said Tuesday they have acquired centre-left winger Germain Gagnon on waivers from Chicago Black Hawks. Gagnon, 22, played 10 games with the Black Hawks last year, picking up 16 goals and 35 assists for 51 points.

ARGOS MAKE CHANGE

TORONTO (CP) — Toronto Argonauts of the Canadian Football League have picked up Canadian Gerry Dulisse, a quarterback and wingback, for their game Saturday against Hamilton Tiger-Cats. Dulisse, who was on the Montreal Alouettes injury list earlier this season, replaces Cue Dicet, who goes on the Argos injury list.

NEW COACH NAMED

OTTAWA (CP) — Carleton University announced Tuesday that it has selected Brian Kerney, 37, head football coach to replace retiring Jim McCuaig. Kerney previously worked as assistant coach for the Ravens.

Concern Over Agricultural Chemicals Now Diminishing

(CP) — A Saskatchewan agriculture environmentalists need not be concerned about any massive increase in the future use of agricultural chemicals.

Jim Webster, assistant deputy agriculture minister, told a national outdoor an environmental conference that despite increasing pressure for food by a rapidly growing world population, North American agriculture will not be using more chemicals to increase production because there is no incentive to do so.

He said farmers know that when their returns increase, so do costs, and there is no incentive for them to produce more than they already are.

"They can see no benefit in it when higher prices they might receive are eaten up by higher costs."

But Mr. Webster added that while economics may restrict any increase in chemical use, "we must not allow the trend to go too far."

"Agricultural chemicals actually help control pollution and without them crops would be unprotected," he said.

"They would place less organic matter in th soil and the situation could revert to the serious pollution problems caused in the past by soil erosion."

However, Mr. Webster said it did not mean that the use of chemicals should be unrestricted.

Today's farmers have solved a number of the West's traditional pollution problems rather than spoiling an environmental Utopia using modern machinery, chemicals and technology. Before being settled, Western Canada continually was ravaged by prairie fires that left the land bare and exposed to the elements. Trees could not get established and soil was blown and washed away.

"Water pollution was a problem even then," he said. "Wild animals congregated near lakes and rivers, leaving carcasses and droppings on the banks and shores."

"One explorer counted 7,000 Qu'Appelle River in one day."

Livestock feedlots now are stringently controlled and while animal numbers have increased since the days when buffalo roamed unrestricted, the pollution of land and water has decreased vastly.

"Soil erosion has been brought under control with modern tillage methods and other cultural practices."

He said he regretted that many people, although well-meaning, continue to claim waterways are being polluted by chemicals washed from the soil.

"This has been scientifically disproved," he said, adding that run-off water can carry away recently applied chemicals, "but generally the amount entering rivers and streams is completely insignificant."

Mr. Webster said modern chemicals break down quickly in soil and in many cases are not applied in sufficient quantity to fully replace the elements removed from the soil by the crops.

Environmentalists, including many farmers, have shown the way to proper, progressive change, he said.

"We must continue to work together in feeding the nation without damaging the environment."

Blue Lake Centre Tackles Real Recreation

HINTON, Alta. (CP)—To Terry Whiteley, the problem with recreation leaders is that not enough of them really know what they are talking about.

His solution was the Blue Lake Centre in the Alberta foothills about 170 miles west of Edmonton where skills in outdoor activities could be taught to people who would carry them back to their own communities.

Mr. Whiteley was working for the Alberta department of lands and forests in 1968, keenly aware that leaders of youth young peoples' groups as scouts and 4H lacked the qualifications and experience to take youngsters into the wilderness.

When the province formed a department of culture and youth, he approached the minister in charge about a school for adults that would provide a pool of trained people who might feel at home in the bush.

During his research in 1967, he said, he found that such a program was operating successfully in Britain. By the next year he had a site picked out and the first prefabricated building was up.

In 1971, there were 500 participants. Last year there were 3,300.

The centre has grown by popular demand and now runs courses year-round with instructors hired on a contract basis and most trainees coming out for weekend courses.

The centre now comprises a $150,000 lodge and dining hall, two bunkhouses each for men and women, saunas and showers, nine tent cabins and assorted buildings for equipment and administration.

Bruce Dowbiggin, a site worker at the centre, said preference is given to applicants from recognized groups, but individuals 18 and over can also take courses at $8 per day, which includes everything from equipment to meals.

Accommodating 64 persons at a time, the centre offers courses on such activities as map and compass reading, back-packing, various levels of canoeing and kayaking, archery, survival training, mountain climbing, fishing, sailing and nature study.

The courses are in difficulty and the school offers progressive training-from lake canoeing to whitewater canoeing, for example.

Mr. Dowbiggin said applicants must be reasonably fit to take part but that has not stopped senior citizen groups from using the centre and taking some of the less-demanding courses.

The courses include practical experience and classroom instruction. Eighty per cent of participants are private individuals as much interested in developing their own skills as they are in teaching others.

Some even spent their holidays at the centre taking different courses. The longest course is five days.

Coroners Puzzled Over Shooting, While Calls for Gun Laws Increase

OTTAWA (CP) — An opposition parties and a gun control organization pressed the government for quick introduction of gun control laws Tuesday, two coroners puzzled over Monday's shooting spree that left two teen-agers dead and six wounded, one critically.

Dead are 17-year-old Kimberley Rabot and Robert Poulin, 18, a Grade 11 student at St. Pius X high school, who aimed his pump action shotgun at his own head after shooting six of his classmates attending a theology class.

The National Firearms Safety Association called the shotgun a "mistaken cranium" and urged the federal government to tighten its gun laws, which the association said make such weapons "available to anyone off the street."

Solicitor-General Warren Allmand told the Commons new gun-control proposals may be made public before the year's end and later drafted into law.

Ontario's chief coroner H. B. Cotsman arrived from Toronto Tuesday to help Ottawa coroner James Dickson with the autopsies and inquest preparations.

As expected announcement of the results was cancelled and the coroners declined comment.

Ottawa police said the case now was the responsibility of the coroners.

Basford Says Canada Needs Much Stronger Gun Controls

OTTAWA (CP) — Justice Minister Ron Basford said Tuesday high school shootings in Ottawa and Brampton, Ont., point up more than ever the need for stronger gun controls.

Both Mr. Basford and Solicitor-General Warren Allmand indicated a policy announcement will be made to the Commons, possibly in the next few weeks, outlining the controls.

In the Commons, Progressive Conservatives and New Democrats pressed for swift introduction of gun control legislation following an incident Monday in which six youths were injured while in a high school classroom by an 18-year-old who then blew his own head off with a sawed-off shotgun.

The shooting was similar to one in a Brampton high school last June in which a teacher and another student were killed by a teen-ager who then shot himself with a high-powered rifle.

Mr. Allmand said government proposals will apply to all guns, including rifles and shotguns.

Mr. Basford indicated gun owners may be held responsible for any injury done if their weapons fall into the hands of an unstable person through carelessness.

Gun owners probably would be held responsible for weapon storage not only under the Criminal Code, making them liable to fine or jail, but under provincial civil codes, under which they would be open to lawsuits.

The controls would make it easier for police to seize guns from unstable people. They would also place more responsibility on those who sell guns.

Mr. Basford said the controls may not have much effect on the "hardened criminal," who generally is using a restricted weapon such as a pistol that has been stolen or bought in the underworld.

But they would "markedly" reduce the number of accidental shootings, or shootings that arise from drunken brawls or the use of a weapon by a person who is unstable.

Mr. Allmand said it is "very unlikely" gun controls and the death penalty will be included in the same bill, although policy on both would be announced in the same package. The legislation would follow, with gun control part of an omnibus bill to amend the Criminal Code.

He said later he hopes legislation will be introduced later this year. However, it has not been drafted yet and may run into opposition when it is placed before the House.

Mr. Stanfield said later the opposition will not give government "a blank cheque" on gun controls. Police had said the law must be feasible and the opposition would take this into account.

Mr. Basford said federal proposals were discussed last week in Halifax with provincial attorneys-general and may be modified as a result.

Hospital Building Called Chaotic

SUDBURY, Ont. (CP) — Laurentian Hospital was built under chaotic conditions, the former project administrator told a public inquiry Tuesday.

C. A. Burns, project administrator from August, 1971, until his resignation in September, 1973, said that although he was hired by the board to exercise wide-ranging responsibilities, he never was allowed full freedom.

The inquiry is looking into the hospital building project.

Mr. Burns said intervention by J. P. Lebel, Laurentian board chairman, hindered him in carrying out his job responsibilities. He said Mr. Lebel bade him to consult with the Ontario Hospital Services Commission and the Sudbury and District Hospital Council.

PM Refuses to Name Pool Contributors

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Trudeau refused again Tuesday to disclose the names of donors contributing to his swimming pool at 24 Sussex Drive.

Information tabled in the Commons said, in effect, there has been no change in the original decision by Mr. Trudeau to keep the names secret, even from himself.

The government has said from the outset the pool, built last winter and spring at an estimated cost of $200,000, was a gift from private donors concerned over the access of Mr. Trudeau and future prime ministers to physical fitness facilities.

The fund for the pool was administered by Dr. W. H. Fader of Toronto. Mr. Trudeau was among the contributors but no other names have been released.

The information, which contained no new facts, was tabled by Government House Leader Mitchell Sharp on behalf of Mr. Trudeau. The prime minister was absent from the Commons for the second straight day because of the flu.

Injured Workers Protest Opening

TORONTO (CP) — About 150 members of the Union of Injured Workers demonstrated outside Queen's Park for more than two hours Tuesday during the opening of the legislature.

Phil Biggin, union secretary, said four members of the group were injured and taken to hospital after some pushing and shoving with police as the demonstrators tried to enter the legislature to meet with Labor Minister Bette Stephenson.

Dr. Stephenson later came outside and spoke briefly with union members.

Metropolitan Toronto police and security personnel closed the front door of the legislature building for a brief period during the demonstration.

Mr. Biggin said the workers were demonstrating for job security and full compensation for their injuries. He said the union will not stop protesting until their demands are met.

Unwanted Sign

TORONTO (CP) — Persons taking over a business might apply to the Liberal party of Ontario. Before the Sept. 18 provincial election, the party is said to have had made a banner reading "Under New Management" and planned to hang it from the Ontario legislature. But after the election results, which left the Liberals in third spot, party officials do not know what to do with it.

Early Drinking Problems Key to Alcoholic Treatment

EDMONTON (CP) — The treatment of alcoholism has achieved a "real breakthrough" in years by drawing problem drinkers at a much younger age, says an official with the Alberta Alcohol and Drug Abuse Commission (AADAC).

"Ten years ago, the average age of a person seeking treatment for alcoholism was 40 to 45," Eleanor Clark, counselling supervisor at the provincial AADAC outpatient clinic here, said in an interview.

"Today, the average age of persons seeking help is between 20 and 40 years," she said, attributing education to the fact that people "are recognizing alcoholism as a treatable condition."

The clinic, part of the commission's network of treatment facilities, treats about 350 persons with drug-related problems each month.

Treatment, provided free of charge, usually takes three to six months and is administered confidentially by the clinic's team of 10 professional counsellors, two nurses, and one recreation adviser.

"We deal with people who still are functional in the community," Mrs. Clark said. There is no set technique for counselling, done by sociologists, social workers, nurses and a psychologist.

"We tend to tailor treatment according to individual needs, and counsellors are chosen for their ability to relate to other people.

"We don't diagnose alcoholism; we just talk about what it is. It is up to the individual to decide where he fits in."

Once a person has decided he needs help to deal with alcohol or other drug problems, counsellors will give guidance in re-establishing the individual in society.

"People who drink tend to alienate themselves. When they quit, they have a lot of time on their hands. It's a matter of reorganizing their lives.

As important aspect of the clinic's service involves group sessions, with an attendance of about 1,000 persons a month. Some of the groups are aimed at alcoholics, others at their wives and children—but all are designed to provide basic information about alcoholism and its treatment.

"We want to see the spouses as well," Mrs. Clark said. "Alcoholism is a family illness."

One of the problems in dealing with alcoholism is that it is a difficult condition to recognize, even for professionals, she said. And the web of myths surrounding alcoholism contributes to that difficulty.

These myths include the belief that drinking alone or in the morning is an automatic indication of alcoholism, that most alcoholics are on skid row, Mrs. Clark said.

"Skid road can be in anyone's home. About 95 per cent of the alcoholic population are ordinary, working people, who differ from others only in their ability to handle alcohol."

Although Alberta is recognized as a leader in alcoholism treatment, Mrs. Clark said the province is close up cases or even define the clinic's "success." Some individuals may be completely cured, while others may have relapses.

The outpatient clinic is only part of AADAC's treatment program for persons with drug-related problems. AADAC, which started as the Alcohol Commission of Alberta in 1953 and became established as a commission in 1968, also runs an alcoholism recovery centre, a methadone clinic and various other programs. Its budget in 1975 totalled $5.7 million.

South Africa Bans Over 17,000 Books

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (Reuter)—More than 17,000 books, magazines and films are currently banned by South Africa's censors—190 men and women dedicated to protecting "the religious and conservative character of the people."

Recent decisions taken by the censors include:

—The banning of a magazine issue which contained a 20-yearold bikini shot of Marilyn Monroe. The censors said the late actress was displaying a "come-hither look."

—The banning of a film script about a colored (South Africa's term for mixed race) rugby player who attempts to pass himself off as white to win a place in the South African national team.

—The banning of a magazine issue which published a photo of a blonde Czech sidewalk model wearing a blue denim vest and shorts. The top button of the shorts was unfastened, exposing her navel.

This magazine also contained an article about a British Baptist minister who had been married 19 times. The censorship board said the article made a mockery of marriage and of those serving the church.

The board took exception to a magazine picture of a New York black man with one arm around a white woman. This said the board, would encourage white and black people to disregard the provisions of the Immorality Act — the law which bans sexual relations between races.

The banned list also includes many novels regarded abroad as modern masterpieces.

In 1972, only 202 out of 1,283 full-length feature films were approved unconditionally by the censors.

An example of screen censorship was the fight to get Franco Zeffirelli's Romeo and Juliet passed by the publicans and general censorship board.

The film contains one three-second shot of Juliet's naked right breast and Zeffirelli insisted that he would not allow the film to be screened in South Africa if this shot was cut.

After a two-year battle between the board and the distributors, Zeffirelli finally relented and the censors had their way.

The magazine editors impose self-censorship to avoid trouble. One recent example was a black strip over a seven-month-old baby boy's genitals in a magazine picture.

A Johannesburg psychiatrist commented "This is where censorship has taken us—to this ludicrous extent."

In response to criticism of what has been described as petty censorship, Interior Minister Cornelius Mulder recently sought to define what was improper or indecent in terms of the 1974 Publications Act.

"A publication is improper or indecent if it has the tendency to evoke lust or if it contains an irreverent or sticky handling of sex or morals; or if it evokes sexual stimulation or lust in connection with scenes depicting violence or brutality," he said.

CP News Roundup

Begins Survey

REGINA (CP) — The Saskatchewan government has begun a weekly price survey of supermarkets in Regina and Saskatoon, Consumer Affairs Minister Wes Robbins announced Tuesday. He said the survey is designed to help consumers decide where to shop.

Sex Education

HAMILTON (CP) — Government pressure has forced the Ontario Educational Communications Authority (OECA) to shelve a proposed 15-part television series on sex education, says Stewart Smith, Liberal member of the Ontario legislature for Hamilton West.

Enrolment Up

TORONTO (CP) — Student enrolment at engineering schools of Ontario universities will be 10,600 this year, up 24 per cent from last year, says the Association of Professional Engineers of Ontario. Eleven Ontario universities offer degrees in engineering.

Fish Seized

TORONTO (CP) — Conservation officers have seized 500 pounds of game fish and are preparing charges involving illegal fishing in western Lake Simcoe against seven Toronto men and one from Oro Station, David Montgomery of the ministry of natural resources said Tuesday.

Voices Concern

SUDBURY, Ont. (CP) — A report prepared for Sudbury council says there should be more concern about the quality of life in Ontario Housing Corp. units. The report, written by Ald. Maurice Lamoureux and a senior civic employee, suggests the city should investigate alternatives to such housing.

Requests Study

TORONTO (CP) — James Snow, Ontario transportation minister, said Tuesday he has asked ministry officials to study the benefits of lowering highway speed limits to 55 miles an hour. He said the energy situation in Canada is one of the reasons he wants the review.

Reports Attendance

STRATFORD, Ont. (CP) — The Stratford Festival had a record attendance of 437,000 during the 21-week 1975 season, festival officials said in a statement. Attendance increased 36,000 from last year. Box office receipts were $2,838,000, an increase of $250,000 over sales for the 1974 season.

Offer Rejected

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Striking transit workers rejected the London transportation commission's latest contract offer Tuesday by a vote of 261 to 14. The union has been seeking a 42.5 per-cent wage increase over two years. Details of the offer were not released.

Poorly Rewarded

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario Health Minister Frank Miller said Tuesday that doctors who, during the last five years, have negotiated with the provincial government with self-restraint have been poorly rewarded by the federal government's anti-inflation program.

Births

THORN — Charles and Sharon are happy to announce the birth of their daughter, Jessica, 7½ lbs. at Belleville General Hospital on Monday, October 27, 1975. A brother for Billy.

BOULTON — Grace and Fred are happy to announce the birth of their daughter, Jennifer Patricia at Kingston General Hospital on Thursday, October 23, 1975. All well.

In Memoriam

WOOD — In loving memory of a dear mother, Emma Wood, who passed away October 29, 1974.
Time does not heal
Are the hardest things to say.
Dear you are loved
In a way we can't express
We could have one lifetime wish,
One answer that could come true...
We'd give the God with all our hearts,
For yesterday to be —Lovingly remembered by her Mom, Dad, Grandpa, Grandma and Ross and sister Tracy Lynn.

SCOBEL — In loving memory of Darcy who passed away October 29, 1974.
Time passes, memories linger
—Gerry, Vaz and Gordie.

SCOBEL — In loving memory of our dear son and brother Darcy who passed away October 29, 1972.
Today recalls the memory
Of a loved one gone to rest.
And those who think it can linger,
Are those who loved him best.
Two years have passed since he died, sorrow
But the love for him who lies beneath,
Will never fade away.
—Ever remembered by Father, Mother, Brothers Ken and Jim, and brother-in-law and friend Ron.

MASTERSON — In loving memory of my dear mother, Marjorie (Irene Masterson) who died Oct. 29, 1973.
Two lilies were planted
Two willing hands are still.
For one who suffered much
Is resting in God's will.
Two were left to pass along to me,
Forever my dear mother
Forever your love and goodbye.
To one I loved so much
—Lovingly remembered by daughter Doreen, son-in-law Ken and grandchildren, sister Edna and family.

VADER — In loving memory of a dear father and grandfather Nathan Vader, who died Oct. 30, 1971.
God saw you getting tired
A cure was not to be,
So He closed His arms and called you
And whispered come home to me.
You didn't deserve what we went through
But God in his gave you rest.
God's garden must be beautiful,
As He only takes the best.
—Lovingly remembered by daughter Marion, son-in-law Bruce and grandchildren Ronald, Donald, daughter-in-law Doreen and grandchildren.

CARD OF THANKS

I would like to take the opportunity to thank all my relatives, friends and neighbours for their gifts, flowers and visits and all the get well cards my husband received while a patient in Belleville General Hospital, particularly the nurses and staff on the 3rd floor orthopaedic, cardiac care and at those that worked in the emergency. A special thank to Father George Ouellette for his visits and prayers and to the CWL of the Holy Rosary Parish for their comforting prayers and visits. Also Dr. McSherry and Dr. Fahi. Sincere thanks to you all. You were wonderful to us. May God bless you each and all.
Sincerely, Mrs. Annie M. O'Grady.

Your Horoscope

By BERNICE BEDE OSOL

Aries (March 21-April 19) You're not likely to get an accurate assessment today unless you're working on something artistic or creative.

Taurus (April 20-May 20) Don't come on too strong today in front of friends about something good that has happened to you recently. One pal is a bit envious.

Gemini (May 21-June 20) Put things back in their places around the house today, so that when you look for something you need you'll not find it.

Cancer (June 21-July 22) Be extra careful today not to give out information told to you in the strictest confidence.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22) This is not a good day to make important purchases. You could easily be talked into paying more than something is actually worth.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Pay compliments today if they're sincerely deserved, but don't attempt to use flattery to gain your ends. It won't work.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) Don't expect someone to hail you out of a problem situation today that was self-created. It will not left to you to unravel.

Scorpio (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Dodging responsibility could be your downfall today. Wait till you have it tucked in the bank before assuming new obligations.

Sagittarius (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Don't do anything today that could adversely reflect on your honor or reputation. Adhere to your highest ideals.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Wait till all the facts are in for a day before making judgments. Your first impressions most be wrong today.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Do business today only with persons you've dealt with before, or show by reputation to be ethical. Be wary of strangers.

Pisces (Feb. 20-March 20) Don't agree to do something today contrary to your own good, just because you don't want to hurt a sensitive friend.

You felt it was sufficiently important to ask me about it, so I consider it suitable for answering.

You are not alone, and you shouldn't be disturbed. The climax is not the ultimate in sexual relations. In the male, it is the rule, but not for women; or at least in women it can be highly variable. Why this should be so is not clear.

For the woman factors such as her sexual responsiveness, the adequacy of foreplay, the husband's endurance, and her own mental attitude become important. Women, incidentally, seem to have peaks of sexual responsiveness, and these may occur before, during, or after their menstrual cycle.

Negatively, anxiety can play a role. Sometimes the husband has the desire, but the wife may not be turned in, to be specific, because of other thinks on her mind. Her general attitude towards sex can be another factor. If it has low priority in her scale of values, her response may be indifferent.

It seems that you have a wholesome attitude toward the sex act. You enjoy it. This is important, the intimate communication with your husband. A climax is not always necessary for a woman to enjoy sex. You admit that yourself.

A woman's response is normally slower than a man's, so it may take longer for her to achieve climax. Often in cases where women find they are incapable of climax, it could be that they are trying too hard. If they would relax, the climax would occur. You may be able to recall occasions when you were successful and learn from that.

Have you discussed the matter with your husband? It may help to do so. Remember, it takes two to tango.

Nor should you be embarrassed to discuss this with your physician. It is used to discussing such problems with his patients. They are very much a part of the practice of medicine.

If nothing else, he may be able to suggest appropriate sexual counseling. This often corrects the problem and enhances the many future years of sexual enjoyment that by rights belong to you and your husband.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Last year you had a letter from a mother who was concerned about her child's lunches going bad for being in a warm room all day at school. I hit upon a solution that might help.

I freeze a glass container of fruit juice and pack it beside the sandwich. That way my boy has a cold drink for his lunch and his sandwich is kept fresh at the same time. Just thought it might help.—Mrs. D. F.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Should a woman in her upper 60s keep taking the Pill? Will she quit menstruating while still taking the PILL—E. F. R.

This is a "grey area" in which pregnancy is not to occur. I guess that old unofficial and unofficial law of probability (I think they call it "Murphy's Law" or some such thing) would apply: if an event can occur, it probably will.

So you should continue with the Pill. Your menses will stop in due time, probably about the time they normally would with or without the Pill. Contraceptive measures should be continued for about a year after menopause (the end of your periods).

To Your Good Health

Sexual Problem Needs Attention

By G. C. THOSTESON, MD

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I'll be glad to do that if you feel it is warranted. We have been married for 18 years. I enjoy sex with my husband, but in recent years have climaxed only a few times. Can you tell me why this is so and how I can change it?

I have never discussed this problem with anyone. The cause of embarrassment. Your advice if you can and if you feel the subject is suitable for your column.—Mrs. H. C.

Opening lead — Q ♠

This bid suggests the possibility of defending. It is in case East-West have the hand. It also suggests game possibilities if South has the balance of power.

South does have the balance of power. He has 16 high-card points and good club support. He also has a balanced hand with a spade stopper and decides to try for the game in notrump. He looks to partner and North is happy to take him right to game.

There is no problem in the play. South takes his king of spades and promptly cashes six clubs and two hearts before giving up the lead.

Ask the Jacobys

A Michigan reader wants to know if we overcall a diamond opening bid to one right with: ♠ A Q 7 6 ♥ 5 4 ♦ K 8 3 2 ♣ 7 5.

The answer is a resounding affirmative. We don't have an opening bid, but we do have a good spade suit and when you have a good spade suit it behooves you to get into the bidding.

(Do you have a question for the experts? Write "Ask the Jacobys" care of this newspaper. The Jacobys will answer individual questions if stamped, self-addressed envelopes are enclosed. The most interesting questions will be used in this column and will receive copies of JACOBY MODERN.)

Texas Oilmen Visit Singapore

SINGAPORE (Reuter) — Texan accents are loud and clear in the bars and restaurants of Singapore these days, and the sightseeker do a roaring trade from big-spending oilmen.

With its efficient port and business facilities, Singapore has become the supply center for oil exploration in Southeast Asia—the oilman's home base.

Many of the oil exploration workers spend two weeks at sea on a rig, where alcohol is either banned, then one week in Singapore on leave.

With notoriously big thirsts, the oilmen consume oceans of liquor and whoop it up at the city's numerous night places with bar girls at their elbows.

Although the Singapore government frowns on illegal contact over overt prostitution—it is there, but unseen—there are numerous bars sporting girls in mini-skirts and girl escort agencies flown in from a flourishing business.

The oilmen have even opened their own club, with one of the requirements that members must spend at least $1,000 Singapore (about $400 U.S.) in the club each month.

Singapore's big supermarkets are able to supply the oilmen with all the T-bone steaks they desire—flown in fresh from the United States, Australia or New Zealand.

Apart from serving as a base for the oil exploration, Singapore has become one of the world's biggest producer of oil rigs.

Although the Japanese are expected to make up all rig building, Singapore's shipyards have work booked for the next two years.

The continued expansion of the ship and oil rig repairing and building industry is one of priorities of the Singapore government, which helps in the training of shipyard workers.

Dickens Of A Time

TORONTO (CP) — A group of merchants in the downtown city core want to throw a fancy-dress ball "a December using as a theme the characters in Charles Dickens' A Christmas Carol. It's looking for a Charles Dickens' Society locally to help it with the planning, but it's having a rickem of a time finding one. There's one in Montreal but not in Toronto.

Illusion Theatre Draws Hundreds of Curious People

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—"You'll be amazed, you'll be amazed and you'll be entertained," bellows the voice over a loudspeaker on a corner crowing at the European Illusion Theatre gets ready to pack in another crowd of falsetoed people.

The voice is alternately daring and pleading as it tries to attract passersby to see the woman with four legs, or the woman with the longest neck in the world or the woman whose head revolves on a 360-degree angle.

And the voice goes on commanding the crowd to see No Middle Myrtle, the woman who floats in the air and the Cardiff giant who is so tall he towers ten feet Kilamanjaro towers above the. African plains.

The initial selling of wonders is the first part of the European Illusion Theatre's night. Once the crowd has paid the 75 cents to get inside, the show begins only to be repeated hour after hour.

The troupe begins the show with Francesca, the four-legged woman. She is ordered to wiggle her 20 toes by the master of ceremonies and shifts two stockinged feet and two strangely large additions as the curtain closes.

Next appears spider woman—a head on a box with protruding hairy legs.

Then it's time for the floating woman, Marie, the star of the levitation act, comes on stage and is placed on a coffin by the troupe's magician, Rick Dennis.

A few sweeps of Mr. Dennis' arm and up goes Marie, floating. To baffle those who see wires suspended, the magician trickily passes a hoop over Marie.

Next the crowd is offered the woman with the revolving head. The magician slips a box over her head and the box does spin at a 360-degree angle. Members of the crowd begin to boo and hiss.

But no one leaves, not even when Cardiff, the paper-mache giant, is revealed.

And the best is yet to come. The woman with the world's longest neck is the last act and the one who will send the audience away feeling pleasantly tricked.

She is beheaded, a box neatly hides the precise moment of impact! and a few moments later her head appears on a chair across the stage. . Torchy Wilson, secretary of the theatre, has been with the show a number of years. Her husband, now deceased, was a magician and she was a high-wire artist at one time.

For Mrs. Wilson the travelling and the selling are a way of life. She said she has been on the road all her life and enjoys carnival life.

Mrs. Wilson said the show has been running the North American circuit for about 25 years and the troupe works six months a year.

Home base is in Florida and Mrs. Wilson said it is not true that a set of money is made by the theatre.

"I know everybody thinks we make a lot of money, but we don't," she said. "Remember, we have to live for six months on what we make in six months."

In talking about the show, Mrs. Wilson said she has found that most persons do not know what illusions are and feel the show is a fake.

"Now if they understand it's illusion they're OK," she said. "We find the more intelligent the person is the more they like it."

Unmotivated Student Buys Used Bookstore

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — What do you do when you are 17, ambitious, but unmotivated by school?

If you are Marc Emery, 17, you quit school and buy a used bookstore.

Marc, who worked as a paper boy and a mail-order dealer in the lucrative field of comic books, bought the London Used Book Mart last April.

Though his father helped him out by co-signing a bank loan, Marc is the store's sole owner and employee and often puts in 70 hours of work each week.

The young entrepreneur said business is booming and he has been able to pay off his loans more quickly than he expected. He said sales have been up a consistent 33 per cent since he took over and he is even thinking he would like to open another store next year, selling another kind of merchandise.

"It was greed that lured me into the business world," he said.

His store, the largest used book mart in this city, contains 81,000 volumes and another 10,000 are in storage in the basement.

Marc buys about 2,000 books a week and sells an average of 1,000. His stock includes everything from collectors' items to skin magazines. Though he is interested in books, Marc's attitude toward them is "completely business." He keeps nothing for sentimental reasons and "nothing's so rare that I won't come across it again." He obtains his stock from customers who visit the store and from auctions dispersing of estates. He pays an average of 10 to 12 cents for paperback novels and 10 cents for hard covers.

He then sells the paperbacks for half their original retail price or less. A hardcover that originally sold at $11.50 may be priced as low as $1.25.

But running his own business leaves little time for other activities. When he is not giving advice to customers or ringing up sales from an antique barber's chair—he inherited it from the former owner—Marc buys sorts, prices and locates books on the shelves.

"Sometimes it's disappointing to look back over what you've done for the last six months and discover you've just been working," he said.

"I had worked every weekend for months, and recently found I had a Sunday off. I just didn't know what to do with myself and ended up going into the store anyway, because there's always something to be done."

Anniversary

BURNABY, B.C. (CP) — Simon Fraser University celebrated the 10th anniversary of its founding in early September, with a 24 square-foot cake as the centre of attraction. The university now has an enrolment of 7,000 students.

2 Plates Cause Confusion

KINGSTON, Ont. (CP) — The distinctive licence plate was the prized possession of Du Pont of Canada employee Harold B. Sills. That is until he found it wasn't the only set of its kind.

It was distinctive—HBS-727. The HBS represented his initials; the first digit his birthday, the other two digits his house number. 27 Lennox Street in Kingston.

But somehow, a duplicate set turned up in the Hamilton area and that's when Mr. Sills' hair started turning grey.

The other man wasn't paying his Hamilton-Wentworth parking tickets and the summonses arrived at Mr. Sills' door.

Both were for $8 each, but they were reissued and the penalty went up to $10. There was also the threat of licence suspension for non-payment of fines.

Mr. Sills was dumbfounded. On the two dates he was supposed to have bypassed the Hamilton parking meters, his car was locked on the Du Pont of Canada research centre parking lot in Kingston Township.

He notified provincial police who did a registration check.

Back came the information: HBS-727 was issued to a man in the Hamilton area who operated a 1974-model station wagon—not Harold B. Sills who got the plate in 1973 for a station wagon purchased that year.

Personalized plates cost $25 above the registration fee. Mr. Sills' was a gift from his sister; he picked up the other $45 tab.

The provincial government's motor vehicle registration bureau was immediately notified that two identical sets of plates had been issued.

Impossible, they said, but the Kingston detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police proved that the impossibility was a reality.

Eventually, it was acknowledged that an HBS series of markers had been sold in the Hamilton area and, in fact, one with the numbers 727 had got on to the market.

How it happened that identical plates were stamped hasn't been determined, Mr. Sills said.

Attempts were made to reach the Hamilton-area man and have him exchange his plates for another set without cost.

Letters sent by the ministry of transportation and communications were never answered and a visit to the man's last known address revealed he had moved without giving a forwarding address.

Weeks passed and no was received by the government's motor vehicle licensing bureau from the duplicate possessor of Mr. Sills' prized plates.

Mr. Sills said he was offered the same solution to the twin-set dilemma. Turn in his markers and get a new set, a different number, of course. No cost involved.

He refused.

Suddenly the problem was resolved. Police found the other man's car in the Hamilton area earlier this month and confiscated the licence markers.

Area Doctors Reject Total Strike Tactic

By HARRY MULHALL
Staff Reporter

Doctors from around central Ontario Wednesday night rejected any total general strike as a tactic to back up new fee demands from the provincial government.

The decision supported a conclusion from one of a session of seminars at the Ontario Medical Association's District 6 held its annual meeting at Belleville General Hospital.

It was among possible retaliatory moves mulled over by some 50 doctors at the seminar — but unanimously discarded by Dr. Lionel Dockrill, chairman of the discussion, later reported to the convention.

But the same group also debated a less drastic strategy — and favored it, said Dr. Dockrill: partial withdrawal of all but emergency services, if it became necessary.

When the resolution was put to the convention later the result wasn't clearly defined. One result was claimed to be a "split vote — with many absentees" — although Dr. Dockrill said later he believed it had won support.

Economics dominated the meeting as more than 200 doctors from the district association's membership of 600 meet at BGH's Education Hall.

On hand to discuss current negotiation issues and professional stances with the doctors — who came from an area reaching from Peterborough to Picton — were OMA officials.

But their presence at the meeting was not to stimulate militant support for the association in its fee negotiations — rather to make contact between doctors and the OMA on the situation, indicated Dr. W. J. Vail, OMA chairman.

Such district meetings are scheduled a year ahead, he said.

But he stressed to the doctors the need for collective action by the profession.

"We feel it isn't easy for the individual doctor to deliberately risk his income and court disapproval of his patients and friends," he said. "This background of professional tradition and individualism will militate against collective action.

"I want to stress to you that our cause will be lost unless we work together."

But the doctors also were warned they would be in "a very bad position" if they withdrew services because of financial reasons.

Dr. Wilfred Butts, of Whitby, OMA honorary treasurer, said if "we come in a confrontation I hope to God it's not on dollars.

"Don't kid ourselves. "We're not talking about dollars," he said. "We're talking about the future of medicine in Canada and that's the point we have to make."

He said the OMA was committed to a fee schedule that will represent the "value of a doctor's service in society . . ."

But Dr. Butts also emphasized the need for unity in the profession which alone can provide medical care.

"Aid if there's any uniformity in the medical profession it better be on the basis of good quality of care — which only doctors can provide. Then we can argue about dollars — and have our patients argue on our side," he said.

Dr. Vail said the OMA now was holding a watching brief on the effects of the new federal anti-inflation program on negotiations.

Because of this the meeting with other provincial medical associations through the OMA has been requested.

The federal government's anti-inflation guidelines also was discussed by a seminar under Dr. Bruce Mungall, BGH's chief of medical staff.

Dr. Morgan won support for a resolution that the OMA as representative of a "responsible profession support the spirit and principle of the guidelines — provided they are universally applied.

Dr. Jame Loudon also won support for a resolution from his seminar that the public be warned about the need for more medical funds.

"The profession's financial position is at the "mercy of politicians" in turn responsive to public pressure. Therefore the most important message to get to the public is that medical care will decline if insufficient funds are available."

Money Issues Still Unsolved

OTTAWA (CP) — Negotiators for the post office and the Canadian Union of Postal Workers (CUPW) adjourned their contract negotiations early this morning following a session that started early Wednesday afternoon.

Indications were that some minor monetary and non-monetary issues had been settled, leaving the most contentious monetary matters still to be negotiated when talks resume today.

Jean-Claude Parrot, chief union negotiator, said following the adjournment that "I'm still optimistic a settlement can be reached."

Mr. Parrot said one non-monetary issue still to be resolved is the use of casual labor, although both parties have reviewed new proposals.

Postmaster-General Bryce Mackasey left the talks earlier Wednesday evening and there were no post office spokesmen available for comment.

The strike by the 22,000 inside postal workers now is in its 19th day.

Also still outstanding is the matter of pay differentials for night shifts and weekends.

But Mr. Mackasey has said he agrees with the principle of pay differentials for weekends and night shifts, although not with the amounts proposed in a conciliation report by Judge Jean Martel of Quebec Superior Court.

There were a four-cents-an-hour increase in night differentials—now 18 cents an hour—a Saturday premium of 60 cents an hour and a Sunday premium of 75 cents an hour.

The postal workers last were asking for a 32-per-cent increase on their average $4.56-an-hour wage in a 27-month contract.

Mr. Mackasey said earlier this week the CUPW may have to settle for less than the original post office offer of a $1.70-an-hour increase in a 30-month contract if negotiators asked for more in other areas.

Economic Controls May Last 2 Years

OTTAWA (CP) — Finance Minister Donald Macdonald said Wednesday that selective wage and price controls need "a fair trial" of at least two years to determine whether they are effective in reducing inflation.

He told the Commons the government has no plan to bring forward a freeze on prices and incomes "at this time."

"We are this program over a time-frame of two or three years," Mr. Macdonald said, after which we would decide either to proceed with the present system, lift the controls entirely, or move to a more comprehensive one."

Meanwhile, with the Canadian Labor Congress (CLC) expected today to endorse an executive council decision made last week for "outright rejection" of the selective controls while guidelines the government received some support from the Senate for its program.

Senator Ed Lawson (Liberal, British Columbia), president of the 64,000-member Teamsters Union, said labor should be prepared to make sacrifices to beat inflation. He said he was not argued for controls, but restraint now might save jobs later.

Senator Eugene Forsey (Liberal, Ontario) took the CLC to task, accusing it of favoring measures that would only add to inflation.

Stringing a Line

These Ontario Hydro linesmen are over 80 feet in the air as they put the proper slag on these high voltage wires at the new Bath power station. Finkle Crane Rentals, Belleville, was contracted to hoist the lineman on this particular job because of their custom made lift-basket. These lines will supply 500 megawatts of power across Ontario.

News Briefs

Plane Crashes

PRAGUE (Reuter) — An air liner believed to be carrying 110 passengers was reported to have crashed on the outskirts of this city today. Airport sources said the plane, operated by the Yugoslav charter company Inex Adria, went down in Sedlec on the outskirts of the city.

Will Face $10,000 Fines

TORONTO (CP) — Operators of large businesses who open their stores on Sundays and holidays would face fines of up to $10,000 under a bill introduced in the Ontario legislature Wednesday. Solicitor General John MacBeth introduced the bill to regulate holiday closings for retail businesses.

Removes Embassy Staff

OTTAWA (CP) — Non-essential staff at the Canadian embassy in Beirut and dependents are being moved to Athens as the fighting in Lebanon increases, the external affairs department said Wednesday. However, a flight evacuation has not been made on how many of the staff of about 50 are to be moved.

Gas Shortage Measures

TORONTO (CP) — Legislation requiring Ontario natural gas distributors to fill plans for the allocation of natural gas in the event of shortages was introduced in the legislature Wednesday. Energy Minister Dennis Timbrell said in the legislature that the legislation does not imply that Ontario now faces a natural gas shortage.

Reach Ceasefire

BEIRUT (Reuter) — Sources say that Lebanon's warring factions reached another ceasefire agreement Wednesday night, the tenth in six weeks. They say the ceasefire was agreed at a meeting chaired by Premier Rashid Karami and attended by Palestinian commando leader Yasser Arafat, other Palestinian officials, internal security force and army officers and some top Lebanese politicians.

No Acts of Terrorism

TORONTO (CP) — Khaled Mouammar, president of the Canadian Arab Federation, said Wednesday that although members of his group support the Palestine Liberation Organization (PLO), Arabs in Canada have not committed any acts of terrorism and would oppose such action in this country.

New York's Crisis

Ford Will Veto Any Federal Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional backers of legislation to save New York City from financial default are continuing their efforts, although they concede they doesn't have the strength to override a promised veto by President Ford.

In a speech Wednesday at the National Press Club, President Ford said:

"I can tell you now that I am prepared to veto any bill that has as its purpose a federal bail-out of New York City to prevent a default."

The Senate banking committee meets today to vote on a bill to provide $4 billion in loan guarantees for the city. If passed, the measure faces a promised filibuster on the Senate floor.

The House of Representatives economic stabilization committee also hears today from Treasury Secretary William Simon, who is expected to testify against a bail. The group then is to draft a bill and report it to the full banking committee.

Ford has proposed amending bankruptcy to keep credit ors from tying up the city's finances in lawsuits if the city defaults. He said he still believes New York officials can prevent default, though some of those officials say the city may be unable to pay its debts as early as Nov. 14.

Ford said his plan would ensure police and fire protection and other essential services if New York City defaults.

Study Shows Controls Only Partial Solution

LONDON (Reuter) — International studies suggest that wage and price controls can help combat inflation temporarily without offering much hope of a permanent solution, researchers here say.

An incomes policy, to be effective, must take account of social and economic factors such as pension, working hours and conditions, the researchers stress.

They say this feeling lies behind the evolution in recent years of the social contract, adopted in Britain and some other countries, whereby governments emphasize social benefits in return for co-operation by organized labor and industry in exercising wage restraint.

Economists who have studied foreign experience with incomes policy say that such program is useless if there is some central bargaining mechanism, as in Australia, New Zealand, the Netherlands and Scandinavia.

Some say it creates tension between different types of workers and generates unrealistic expectations: British politicians such as right-wing rebel Enoch Powell brand it economic nonsense.

Varicose Veins

Belleville Surgeon Implements New Drug Treatment Program

By HARRY MULHALL
Staff Reporter

A Belleville surgeon has introduced a new treatment for varicose veins.

It dispenses with the long-standing standard solution to the problem — surgery.

Instead, Dr. Kenneth Douglas has substituted treatment.

In a pilot project, funded by Physicians Services Inc. Foundation, Dr. Douglas now is treating patients at a clinic at Belleville General Hospital's Education Hall.

The therapy includes a drug injection — followed by a simple exercise: Walking. But the patient must be willing to put in some time walking — about two miles a day, says the surgeon.

The clinic went into operation Sept. 8 and now Dr. Douglas is treating about 50 patients. Treatment can last from six to eight weeks.

Dr. Douglas introduced his project to colleagues from around central Ontario Wednesday — a one more than 200 doctors assembled at Education Hall for the annual meeting of the District Medical Association's District.

Among advantages of the clinic:

— Personal: Those attending are treated as out-patients. They has no time from jobs or home, saves veins that hitherto had to be removed by surgery and discarded. Modern medicine is rapidly expanding in the field of coronary treatment for which veins are required.

— Economics: It saves on bed space. And the treatment itself costs "about one-tenth" of hospitalizing a patient for a surgical remedy of the condition.

Dr. Douglas believes it's only the second clinic of its kind in Canada; the other is at Hamilton.

However, the treatment is not new. There are similar clinics throughout Europe. And the treatment has been current now for more than 10 years in DuVilla — where Dr. Douglas went, learned the procedure and decided for it.

It's estimated about 80 per cent of varicose veins problems can be treated by the process, he told the convention.

The Belleville surgeon's initiative won praise at the meeting from Dr. Ed Gendron, Ontario health ministry advisor.

Dr. Douglas was "to be congratulated in performing this work outside a university centre," he said.

Well-known Driver Ends 33-year Career

For the past decade his cheery figure has been a daily presence in Belleville's downtown commercial sector—his shipment beat for Canadian National Express.

During that time he's trundled pickups and deliveries to and from his truck—a chore he's obviously enjoyed, even though he was cautioned to take it easier years ago.

But now he's heading for his 60th birthday—and retirement.

Monday as usual he was on the job—his last day of service-moving along Front St. just as spritedly as ever, enjoying final contact with the merchants and business staffs he's known so long.

"I know a lot of faces and some wonderful people on this street," he said.

Bernard, a native of Picton who moved to Belleville some years ago with his wife Louella, first joined CN 33 years ago as a truck maintenance worker. He switched to express delivery 14 years ago.

He said a decade ago his doctor asked him if he couldn't "slow down."

"But why slow down when you've got your health," said Bernard as he unloaded an armful of boxes onto his trolley.

"At my age you look around you and see some people who're disabled and you're thankful."

As for retirement he still expects to stay busy. Besides outdoor interests—golfing, hunting, fishing — he likes to tinker with things.

"That's my pleasure—tinkering, with everything from venetian blinds to waterpipes," he said, before heading down the street with more deliveries from his last shipment.

Lack of Second Ambulance Worries Trenton Doctors

TRENTON — High ambulance service in Trenton is inadequate since the government forced the local company to cut operating costs and work with only one unit, say some doctors, hospital officials and the police department.

Since Sept. of 1974 when the budget cut was imposed, Rushnell Ambulances servicing Trenton and district, including Brighton, has been operating from 6 p.m. until 8 a.m. with only a single unit and three attendants. This is a reduction of two workers and one ambulance.

"Why do we have to wait until there is a tragedy like there was in Grimsby when three people were seriously injured in a car accident and one person died when he had to wait to be transferred to the hospital," said Dr. John Bonn, a local physician.

During the past two months there have been two incidents of the police having to transport injured people to the hospital because there was no ambulance available but officials of the ambulance service said this would not have been necessary if they had just waited a few minutes longer.

Dr. Brock Nugent, a Trenton physician and the town coroner said in a recent interview, that the issue had been discussed at the hospital and staff had been alerted to the problem and told to take notes of any related incident in case the town wanted to present a case to the provincial government for more funds to mobilize another unit.

"It could be a serious problem," Dr. Nugent said. "When one unit is servicing a call and another accident or emergency occurs it takes time to mobilize the standby unit," he said. Officials of the ambulance company have said they are required to have the standby unit moving within 14 minutes and that this can be done.

In the past, if there was an emergency and more ambulances were needed Belleville would be contacted and asked to send an available unit but this can not always be done now.

"Belleville used to have four units around the clock but now they only have one car from 2 a.m.- 8 a.m. and two cars until 5 a.m. and you have to keep at least one emergency vehicle in the town," said an official of Rushnell's.

The ambulances are used for hospital transfers of patients between the town and Belleville, Kingston and Toronto when it is necessary. The Trenton company makes more than 2,000 calls a year.

Emergency Response

Nat Smith, right, and Dave MacCormack, attendants for Rushnell's Ambulance Service in Trenton mobilize their unit after receiving an emergency call. The Trenton company has been forced by the provincial government to restrict its night ambulance coverage and local doctors are concerned there may be a tragedy because of the limited service.

Jayel Gets Exension On Service Installation

PICTON — Picton town council met in closed session Tuesday night with representatives of the Jayel Development Corporation Ltd. of Oshawa and the Picton Public Utilities Commission to determine if Jayel is in default of an agreement among the three parties.

Jayel Developments has constructed condominium housing units on Pitt Street here and recently failed to meet deadlines for installation of services. A performance bond has been posted by the development corporation but council prefers completion of the project to a forfeit of the bond.

It was stated that Tuesday's council meeting was closed to protect creditors.

Oshawa lawyer Lucien Michaels who represented Jayel Development Corp. Ltd. at the meeting held with council this week referred to the session as a "fact-gathering" meeting.

Early this month he forwarded a letter to town council requesting that Jayel's building project not be jeopardized at this late stage.

Jayel Developments has constructed 14 housing units on Pitt St. in one condominium and 12 in the other and is negotiating registration of a condominium plan under the Provincial Condominium Act.

When building permits are requested for the additional houses planned for construction town council again would become involved.

An agreement was reached Tuesday with council's planning and development committee on distribution of cash and land to meet the five-percent requirement when the new construction is introduced.

The development corporation is required to give land or cash totalling five per cent of the project before the condominium plan can be registered.

At this week's meeting council agreed to extend the deadline date for installation of services to October 15 and dates in December.

Ghost Stories Abound

PICTON — Once upon a time in Prince Edward County a farm family living at Prinyer's Cove was awakened by the thundering of horses hooves.

Startled, they leapt from their beds and raced to the windows expecting to see their farm horses gone from the fields. But the horses were feeding quietly in the pasture near the house just as they had been at bedtime and the sound of pounding hooves could not be explained.

This tale is among a trio of ghost stories compiled for the booklet Striking Times, The Workings of Prince Edward County. Compiled by four county students working under an Opportunities For Youth grant, the almanac also refers to a second unnatural occurrence at the same house.

On the second occasion family members were awakened by the sound of falling stone and they assumed their stone fence had been knocked down. When they examined it there was not a stone out of place.

The house eventually was demolished and when it was torn down the bones of a man were discovered concealed in the chimney pipe in the attic.

Another ghostly tale recounts the adventures of the crew of a schooner tied to some trees on the cove side of Indian Point. The sailors were waiting to take on a cargo of apples and wool.

Late at night several of the men on board witnessed balls of fire circling the top part of the schooner's mast. At the captain's order, the crew set sail without even waiting for its load.

PM's Hard-line on Inflation Hedged with Qualifications and Buck-passing

By VINCENT EGAN

Business and Consumer Affairs Analyst

Thomson News Service

He may have been a spellbinder in the 1968 and 1974 general elections.

But Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau seems to have lost something of his magic, as he goes about the country today his anti-inflation program.

Strange—because surely the country is more united in the goal of curbing inflation than it could ever be in support of any one political party.

Yet the Trudeau hard-sell campaign on inflation restraints doesn't seem to be providing the inspiration or leadership that is essential if people are to support voluntary self-denial.

True, the prime minister was aroused enough to pound the lecters when he told Toronto Rotarians that the government was not willing to discuss the principle on which his restraints program is based.

And he did inform his audience that "we have to change our hearts, change our souls," and implicitly that we will be operate in a democratic society.

But the Trudeau anti-inflation speeches might almost have been scripted by a lawyer, so frequent are the qualifiers and disclaimers.

To the suggestion that he had not been providing economic leadership, he conceded that the buck may stop with the federal government, and specifically with the prime minister.

But then came the typical Trudeau twist—the buck starts with me. Translation: Lead yourselves out of inflation.

In the frequently made demand for restraint in government economic policy, prime ministers concede that "When I speak of the revolution of rising expectations, we are involved in it, too."

Then the twist: Politicians and bureaucrats don't increase taxes and expenditures to enrich themselves: the money they take out of the economy is merely redistributed.

And a further twist: Public opinion rebels when restraints are proposed, such as the phase out of the department of veterans affairs, or limiting the growth of federal spending on "medicare."

Programs such as these may serve a debating purpose, but they won't inspire nearly as much popular support as would a simple promise to spend some discretion to the spending of the money.

Taxpayers have every right to withhold their enthusiasm for limits on something as vital as medical care when they see billions being spent on ever-growing unemployment benefits—an employment scheme for skilled workers, and other billions being lavished on dubious regional economic programs, counselling services, the maintenance of artificially high commodity prices and the like.

What's preventing the prime minister from providing great value leadership?

Perhaps the memory of the 1974 election, when he won by denouncing restraints, but paid his opinion today is clearly demanding meaningful action against inflation.

Maybe the blame rests with a cabinet that is almost totally lacking in business experience, but relishes the pleasure of spending and empire-building.

Whatever the reason, it isn't good enough at a time when super-inflation is eroding the family of Canadian society.

Even the 10 per cent annual increase that Mr. Trudeau has proposed, and that labor's proposals of inflation have accrued, will double the worker's income every seven years and 90 days.

One statistician has calculated that if the average hourly wage had been 25 cents in 1939 and had increased 10 per cent each year since then, it would be $1.11.15 today—or well over $4-million a year.

Union leaders are elected to get as much for their members in the traffic will bear. Business executives are expected to maximize profits. Leadership in curbing inflation will never come from these.

Unpleasant—and—difficult as the role may be, leadership must be accepted, and accepted wholeheartedly—by the first minister.

Socio-economic Change

Some interesting trends are taking place at the socio-economic level of major industrial countries, and they reflect differing needs and attitudes.

Here at home postal workers are concerned about technological change, as well as about monthly security is a factor in the job. But in Japan, according to information put out by that country's Consulate-General in Toronto, industrial robots are playing an active role in replacing labor, including the manufacture of motor vehicles and electrical machinery.

The report says "robot technology" has made rapid headway in Japan mainly because of the growing demand for the emancipation of workers from assembly lines and other monotonous and sometimes dangerous tasks.

In the United States meanwhile sociologists have something to think about in pollster Louis Harris' findings that Americans are looking for a different, less material kind of existence that puts a premium on commitment to humanity.

Perhaps that's why we hear of an exodus from cities such as New York by people seeking the quiet life in states like Maine, with emphasis on creativity, arts and crafts.

"Simply put," says Harris, "it means in the future that the three-bathtub and three-car syndrome is disappearing from American life."

There's a desire too to "stop attacking each other and begin to attack our common problems."

We could profit by such an attitude in this country, where tackling the problem of inflation is concerned, although it goes without saying that issue such as job security in the face of automation will likely continue to weigh more heavily with Canadians than in say Japan.

City By-law

If a city wants minimum standards in its buildings then it must set them out in a bylaw accordingly.

Belleville has drafted such a bylaw and it has sparked some controversy.

On Nov. 12 though the public will have an opportunity to have its say in the matter. But does anyone seriously believe such a by-law would be a punitive measure, let alone be administered as such?

Council has been painted as a municipal ogre which has come up with an edict that would see all and sundry being ordered to "spruce up" and in the process create a bonanza for builders.

Nonsense! If it were so, Council would not last long. What such a by-law would effect though would be simply what it says, "minimum standards" for rental accommodation for instance. There are any number of places which council's most vociferous critics would agree need fixing up. Such a by-law would bring about necessary improvements.

Council has better things to do than give the impression of a harsh dictatorship.

Let's keep things in proportion out there.

Across-border Mail

With mail still tied up by striking inside workers, nationalism is taking a back seat to practicability.

Yes, Canadians are travelling across the border to mail their letters and parcels in the United States.

It is good business for the Americans, but with their own Christmas rush period in the offing, it is decidedly a very mixed blessing. Indeed, one U.S. border postmaster is quoted as saying, "that strike can't end too soon for me."

The Americans can be excused for feeling a little superior about the whole matter. On the other hand it met with understanding and good humor the situation that has given rise to increased cross-border traffic — and additional U.S. business in general when ordinarily things are slack — can benefit both sides.

It's a bad time though for those on strike here, for there is no strike fund, and with no money coming in there will be hardship for many. In this category too, don't overlook the business community which, without mail, stands to lose millions of dollars.

But don't be like the fellow buying stamps in a sub post office in Belleville and announcing he was going "to mail them in the States." They might just get through, with Canadian stamps, in the south, but don't count on it. U.S. mail should bear U.S. stamps.

Putting Opposition on the Spot May Be Davis' Hydro Strategy

By DON O'HEARN

Queen's Park Bureau

Thomson News Service

TORONTO — The first eye-catching major business of this session should be the committee inquiry into hydro rates.

What shaped up as the first key move of the session was the announcement last week that the rate question was to be sent to a committee.

This announcement in significance were well beyond the actual question of rates, important as it is.

For it signalled that the probable approach of the government would be to try and shift responsibility to the opposition, wherever possible.

On the Hydro question, in normal times the government would have taken the initiative, which would have been expected of it, set a figure and then tried to live with it.

But not in its minority position.

With the prospects wide open for it to be shunned by the opposition refusing to accept its proposal, no matter what it was, it avoided the responsibility of making any such proposal and instead shifted this responsibility, normally a function of government, to the house.

At least this would seem to make good political sense and we probably will see a lot of it.

As for the inquiry, the most welcome thing about it is that Hydro will finally have to come before the members and the house and explain and defend itself.

For decades now Hydro has hidden behind two myths: One, that it is "owned" by the municipalities, the second that it must be "kept out of politics."

With the corporation a creature of the legislature and to all practical purposes financed by the province these two points are quite ridiculous.

Nevertheless they have been until now a firm shield behind which Hydro has been able to hide and pretty well do as it pleased. And this despite suggestions that doing as it pleased has been pretty pleasant at times.

From now on we should at least know what is going on down at University Ave., for this present inquiry certainly will set a precedent which will be followed in the future. (Actually the government probably wants to get Hydro back in the swing of politics as much as anybody else.)

As for the rate structure there can't be anything else but doubt about the high structure that Hydro wants.

It would set a rate of 25 per cent, based on a huge reserve capacity which it justifies by far-reaching talk about "brownouts."

Outside of the Ontario Energy Board, which really only has to concern itself with mechanics and not economics, the only group that supports it is the Ontario Municipal Electric Association (OMEA). And the OMEA is a sycophant organization to Hydro.

AMPCO, the organization representing the province's industrial consumers (and who use 30 per cent of the electrical energy and certainly should be concerned about brown-outs if anyone is) say a 12 per cent increase would be sufficient.

We will see.

Concorde Could Become a $2 Billion' White Elephant'

By JOHN D. HARBRON

Foreign Affairs Analyst

Thomson News Service

Will the supersonic Concorde ever be commercially or will its construction be written off as a futile $2.3 billion exercise?

The Concorde which crosses the Atlantic in two-and-a-half hours, or less than half the time it takes a giant Boeing 747 to go one way, is at the mercy of governments and environmental groups whose decisions and pressure plays could kill its future.

In the United States it's the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) which will make the decision about Concorde landings at U.S. airports with John Foster Dulles International Airport near Washington and the Dallas Airport as two initial points of landing.

In Canada, it's uncertain who would have the final say about any future Concorde route, which presumably would be into Mirabel Airport where one was on hand for its opening a couple of weeks ago.

The major U.S. gateway which the business and co-operating airlines British Airways and Air France would like is New York. But pressure groups there have been successful so far in persuading the New York Port Authority not to grant landing rights.

And given New York's many other troubles these days, the Concorde landing rights crisis must have a very low priority indeed.

Of course the Concorde's future is a chicken-and-egg situation with airlines not willing to buy it or dropping their options 'on it because of local airport or national by-laws against aircraft landings of the Concorde.

The most recent to cancel an option to buy is West Germany's Lufthansa Airline whose reason was an estimate it could not make money operating the aircraft.

This brings up another big problem with the plane which carries less than half the passenger load of the Boeing 747. Its fares are about 20 per cent above the present first class ones.

This means a cost of about $1,200 return to the Concorde New York or London, even though the aircraft's public relations expert backed by his company aviation economists, say a full Concorde is still make money.

So far still holding their options for Concordes are the Peoples Republic of China which wants two and the airline of the oil-rich but tiny Persian Gulf state of Bahrain. Indeed the Concorde's first regular commercial flight could very well be the London-to-Bahrain service.

In addition the British and French aerospace companies involved will be taking a few to commence a transatlantic service as soon as landing clearances on this side are obtained.

But the Anglo-French consortium which built the aircraft says it must sell 130 of them to break even on its starter and production costs of the 4-last seven years.

The present production schedule calls for 20 aircraft. Eight of these have been built representing two prototypes, two production aircraft and four which can fly commercially.

Only nine have been sold so far all to British Airways or Air France with hopes the two remaining option holders will not back out.

What with anti-environmentalism still at a high peak in North America, as well as the world economic slump, the Concorde's future still looks very bleak indeed.

Civic Fund Monies and A Church Rebuilding

Editor,
The Intelligencer:

I would draw your attention to the headline in the lower right-hand corner of The Intelligencer, Tuesday, October 21, 1975, "$20,000 Civic Money Sit Idle in City Coffers".

May I, as a member of St. Thomas Church, suggest that a few hundred or a few thousand of this IDLE money be allocated to the rebuilding of St. Thomas Church or, in lieu of this, be given towards a new organ or a window dedicated to those who gave their lives in World War I and World War II.

Surely we do not have to wait until 1976 for such an event to take place since ALL of the citizens of Belleville are very much behind the congregation in the restoration of this beautiful church. Many money-raising events have taken place in aid of St. Thomas Church rebuilding fund and other private donations have been made from outside the community.

Many members of St. Thomas Church are trying to do the greatest extent of their resources but, without further help and in the City of Belleville wishes to maintain at last ONE of its historic landmarks, it could seriously consider that the rebuilding of St. Thomas Church would be ONE of its Centennial projects. Your assistance would be appreciated.

MARJORIE ACZERA.

Sunday Shopping

Editor,
The Intelligencer:

Who do Joe Cox and the Belleville Ministerial Association think they are to oppose Sunday opening of supermarkets?

Here are the reasons that Mr. Cox and the clergy should mind their own business:

1. If they don't like the service, they don't have to use it.

2. If the employees of these stores don't agree with working Sundays, then they shouldn't. It is against their principles.

3. If Cox and the clergy only worship on Sundays then they have a real problem that closing the stores will not help one bit.

I thought that being in the service of God was a full time thing; not just something confined to Sundays.

It seems to me that if Mr. Cox would concern himself with the real problems of the city instead of expending his energy (on taxpayers time) on his Don Quixote battle with windmills that the taxpayers would be more prone to cast their ballots in his favor next election; and he would no doubt find out TRUE JUSTICE. Justice is the fact that he had accomplished something of major benefit to this fair city's citizens.

The mere fact that the companies in question are violating an antiquated city ordinance is really beside the point since the fact is that they are violating individual's rights and are hurting absolutely no one by the fact that they open up on Sunday.

I hope that the self-appointed saviours of the masses (who incidentally don't care less about Sunday openings) can soon see the light and get on to something constructive.

Question of Identity

Editor,
The Intelligencer:

The recent debates on abortion in your letter columns have failed to make the point.

The question is not any patient withholding names is the real issue. It is rather that the nature of discussion is only important; names do not really matter.

Pen-names used by writers include such famous world-wide allies as Mark Twain, the well-known columnist.

In our democratic and free society privacy and incognito is respected and officially exercised by most of us at the poll.

Not to be forgotten is the fact that large donations to good causes are often made by anonymous contributors. Writers and donors get more after complimentary letters than threatening letters. Then too some people are shy or modest by nature and like to be withdrawn, while others yearn to see their names on every billboard or newspaper.

Some writers (religious groups) may refrain from giving their names to avoid making propaganda for a cause or for certain sect or group, he is entitled to be considered. Instead they want to share their knowledge or experience with all.

Secrecy and privacy is also part of our Christian heritage. Christ asked his followers to pray in the privacy of their homes (Matt. 6-5) so as not to be seen by men in a conspicuous manner.

All exposures to the public should be a matter of choice. Motivation and conscience should be the guiding factor.

CP News Roundup

To Announce

OTTAWA (CP) — Urban Affairs Minister Barney Danson told the Commons Wednesday he hopes to make an announcement next week on a new comprehensive housing program. He was replying to Leonard Jones (Ind—Moncton) who unsuccessfully sought details of the program.

Won't Contribute

OTTAWA (CP) — Government House Leader Mitch Sharp said Wednesday the government won't contribute funds to native or other groups so they can take part in hearings of the National Energy Board into a proposed natural gas pipeline. The minister was replying in the Commons to Wally Firth (NDP—Northwest Territories) who said lack of funds stopped certain groups from full participation in the board hearings on the Northern pipeline.

Rejects Suggestion

OTTAWA (CP) — Transport Minister Otto Lang rejected a suggestion Wednesday the government close the Arctic to all but Canadian ships. The minister told Michael Forrestall (Dartmouth-Halifax East) he would not want "to suggest in absolute terms no other ship would ever be encouraged" in the Arctic.

Report Imminent

OTTAWA (CP) — A report on West Coast grain handling problems will be tabled in a few days, Fernand Lefaive, parliamentary secretary to Labor Minister John Munro said Wednesday. He was replying in the Commons to Ray Hnatyshyn (PC—Saskatoon Biggar) who asked contents of the report already were leaked to the press but MPs have had no chance study it.

Urges Attorneys

OTTAWA (CP) — Justice Minister Ron Basford urged all provincial attorneys-general Wednesday to follow Ontario's lead and enforce the law as it relates to violence in hockey.

The minister said in the Commons the order by Ontario Attorney-General Roy McMurtry to lay more charges against professional hockey players for Criminal Code violations on the ice "seems like a good idea."

Mr. Basford was replying to David MacDonald (PC—Egmont) who said violence in hockey is "a bad example to young people."

Adds to Funds

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — Canadian delegate Maria Masson announced Wednesday in the UN's social committee that Canada's annual contribution to the UN fund for drug-abuse control for 1976 will be $200,000, bringing total Canadian contributions to the fund to $1 million.

Shopping by Computer

TORONTO (CP) — Simpsons-Sears Ltd. Wednesday said it has a computer system to permit customers to shop seven days a week, 24 hours a day through the store catalogue. Mike Lutze, a Simpsons official, told a Canadian computer conference that only people with touch-tone telephones can use the system. The store plans to include conventional dial phones in an improved system.

Debits Higher

TORONTO (CP) — Debits to individual bank accounts in Canada in September totalled $178.944 billion compared with $140.181 billion a year earlier, the Canadian Bankers' Association reports. The September total includes $170.386 billion in current account, $3.162 billion in personal chequing accounts, and $5.396 billion in savings.

More Laid Off

CORNWALL, Ont. (CP) — Another 50 employees of Sovereign Group of Companies were laid off Wednesday as a result of the Canada-wide strike by Teamster truck drivers. About 200 workers have been laid off, Jack McDonald, president of the company which manufactures and distributes consumer products through mail orders, said. If the strike continues, the remaining 100 employees will be laid off in the next few days.

Store Fined

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — The Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Co. (A and P) was fined $75 in provincial court Wednesday for opening a grocery store Sunday, Aug. 24, in contravention of the Lord's Day Act. A and P pleaded not guilty to the charge. The store's lawyer said it was ordered to open on Sunday by the corporation's head office in Toronto.

Refuses to Pay

SARNIA, Ont. (CP) — Sarnia Township has refused to pay compensation to two township policemen whose cars were damaged in the police department's parking lot, the police association says. In a letter to township council, three police association members said if the township does not assume liability for the damage, police will request transportation to and from work on afternoon and ni_ht shifts.

End Strike

CORNWALL, Ont. (CP) — Twelve electrical workers at St. Lawrence Power Co. returned to work Wednesday following the signing of a one-year contract between Local 2133 the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers and the company which ended a nine-day strike. The agreement gives the workers an 18.5-per cent salary increase retroactive to May 1 and a further one per cent Nov. 1. As of November, the rate will be $7.62 an hour.

Ontario Servants Seek Exemption

TORONTO (CP) — Public employees in Ontario have no option but to approach the federal anti-inflation board for exemptions from selective wage and price controls, Premier Davis said Wednesday.

The premier was responding to a question by Stephen Lewis, NDP leader, about how such employees can legally and constitutionally approach the federal board without provincial legislation.

Mr. Davis said many collective agreements in Ontario fall totally under the control.

The government has interpreted the federal controls as applying to provincial public employees.

The premier said Treasurer Darcy McKeough will have a major announcement today on the federal controls and how they relate to Ontario.

Liberal Leader Robert Nixon said that allowing Ottawa to handle Ontario public employees tests the government "off the political hook."

Mr. Nixon said now is an ideal time for the chairman of the anti-inflation board to sit down with the Metropolitan Toronto school board and secondary school teachers to test the federal legislation.

Metro's 12,500 secondary school teachers are demanding a 43.9-per-cent increase over two years. The board has offered the teachers an increase of 29.2 per cent over two years.

Mr. Lewis said outside the legislature that if teachers settle for more than 10 per cent, he believes the federal board would have nothing to say because Ontario lacks legislation bringing public employees under the controls.

He added provincial legislation passed in the last session clearly gives teachers the right to bargain collectively.

Nixon Urges Controls

TORONTO (CP) — Gun control legislation should be enacted in Ontario without waiting for federal action, Liberal Leader Robert Nixon said Wednesday.

Mr. Nixon said in the legislature that the provincial government likely would receive support for such a move from all parties.

Premier William Davis said the government already has committed itself to introducing gun control legislation unless Ottawa acts soon.

But he said he believes amendments to the Criminal Code would be more permanent than provincial legislation.

The premier added he would like some indication of the direction and timetable the federal government plans for its gun-control legislation.

Mr. Davis said he believes Ottawa will introduce such legislation next month.

Outside the legislature, Mr. Nixon said Ontario could pass gun control measures in a week.

He said Ontario could without its legislation if Ottawa comes up with something better.

Disliked Lessons

LINZ, Austria (Reuter) — Police said Wednesday they have linked bomb hoaxes, which caused a school near here to be evacuated three times in five days, to a 15-year-old boy who did not want to do his shorthand lessons.

Spain Evacuates Civilians from Sahara

EL AAIUN, Spanish Sahara (AP) — The Spanish government is beginning to evacuate more than 5,000 Spanish civilians in the Spanish Sahara from the disputed, phosphate-rich colony on Africa's northwest coast.

Officials said the 15,000 Spanish soldiers in the desert territory, who already have been put on an alert because of the threat of an uprising by Algerian-backed nationalists, will remain until agreements are reached with Morocco and Mauritania on the territory's future.

Auxiliary soldiers recruited from local tribes have been disarmed, the officials said, and a dusk-to-dawn curfew has been imposed in El Aaiun, the capital. The colonial government has said it fears terrorist attacks by the Marxist Polisario Front, which wants independence for the territory, covering an area smaller than Newfoundland.

Civilians were evacuated Wednesday from Smara, a small town in the east, and others were being prepared for evacuation from here and Villa Cisneros, in the south.

Women and children will be flown to the Canary Islands, off the coast of Africa, during the first week of November. Men and household possessions will follow by ship the next week, with the operation to be completed by Nov. 15.

Gazelles, antelope and other native animals from the local zoo will be transferred to a zoo in Almeria, in southeast Spain. Spanish owners of stores and other commercial establishments have been promised compensation from the government for closing down.

Morocco, Mauritania and Algeria have sent cabinet ministers to Madrid to work out an agreement for the disposition of the Spanish Sahara. Morocco and Mauritania want to divide the territory, Algeria insists it lies with it, while Algeria wants an independent Sahara which it thinks it could dominate through the Polisario Front.

Moroccan officials say the Spanish government has agreed to transfer the territory to Morocco and Mauritania. The Moroccan government announced Wednesday night that the unarmed civilian "march of conquest" King Hassan II is planning to lead across the frontier will take place between Nov. 4 and Nov. 6. But sources in Marrakesh, the king's temporary capital, for the march, said if agreement with Spain is reached by Nov. 4, the march will be scaled down from 350,000 civilians to a token group.

The region has one of the world's largest deposits of phosphates, a vital fertilizer. The Spanish government is negotiating to maintain an interest in the mines, in which it has invested millions of dollars.

McMurtry Says No Variance On Hockey Violence Stand

TORONTO (CP) — There was a little sickhandling but no rough play in the legislature Wednesday when Attorney-General Roy McMurtry answered questions concerning his stand on violence in hockey.

In reply to a question from Pat Lawlor (NDP—Toronto Lakeshore), he denied that his views were in variance with those expressed by his predecessor, John Clement, who was defeated in the Sept. 12 provincial election.

The minister said he had discussed the matter with Mr. Clement shortly before the legislature opened Tuesday and "he didn't seem to be in disagreement with my thinking."

Mr. Clement had said during the last session that he would be reluctant to take such action.

In an interview outside the legislature Mr. McMurtry said municipal police have been encouraged to attend hockey games and to act in cases of deliberate violence.

2,300 Westinghouse Employees May Lose Jobs Over Trademark Dispute

OTTAWA (CP) — Government House Leader Mitchell Sharp said Wednesday he is not sure what the government's next step should be in an attempt to protect the jobs of 2,300 Westinghouse Canada employees whose jobs are threatened in a trademark dispute.

Mr. Sharp was replying in the Commons to Lincoln Alexander (PC—Hamilton West), who said the jobs will be in jeopardy if the sale of the Westinghouse name is not carried out.

The problem arose when Westinghouse Electric Corp. of Pittsburgh, the parent firm, was bought by U.S.-based White Consolidated Industries Ltd.

White then tried to buy Westinghouse Canada's appliance division but the bid was rejected by the federal cabinet after screening by the foreign investment review agency.

A Canadian firm, General SteelWare (GSW) Ltd. has submitted a higher bid for the firm but the proposal could be upset because White still owns the Westinghouse appliance brand name.

Mr. Alexander said that the problem must be solved by Friday, Oct. 31, when GSW's offer to purchase expires.

Mr. Sharp said the government is concerned about the issue but he is uncertain the government has the authority to force a settlement.

Mr. Alexander said that White is pointing a gun at the head of the government.

Native Land Claims May Not Be Settled

OTTAWA (CP) — The Nov. 1 deadline for signing the James Bay native land claims settlement cannot be extended because there is not unanimous agreement, Indian Affairs Minister Judd Buchanan said in the Commons Wednesday.

The Grand Council of Crees of Quebec, one of seven parties involved in the negotiations, is adamant that the deadline be met, he said.

Two Conservatives sought an extension Wednesday and a one-month extension has been sought by the Northern Quebec Inuit Association.

J. R. Holmes (PC—Lambton-Kent) said the Inuit association, representing Eskimo people involved in the negotiations, feels another month is needed to complete the agreement.

Mr. Buchanan said the government is not unsympathetic to the request, but an extension is impossible without the agreement of the Crees.

Arnold Malone (PC—Battle River) said the Inuit are only 48 hours away from negotiating a new lifestyle and need more time.

The Crees and Inuit have signed an agreement in principle calling for a $150-million, tax-free payment to them, 25 per cent of royalties on future developments in their area and a guaranteed annual income.

In addition, 2,000 square miles of land in the 135,000-square-mile area was set aside for exclusive use of the native people, plus another 25,000 square miles for hunting and fishing.

If the final agreement is not signed in time, the agreement in principle becomes void and the talks must start again. If all parties accept the agreement Nov. 1, a formal signing likely will be held Monday, Nov. 3.

Canada Will Meet Bond Dividends Nov. 1

OTTAWA (CP) — The government is negotiating a system with major chartered banks to make dividend payments to about 450,000 bondholders available early next week.

A finance department spokesman refused later to give more details. He said some details are still to be settled.

Ottawa Refuses Strategy Pays Off

OTTAWA (CP) —The federal government will not contribute any funds directly to the 1976 Montreal Olympic Games, Government House Leader Mitchell Sharp said.

Mr. Sharp was replying in the Commons to suggestions from that the federal government share the costs of the Games which, he said, will probably cost $1 billion.

Mr. Allard said the cost of the Games should be shared by all Canadians because of the publicity and the international prestige that come with the Games.

Mr. Sharp repeated the government's position that no more programs other than those in place, namely the Olympic coin and stamp programs, will be undertaken.

Britain's Unemployment Cure Still Unknown

LONDON (Reuter) — Golf courses out of garbage dumps, vegetable gardens out of derelict land . . . these and similar projects are being promoted with government funds to ease Britain's work shortage.

Officials admit that such efforts provide little more than cosmetic treatment for the main unemployment problem. The only real cure is to revitalize industry, something economists are far from certain how to achieve.

Latest government statistics show more than 1,200,000 Britons out of work. This represents 5.4 per cent of the work force and compares favorably with many other countries including West Germany and the United States.

But ever since the Depression days of the 1930s the British have viewed large-scale unemployment with a special kind of horror. In politics, the state of the job market is always one of the most sensitive issues.

For a Labor government especially, heavy unemployment badly undermines political loyalties. Many government supporters in the trade unions argue that maintaining jobs in the short term is even more important than defeating inflation and modernizing industry.

In badly hit areas, the government has offered companies subsidies to keep workers in employment even when their activities no longer bring in profit.

These job-short areas are mostly in Scotland, the north of England and Wales.

In the cities of Sunderland and Liverpool the unemployment percentage is 13.5. On the remote Scottish island of Stornoway the figure is 28.3 per cent.

In London and southeast England the problem diminishes sharply. But even here, growing numbers of children leave school and go straight on to welfare.

Some government ministers fear that winter layoffs could bring the unemployed total up to two million. In percentage terms this would be about eight per cent of the work force, around the equivalent level in the United States.

But the round figure would have an emotional significance which could do the Labor party great damage. Nothing like it has been known since the mid-1930s.

It was to stave off this possibility that the government last month initiated a spending program of some $300 million to ease the unemployment crisis.

The golf courses and the land clearing were among the list of recommended projects. Such programs, it was hoped, would create jobs for at least 15,000 people.

Union leaders remain suspicious that the relief will be more than offset by governmentcutbacks, cuts which could throw many thousands of civil servants out of work.

The job relief is being administered by a body called the Manpower Services Commission.

In some cases the commission is prepared to meet labor costs for a community scheme provided the scheme sponsor pays for materials.

In this way, schools or hospitals might be repainted, inner city areas improved or derelict land reclaimed.

The program director, Dewi Rees, said about 30 or 40 schemes were being devised.

He admitted it was a short-run solution but added: "It seems common sense to provide work of some sort for people who would otherwise just be drawing unemployment benefits."

Atlantic Fish Stocks Being Over Fished

HALIFAX (CP) — Most fish stocks in Canadian Atlantic waters are now being fished at or over the maximum yield they can sustain, says I. H. Day, a director of the International Commission for the Northwest Atlantic Fisheries (ICNAF).

Mr. Day was commenting on a statement from External Affairs Minister Allan MacEachen that there is a "resource crisis" in the North Atlantic.

Mr. Day says that in biological terms the stocks of the area are gradually being worn down and "Mr. MacEachen has translated this as a crisis."

In biological terms, he said, the foreign fleets are taking fish in the area at or above the "maximum sustainable yield or the level at which they could continue to live in perpetuity."

"This effort at limitation doing."

Mr. Day said Canada will continue to ask for a 40-to 45-per-cent reduction in fishing effort by the foreign fleets off the coasts of Labrador, Newfoundland, and Nova Scotia.

"This effort at limitation would mean the reduction of the foreign fleets and this is what has to be negotiated," Mr. Day said.

"Whatever It Takes, Elliott Motors Gives"

ALL IN THE FAMILY by Isabel Huggan

Halloween Customs: Greed or Good Fun?

Another of those "overheard conversations":

"Well, I'll be glad when this week is over. I'm worn out getting costumes ready for these children. Let they all want something different than they had last year, and they refuse to wear each other's hand-me-down outfits. So there's nothing for it but to make up new ones."

"You don't mean to say you refer to this ridiculous Halloween business?"

"Really, you're so hard to get along with! What have you got against Halloween?"

"For a start, I think it's such a false occasion, just a gimmick for selling all kinds of things besides candy and masks. Halloween makes a good theme for a window display but otherwise it's meaningless. It bears no relationship to its real origin, it's simply a modern-day phoney."

"Okay, it isn't a religious holiday any more, but it isn't meaningless. My kids get a real kick out of disguising themselves and going out into the dark alier supper. It's an adventure, in a way."

"I think your children are exceptional, going round in real mother-made costumes. Most of the kids we see at the door year after year only have stockings over their heads or crummy plastic masks or a bit of lipstick or cork smeared on their faces — and that's their big exciting Halloween outfit. They don't care about dressing up, they're just after all the loot they can get."

"My goodness, you're a cynical person! There's no point in judging the children by adult standards! Maybe an old hat or a sheet is all the kid needs to feel part of the excitement. I think one of the nice things about Halloween is that we focus on children's enjoyment for a change. They're given treats when they come to the door simply because they're children. That's what it's all about!"

"You don't mean you encourage your children to go out collecting junk foods?"

"Sure I do! They eat too much sweet stuff for a day or two, but it's not going to hurt them once a year. Besides, people's habits have changed, from economy or common sense. My kids have come home the last couple of years with bags more full of apples and raisins than candy kisses.

"In a way, that's almost too bad, you know. They won't have the same Halloween memories I have of sitting at the kitchen table late at night, dividing up the spoils with my sister . . . popcorn balls, toffee, fudge, rice and marshmallow bars . . . those were the days! Of course, we always had to sing or recite at the neighbors' houses to get those goodies, I'll admit times have changed in that respect."

"I'll say they have! Halloween night now is just an exercise in basic greed, whether they're after apples or candy. Most kids won't even identify themselves, they just stand there with their hands out. Ridiculous, like I said before!"

"Yes, but remember how many children come collecting for UNICEF instead. Doesn't that strike you as worthwhile?"

"I rescind. Anybody coming to my door asking for money, it's an infringement of personal privacy. But that aside, if Halloween is supposed to be this kid oriented event you talk about, isn't it kind of mean to send these little tykes out gathering pesales for an organization?"

"But the point is that it's UNICEF. They understand the money will go for other children, you see. And it's a good way of combatting that greedy selfishness you were talking about. This way they can have the fun of going out, but they're doing something good for others at the same time. Now don't tell me you won't give pennies tomorrow night!"

"No, because I'll be watching television with the lights out and the curtains closed!"

"Oh honestly! I hope your windows get soaped!"

Halloween Decorating: Easy Inexpensive Fun

Linda Keenan's two children — and the rest of the kids in their neighborhood near Rossmore — get a special kick out of Halloween. The reason? Mrs. Keenan's festive decorations on the house and lawn.

A couple of years ago, travelling through New York State, she and her husband Roger noticed elaborate Halloween decorations on even the most humble homes along the highway.

"That gave me the idea," she says. "Besides, it's more fun for the kids than Christmas decorations. They're never very interested in looking at colored lights, that's more an adult thing. But Halloween is especially a time for kids."

This year the Keenan children, Jeffrey, 6, and Jennifer, 4, were old enough to help set up the cornstalks and pumpkins around the house, — decorations grown in the family garden. They've also put colored pictures in the front windows to add a further spooky note.

But the main feature this Halloween is "Daddy," a pumpkin-headed fellow wearing Mr. Keenan's coveralls stuffed with paper, sitting on a lawn chair with pumpkins at his feet. Symbolic of the season, he's also a favorite with the children, who hope to fashion a "Mommy" to sit with him next year.

Costumes for Children You Can Find in the House

Sometime between now and tomorrow afternoon some adult member of the family is probably going to have to dream up and put together a Halloween costume for one or more of the younger members of the family.

If you're like most parents your first suggestion will be something scintillating like "Why don't you be a bum?" If your kid is like most kids, he or she will answer either "I was a bum last year" or "No."

Given that, and the fact that they'll refuse to be ghosts, too, you're going to have to put your resources and your imagination to work.

For a child over six, an orange plastic garbage bag will not only provide a cheap costume but keep your child warm and dry too.

What will she be? Why the Great Pumpkin, of course. Cut out letters and attach them by covering the bag and letters (in place) with wet paper towelling and running the tip of a medium hot iron around the outline of the letters.

You can cut and fashion other costumes in a similar fashion, reinforcing seams with masking tape. If your children will be out after dark, reflective tape will add a decorative safety factor.

If you prefer cloth to plastic — for bigger kids a matter of aesthetics, for little ones an important matter of safety — use old pillowcases in the same fashion.

You can decorate these with liquid embroidery tubes or do a quick giant embroidery job with a darning type needle and fat craft yarn. Pillowcases make good brides, and with a "bouquet" of tissue paper flowers, your trick or treater is ready to go.

If you don't have any old pillowslips, try turning your kids into a pair of dice. A cardboard box covered with paper or paint and big glued-on dots makes an ideal costume. The same box could be a giant cigarette box or cereal box or television set or washing machine. A properly put together box could be fashioned into a jack-in-the-box with painted face clown inside.

The main thing with any costume, of course, is that you opt for make-up and body coverings and avoid masks which hinder vision and costumes which might trip little feet.

Help for 'Matchbox' Dwellers

FROBISHER BAY, N.W.T. (CP) — Jesse Lyberth has two ambitions: to become a Canadian citizen and to improve Frobisher Bay's housing. He's having more luck with the latter.

Born 27 years ago on Autdlerpoq Island off the north coast of Greenland, he is a Danish Eskimo, a Greenlander.

Mr. Lyberth first came to Canada in the summer of 1974 with his brother Onaga Rasmussen, a popular singer in Denmark. Although barely able to communicate in English or the local Eskimo dialect of Inuktitut, he told his brother at the time that he was certain he would return to live in Frobisher Bay. In November of last year his prediction came true.

Many Eskimos in this eastern Arctic town live in matchbox houses, so named both for size and flammability. In his view these shabby, poorly maintained dwellings reflect both an inadequate government housing policy and a seeming indifference of their occupants.

"The responsible people in Frobisher Bay years ago, they didn't explain, they just gave out," Mr. Lyberth said. "Somebody forgot these people just came from a tent.

"A new employee has to be told what to do; you have to teach a child to keep himself. That's what I'm trying to correct. I was hoping it would take me a couple of months; now I can see it will take me a couple of years."

Talking about policies toward Eskimos in his old home, he said: "The Danish government made a thousand mistakes—mistakes which caused social corruption and things which should never happen between human beings. Maybe it's because of the Greenlanders, too.

"In both Canada and Greenland Inuit say, 'I was born in camp, out on the land. I am Inuit, so every time I do something wrong it's not my fault. It's the white society's fault.'

"Those old misunderstandings, old excuses, how I hate them. In this way we are trying to freet ourselves differently than other people. We are not different; we are all people together."

He related this to one of his brother's songs: "In one of his songs he says he's sitting in a bar and drinking on Friday night.

"He asks: 'What else can I do besides drink? I have nowhere else to go; I have nothing. If I don't go to the bar, if I don't go to the bingo, if I don't watch television I have nothing else.'

"In this way he is trying to say Inuit people for thousands of years have been developing themselves, doing some work for the next day. He's saying that it's worthless to think about yesterday. You must think about tomorrow, like we have always done.

"Since the 1930s, let's say, the Inuit people have been stopping and thinking about yesterday. A new thing came and they didn't like it so they reject the white society and think about what they were yesterday. And they're still doing it in Greenland and in Canada. This way they're killing themselves."

Commercials Create Conflict In Minds of Young Viewers

NEW YORK (AP) — Misleading television advertisements can create serious conflicts in children seven to 10 years old, the speaker said today.

"Advertising may represent one of the first examples of the institutionalized hypocrisy," said Dr. Thomas Bever, professor of psychology and linguistics at Columbia University.

"And the experience of coming to terms with that can have quite serious effects at that age."

His conclusion came after a study with Martin Smith, co-founder of a New York advertising agency, of 48 children between five and 12 years old in Ridgewood, N.J.

They said additional research is needed to discover "what aspects of advertising the child of eight finds to be deceptive and whether the conflict advertising causes is necessary or even beneficial."

Other age groups were not affected as greatly as the seven-10-year-olds, said their study.

For instance, children five or six years old consider all television to be pure entertainment and do not separate the commercials, the researchers said.

"Most of the five-and six-year-olds we studied often prefer commercials to programming content because of their superior production values, but advertising plays no meaningful role in their lives," Smith said. "They remain insulated from its influence."

The 11-and 12-year-olds, meanwhile, "showed a sharp induction in conflict," Smith said. "They seem to have made certain accommodations to the adult world. Many appeared able to extract useful information from advertising and to discard what they consider to be untrue."

But the seven-to 10-year-olds "face increasing conflict as they begin to perceive various forms of adult hypocrisy," he said. "A child can dismiss his personal experience with the deceit of individual adults, but realizing that society allows institutional deceptive violates moral precepts he has been taught."

"At about 10 children appear to resolve a conflict that has been building for several years through an inherently healthy toward advertising. They simplify the problem by accusing all advertising, like many other aspects of the adult world, to be a total pack of lies."

Mary Quant Calls Her New Dress 'Floozy'

LONDON (Reuter) — Mary Quant, innovator of the mini-skirt on the British fashion scene of the 1960s is trying to get women to reveal their legs again.

While other designers are bringing hems down, Miss Quant's selection for next spring and summer revealed here Monday has skirts six inches above the knee.

But the new look is offset by socks and lace-up shoes, and is not for skirts but jaunty culotte dresses with drawstring waists and kimono sleeves.

Miss Quant said the mini idea emphasizes legs and hips, "making a very sexy shape."

The whole collection has a sweety, outdoors theme for daywear and slinky sexiness for evening. One of the prettiest Quant evening dresses, called Floozy, is a crossover wrap-around dress with a frilled neckline. The hem is just below the knee but lots of leg is revealed whenever the dress flares open.

Using U.S. Data

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario Status of Women Council says that actuarial data on which insurance companies base their benefits comes from the U.S. and may not be relevant to Canada. Insurance companies there claim women are sick more often than men and, therefore, make it more expensive for an employer to purchase certain cash benefits.

Ann Landers

Readers Still Debating Male Rape

Dear Ann Landers: I read with interest a recent column in which you informed your readers that it is possible for a woman to rape a man. You cited a distinguished Chicago criminal lawyer as your authority. While it might be physically possible for a woman to force a man to have sexual intercourse with her, in Illinois, as well as in a majority of other states, it is not legally possible.

This law is clearly sexist and provides that a man can be convicted of raping a woman, but not vice versa. I thought you might want to know. Yours Very Truly—Judge Marvin E. Aspen, Circuit Court of Cook County

Dear Judge Aspen: Thank you for your letter which sets forth the legal status of the question as it exists in Illinois and most other states.

The behavioral aspects, however, are quite another matter. My mail indicates that the female of the species has become so sexually aggressive these last few years that, while "rape" may be too strong a word, it describes rather well what goes on in today's society.

Dear Ann Landers: I had a beautiful experience today. I gave a pint of blood. It was for someone who has leukemia.

I had never donated blood before because: I thought it would be unpleasant, time-consuming and maybe even painful. I was wrong on all counts.

From now on I'm going to donate blood on a regular basis. It was an exhilarating experience to know I was doing something to help prolong a life. And, Ann, it didn't take more than 30 minutes. There was no pain or unpleasantness, just a wonderful warm feeling that I was truly giving of myself. It just made me feel good all over.

Tell people, will you?—O Negative

Dear O: You sound "positive" to me! Thanks for the opportunity to remind my readers that voluntary, non-professional blood donors are in short supply all over the country and they are desperately needed.

Any blood donor clinic will be delighted to see you folks. So stop right in, roll up your sleeves and make a contribution that could spell the difference between life and death.

My daughter and I did it a few months ago. The orange juice was delicious. So was the hot coffee and sweet roll. And the people who work in that section at Northwestern Memorial Hospital are beautiful.

Return To School

OTTAWA (CP) — A three-year project sponsored by Ontario's ministry of community and social services will enable 20 women to return to school for job training without loss of their welfare benefits. The project to begin this month will pay for tuition fees books, transportation and related expenses such as day care.

Royal Palace Now Becomes Focal Point

BUDAPEST (CP)— After 30 years, the royal palace once again is the focal point of Budapest. It sits high on one of the Buda hills and for centuries has been the cynosure of eyes looking up from the Pest side of the River Danube at the turrets, steeples and domes of Castle Hill.

Near the end of the Second World War, Nazi troops moved into the palace and when they were forced out, they bombed it, leaving it, along with much of Budapest and the city's bridges, in ruins. With so much reconstruction going on, work on the castle wasn't started until 1959.

Some of the rubble remains but the palace looks much as it did before the war with its baroque facade restored and its dome replaced. Instead of copying the previous baroque style of the interior, the architects have designed great, open halls with red marble floors, columns and walls. The new dome is a glorious orb of white plaster and glass. During rehabilitation the walls of earlier fortresses, castles and dungeons, along with Turkish bathhouses were unearthed and these have been left to give visitors a glimpse of still earlier times.

In its reincarnation, the palace is being put to new uses in contrast with its past as housing for royalty, government or the military.

Now it is the cultural centre of Budapest and the new home of the National Gallery. A public library aiming to be the most up to date in central Europe will open in 1976 and other institutions in the palace will include publishing houses, museums and a theatre where young people can comment on political life.

The setting of Buda Castle above its ramparts and its importance in the cityscape is similar to that of Prague castle above the Voltava River in the Czechoslovakian capital. The historic centres each represent the heart and soul of their cities and both are as symbolic as Westminster Abbey is in London.

One difference is that instead of being an enclosure of castles, cathedrals, churches and royal residences, as in Prague, Buda Castle shares its hilltop in an open setting with homes, churches, mansions and restaurants.

The most impressive fortification of Castle Hill is Fishermen's Bastion, so-called because fishermen were detailed to man it in times of war. Today it is a romantic collection of white leggings, arches, turrets, columns, stairs and cloisters where people stroll hand in hand, take pictures of the river and Pest below, or sit at wicker chairs in summer to sip wine, eat goulash and admire the views of the left bank.

St. Stephen, patron saint of the country, sits in scull and armor on horseback in the adjoining square and must be the most photographed figure in the city.

Facing the square is one of the most interesting churches of the city. Matthias was the coronation church until the Turks turned it into a mosque. It also has been restored after war damage and in the process, artists showed that hostility for the ancient enemy has faded.

Evergreen Playground Ruins Its Image

VANCOUVER (CP) — British Columbia's image as a lovely land of happy lotus-eaters has been sullied by Statistics Canada and local criminology research.

Canada's "evergreen playground" has more murders, assaults, alcohol problems, broken families, drug-related crimes, addiction and assorted violence than any other part of Canada, in proportion to population.

Beautiful B.C. is surpassed by Quebec in robberies, but even in that category it runs a close second. Last year this province recorded 100 murders—a rate of four per 100,000 population compared with a rate of 1.3 per 100,000 in the Maritime provinces.

Statistics Canada and most other crime-field sources give nothing but the facts.

Prof. Ezzat Fattah, chairman of the new department of criminology at Simon Fraser University in nearby Burnaby, is working on the reasons.

At the moment, Prof. Fattah and his staff have done only enough preliminary fact-finding to come up with some educated guesses that include:

—A strong and rapid trend to urban and industrial development is often accompanied by an increase in violent crimes.

—High crime rates in other parts of the world have been linked with a high percentage of young people in the population.

—Incidence of violent crime tends to be higher in areas of cultural and racial conflict, places where large ethnic groups are in close proximity.

—Wide disparities in social and economic levels or classes usually foster violent reactions.

—Crime rates are strongly influenced by the type and degree of law enforcement as reflected by public demands and police practices and discretion.

Prof. Fattah says a person's tolerance of violence, especially in terms of family disputes, neighborhood quarrels and relatively minor battles in bars and beer parlors is another major factor to be considered.

He adds that some people, either as members of an ethnic group or because of their surroundings and upbringing, may be more tolerant than others.

"Further research may indicate that bourchoiders in Quebec or Ontario are less inclined to report a punch in the eye or a noisy dispute next door than are British Columbians," says Prof. Fattah who spent 10 years teaching criminology at University of Montreal, the only other Canadian university with such a department.

"Quebec crime statistics, for example, show the rate of assaults there to be only a third of those in B.C., and in Ontario, only a fifth of B.C's.

"But in fact this might have more to do with the tolerance level of the people and methods of the police than of actual contrasts in the rate of violence."

Attempts to decide such things and to disprove or support the hypothesis drawn from the gathering of statistics make up the second stage of his research program. He says that because of the many complications it may be a year or more before significant results can be obtained.

Work Experiment Hires Handicapped

TISDALE, Sask. (CP) — A plant which manufactures beekeeping equipment and construction industry components is a success in an original approach to providing work for handicapped persons.

Land of Rape and Honey Industries (LORH), which employs about 10 disabled persons, is a non-profit co-operative governed by a six-man board of directors.

Board Chairman Sam Gordon said: "We initially got the idea from a place in the United States."

The co-operative is run as a regular business. Employees work a 40-hour week and are paid the minimum wage.

LORH, which received funds from the federal and provincial governments, should be self-supporting in the near future, Mr. Gordon said.

The initial objective is to increase the work force to 12, with three supervisors. Most of the employees construct beekeeping equipment such as honey frames and bee supers.

In the past, Saskatchewan beekeepers had to make their own equipment or bring it in from considerable distances.

"The bee trade through this area is large and there is a very good market," Mr. Gordon said.

There have been enquiries from Manitoba and Alberta about the availability of frames and supers.

LORH is beginning to manufacture roof trusses, but Mr. Gordon said the growth of that operation "will depend on the building boom," although the firm has already had calls from local builders.

Cars For Sheepskins

LONDON (CP) — A big swap deal will see Ford of Britain ship parts for Escort cars to Uruguay in return for thousands of sheepskin seat covers.

A spokesman for the company said in making the announcement that the parts will be sent for the local assembly of 500 cars, and the sheepskin covers will be sold through dealers all over Europe.

The barter agreement will also include shipment of some 700 Ford trucks to Montevideo this year, while the long-term plan is to set up further swaps to enable Ford to export 200 Escorts a year to Uruguay.

"The company is no stranger to such deals," said the spokesman. "They are very popular with countries faced with foreign exchange problems but who have plentiful raw materials or semi-processed products to offer."

He added that the Uruguay deal, which was set up by the Ford companies of the two countries involved, would be worth about 16 million initially.

In the past, Ford has accepted payment for its exports in such forms as jam, school furniture and, on one occasion, half a million scales plants.

Some people think all humidifiers are the same.

This ad will change their minds.

Outside all humidifiers look good. Inside it's a different story. And that's a big reason why Wait-Skuttle Drumatic wholehouse humidifier outsell all their competitors combined.

When people shop for a humidifier, they're not always thinking clearly. They've been irritated by a parched uncomfortable feeling in their nose and throat. They're uptight from getting electrical shocks every time they touch a door knob. And they're frustrated by squeaking floors and furniture that's coming apart at the joints. No wonder they sometimes make a hasty decision.

When you're ready to buy a humidifier, take your time and compare to make sure you're getting the best value for your money.

the case

Some competitors use plastic (looks good, but can warp or melt in intense heat) or painted metal (vulnerable to rust). The Drumatic case not only looks good, it keeps on looking good. Sturdy stainless steel can't corrode. It opens wide to give access to every part of the humidifier. Maintenance instructions are printed on the inside cover so you can't lose them, and all outside edges have been rolled and smoothed out to eliminate injuries.

the drum

Drumatic makes their drum from durable Noryl, a material specially formulated to withstand heat and has a slippery finish that resists mineral build-up. Its two-piece design accepts apart at the touch of a spring clip, so changing the pad is a lot easier than with the old one-piece wire drums. The Drumatic pad is specially coated to last longer and provide maximum humidification power.

the motor

The motor is the heart of a humidifier. Wait Drumatic is the only manufacturer who builds a clutch into every motor to prevent premature burnout if something accidentally stops the drum from turning. Plus it has a heavy duty gearbrain that assures longer life than most others.

the pan

The Drumatic pan is made from polyester reinforced with fibre-glass. It's heat resistant, non-corrosive and it won't warp.

the float and valve

The Drumatic float is super hard polyurethane and the valve assembly is nylon. Because they're not made of metal, they can't corrode. The float can't sink and the valve won't leak.

the works

When you buy a Wait-Skuttle Drumatic wholehouse humidifier everything you need is included. Universal humidistat, by-pass pipe and collar, transformer, colour-keyed wiring, water tubing and connections, sheetmetal screws, self-adhesive templates and even staples for stapling the wires in place. Competitive models may require a by-pass pipe, water tubing, wires, and staples in addition to the cost of the humidifier itself. The Drumatic also comes with comprehensive instructions that show you step by step how to install your humidifier with only tinsnips, ¼" drill, a screwdriver, a small adjustable wrench, and a hammer.

Comparison shopping is easy, once you know what to look for. So remember this ad when you go to buy a humidifier. They're not all the same. The extra quality that's built into every part of every Drumatic humidifier is a difference you'll be able to feel, year after year after year.

Ontario Running Out Of Black Spruce Trees

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP) — Although a quick look at Ontario's vast forests might not show it, the province apparently is running out of trees for industry.

Experts say the growing shortage is confined to only one species, but unfortunately — it's the black spruce, often described as Canada's No. 1 pulpwood.

"It's a hard thing to pin down," says Bob Haig, program manager for the Great Lakes Forest Research Centre here.

However, under current harvesting practices, black spruce isn't necessarily being replaced on the same scale" as it is cut.

P. C. Robinson of Toronto, a spokesman for the ministry of natural resources, said Ontario is "probably approaching" its allowable cut and that at least temporary shortages likely will occur. The species represents up to 75 per cent of all pulp cuts in Ontario, depending on location.

Mr. Robinson said the shortages may not become general but that within 25 years areas in the province now being cut will have no mature black spruce left.

However, he said the expected shortages could not have been avoided "even with the best of management practices". A 10-year reforestation plan prepared in 1973 has become outdated and the number of new plantings will have to be doubled just to meet demand.

Mr. Haig said a major problem is that black spruce is difficult, and expensive, to handle for replanting.

Researchers at the centre here are working on a natural seeding which involves harvesting the black spruce in strips, leaving cutovers interrupted by mature stands which will deposit their seeds in the clearings.

The technique is growing in popularity and may avert future shortages, but it will take 10 years to develop comprehensive results, he said.

Direct planting is labor intensive and therefore costly and has the added disadvantage of being restricted to the spring and fall because of weather and other considerations.

Direct reforestation might become a more viable proposition through the use of "pot paper stock," Mr. Haig added. The technique involves raising young trees in biodegradable containers which need not be disturbed when planted. Weather becomes less a factor, and the planting season is expanded.

However, Mr. Robinson said one of the reasons black spruce has been getting "short-changed" is because other species are cheaper to regenerate.

"Forestry, like other departments, competes for budget money. You try to get the most bang for your buck."

Rhodesian Director Jailed For Terrorist Training

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (CP) — The managing director of a non-profit company has been jailed for nine years for recruiting Africans for terrorist training.

Movin Mahachi, 25, of the Nyafaru Development Co., admitted helping to recruit 48 African youths and four African girls.

He was sentenced to 18 years in jail, of which six years were conditionally suspended—an effective sentence of nine years. Maximum sentence might have been the death penalty.

The prosecution conceded that Mahachi was not the ringleader in the recruitment of the youths. Evidence was he had been approached by a member of the African National Council, Julian Cocgrove, for the state, said the accused was in a dilemma when he became involved in the recruitment.

"Because he lived in a remote border area, any opposition would have exposed him and his family and the whole community to the risk of reprisals."

He had become involved because of the remote location of his farm, a little more than five miles from the Mozambique border.

Senior counsel, A. R. Gubbay, who defended, said Mahachi was managing director of a non-profit company whose operations were along much the same lines as an Israeli kibbutz.

"Its aim is to promote co-operation, friendship and understanding," Gubbay said, "and to set a lead in this style of economic development."

Australia Now Has Flying Lawyer

BRISBANE, Australia (CP) — The land which developed the flying doctor, to serve remote areas has come up with a flying lawyer.

Solicitors from the Australian legal aid office are taking to the air to bring legal aid to outback areas.

Motel rooms, hotel lounges—and even the shade of gum trees—could become temporary offices while lawyers unravel the problems of needy people normally unable to obtain professional advice on a wide range of legal or social problems.

The first of the flying lawyers to operate a regular circuit completed a 1,300-mile tour of sparsely-populated sheep-grazing areas of central Queensland in August.

Welcome to the Panasonic age

Every member of the Panasonic gang has special features.

Like the innovative Quintrix picture tube. You'll find it on such models as CT-324C, CT-914CA, and CT-974C with remote control, shown here. Where conventional picture tubes have only two lenses, Quintrix has a third. An extra prefocus lens for sharper, brighter viewing. And Quintrix delivers better contrast than we've ever had in a color picture tube before.

Another Panasonic feature is Quatrecolor. Which means you get a modular chassis for easy servicing, if ever needed. Q-Lock for one-touch color tuning. 100% solid state as in every Panasonic TV. And an Ultra Pana-Matrix picture tube in our Quatrecolor consoles such as PC-2645 and PC-2643, shown here.

Our 8" screen model? The CT-772C delivers pure, rich color. Features include Panabrite which adjusts color and contrast automatically when you change the brightness. Panalock automatic fine tuning, and 100% solid state...all in a lightweight compact portable.

Russian Equipment Used on Prairies

EDMONTON (CP) — Grain that prairie farmers sell to the Soviet Union may increasingly be sown and harvested with farm equipment from Russia.

Previous attempts to introduce foreign-built farm machinery to the prairies have never been successful—British, Romanian and Japanese units are an example—but the Belarus line from Russia seems to be meeting through good performance and a cost saving to farmers.

Bob Aitken, Regina branch manager for Belarus Sales and Service, a Toronto-based firm established in 1972, says the Russians first introduced a tractor to Canada in 1968 but distribution through an Oakville, Ont., firm "was less than satisfactory."

Now, his firm has set up parts depots at Montreal, Toronto and Regina with 14 dealerships across the prairies and several more pending.

The firm handles tractors, line of tillage equipment and soon hopes to introduce forestry machinery.

"Gradified" at the response so far, Mr. Aitken said in an interview the firm has had no delivery or parts problems and no major flaws have been found in the equipment during the first year of operation. This contrasts with deliveries of North American units which may take up to six months.

Louis Francoeur of Canrose, Alta., who sells Belarus through his Alberta Machinery Ltd., said he is happy with the dealership arrangement.

"We get a good square deal and the product is excellent."

He admitted he had some "philosophical misgivings" about selling a Russian product and that there was "some farmer resistance" in conservative Alberta to any foreign-made equipment.

But this resistance is being broken because farmers "now realize that many of the traditional large equipment manufacturers are making their units outside North America."

In addition, a big selling feature is the price of the Russian units, about two-thirds of a comparable North American unit. While the Belarus has "no frills," its 5-horsepower unit sells at about $5,600 at Canrose compared with about $8,000 for a North American machine.

Stolen Truck Damaged

A truck stolen from Belleville late Wednesday was discovered damaged in the woods at Prespville Point south of Brighton early today.

City Police Chief Douglas Crosbie said the 1975-model pickup truck, owned by Budget Rent-A-Car at 328 East Dundas St. in Belleville was reported stolen at 11.30 p.m. from the rear of the Belvedere Hotel at 300 Front St.

Ontario Provincial Police at Brighton said the truck was sighted by a passing motorist at 6.30 a.m.

Police said the truck was a veteran of only about a week. Insured at $3,000, police added.

Ventures Group Formed

A Venturers program-part of the Boy Scouts Association of Canada, has been formed in Belleville for the first time since 1970.

A meeting held this week at St. Thomas Church hall was the first meeting of a small group of boys between the ages of 14 and 17 interested in forming this activity.

The second company sponsored by Quinte Kiwanis Club, formed Wednesday, will be a special activity club centred on scuba diving, and life saving, said Mike Pasper, assistant district commissioner for Boy Scouts of Canada.

There are Venture clubs in Trenton and Erlington.

Mr. Pasper said this age group has been neglected the last couple of years in Belleville because of a lack of adult leadership.

Hydro Reverses Decision On Use of Concrete Poles

Ontario Hydro has reversed its policy banning concrete poles for power distribution in the "rural" part of Kensington Gardens subdivision and now will agree to the aesthetic preference of developer Reg Breault.

In an unexpected announcement Wednesday, information officer Norm Manning said the utility "will comply with his request" provided the builder pays the additional servicing costs.

The announcement marks a shift in Hydro policy which to date has only permitted either underground distribution lines, wiring or overhead servicing on wooden poles in rural areas.

Mr. Breault had objected to wooden poles, saying they would not be as aesthetically pleasing as concrete poles in the "quality" 15-acre, 71-home subdivision on the outskirts of Belleville.

Reacting to the announcement, Mr. Breault said Wednesday he is "very pleased" with the change, one that he didn't expect. He said he remains willing to pay extra costs for installation of the concrete poles.

Mr. Manning said the policy shift came after internal discussion was prompted by a story published in The Intelligencer last week outlining the Hydro-developer difference of opinion.

At that time, Hydro spokesmen said the utility does not have the necessary equipment — a truck equipped with a bucket — to service concrete poles adequately. Linesmen, sent to repair a transformer mounted on a pole top, cannot use spurs to climb the pole, as can be done with a wooden pole.

Technical staff at Hydro felt that "our ability to maintain a high level of service wouldn't be jeopardized particularly," said Mr. Manning.

A second Hydro spokesman said that the Frankford-based rural servicing district has now ordered a bucket-equipped truck for permanent location in the Quinte area. Previously, although the district office had a truck, it was on loan from Toronto offices, and subject to return.

Once Hydro completes cost estimates for the distribution system, Mr. Breault said he will "go ahead" with use of the concrete poles.

"Having one overhead wire is not the perfect solution," he said. But he said he would rather use that system than opt for underground distribution with "ugly" transformer pads on front lawns of subdivision homes.

Consumer Rights Topic Of Opening Seminar

Committee for Consumer Education chairman Les Backus said Wednesday he hopes tonight's Consumer Rights seminar will act as a catalyst for additional consumerism workshops beyond the four other now planned.

Geared to acquainting the shopping public with the rights and responsibilities under the law, the seminar on consumer rights will deal with seven provincial and federal government acts covering the public's buying dollar.

Mr. Backus said he hopes the anticipated 300 people "will go away with a lot of information on consumer rights that would be difficult to find all in one place elsewhere."

The first of five seminars — other will deal with food buying, housing, credit and money management — is scheduled tonight at Quinte Secondary School at 7.30 p.m.

Speakers from Hastings County Board of Education home economics and law teachers will attend tonight's session, said Mr. Backus, and he expects some of the information provided will eventually find its way into school courses.

"The total education system will benefit from these facts," he said.

The ad hoc committee — formed by representatives of various labor, business and education groups in Belleville — might act as a form of lobby, he suggested.

Already, one local group has much such use of the committee.

Wilfrid Menninga, a local lawyer and committee member, will conduct the lecture-question and answer seminar tonight.

Apartment On Block

A 15-storey highrise on Palmer Road will be put on the auction block in a mortgage sale at the Four Seasons Hotel Nov. 10.

The building contains 114 living units of which only a few are complete and occupied.

Building superintendent Rex Bridge said Wednesday, however, the auction sale is not a complete certainty because the owners might raise some money before the sale.

"We'll have a sale unless the present owners Starmount Investment Ltd., Toronto) don't come up with some money by the mean time," said Mr. Bridge.

An undisclosed reserve bid has been placed on the building. Representatives of Starmount were not available for comment.

Social Aspects Factor In Juvenile Crime

Blue jean clad "street workers," rather than police, can make effective inroads into teenagers in any effort to curb juvenile delinquency in Hastings County.

The suggestion was only one of many made Wednesday during a meeting about 40 representatives of various social welfare, educational, judicial and police agencies in Hastings.

It arose from discussion of an interim report by an ad hoc committee on the prevention of juvenile delinquency formed in early fall under the encouragement of Ontario family court judge Robert Walmsley.

Wednesday's session produced a concerted, if not two-pronged attack on the problem.

The bluejeaned "street worker" was one aspect, in the "get them while they're young and where they're from" solution. It also was repeatedly suggested that an on-going long-term, bi-action educational program be undertaken.

Peer pressure was labelled as a factor that would have to be actively dealt with in any attempts to alleviate delinquency and inter-family communications skills should be improved in those families from which delinquent children either are coming or are soon to be potentially coming.

The committee is preparing a final report to submit to the ministry of correctional services, for finalization at a possible agency.

This year, said Ministry spokesman Fred Boden the ministry has alloted a "modest $200,000 for delinquency prevention programs."

He said Wednesday the ministry has known for some time that it doesn't have the solution in the present treatment of juvenile delinquents. "Research has

Three-year-old Study Obsolete

Growth Outpaces 20-year Plan

By COLIN BRUCE
Staff Reporter

Belleville's industrial community is growing at more than twice the anticipated rate — a situation that has rendered a 20-year industrial development plan obsolete only three years after it was completed.

City economic development commissioner Fred Bemis made the comment during an interview Wednesday.

During the past two years Belleville has experienced rapid industrial growth — proportionately many times greater than the provincial average, according to commission records.

Provincial industrial statistics show municipalities generally average one new industry every two years — compared with nine industries moving to Belleville in 1974 alone.

Mr. Bemis said a 20-year plan was drafted in 1972 which was to have guided the city's industrial development. The commission, at that time, had set aside 50 acres in annual yardstick of how much land would be required for industrial expansion.

But since that time, about 50 acres a year have been sold for industrial use and 18 major industries have been ushered into the city, he said.

These 14 industries alone make an annual tax contribution in excess of $200,000, provide more than 500 industrial jobs and generate an annual payroll of more than $4 million.

Nationally, the average plant employs 12 compared to an average of 36 for these 14 plants in Belleville.

"We have to be looking at another 20-year plan using 40 to 60 acres for annual industrial consumption," said Mr. Bemis.

"Already after only three years, a good portion of the original plan has been consumed and another must be created to take its place," said Mr. Bemis.

He said he intends approaching his commission director with the next week to seek permission to carry out the revision of the plan — a task he hopes to complete this fall.

"Ideally, it should be another 20 year plan . . . followed by intermediate plans covering five year periods within plan term," he said.

Mr. Bemis, commenting on the underlying reasons for the industrial activity, said the growth philosophy of recent and current municipal councils and Belleville's location in eastern Ontario as strong factors.

Alarm Box

Belleville firefighters responded to the following call for assistance during a 24-hour period which ended at 8 a.m. today:

Wednesday, Oct. 29, 9:13 p.m. — fire in garbage container at Quinte Secondary School on West College St., no damage.

Playwright To Speak

A playwriting workshop will be staged Saturday from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. and Sunday from 10 a.m. until 1 p.m. at Loyalist College in the Performing Studio. The $3 admission for the seminar will also entitle interested people to a membership with the drama league.

Doctors Defer Action On OHIP Fee Question

The province's doctors need more answers on the side affects of opting-out of the Ontario Health Insurance Plan (OHIP) physicians decided Wednesday night in Belleville.

The issue was among several subjects discussed at about 200 doctors meet at Belleville General Hospital for the annual meeting of the North Medical Association's (OMA) District 6.

The move was counterpoised by discussion groups which later reported back to the general assembly.

Dr. Brendan McSherry said it was apparent during a seminar he conducted that doctors want clarification as to move because there are too many unanswered questions.

He was for support for a resolution asking that the OMA take some alternative action, when it says its clear doctors "at large" won't opt-out of OHIP.

A resolution from a seminar conducted by Dr. Lionel Dockrill however, also won favorable response from the convention.

It suggested opting out could be a useful alternative — provided it was done by referendum.

And with a majority opting out as a result, the OHA tariff committee should be instructed to prepare a schedule of fees "exactly what it would have been" before the federal government's recent anti-inflation program.

He said the city has about 28 acres of land that is serviced or could be serviced and about 150 acres of raw land that will satisfy the industrial appetite for expansion for perhaps two or three years.

"Already after only three years, a good portion of the original plan has been consumed and another must be created to take its place," said Mr. Bemis.

He said he intends approaching his commission director within the next week to seek permission to carry out the revision of the plan — a task he hopes to complete this fall.

"Ideally, it should be another 20 year plan . . . followed by intermediate plans covering five year periods within plan term," he said.

Mr. Bemis, commenting on the underlying reasons for the industrial activity, said the growth philosophy of recent and current municipal councils and Belleville's location in eastern Ontario as strong factors.

Physicians Ponder Professional Future

Physicians Wednesday placed several suggestions — ranging from civil service salary scales — on the examination table of their professional future.

The seminars and their resulting resolutions after scrutiny were a new departure for the association which counts about 600 members from Peterborough to Picton.

But the format made for broad discussion on a wide range of topics at a time when the profession, itself, is under close scrutiny and reeling from current fee negotiations with the provincial government.

Among the topics debated were — if negotiations break down should doctors become salaried — provided they receive full civil service pension rights, holidays and fringe benefits.

That possibility was pondered by a group discussing relationships between, said Dr. Lionel Dockrill, adding it was never voted on as a resolution.

Dr. Gavan Monaghan presented a resolution which it was felt was conducted also suggesting a union "similar to that enjoyed by civil servants in society. It's long-range aim would be to achieve parity with physicians in the United States..

The resolution was opposed by the convention.

Dr. Dockrill of unions drew comment from Dr. Wilfred Butts, honorary treasurer of the OMA.

A significance of the OMA was that it was made up of individual professionals.

"This is one of the beauties of a voluntary organization and you don't ever forget it," he said . . . That we've all built in the OMA the things that go with individuals collectively making up their minds. Not with a union saying you either do it or get out.

Jewelry Stolen

Chief Douglas Crosbie said thieves made off with $700 worth of jewelry and two watches in the 9 p.m. incident.

He said other articles were ransacked at a back door and under a bush at the rear of the house. Entry was gained by forcing a kitchen window and thieves exited by an east side door.

Convention Chat

Dr. A.G. Allen, of Tweed, chairman of the Ontario Medical Association's District 6, chats over topics with OMA board chairman Dr. W. J. Vail, at Belleville meeting Wednesday. The annual convention drew physicians to Belleville General Hospital from surrounding east-central Ontario.

Meneely Found Guilty on Reduced Charge of Manslaughter

BY ROBIN CHASE
Staff Reporter

Jerrold James Arthur Meneely, 19, of RR. 4, Peterborough was convicted of manslaughter in an Ontario Supreme Court here Wednesday.

Meneely had been on trial for murder punishable by life imprisonment in connection with the shooting death of his 40-year-old father, James Meneely, in their Rawdon Township farmhouse at RR 4, Marmora on Aug. 1, 1973.

A 12-member jury deliberated for about two hours and 45 minutes before finding Meneely guilty on the reduced charge which carries a possible maximum sentence of life imprisonment. The verdict was unanimous.

Justice Lawrence Pennell of Toronto remanded Meneely in custody until Nov. 13 for sentencing to await a pre-sentence report. Meneely will be held in the Quinte Regional Detention Centre at Napanee.

"Consideration will be given to the sentence before and after the trial," Justice Pennell said.

Court was told Meneely had been held in custody from the time of his arrest on Aug. 21, 1974 until Jan. 14 when he was released on bail.

Defence lawyer Ronald Thomas of Toronto had requested Meneely remain at large, explaining the verdict means it is regarded there was no intent to cause the death of the elder Meneely.

However, Crown attorney Glenn Deline of Belleville argued out the severity of the possible sentence now that Meneely stands convicted.

Meneely was convicted of shooting his father in the face with a 12-gauge, single-barrel shotgun.

Testimony revealed Meneely was carrying a loaded and cocked shotgun in his right hand with his fingers in the trigger area in the attic of the farmhouse while his father was in the bedroom.

Meneely testified he tripped over a coil of wire, fell forward onto a bed frame, causing the shotgun to discharge downward through a hole in the attic floor, hitting his father who was walking through a laundry room below.

During his hour and eight minute charge to the jury, Justice Pennell said there was no direct evidence as to intent to cause death.

He said if the Crown has satisfied the jurors that there was intent, beyond any reasonable doubt, then a verdict of guilty of murder must be rendered.

However, if there is a reasonable doubt and the Crown has satisfied the jury there was criminal negligence in the actions of the accused, then the jury must support a conviction for manslaughter, Justice Pennell explained.

He related the evidence of the Crown regarding the shotgun and Meneely's actions while carrying it and added, "has he shown a wanton and reckless disregard for the lives and safety of others?"

Justice Pennell detailed evidence which showed Meneely lied to police investigators shortly after the shooting about the location from where the shotgun discharged.

He said it does not follow that if a person lies, he is guilty. "A person is not to be convicted because he is panic-stricken and tells an untruth," he instructed.

Testimony showed Meneely did not disclose the actual account of the shooting until February, 1974.

About Meneely, Justice Pennell said, "you have to make allowance for his age and the fact that he was in the witness box undergoing cross-examination on a most serious charge."

He urged the jurors their decision must be unanimous for an effective verdict.

A total of 28 exhibits were entered and 11 witnesses testified during the seven-day trial at the Hastings County Courthouse.

Thomas Backbone in Leaf Win

By NEIL CAMPBELL
The Canadian Press

General manager Jim Gregory and coach Red Kelly of Toronto Maple Leafs must have enjoyed Wednesday night's game against Buffalo Sabres.

Only a day earlier, team president Harold Ballard had announced that Buffalo general manager Punch Imlach could come back to work for the Leafs anytime he wanted.

But Wednesday night the Leafs turned on Imlach and his Sabres, handing them their first defeat of the National Hockey League season by a 3-2 margin.

Ballard said Tuesday it was a shame Imlach was fired as coach and general manager in 1969 and added that his organization (with Gregory and Kelly in charge) worked hard but didn't seem to get anywhere.

In Wednesday's other games, New York Rangers downed St. Louis Blues 3-1, Detroit Red Wings dropped California Seals 5-4, Chicago Black Hawks edged Montreal Canadiens 3-1 and Minnesota North Stars blanked Kansas City Scouts 2-0.

Toronto goalie Wayne Thomas made 41 saves to send the Sabres down to their first loss after eight consecutive wins. Buffalo was the last NHL team with an unblemished record.

"We haven't played well in the past couple of games so the loss isn't a matter of time," said Buffalo coach Floyd Smith. "We didn't do anything partiularly well."

Despite Smith's disclaimer, the Sabres must have looked strong to Thomas, especially in the third period, when they scored both of their goals and had a 30-6 edge in shots.

Toronto got a 3-1 lead in the first period on goals by Jim McKenny and Ian Ingram. Furthermore, Buffalo's third-period scoring, by Danny Gare and Jocelyn Guevremont, was sandwiched around a decisive goal by Toronto's George Ferguson.

The Rangers, with a Monday thrash by general manager Emile Francis heading over them, pulled themselves together to beat St. Louis and end a three-game tailspin after letting the Blues score the first goal of the game.

Pat Hickey, Brad Park and Rod Gilbert scored for New York.

"You try to forget the bad times," explained defenceman Brad Park, whose second-period goal broke a 1-1 tie. "It wasn't do-or-die that we win. It was just time to realize that nobody is going to win a hockey game by themselves and that we had to play as a team."

At the other end of the scale from Buffalo were the floundering Wings, who become the last NHL team to win its first game of the season. Detroit had seven losses and three ties before Wednesday's game.

Mickey Redmond and Bill Mosienko scored twice each for the Wings. Rick Hampton scored two goals for California. Cliff Koroll broke a scoreless deadlock at Chicago midway in the first period and Mike Talion added an insurance marker with just over a minute to go after Montreal pulled goalie Ken Dryden for a sixth attacker.

Minnesota goalie Pete LePresti blocked 23 shots and goals by Bill Goldsworthy and Ernie Hicke enabled the North Stars to end a five-game losing streak.

"They (Kansas City) didn't get any shots from the slot," said the 21-year-old LePresti, who turned in the second shutout of his NHL career. "From where I had to shoot, a goalie should stop them."

Tonight's schedule has Toronto at Philadelphia Flyers, Vancouver Canucks at Buffalo Sabres, St. Louis at Boston Bruins, Washington Capitals at Kansas City and Pittsburgh Penguins at Los Angeles Kings.

19 Players Up for Grabs

TORONTO (CP) — The Globe and Mail says the general manager of one National Hockey League team has been offered 19 players by eight clubs in possible deals.

The newspaper says the general manager, who has asked to remain nameless, has been offered players by Vancouver Canucks, St. Louis Blues, Montreal Canadiens, Chicago Black Hawks, Detroit Red Wings, Minnesota North Stars, California Seals and Los Angeles Kings.

The Black Hawks, who Tuesday traded Gilles Villemure from New York Rangers to serve as back goalie in regular Tony Esposito, are trying to swap goalies Mike Veisor and Michel Dumas and defencemen Randy Hoff.

Detroit is prepared to give up forwards Bill Lochead, Mike Bloom and Pierre Jary to strengthen its defence corps.

Minnesota has offered Blake Dunlop a centre who was their top amateur draft pick in 1972, while California is trying to trade forwards Gary Ho and Wayne King and Los Angeles wants to swap defenceman Bart Crashley.

Hounds Salvage 6-6 Tie

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP) — Tim Coulis' power-play goal with 23-seconds remaining salvaged Sault Ste. Marie Greyhounds a 6-6 Ontario Hockey Association Major Junior A tie with St. Catharines Black Hawks Wednesday.

The Hawks scored five goals within 12 minutes in the final period to erase a 5-1 Greyhound lead and take a 6-5 advantage with 2:25 to play.

Bill Hamilton scored twice, including the lead goal for the Black Hawks. Single goals went to Doug Calien, Kevin McCloskey, Kevin Osmars and Ron Wilson.

Coulis had two goals for the Greyhounds while Randy Borbely, Peter Lochead, Mike Kasprzyk and Vince Friyia got one each.

It was only game scheduled. In tonight's action, Oshawa is at Peterborough, Ottawa at Windsor and Kingston at Sudbury.

SUSPEND GOODRICH

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Gail Goodrich, the star guard of Los Angeles Lakers who is a holdout this season, has been suspended by the National Basketball Association club. The left-handed back court man is reported to be asking between $275,000 and $300,000 for the season and owner Jack Kent Cooke has offered about $100,000 less than that.

Two Games in 10 Days

Little Work, Crusaders Suffer

By THE CANADIAN PRESS
"Two games in 10 days just may be too much of a handicap for a young team," said coach Johnny Wilson of Cleveland Crusaders after Wednesday night's game with Calgary Cowboys.

The coach of the World Hockey Association team had just watched the Cowboys get behind his team's defence three times for easy goals in the 3-1 loss.

"We've played five games and the season is almost a month old," Wilson said. "I think a lot of our problems may stem from the lack of competition and too many days between games."

In other WHA games, New England Whalers defeated Quebec Nordiques 4-2 and Cincinnati Stingers beat Minnesota Fighting Saints 9-4.

Russ Walker gave Cleveland a 1-0 lead when he responded to a deflected shot at 4:38 of first period but Calgary scoring Don McLeod, who made 32 saves, closed the door on the Crusaders.

The Cowboys tied the score in the second period on Larry Jeffrey's goal, went ahead early in the third period on a goal by Hugh Harris and clinched the game midway through the third on George Morrison's goal.

A pair of third-period goals by leftwinger Ron Climie lifted the Whalers to victory over Quebec. New England was nursing a 3-1 lead after two period when Climie scored on a pass in front of the net by Larry Pleau.

Real Cloutier and Michel Parizeau scored for the Nordiques his fifth and sixth goals to give Cincinnati its victory over Minnesota. Lafaunt added two assists as the Stingers led all the way to improve their East Division-leading record to 3-2.

Minnesota coach Harry Neale was less than delighted with the performance his team put on against the expansion team.

"Our defence team has been positively cruel," said Neale. "And, our question ...

Neale didn't elaborate but his high-salaried line of Mike Walton, John McKenzie and Dave Keon were on the ice for five goals.

Boucha was injured Jan. 4 in a stick-swinging incident with Dave Forbes of Boston Bruins of the National Hockey League when he played for Minnesota North Stars.

DATSUN STILL HOLDS THE WHEELS
INTRODUCING DATSUN FOR 76

The new Datsuns have arrived. And for 1976, as always, they're an ideal combination of economy and driving pleasure. Economy is a time-honoured tradition at Datsun, but to us, the feel of the car is every bit as important.

Datsun's high gas mileage is a matter of public record by now. But we know there's a lot more to economy than just high gas mileage. That's why every Datsun is specifically engineered to last, so that you'll benefit from its traditionally high resale value. We keep our service costs down too. Our electrical and transmission checks can be done easily and quickly through special inspection areas, so time is spent having the trouble rather than finding it. When you buy a Datsun, you're buying overall economy not just high gas mileage.

Datsuns feel great to drive. Because we've put over forty years of engineering expertise into every one. That's why the "Z", 710 and Sportruck feature power-efficient overhead cam engines, plus front wheel drive on all our cars have disc brakes up front for added safety.

At Datsun, we haven't forgotten that cars are meant to be driven and enjoyed. Performance and feeling are as important to us as economy. The 1976 Datsuns are solid, secure, comfortable, responsive and most of all fun to drive. Drive one, and feel the Datsun Spirit. At your Datsun dealer today.

*The Datsun B210, with a manual transmission gets 35 MPG in the city and 49 MPG on the highway, according to latest U.S. E.P.A. test results. Your gas mileage will depend on the kind of driving you do, the condition of your car, and its optional equipment.

Buy one for the economy, drive it for the feeling!

The Datsun Spirit... feel it.

Hap Emms In Bind

ST. CATHARINES, Ont. (CP) — Hap Emms, owner of St. Catharines Black Hawks of the Ontario Hockey Association Major Junior A series, said Wednesday he's not planning any immediate moves, but insists declining attendance may eventually force him to sell or move the club.

Emms was commenting on a report by a Niagara Falls Ont., radio station that he had meetings planned with Niagara Falls civic officials about the possibility of moving the Hawks there. Emms denied the report.

He agreed he had been approached by several people in Niagara Falls "but then I've been contacted by people in other cities too."

The Hawks' average attendance has dropped this season to about 1,100 from 1,400 last season, 1,600 two years ago and 2,400 three years ago.

On Oct. 22, the Hawks drew only 388 fans, the lowest paid attendance since 1943, the year the club started play.

Emms, who purchased the Hawks in 1972 from Fred Muller, says St. Catharines would have "extreme difficulty" retaining another franchise if the Hawks left.

There are at least two St. Catharines groups which have expressed interest in obtaining either the present franchise or a new one if the Hawks are moved or sold.

Under terms of the sale by Muller to Emms, St. Catharines auto dealer Walt McCollum has the first option to purchase if it is sold and the team returns Garden City Arena as its home ice.

Clarence (Tubby) Schmalz, commissioner of the Major Junior A league, said Wednesday that the declining attendance is a problem that seems peculiar only to the St. Catharines club as all the others appear to be doing well.

Hockey 'Whipping Boy' Says Alan Eagleson

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The seed that Bobby Hull planted when he staged a one-game strike a year back apparently bore fruit Wednesday when he suggested that a debate between politicians and promoters.

The announced crackdown on violence by Ontario Attorney-General Roy McMurtry in professional hockey got political support in Ottawa but the reaction of hockey officials was, at best, cool.

In Ottawa, Justice Minister Ron Basford urged all provincial attorneys-general to follow Ontario's lead and enforce the law as it relates to violence in hockey.

Clarence Campbell, president of the National Hockey League, said his league will conform with the attorney-general's wishes.

But Ben Hatskin, chief executive officer of the the World Hockey Association, contended Ontario was over-reacting.

Hatskin said players were assessed fines totalling $4,100 above the automatic fines in an effort to curb violence.

"Many people have made the inference that some of our owners actually promote violence in order to sell seats," Hatskin said. "This is not the case.

Alan Eagleson, executive director of the NHL Players' Association, said cases of vicious assault on the ice were dealt with adequately by the league and players and called hockey "everybody's whipping boy."

Hull, the veteran scoring star who plays for Winnipeg Jets of the WHA, announced last week he would sit out indefinitely in protest over increasing violence in the game.

He was especially upset by an incident during a game against Cincinnati in which team-mate Perry Miller was attacked by three Cincinnati players after scoring a goal.

Hull's one-man protest lasted only one game. He was back in the Winnipeg lineup Sunday night.

McMurtry announced Tuesday that police and Crown Attorneys in Ontario have been instructed to lay more charges against professional hockey players who commit criminal offences on the ice.

The attorney-general said he gave the order to crack down on violence in the game because he is concerned that millions of television viewers especially young children—see players commit acts which breach the Criminal Code of Canada.

He said the NHL and WHA were notified of the order by telegram.

Carl Voyer, McMurtry's brother, Wiliam, prepared a report on violence in amateur hockey for provincial governments.

Chief Harold Adamson of Metropolitan Toronto police said he does not regard many of the incidents that occur in hockey games as sufficiently serious to warrant a criminal charge.

Police probably would not charge a player unless a serious injury resulted, he said.

Gordon E. Pilbery, deputy attorney-general in Manitoba, said Wednesday Crown attorneys in the province had been reminded that prosecution violence during hockey games is possible under the Criminal Code.

In British Columbia, Attorney-General Alex Macdonald said he would not go so far as McMurtry, but if there was a case of aggravated assault in hockey it would be treated the usual manner.

Voyageurs Make Most Of Manpower Advantage

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Nova Scotia Voyageurs' power play came to life Wednesday night and converted three Richmond Robin penalties into goals to lift the Voyageurs to a 4-3 American Hockey League victory.

Don Howse, Ken Houston and Pierre Mondou scored power-play goals in the win which boosted Nova Scotia into a three-point first-place lead over Providence in the AHL's North Division.

In the only other scheduled game Wednesday, New Haven Nighthawks defeated Providence Reds 4-3 in sudden death overtime.

The Voyageurs outshot visiting Richmond 32-26 in a game that featured many defensive lapses on both sides.

Howse opened the scoring at 2:52 of the opening period while Richmond's Ron Jones was in the penalty box. Goalie Dave Gresham had stopped a shot and passed the puck to Noel Price, who dashed up right wing and passed to Howse as he rushed into the slot.

Bob Sirois tied the score on a power-play goal at 7:47 after a scramble in front of the Nova Scotia net.

Houston deflected a Jean Lemieux shot at 13:47 to give the Voyageurs a 2-1 lead and Tim Cahoon wrapped up the first period scoring when he made it 3-1 at 19:18.

Larry Pullen pulled Richmond to within one goal of Nova Scotia when he scored on a breakaway at the 8:36 mark of the second period.

But Houston widened the gap when he slapped in a rebound at 12:34 to give Nova Scotia a 4-2 lead. Four minutes later Rick Charnow made it 5-3 with a slapshot from the blueline.

Andre Pleffy's goal at 9:14 of the final period put Richmond back into the game but an empty-net goal by Ron Andruff in the final minute gave Nova Scotia the 6-3 win.

Brian McCutcheon's power-play goal from the right faceoff circle at 1:51 of the overtime period in New Haven lifted the Nighthawks to their second victory of the season after five successive defeats.

Tom Colley led New Haven with two goals and Alan Lang-ford added the other Nighthawk goal.

Greg Holst, Lynn Powis and Bernie Lokowich scored for Providence.

Platers Edge Maroons

CHATHAM, Ont. (CP) — Guelph Platers edged Chatham Maroons 7-6 to increase their first-place lead in the Southern Ontario Junior Hockey League's only game Wednesday.

Guelph now s-e six points ahead of second-place Welland Sabres. Third-place Chatham remains four points behind Welland.

Dan McCafferty, Mike Younick, Brian McCafferty, Phil Tunney, Zane Forbes, Carl Reinbardt and Brian Alcott scored for Guelph.

Marc Corbeil led the Chatham scoring with two goals before a crowd of 800. Single goals went to Tony Wotlowicz, Joe Camagnolo, Dennis Brewer and Scott McKenzie.

The Maroons took nine of 11 penalties.

Goaltender Floyd St. Cyr of Chatham had 34 saves and Guelph's Mike Blake 34.

Play resumes Friday with Hamilton Mountain Junior A's meeting Niagara Falls Flyers, Owen Sound Greys travelling to Guelph and Welland playing host to Chatham.

Lanier Makes Lakers Pay

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Bob Lanier went from a slump into a streak all in one night.

After shooting inconsistently in his first two games, Detroit Pistons' big man could barely miss Wednesday night—and Los Angeles Lakers had to pay for it.

Lanier scored 44 points to outshine Kareem-Abdul Jabbar and lead the Pistons to a 115-89 National Basketball Association victory over the Lakers.

Lanier counted 14 points in the first period and 13 in the last to help the Pistons pull away from the Lakers before a capacity crowd of 11,178 in Detroit. The Piston star also had 18 rebounds.

Abdul-Jabbar scored 30 points for the Lakers while Cazzie Russell added 18 and Don Ford scored 15 points.

In other NBA games, Boston Celtics stopped Golden State Warriors 115-106 and Seattle SuperSonics defeated Kansas City Kings 93-91.

In American Basketball Association games, Spirits of St. Louis edged Virginia Squires 104-100, New York Nets downed San Antonio Spurs 112-99, Indiana Pacers defeated San Diego Sails 105-100 and Denver Nuggets beat Utah Stars 122-117.

Ontario Members May Say Goodbye to CIAU

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The Canadian Intercollegiate Athletic Union (CIAU) may be in danger of losing many of its Ontario members unless it softens its stand on the University of Windsor Lancers.

The CIAU handed the university a two-year suspension from all sports because its football team used a player, quarterback Dave Pickett, who was ineligible under CIAU rules.

"Unless they do something about this, I could see us pulling out of the CIAU," said Dalton White, director of athletics at the University of Toronto.

Windsor was able to continue using Pickett because of a difference between Ontario Universities Athletic Association and CIAU rules.

The CIAU rules limit athletes to five years of athletic eligibility for all sports. The OUAA allows five years in each sport.

Pickett had competed in sports for five years at the University of Saskatchewan, but had not played five years of football before moving to Windsor this year.

When the CIAU first declared Pickett ineligible, it at first threatened to suspend any school that played the Lancers, but later withdrew the threat.

That reversal enabled Windsor to continue its schedule in the Ontario-Quebec Intercollegiate Football Conference.

With Pickett playing first-string, the Lancers have won all seven games and lead the Western Division standings. If they finish first, the division's second-place team will advance to CIAU competition.

Robert Pugh, executive director of the CIAU, said the decision to suspend Windsor was made in response to actions that were "quite strong and serious."

"Windsor made a philosophical decision to go against CIAU rules and the action was detrimental to the CIAU's efforts," Pugh said in an interview.

He said there was no competition between the Windsor case and the suspension of Acadia University Axemen two years ago after the school exceeded the CIAU's limit of three non-Canadians on its basketball team.

The school was suspended but later reinstated after it agreed to meet the player limit.

A. L. Lenard, athletic director at Queen's University in Kingston, Ont., said if it came to a choice between CIAU and OUAA membership, Queen's would stick with the Ontario body.

And, he said, unless the CIAU reconsiders its action, it may come to such a choice.

Lenard predicted a split between Ontario universities, with newer schools which value national prestige backing the CIAU and the older schools, like Queen's, sticking with the provincial and national bodies.

Robert Barsey of the University of Western Ontario specialized that the CIAU was trying to make a "play for real power over athletics in this country."

Carl Totzke of the University of Waterloo, who had opposed Windsor's stand, said that schools which had supported the CIAU before Tuesday's suspension announcement may wonder whether their good faith has been abused.

"I think there is a possibility there will be a move now by some schools to get out of the CIAU," he said.

William Mitchell of University of Guelph said a lack of communications between the provincial and national bodies is causing a problem.

Young Minor Leaguer Waiting for a Chance

The waiting game goes on for the Borabeck of Brighton and a 15-year-old member of the family who now resides in Toronto.

You'll remember, the Ontario Minor Hockey Association has refused permission for Brian Borabeck and Wayne Gretzky of Brantford to join the Toronto Young Nationals organization.

Apparently Gretzky's problem has been solved. He's now a member of the Toronto Nationals of the Metro Junior B Hockey League. And that should prove to be a real drawing card when the Nats visit Memorial Arena here for a league game with our Bobcats, January.

Meanwhile, young Borabeck, attending school in Toronto, goes on hoping his case will be reviewed and he'll be allowed to join the Nationals' minor bantam team.

"Brian is taking everything in pretty good spirits," his father, Bill said Wednesday night.

A talented young hockey player who obviously would benefit from playing the calibre of hockey he won't get by continuin his career with teams representing Brighton at the OMHA C level, Brian is finding it difficult to realize what's happening.

"All he wants to do is play better hockey," says Bill Borabeck.

Gretzky's name has been in front of the hockey public for years now. He's already made his mark and impressed observers all over the country. There's no doubt the youngster will make it big in hockey.

The consensus is, if Borabeck had not been seeking permission to join the Toronto organization at the same time the highly publicized Gretzky was, there would have been no trouble completing the arrangements.

Now that Gretzky is performing in Ontario Hockey Association Junior B company, perhaps the way will be paved for Borabeck to get his chance with the team of his choice.

Whatever the outcome, there doesn't seem to be any chance Brian will be back in Brighton for the 1975-76 season. But, of course, that possibility has not been ruled out.

Brian Borabeck can't realize what's happening.

How many adults can?

Wanderers Miss Chance to Get By Trenton

TRENTON — Belleville Collegiate Institute Wanderers came very close to giving the school twin representatives in the Bay of Quinte High School Soccer finals here, Wednesday.

But after regulation time and two 10-minute overtime sessions had failed to produce a winner Wanderers fell to Trenton High School 3-2 on penalty shots. It was a 1-1 game in regulation time.

So it's up to the BCI Red Grubs who have qualified for the junior final. But the team will be forced to mark time while awaiting an opponent in the showdown. Wednesday's scheduled junior semi-final at Sir James Whitney, between East Northumberland Secondary School and Nicholson Catholic College was postponed when no referees was available for the match.

Nicholson and ENSS will play the game Friday at 1 p.m. at Bayside Secondary School. The Junior final goes Tuesday, at Sir James Whitney School, at 2 p.m.

It will be Trenton and Moira Secondary School in the senior final, at Trenton, Monday, at 2 p.m.

The teams battled through a scoreless first half in the senior semi-final here. Twenty-five minutes into the second half, Trenton broke in front when Oscar Medpoil found the mark.

Mark Adair, who split the BCI goalkeeping chores with Danny Smith, fired the equalizer for coach Dave Hartley's squad seven minutes from time. Randy Donovan set the play in motion, sending a pass to Dave Archer who set Adair up.

C. Bryan, D. Brown and Donovan accounted for Trenton goals from the penalty spot.

Wanderers had chances to take but failed to settle for goals by Donovan and Archer.

Movement by the Trenton goalie gave Adair five attempts. The goalie saved on the fifth try. Doug Shaw had three tries without success and Gord Van Vliet fired the ball at the goalie on his attempt.

Whether Nicholson or ENSS meet BCI Red Grubs in the junior final, the team which qualifies will be up against a strong squad.

Coached by Malcolm Ewashkiw and Dave Love with assistance from Andy Stocks, Red Grubs have recorded five shutouts in six games, outscoring the opposition 23-1.

An ever-dangerous attack is spearheaded by the Farr brothers, Steve and Kevin, with 13 and 11 points respectively. Doug Campbell has supplied 10 points and Ward Moore, six. The forwards are backed up by centre half and team captain Dwight Begley who has connected for nine goals while checking in with 12 points.

Goalie to the Rescue

Trenton attacker (centre) gives Belleville Collegiate Institute Wanderers' goalie Mark Adair anxious moment during Wednesday's Bay of Quinte High School Soccer League senior semi-final at Trenton. Coming to the aid of his goalkeeper is BCI fullback Mark Zufelt who played strong game for Wanderers. Trenton team qualified for the Bay of Quinte final, taking 3-2 edge on penalty shots required to decide match after teams battled through regulation time and two overtime periods without settling 1-1 tie.

Strategy Pays Off

Some last second strategy paid off with the tying goal for Blake Kerr Esso in its Belleville Minor Hockey Association Bantam Minor match with Doug Jones Jewellers, Wednesday night.

Just one second remained to play when Don Pell fired his second goal of the night, with his goalie on the bench in favor of an extra attacker, to pull out a 4-4 tie. Other marksmen for the winners were John Dent and Steve Davenport. Peter Goulah had a big night for Doug Jones, getting three goals. Fred Mulins had the other counter.

In another tie game, Whitley Rentals Peewee Major Selects matched Legion 7-7. David Quincey and Todd Stolicker each fired two goals for Legion with singles for Jeff Ricketts, Shawn Dockrill and Terry Calder. Paul Houtsiow, Steve Taylor and Rick MacDonald each scored twice for Whitley's. Allan Derry counted once and Dave Mortenson drew three assists.

Mcfarey-Mattice got two goals each from Mike Miller, Kevin James and Craig Monroe on the way to a 9-7 defeat of Bob's Auto. George Parkhurst, Richard Moore and Ian Patterson had the other goals for the winners. Brian Cleaver took care of four Bob's goals with singles going to Lloyd Brenay, Donald Cantelo and Robert Hope.

The other two games were squeakers with Ed's Esso pulling out a 5-4 win over V's Men's Club and Red Shark slipping past Kiwanis 4-3.

Mike Vani was a two-goal shooter for Ed's. Doug Austin scored once and helped on two others while Mike Weatherspoon and Glen McGinn also hit for one goal each. Sharing the V's Men's goals were Michael O'Connor, Tim Ryan, Joey LaFargue and Ben Hamilton.

Centurions Knock Off Chargers

Trojans Hang On to Nip Tigers 20-19

The Moira senior Trojans, with a little luck and a 3 of hard work, have advanced to the Bay of Quinte Senior Football finals with a thrilling 20-19 win over the Trenton Tigers at Moira on Wednesday. Both clubs proved to have equal strengths as both came up with several big plays when needed despite the very cold temperatures.

In the other first round senior playoff game Wednesday, Centre Hastings Centurions eliminated Centennial Chargers from the 1975 season with 16-8 win.

Trenton, on a third down play with the minute flag up, were on the home team's 20 yard line. It was all or nothing as far as the Trenton bench were concerned. Rather than trying for a sure point that would tie the game the visitors elected to go for a field goal and the win.

A superb rush by the defence of Moira was in time for one of the Trojan defenders to get a hand on the ball. The final play capped a fine effort by the defence of Moira which had turned in a 100-percent effort throughout the game.

A week ago Tom Nigro suggested the only thing that would play a big difference in the senior playoffs would be unexpected injuries.

"We're all pretty evenly balanced," said the Tigers head coach. Wednesday, Nigro was confirmed the prognostic ator of 1975 when he learned his offence would be without the services of starting quarterback Dave Lewis.

"Our backup (Greg Kendrick) is as able as our first stringer," said Nigro, "but what hurt us was having to take Kendrick out of the backfield."

"He's our summer one running back," added the fate-ridden mentor.

Without the strength of Kendrick rushes, Trenton's ground gains were next to nil.

Both clubs were evenly matched offensively though the Tigers had an obvious advantage in the passing department; receiving, directly or indirectly in all of the Trenton points. Moira on the other hand showed most of their strength on the ground, handing off to Rick North numerous times for hard yardage.

The Trojans opened the scoring in the first quarter marching the ball 80 yards down field in a series of ground gains, North carried the ball over the goal line to one point back of the Trojan back. Tony Bennett's pass to Roger Sprague was complete for the two extra points.

Bob Thompson, at times the best Trenton offensive threat, turned what looked like bad field position on a Moira punt into the first Tiger's touchdown with a 45 yard run from one side of the field to the other and then down the side line and across the line. Rob Oliver's extra point attempt was good and left the visitors one point back of the Trojans.

A pass interference call against Trenton resulted in a 25 yard gain and set up the second Moira touchdown before the end of the first quarter. The extra point attempt missed and the Trojans were out in front 14-7.

The defence of both teams came up with strong showings in the later stages of the second quarter and the first half of play saw the Trojans holding on to their slim lead.

Trenton struck twice, early in the third quarter. The first touchdown was scored by Bob Thompson on a 30 yard pass play with quarterback Kendrick, Thompson again went for long yardage later in the quarter on another pass play to set up the second major. Halfback Charlie O'Malley went over the goal line on a five yard drive. Neither of the touchdowns was converted leaving the Tigers with a 19-13 edge. That however, was not enough.

Roger Sprague scored what proved to be the winning points on the kick off just after the final touchdown of the game for Trenton. Sprague took the ball on his own 8 yard and went 80 yards down field for Moira's winning margin.

Before the end of the third quarter Trenton had once again scored a major but a holding call against the Tigers nullified the play. Moira will now get a by into the finals of the Bay of Quinte championship and awaits the winner between the Quinte and Centre Hastings.

Harley Willemson, Centre Hastings bull-dozing tailback, lugged, swept and pounded through Centennial's defence setting up the first Centurion TD and scoring the second himself. He also added a two point conversion to his efforts. Cliff Reid capped off Willemson's initial drives early in the second quarter. That breakdown, combined with YeoJay Singh's single recounted for all the scoring in the first half.

Singh added another single in the second half to round out the winners offensive output.

Centennial managed a third quarter TD when Paul Broder galloped into the end zone. Rob Scully earned the two point conversion on the play, but that was all the Chargers got on the scoreboard.

Trenton Tiger John Wynn eludes the grasp of Moira Trojan defender Roger Sprague in Wednesday's senior Bay of Quinte contest at Moira. Though Wynn got loose on this play, the Trojan defence pretty well contained the fiery Tigers throughout the game and the home squad came out on top 20-19.

Expos Add Five and Drop Four

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal Expos have added five pitchers, including two Canadians, to their 40-man winter roster, the National League baseball club announced Wednesday.

CHUCK TAYLOR

HAL BREEDEN

Right-handers Larry Landreth, 20, of Stratford, Ont., and Bill Atkinson, 21, of Chatham, Ont., were added along with 22-Keener and Ed Jilley and lefty Terry Enyart, 25.

To make room, the Expos assigned four players to the roster of Memphis Blues the club's Class AAA affiliate in the International League in 1975.

The four were right-handed relief pitcher Chuck Taylor, catcher Larry Doby Johnson, first baseman Hal Breeden and outfielder Jim Lyttle.

They are subject to draft at the major-league meetings in December and, if not drafted, may be invited to the Expos' training camp next spring or assigned to Denver Bears of the Class AAA affiliate in the American Association, who will late next year.

The Count Is Top Rookie

NEW YORK (AP) — John (The Count) Montefusco, who not only talked but also played a good game of baseball this year with San Francisco Giants, today was named the National League's Rookie of the Year.

Because the cocky hurler got his money arm where his mouth was, the Baseball Writers Association of America rookie honors ahead of outfielder-catcher Gary Carter of Montreal Expos.

"I really think this is great," said the 25-year-old pitcher after learning he had outscored Carter 15-9 in the voting. "It's the biggest thing that's happened to me in my whole life."

Three other players received one vote each from the 24-man BBWAA board, two from each of the National League cities. They were Montreal third baseman Larry Parrish, second baseman Manny Trillo of Chicago Cubs and relief pitcher Rawly Eastwick of Cincinnati Reds.

JOHN MONTEFUSCO

OBTAIN ARBOUR

DENVER (AP) — Denver Spurs obtained defenceman John Arbour from Minnesota Fighting Saints Wednesday in exchange for a 1976 first-round draft choice. Arbour, 20, scored 13 goals and 43 assists last season. The 6-foot, 208-pounder has played the last three years for the Fighting Saints. He also was a member of the 1971-72 minor league Suns team that won the Western Hockey League title.

minors in 1974, Montefusco joined the Giants late in the season and won three games for them. The hard-throwing right-hander established himself as a strikeout artist in spring training this year and went on to become San Francisco's brand-and-better pitcher with a 15-9 record and 215 strikeouts.

His victories were the most ever by a Giant rookie and his strikeout total narrowly missed tying the first-year record for pitchers established by Grover Cleveland Alexander, who had 227 in 1911.

Montefusco had four shutouts, pitched 244 innings and wound up with a 2.88 earned run average, seventh best in the league.

GEORGE C. McQUEEN

How Do You Know Other Rustproofers Won't Run Out Before Their Guarantee Does?

YOU DON'T.

Someone who's been in the rustproofing business for two years might give you a lifetime guarantee. But his guarantee might last a lot longer than he will. Ziebart has been in the rustproofing business 18 years (7 years in Belleville). We pioneered rustproofing. And we've inspired a lot of imitators.

In the first place, our special compound is patented. Secondly, it's not only that we use, but how we use it. Ziebart coats every critical area of your car.

Finally, our process is so effective we guarantee it. If you have your car Ziebarted before it's been driven 3000 miles, we'll guarantee it won't rust through for ten years. No matter how many miles you drive it. We put it in writing.

And if that's not enough to convince you just ask someone who's had it.

Because he's got a rustproof car. And our long guarantee which is our guarantee we'll be around for a long, long time.

FIRST IN MAKING IT LAST — BEWARE OF IMITATIONS

Births

MARTIN — Dr. and Mrs. Larry R. G. Martin of Belleville are pleased to announce the birth of a daughter on Tuesday, October 26, 1971, at Quinte Lee and Ted. Grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Edward Martin, Belleville, Mr. Oliver and Mrs. R. S. Gibson, Belleville.

In Memoriam

POST — In loving memory of a dear mother who died October 26, 1971.
Sweet is her memory to those who knew.
Dear is her place in our home.
No distance can divide,
For that is within us.
Each dawn with side by side,
Each dawn with her in mind.
All eventide is prayer,
We turn to God and him,
He always will be there.
Sadly missed and remembered by wife Evelyn and son David and family.

BALYK, Jack D. — In loving memory of a dear uncle who passed away Oct. 26, 1966.
Time flies over us but leaves no shade
Memories are made to last forever
We will never be forgotten
—Mona, Marvin, Donald and Linda.

STEVER — In loving memory of our son and brother Gerald (Bucky) who passed away 5 years ago today, October 30, 1966.
Someone I cherish, and someone cares.
Someone is mentioned in our prayers.
A smile, a tear, a thought sincere,
Love often I wish for you dear.
In leaves above, you are now at rest,
God chose you for the best.
God chose you for his own,
—Always remembered. Mum, sister Barbara, brother Bob and families.

AT HOME

50th and Mrs. Elmer Cross of Stirling, Ontario will be celebrating their 50th Wedding Anniversary on November 2nd, 1971 at Rollo Presbyterian Church. It is not a formal affair but extended to all friends and relatives who wish to join them. Best wishes only.

CBC Technician Fails In Bid to Enter Law School

TORONTO (CP) — Allan Clyde Noble, 38, a CBC video technician, wants to become a lawyer and for the last four years, as a mature student, the father of six has been studying to achieve his dream.

But for the second time in two years he has been refused admission to Osgoode Hall law school at York University and the University of Toronto law school.

Since finishing high school in Broad Cove on Conception Bay and getting his second-class wireless certificate at a St. John's Nfld., vocational school, Mr. Noble has been a wireless technician at Montreal International Airport, a Marconi technician at a DEW Line site on Melville Peninsula and a radio-video technician at CBC in Toronto since 1966.

Often his college and work day ran from classes at York at 9 a.m. to the end of his CBC shift at 1 a.m., and sometimes 4 a.m., on overtime.

Mr. Noble says that although he was refused a disappointment as his former classmates file back to school, he is not bitter about it.

"That's my goal—to be a lawyer," he said. "I have no doubts whatsoever that can finish law school—perhaps next year."

Encouraged by the success of a friend, now a practising lawyer, Mr. Noble became a mature student. He was not admitted the first time because high school ends at Grade 11 in Newfoundland, two grades earlier than in Ontario, and York University suggested he take some Grade 12 English and other courses at night school.

"The first year I had some problems adjusting," he admitted. "I found it a little strange after 17 years."

He was accepted as a full-time student in 1971 and at the end of his third year applied for admission to Osgoode.

He got through the screening process and to the board for an hour the first time, but wasn't successful and went back for his honors degree, graduating with a B plus.

He concludes he wasn't accepted for either school this year because of his low law school admission test (LSAT) mark. "They seem to put more weight on the LSAT than on one's academic background."

He said he will apply again this winter, reasoning his honor standing marks should know in time this year and be weighed later in his favor.

He hopes to bring his LSAT test mark above the 600-level, the generally accepted mark, of a possible 800.

Crediting his wife, Florence, for helping him, Mr. Noble pondered whether his returning to school had a lasting effect on his children.

His oldest son Brian dropped out of school in Grade 10.

Mr. Noble said Brian wants to go back now, but should wait until he is more mature and realizes a high school education now means nothing unless it's a step to university.

Lack of Grants Hurts Local Theatre Projects

In trying to form a local company of six actors to collectively approach and dramatize historical events in Quinte area Bill Culp said he has run up against a brick wall.

Mr. Culp is the writer-director of Belleville Theatre Guild's latest production — Around About 1833-84.

Mr. Culp said he unsuccessfully applied for a Local initiatives Program grant late August. He has also applied since to Canada Council, Ontario Arts Council and the ministry of Culture and Recreation without any response, he said.

"I've never encountered such a lack of interest by people in grants committees," he said. "If you live one hundred miles from Toronto, Ottawa or Montreal, you aren't considered to know anything about the arts."

Mr. Culp said his idea is supported by Quinte Arts Council.

The style and format of future plays will depend on the grants received, said Mr. Culp. "Workshops are time consuming for actors. Unless they are dare committed they need to be paid."

Mr. Culp said there were two historical events he hopes to dramatize.

Local Play To Toronto

Around About 1833-84 is on the way to Toronto.

The latest production of Belleville Theatre Guild, written and directed by Bill Culp in workshop style, was finally completed after contributions by the small cast during rehearsals and performances and will be sent to Playwrights Co-Op for possible publication, Mr. Culp said.

The production performed to a full house every night at Pinnacle Playhouse from Oct. 8 to 11 and Oct. 15 to 18. Mr. Culp said a special performance was staged for students of Foxborough School after closing night.

Mr. Culp said he was "overwhelmed" with the audience response. "Every performance there were small changes in the delivery of lines but the final evening was enraptured with the performance," he said.

A first venture for Mr. Culp, the play was based on a historic hanging in Prince Edward County June 10, 1884.

The next production — My Three Angels will be presented at Pinnacle Theatre Guild Nov. 26 to 29.

Twenty Chorus to Sing

Twenty local choirs are expected to take part in Belleville Kiwanis Club Christmas Carole presentations Dec. 1 and 2 at Bridge Street United Church.

"Hopefully this could become an annual event sponsored by the Kiwanis Club," says Capt. Bob Sloss of the Salvation Army and a club member. It is the first time the club has sponsored such a show.

Capt. Sloss says they hope to have ten choirs perform each night from 7:45 p.m. to about 9:30 p.m.

All money raised through a collection, says Capt. Sloss, will be donated to the firefighters Christmas toy distribution.

Boy scouts and other choirs are invited to participate. Application forms are available from Capt. Sloss at 968-7294. Forms must be returned to the club by Nov. 22.

Linda Blair Trys Hand At Television Role

NEW YORK (AP) — Linda Blair giggled when asked how many stories start out: "Linda Blair looked devilish . . .

"Pretty many," said the 17-year-old actress, who achieved instant stardom in 1973 when she portrayed a 12-year-old lass possessed by demons in The Exorcist.

Miss Blair, a short, genial young lady with a cherubic face, was in New York from her home in Westport, Conn. to Gumbesi for Sweet Hostage, a TV movie ABC will televise this Friday night.

In it, she plays a young woman where the ABC handout says is "kidnapped by an escaped mental patient" and "lost into a strange world where her abductor becomes her teacher, friend and lover."

It is her third TV movie. After The Exorcist, she made Sarah T: Portrait of a Teen-age Alcoholic, where she played a teen drunk. Then came Born Innocent in which she played a teen-age delinquent who was sexually abused by other girls in jail with her.

Miss Blair conceded she always seems to wind up in trouble in her movies, but she insisted that "I don't really feel that I've been typecast.

"It's just at my age there aren't really that many stories you can do. So out of the ones that have been done, they just happened to be about girls that get themselves into problems.

"But I don't think that'll continue much longer, because as I get older, I can do other stuff."

Miss Blair, a confirmed Easterner whose hobbies include singing, horseback riding and poetry writing, made mention of the fact she is about to start work on another movie.

Would you believe it is The Exorcist, Part II?

She laughed when asked if this portends a return to evil spirits.

Although she has not seen the script yet, she said it will show the girl she played in the first Exorcist trying to live a normal, demon-free life, albeit with some remaining psychological problems.

"It won't be like the other one," she said. "Whether or not it's probably be rated PG (parents's guidance suggested)."

Writer's Work Popular

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Now that movie studios finally are looking for scripts about women, producers are saying "Get Jay Allen."

The reason: screenplays by Jay Presson Allen have won Oscars for Maggie Smith in The Prime of Miss Jean Brodie and for Liza Minnelli in Cabaret and provided Barbra Streisand with a big winner in Funny Lady.

Texas-born Mrs. Allen, 53, writes movies in her Connecticut home and preserves her privacy with the zeal of Howard Hughes. But now she is submitting to interviews on behalf of her new novel, Just Tell Me What You Want.

"Yes," she sighed, "I am out in public shaking my tambourine like the other authors. I agreed to do some things in New York and Los Angeles, nothing more, no tours or anything. Even so, I feel as if I am polluting my own environment.

"Why am I doing it? Because there is such a big investment involved, and I feel obligated to those who are making it."

Your Horoscope

By BERNICE BL. 'I OSOL

Thursday, Oct. 30, 1975

Aries (March 21-April 19) There will be some minor domestic disturbances today, but don't let them interfere with plans you and your mates have for this evening.

Taurus (April 20-May 20) You're a bit temperamental today. Little things at work will upset you more than usual. However, once you're back under your own roof calm will prevail.

Gemini (May 21-June 20) If you think all your financial moves through wishful thinking today the results will be profitable. Loss is likely if you're impulsive.

Cancer (June 21-July 22) Be sure you're the one who has control over the family purse today. You'll get mileage from a dollar that others can't.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22) Later in the day you'll contract a frustrating situation. Though you'll be perturbed, you'll keep your feelings well disguised.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Financial conditions will be mixed today, but with a little prudent juggling you can remain in the black.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Its wisest to comply with what the majority wishes today instead of trying to get everyone else to rearrange their itinerary to suit yours.

Scorpio (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You'll succeed in what you undertake today. You're prepared to exert the extra effort and suffer inconveniences others won't.

Sagittarius (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You won't be able to call the shots as you'd like today, but you will make the most of bad situations.

Capricorn (Dec. 2 Jan. 19) You'll have to make a decision today that will affect two friends. Tilt your aspects toward the one who has proven most loyal in the past.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You're far more adept today working with your head than you are with your hands. Be careful if using tools.

Pisces (Feb. 20-March 20) Though it will be a trying day, attend to your responsibilities first, play later—not vice versa.

Applifs For Lot

WHITEHORSE, Y.T. (CP) — Trapper Bob McKenzie has applied to the federal land office here for a residential lot on Hirschel Island in the Beaufort Sea. An office spokesman said the application from McKenzie, who built a cabin on the barren Arctic island last year, is considered "a football and has been kicked to Ottawa."

Stretch Marks Will Fade

By G. C. THOFTESON, MD

Dear Dr. Thoofteson: Recently I've gained quite a lot of weight and I have stretch marks on my breasts, hips, buttocks and thighs. What's the difference between red stretch marks and white stretch marks? I plan to start a diet and exercise now too soon.

How long will it take for the stretch marks to fade?—D. C.

The letters I get on stretch marks is a year would stretch from New York to Los Angeles. The answer is a variation on an old song: "Old stretch marks never die, they just fade away."

Your white stretch marks are old ones that have "faded away." They become less noticeable, but they will always be there. The pinkish ones are newer marks, which also will fade (but not disappear) with time. They, too, will turn white.

Your diet and exercise are coming a bit late to do anything about either type. However, if you had your choice between flab and a few visible stretch marks (which can be covered cosmetically) you'd be better off to take the marks.

The length of time it takes for stretch marks to fade varies from individual to individual. It could be months, even years. The marks actually represent weakening in the skin fiber along areas of stress from excess fat.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am a diabetic, and have recently started on insulin. I find it depressing. Added to this, after an injection (from a few minutes to a day afterward) the injection site is prone to bruises and aches.

A spot about the size of a quarter appears. I change the injection site every day, and it still occurs. I would appreciate any answer you can give me to this problem.—Miss T. C. S.

Your experience with the Iletin, red blotches is not unusual. You are apparently mildly sensitive to the insulin. Conventional use should hyposensitize your body and the reaction should disappear. A few people are severely sensitive to insulin. Such a person is hypersensitized through a tedious series of injections (usually taken at frequent intervals.

As depressing as the use of insulin can be for you, you should thank your stars it is around.

Insulin is one of the wonder drugs of the century, and it has saved untold numbers of lives. You should look at a more positive attitude toward it.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Does sugar have any vitamins or minerals?—N. P.

Unlike white sugar, brown sugar contains a number of minerals, including iron and calcium. It contains 2.2 milligrams of iron per 100 grams compared with only 0.1 milligram in white sugar. Brown sugar also contains small amounts of the B vitamins. White sugar contains only calories (from carbohydrates).

Why the difference?

Much of the value of brown sugar is in the molasses, which is removed in the refining of white sugar.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I would like to have some information on black yeast. It is mostly on my hands. What is it? Is it contagious?—B. B.

Dark-colored yeast may result as a chemical reaction from contact with certain metals, particularly iron or steel. It may also be caused by the use of certain bacteria on the skin in the presence of sweat.

It is not contagious. Wearing gloves when touching the metal would help, if that is the cause. It doesn't indicate any disease process.

Sir Lancelot felt that with his trusty sword he could handle three ordinary knights. He also felt that with the trusty spades he would take his chances against a dragon or two.

Lancelot's four-spade bid was Blackwood, and it is a bad bridge and war. His pass over five spades was a bit of guile. He felt that he wanted to play six, but knew that his response was such that if he bid it on his own he wouldn't be allowed to play there.

So he passed and let West push him into six. West passed over the six spades and East fell into the trap just as almost anyone would. He doubled!

East's king of hearts won the first trick, but that was all for the defense. Diamonds didn't break, but Lancelot was able to pick up West's jack after East showed out on the second diamond lead.

East had a really cheap save at seven hearts, but there was no way for him to know that Lancelot had bid his six spades to make, not as a sacrifice.

Ask the Jacobys

An Ohio reader wants to know if we approve of the 10-point, two-club opening.

This is a very complicated modern convention that has not found many sponsors. We do not use it and do not recommend it. Instead, we prefer either all strong two bids or the use of the two-club opening as the only forcing bid to show either a notrump hand of 23 or more points or a forcing two-bid in an unspecified suit.

Saskatchewan's French Heritage Now Sliding

SASKATOON (CP)—Indications of the erosion of Saskatchewan's French heritage appear to be increasing.

Recent research found that only 36.7 of Francophones in the 34-to-19 age group are fluent in maintaining their cultural identity, compared with 92.6 per cent of persons over 70.

"The trend can't be reversed, it can only be slowed down," says Jean Guy Quenneville, president of the Cultural Centre Saskatoon here, referring to linguistic assimilation.

Far to the south, in the prosperous, largely-French community of Gravelbourg, the 1,200 residents are turning to English.

"English is the language of communication in business," says Mayor Gerald Leblanc.

"And outside of communication and business, what exportunity remains to speak French?"

There are an estimated 56,200 Francophones in the province, scattered throughout the province, about a sixth of the total population.

Mr. Quenneville said the province's shift of population to the cities has been an important factor in linguistic assimilation—"urbanization has been a real evil in trying to safeguard culture."

In the rural areas, assimilation is slowed by the more isolated communities, by the strongest family unit and by the parish.

Marie-Antoinette Pepen of Saskatoon, who was in charge of a daily women's program on French-language radio for 14 years, sees the growing influence of the media as another factor in linguistic assimilation.

Children, she says, now watch French-language television, instead of spending time talking their grandparents, who were in the past a major element in passing on the cultural heritage.

The only French media in the province, she says, are two French radio stations and the bimonthly newspaper L'Eau Vive.

The CBC, however, plans to start a French-language television station in Regina next June.

Gravelbourg also had a French radio station, CFRG-CFGR, but the station closed in 1973.

The town also lost a centre of the Association Culturelle Franco-Canadienne 39 years ago, and 10 years ago the local College Mathieu ceased offering a number of arts degree, forcing some students to go elsewhere.

With the community's Anglicization, the CBC, recently decided to withdraw a French radio reporter there.

Still, all members of the French community have given up hope, however.

L'Eau Vive, which started four years ago, has increased its readership to 2,500 from 750.

And there are persons like Mrs. Lee Boos of Gravelbourg, who says:

Basic Tax Exemptions Will Be Increased

OTTAWA (CP) — Basic personal income tax exemptions and tax brackets will be increased by 11.2 per cent for the 1976 tax year, reducing federal tax revenues by $1.85 billion, the finance department said Wednesday.

The higher exemptions result from indexing of taxes, started in 1974 to offer some protection for taxpayers against inflation. The increased 1976 exemptions apply to tax forms that will be filed in the spring of 1977.

Basic personal tax exemption in 1976 will increase to $3,081 from $2,770, the married exemption to $1,930 from $1,866 and the deduction for the aged and disabled to $1,307 from $1,174.

The 1976 adjustment is obtained by dividing the average consumer price index for the 12 months to September, 1975, by the average for the 12 months to September, 1974. This results in the 11.2-per-cent increase for exemptions and for tax bracket limits for 1976.

Maximum exemption allowed for dependent children under 16 will rise to $365 from $328, and for children 16 or over the increase is to $719 from $646.

New tax withholding schedules will soon be sent to employers by Revenue Canada, so employees who have taxes withheld by employers should notice a smaller deduction in January.

Food Additives May Cause Crime

OTTAWA (CP) — Food additives may be a cause of increasing violence and crime but the federal government is refusing to follow up with its own studies on U.S. evidence on artificial dyes, a Conservative MP says.

Paul Yewchuk (PC—Athabasca), a medical doctor, said in an interview there is evidence chemicals in food dyes and flavorings cause hyperactivity in children and may have led to increased adult crime.

Hyperactivity, which affects about five to seven per cent of North American children, results in short attention spans, tantrums, rage reactions and a greater tendency to violence, Mr. Yewchuk said.

Although the American government has expressed strong interest in studies indicating additives cause hyperactivity, Ottawa officials have snubbed suggestions for Canadian inquiries, he said.

In the U.S., a congressional committee headed by Senator Edward Kennedy is taking a detailed look at previous studies on the relationship between food additives and hyperactivity.

One of the studies was done by Dr. Ben Feingold, a San Francisco pediatrician, who found a 30-per-cent improvement among hyperactive children when he placed them on special diets that eliminated colorings and flavorings. A second survey, by Dr. Kenneth Conners of Pittsburgh, found similar results.

Bell President Says CTC Advice Would Be Too Risky

OTTAWA (CP) — Bell Canada could have followed Canadian transport commission wishes and avoided decreasing service to subscribers last summer, but that would have been financially risky, Bell president A. Jean de Grandpre said Wednesday.

Mr. de Grandpre said Bell could have maintained existing levels of service even after the commission refused in July to grant the telephone company the full $28 million it sought in emergency rate increases.

But such action would have undermined the shareholder-owned company's financial stability and made borrowing to finance future expansion more difficult, he told a commission hearing into Bell's application for $102 million a year in new rate increases.

Mr. de Grandpre was responding to Quebec government lawyer Marc Caisla who questioned the company's decision to cut $55 million from construction, inventory and operating budgets following a Canadian commission ruling giving the company only half the $28 million it sought in immediate emergency rate increases.

The new application, which includes the proposals rejected in July would add 4.5 per cent to basic monthly telephone charges and increase a wide range of other charges for Bell's 4.5 million subscribers in Eastern and Western Canada.

Mr. de Grandpre predicted Tuesday that Bell will seek a further rate increase "as soon as possible" in 1976 even if the commission grants the full range of increases now being sought.

Provincial Ministers Will Discuss Rent Controls

OTTAWA (CP) — Federal and provincial housing ministers will meet here Monday and rent controls are expected to be on the agenda.

An aide to Urban Affairs Minister Barney Danson said Wednesday the ministers will be meeting to review the current housing situation.

He said the rent control issue likely will be raised, as it was at a September meeting of the housing ministers.

The federal anti-inflation white paper says rent controls are the responsibility of provincial governments. However, Ontario Treasurer Darcy McKeough has said the provincial government wants to find out what the federal thinking is on rent controls before acting.

The Quebec and British Columbia governments already have established rent control systems and other provinces have said they will put their own plans into effect.

Coroner Demands Better Gun Control

OTTAWA (CP) — Ontario's supervising coroner made a renewed call for better gun control Wednesday as he discussed the death of a 17-year-old girl and the shooting of seven high school students this week.

Dr. H. B. Cotnam said in a news conference better controls would reduce the number of shooting incidents such as the rampage of Robert Poulin, 17, at St. Pius X high school Monday, when he wounded six fellow students and killed himself.

He also said Kimberley Rabot, found dead and tied to a bed in a burned-out bedroom in the Poulin home Monday, had been stabbed repeatedly and had plastic material over her head.

He said some of the stab wounds were potentially fatal but added he could not yet say the cause of death. He said the cause may not be known until an inquest about a month from now.

Dr. James Dickson, Ottawa coroner, added the girl apparently was dead before the room was set on fire.

BC Investors Flock South for Real Estate

VANCOUVER (CP) — Poor investment returns on apartment buildings here in last one reason British Columbia real estate investors appear to be flocking south of the border to buy in the Seattle area.

Recent figures indicate that in addition to recreational property in Washington state, Sooke Valley and Paradise Lake Country Club in Whatcom county are more than 80 per cent Canadian-owned—Canadians have invested about $40 million in real estate in the Seattle area during the past 18 months.

Henry Allen of Coldwell Banker Inc., a major United States realtor with offices in Seattle, said his company has handled several investments in the $1-million to $3 million range and the focus seems to be on apartment buildings.

Phil Webb, president of the Baxter Group, said favorable prices and returns on equity in the Seattle area partially explain the attraction for Canadian investors. He said the apartment market there is recovering from a weak period and good buys are available.

Peter Redekop, chairman of Vancouver-based Wall and Redekop Ltd., said return on investment in apartment buildings in Seattle is about nine to 10 per cent, while returns are zero to four or five per cent are common in Vancouver.

George Oikawa of Western Realsearch said the movement of Canadian money to U.S. cities has been going on for about six years.

He estimated the cost of industrial land in Seattle is about half that of comparable land in Vancouver and construction costs are about 25 per cent less than here.

Many Canadian companies are going into the U.S. to do business as well as to invest.

Don Machum, vice-president of the Edmonton-based Oxford Development Group, said projects have become uneconomic in many Canadian cities which now are highly developed, with little short-term development potential.

He said his company, which develops downtown office and retail complexes, has been discouraged from developing in cities like Vancouver because of high land costs and in Toronto because of building height restrictions.

Orangeville CUPW Workers Return To Work

ORANGVILLE, Ont. (CP) — Members of the Canadian Union of Postal Workers (CUPW) here returned to their jobs Wednesday after voting among themselves to accept a conciliation report as a basis for settling their contract dispute with the post office.

Bert Maddox, president of the Orangeville local which represents 18 full-time employees and five part-time workers, said members of the local left their jobs for the first three days of the strike only as a show of solidarity with the CUPW executive.

However, he said the local agrees with the recommendations of the conciliation report on the dispute between the post office and its inside postal workers. It had no intention of staying off the job indefinitely.

Asked about possible reprisals from the national union, Mr. Maddox said: "We're not worried about any action they take."

Williams Gets Life

BRAMPTON, Ont. (CP) — Henry Robert Williams, 26, of nearby Mississauga was sentenced to life imprisonment Wednesday after an Ontario Supreme Court jury found him legally sane and guilty of attempted murder.

Mr. Justice R. E. Holland said he was sentencing Williams to the maximum penalty of life imprisonment because "my prime concern is protection of the public."

Williams, a kiln fireman with a brick company, was charged with attempted murder in connection with an attack in August, 1974, on Julie Sheldon, 14, of Gosport, England. She was raped, stabbed, strangled and left for dead under a pile of rocks.

Mr. Justice Holland added that jail authorities should consider psychiatric treatment for Williams.

Oil Leader Says Canada Must Encourage Exploration

TORONTO (CP) — Governments in Canada must take action to encourage exploration and development of oil, the president of the Independent Petroleum Association of Canada (IPAC) said Wednesday.

"Canada is the only oil-producing country in the industrialized world in which exploration activity has declined over the last two years," Rt. F. Ruben told an IPAC-sponsored seminar.

Mr. Ruben, president of North Canadian Oils Ltd., was one of a number of Calgary-based oil firm executives who accused the federal and provincial governments of actions which have discouraged investment in the oil industry.

He said IPAC recommended that all levels of government reexamine royalty and tax structures with a view to providing a greater return to the oil industry so that it could re-invest more money in exploration and development.

It also urged governments to restore the full write-off of development costs against federal and provincial income tax.

As well, IPAC called for elimination of Canadian investment through elimination of municipal business tax and removal of all obstructions to foreign investment in exploration and development.

IPAC has 388 member companies primarily engaged in one or more of the phases of the oil industry such as exploration, producing or refining. They differ from the major oil companies which participate in all phases of the industry.

McKeough Says Ontario Will Follow Guidelines for Two Years

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario will opt into the federal government's wage and price control program for two years, Treasurer Darcy McKeough said Thursday.

Mr. McKeough told the legislature that the move will be achieved through a federal-provincial agreement which brings all Ontario institutions directly under Ottawa's anti-inflation board.

Mr. McKeough said federal officials indicated to him last week that they wanted all provinces to opt into the control program "in the interests of an universal a program as possible."

The minister, whose speech was interrupted numerous times by opposition catcalls, also said Ontario will attempt to limit its increase in its spending next year to 10 per cent.

The salaries of senior civil servants would be frozen from now through 1976. Ontario Hydro's planned level of borrowing would be reduced next year and the increase in pay for civil servants would remain for another year.

Mr. McKeough told the legislature he has instructed management board officials to determine where additional cuts can be made in the size of the civil service.

Grants to local governments will not be increased by more than the rate of increase in overall provincial revenues, the minister added.

The freeze on wages paid to senior civil servants would affect between 130 and 150 employees who earn more than $30,000 a year. These employees included deputy ministers, assistant deputy ministers and executive officers.

The minister said the government decided against another option under which the federal government would allow the province to enforce the controls with some modification in the application of controls as they would apply to particular classes and groups of public servants.

In opting into the federal-controls, McKeough said Ontario retains jurisdiction for crown, professional and provincial institutions, but allows Ottawa the power to limit crown control prices and income in private enterprises.

He argued in favor of the government's decision, saying that if each province set up separate prices and enforcement boards it would lead only to "a tangled web of disarray, a serious erosion of the national effort, and as a consequence a higher rate of inflation in the country."

Mr. McKeough told the House that Ontario wants to discuss certain issues with Ottawa such as how the Ontario Energy Board relates to natural gas prices and Ontario Hydro.

He said Canadians must be prepared "to live for a time with inequities and to draw the line now."

Provincial co-operation with the controls will be handled by a cabinet committee directed by Mr. McKeough and the ministers of health, labor, education, energy, the attorney-general and the management board chairman.

Dr. James Fleck, appointed last week as provincial co-ordinator of Ontario's anti-inflation program, will monitor the provincial program.

Postal Accord Close

OTTAWA (CP) — Negotiations aimed at ending the counter-productive job of inside postal workers took a turn for the better early today.

Both Postmaster-General Bryce Mackasey and Jean-Claude Parrot, chief negotiator for the 22,000-members Canadian Union of Postal Workers (CUPW), said they were optimistic that a settlement was near as they adjourned negotiations about 1:15 a.m. EST.

The talks were scheduled to resume today at 1 p.m. with the hope of ending the strike, now in its 11th day.

Spokesmen for both sides said that only a few of the major issues remained to be resolved.

Unresolved issues included the use of non-union casual help in the post office, individual work measurement, electronic surveillance of their staffs by postal supervisors, and wages.

It was a sharp contrast to feeling at noon Wednesday when both sides left the talks to meet privately for seven hours before returning to the bargaining table after dinner.

At that time, Mr. Mackasey told reporters that about 65 issued remained to be initialled.

"The pace leaves a little to be desired," he said then. "But we'll let the union dictate the pace."

Mr. Parrot echoed this feeling when he said:

"It's getting a little frustrating for us. The post office is just not coming back fast enough with answers to our counter-proposals."

$500,000 Fund
Labor War Chest To Fight Controls

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian Labor Congress (CLC) forged ahead with plans for a campaign against the federal anti-inflation program after Prime Minister Trudeau and two cabinet ministers made an unsuccessful attempt Thursday to gain the union's support.

Locally, the Quinte District Labor Council has twice condemned the federal anti-inflation policy but is taking no firm stand on possible recourse until an Ontario Federation of Labor Convention next week.

As far as fund raising is concerned, council president Doug Sword says it is unlikely councils will be asked to contribute. Rather, union members possible will be asked to contribute through their own locals.

Leaders of CLC-affiliated unions, which represent two million workers, voted at a closed-door meeting to establish a $500,000 fund to fight the program of selective wage and price controls.

They also voted unanimously to endorse the CLC executive council's "outright rejection" of the program.

CLC president Joe Morris told delegates that he will not counsel others to defy the law through such action as a general strike.

But he said it is now per prepared to disobey "no matter what the costs."

His comments were not meant to be made public, but his booming voice carried clearly through a closed door and into a lobby outside the private meeting.

Mr. Morris later told reporters the CLC affiliates voted to use every legal means at their disposal to fight the anti-inflation program.

"The decision came after Mr. Trudeau, Finance Minister Donald Macdonald and Labor Minister John Munro attended a session.

Mr. Trudeau had said before the meeting that it will take a while to convince organized labor to go along with the program, "but I am convinced it will happen."

Dennis McDermott, a congress general vice-president and Canadian director of the United Auto Workers, said the government representatives "ran into a metal grinder."

But Mr. Trudeau told reporters the government got "a fair hearing. A very fair hearing."

"I think by and large, they seem to want to fight inflation but they disagree with our methods," he said. "I don't feel they gave me hell. They gave me a good argument."

The CLC has rejected the program because it feels that prices will not be adequately controlled.

"But we think we are controlling them better than best we can," Mr. Trudeau said after the meeting.

Generally, the program limits more than four million public servants and employees of private industry to a basic wage increase of 10 per cent in the next year. And companies covered by the selective controls are not to increase prices beyond the amount needed to offset increased costs.

Mr. Morris said the CLC could only go along with an anti-inflation program that includes measures to increase the housing supply, raise the amount of old-age pensions, create more jobs and redistribute income to narrow the gap between rich and poor.

Mr. Trudeau told reporters that he supports those goals.

NDP Proposes Rent Program

TORONTO (CP) — The provincial New Democratic Party, in a 13-point rent control program released Thursday by NDP Leader Stephen Lewis, has set a rent increase guideline of six per cent.

The program, revealed at a news conference, says rents should be rolled back to the level of December, 1974, and rents for 1975 should be calculated on the basis of the average increase in operating costs.

Mr. Lewis said the program, drawn up by the party's research department, was completed before the government's announcement that a rent review board will be established.

The party's rent program, Mr. Lewis said, was drawn up after extensive study of programs in Quebec and British Columbia.

Included in the NDP's proposed rent-control program are suggestions that:

—Rents should be allowed to increase only to the extent required to offset increased operating costs.

—Ontario should establish a rent control system that encourages tenants and landlords to determine rents in accordance with the above principle while further giving both parties the right to appeal.

—Beginning in 1976 there should be a rent guideline of six per cent. No rent increase could exceed the recognized guideline without an appeal by the landlord.

—Landlords should justify rent increases. Tenants should have the right to deal with their landlord as a group and have the right to examine the landlord's books.

—Rent offices should be established in every major urban centre and be given power to investigate landlord-tenant disputes.

—A provincial landlord-tenant tribunal should be established to make a final rent determination when a decision of the local board is appealed.

New York Governor Urges Street Protests

WASHINGTON (AP) — As the United States Congress moves ahead with legislation to aid New York City, the governor of New York state is calling for street demonstrations supporting the city's plea for federal help.

A House of Representatives banking subcommittee continued work today on a bill to grant federal loan guarantees to New York City. The committee's chairman, Thomas Ashley (Dem. Ohio), predicted approval with two votes to spare.

The Senate banking committee approved a bill Thursday that includes $4 billion in loan guarantees for the city. The measure is expected to be up for a full Senate vote next week.

One of the two loan guarantee plans studied by the House committee would offer up to $1 billion in loan "guarantees to help a city or state continue essential public services or to prevent or ease the effects of default. The other would offer loan guarantees of up to $6 billion.

Either would be applicable before or after default occurred, and would be contingent on the city balancing its budget. Ford bill would provide for administration of the guarantees by a federal board.

A Senate judiciary subcommittee today planned to hear administration spokesmen discuss President Ford's proposal to revise bankruptcy laws to help New York maintain essential services after a default. A House judiciary subcommittee, at work on general revisions in the bankruptcy laws, also planned to focus on their application to New York's problem.

News Briefs

MacDonald Takes Stand

HALIFAX (CP) Flora MacDonald, a candidate for national leader of the Progressive Conservative party, said Thursday that unless substantial changes are made in the government's wage and price guideline legislation, the Conservative party will not be able to support it. Miss MacDonald, MP for Kingston and the Islands, said the guidelines are encouraging persons to look for loopholes in the restraint system rather than support them.

Posties Called "Scabs"

HALIFAX (CP) — An official of the Canadian Union of Postal Workers (CUPW) said a group of letter carriers who announced establishment of an emergency courier service is "a scab outfit." Darrell Tingley, Atlantic director of CUPW, said he was disappointed with the activity, especially since it violated an agreement between the CUPW and the letter carriers' union.

Lottery Winners

PETERBOROUGH, Ont. (CP) — The winning number for the $100,000 grand prize in the Winnipeg Jackpot held Thursday was 79862 in series six. For the second prize of $20,000, the winning number was 23673 in series 13. The winners of third and fourth prizes, both $25,000, are persons holding tickets with numbers 95381 in series five and 31238 in series 28, respectively.

Can't Blaim Labor

VANCOUVER (CP) — Current economic woes cannot be blamed exclusively on labor, Beryl Plumptre, vice chairman of the anti-inflation board, said Thursday. Mrs. Plumptre told the Kiwanis Club her mail indicates that "many Canadians are fed up to the teeth with concentrated economic power of any sort and in recent months the labor has increasingly come to be regarded as the major villain behind inflation."

Lawyers Visit Kidnapper

MONASTEREVIN, Ireland (AP) — Two armed kidnappers holding Dutch industrialist Tiede Herrema have discussed their legal situation with lawyers, a police spokesman said today. Supt. Tom Kelly said two lawyers visited the row-house where Herrema was being held and talked with the kidnappers, Eddie Gallagher and Marian Coyle, for three hours on Thursday night.

Province's Legal Aid System Can Help Consumer Complaints

By AL ZABAS
Staff Reporter

A consumer wanting recourse for unfair business practices or shoddy merchandise can use Ontario's legal aid system if he is not able to afford court action himself.

Belleville lawyer Wilfrid Mensinga stressed Thursday the availability of legal aid to about 20 people attending one of the first consumer rights seminars in the city.

Simplified, a consumer can get one-hour's free consultation time with a lawyer of his choice, or receive a certificate from legal aid administrators for actual in-court lawyer's fees.

Those without much money, or without enough money, he said, can use the legal aid system.

Repeatedly during the seminar — sponsored by the Committee for Consumer Education, an ad hoc group — the speaker offered the audience avenues for righting wronged consumers.

— Under the Consumer Protection Act, one's written contract with a door-to-door salesman can be rescinded prior to the expiry of a 48-hour "cooling off" period.

A written contract promising delivery of goods or services in the future must legally define the cost of financing the purchase.

— A guarantee or warranty is implied in any purchase, whether a written guarantee exists, provided one doesn't pay in cash, but through long or short-term financing.

— One has six months to back out of a purchase if such a purchase has been made under a set of 22 unfair business practices as defined by the new Business Practices Act. A consumer can sue for punitive, as well as actual, damages.

The points touched on above were among a wide-ranging verbal package of legislation — both federal and provincial — provisions aimed at protecting the consumer dollar and a tenant's roof.

Mr. Mensinga, a member of the co-ordinating committee and of the Hastings Law Association, said unfortunately, nearly all consumer wrongs defined as such in the legislation must be personally brought before the courts.

Consumer protective acts are, therefore, unlike the provincial Employment Standards Act, he added.

A worker, under the employment act, need only file a complaint signalling act violation, and the provincial labor ministry swings into action to right the wrong.

Transit Contract Talks Start Here Monday

By AL ZABAS
Staff Reporter

Belleville Transit Commission and representatives of the 23 employees will meet Monday for the first time to begin negotiations for a new contract.

The first meeting, termed "exploratory" by commission chairman Marylea Bartl Thursday, is expected to last about two hours.

Mrs. Bartl would not reveal any details of either the union demands or the commission's stand. She said Thursday the commission for the first time discussed union demands yesterday.

Other than indicating that the union wants more than a 10 per cent wage increase, she said she wouldn't issue a statement she had earlier suggested as forthcoming.

The union earlier this year won a 21.2 per cent wage increase that gave mechanics about 20 cents an hour more than the $5.40 drivers received.

Local 126 president Hugh Kerr of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railways, Transport and General Workers says he will set related ruling demands until after the first commission-union meeting.

Rock Around the Clock

Moira Secondary School students concentrated on rhythm Thursday as they set a fast rocking pace in preparation for a rock-a-thon to be held at Quinte Mall Nov. 8 to raise funds for the United Way campaign. Moira students challenged other high schools to a rock-off and the best rocker of each school will compete in the 12 hour marathon. Above, John Henry a grade 9 student, and Bruce McKay, in grade 11, rock-to beat the clock. Winner of the in-school event was Grade 12 student Frank Wendling.

Foundation Plans Exhibition Of Art Work by Prison Inmates

Prison art is a totally different kind of art says Laurie Cameron, one of the seven directors of the Prison Arts Foundation in Canada.

Mr. Cameron, Supervisor of Community Education at Loyalist College, said the foundation is concerned with finding talent and giving it an outlet in penitentiaries.

Prison Arts will stage an international inmate art exhibition Nov. 4 and 5 at Quinte Mall under the sponsorship of Quinte Arts Council.

The 400 individual pieces of art on tour across Canada is the result of contributions from inmates in Greece, Germany, New Zealand, Australia, Swaziland, Chile, Japan, Barbados, Thailand, and North America.

Mr. Cameron said the art courses organized at many prisons give some inmates a chance to develop skills that can later be used as a livelihood.

He said one of the most prominent inmate artists was Michel Pelias who staged shows on the outside several times a year. "I don't know where he learned to paint but he developed his work on the inside."

The foundation operates on funds from Canada Council, the Canada Penitentiary Service, the Ontario ministry of correctional services, Ontario Arts Council and donations from provinces, individuals and industries.

Each year Prison Art collects arts, writings and crafts from all correctional institutions for juried viewing by a panel of professional artists. Selected pieces tour Canada and winning entrants receive awards and scholarships.

Trenton School Begins Bi-monthly Fluoride Plan

TRENTON — More than 300 Grades 1-4 school children at St. Peter's School were encouraged to walk around the hall making funny faces, Thursday morning.

The 15-minute exercise, which will be repeated every two weeks for the entire school year, under the supervision of parent volunteers, was the school's introduction to the Hastings and Prince Edward Counties Health Unit Dental Services fluoride rinsing program.

Trish Embury co-ordinator for the program, and a dental health lecturer for the unit said, the program is designed for its easy application by volunteer workers.

"The students pick up the fluoride solution and begin swishing it around inside their mouths, walking along a designated route for one minute and the entire procedure takes only about 15 minute out of the school day," Mrs. Embury said.

The program, originated in Scandinavian countries, is easily adaptable to school children because it is simple, quick, can be supervised by staff of school boards and totally disrupt the academic program and supplies and costs are at a minimum. The cost for one child for the entire school year is 20 cents.

The program is only undertaken by students who have obtained parential permission to take part and is an attempt to reduce the poor dental health of area children, particularly those living in areas where drinking water is not fluoridated.

Studies employing this technique have achieved decay reduction percentages ranging from 35 per cent to 80 per cent.

Conservative Approach Best Says Teachers

PICTON — Prince Edward school trustees met with department heads at Prince Edward Collegiate Institute here this week to discuss operation of the high school.

Principal of PECI, Paul Burd, explained that the department heads represent the cabinet of the school and he invited several of them to outline their job responsibilities.

Head of the guidance department Larry Richardson discussed the credit system at PECI and observed that students can receive four different types of documents.

The two basic diplomas are the secondary school graduation diploma and the secondary school honors diploma for six credits in Grade 13. A certificate of training is offered for students who complete a two-year occupational course and a statement of standing is provided for students who may have completed several subjects successfully.

Mr. Richardson remarked that there was a great deal of criticism for the credit system when it was brought in around the time of the Hall-Dennis report in 1968.

He said that with an extreme swing of the pendulum some schools in Ontario opened curriculums with complete freedom of choice.

Since that time there have been some conditions imposed on the subjects students can take.

Mr. Richardson noted that PECI offers its 1,470 students from 165 to 170 individual credits, each falling into one of four broad areas of study. These four areas include communications, social and environmental studies, pure and applied sciences and art. Students working for 27 credits must have three in each area.

Two years ago another condition for graduation was added requiring students to have two credits that are Canadian studies.

In Grade 9, 10, 11 and 12 English credits are required.

Mr. Richardson commented that some schools "went whole-hog and jumped on the bandwagon" in adopting open curriculums but in Prince Edward County's secondary school a more conservative attitude prevailed.

"We feel some structured direction is needed," he said.

He told trustees that at PECI program changes are an important part of school policy and they offer flexibility. In the first two weeks of classes each fall a number of program changes are handled.

Mr. Richardson said there must be good reason for the changes and there is discussion among students, parents, administration and counselors.

"We don't as a staff believe in locking students into a program as of the first week," he noted.

Mr. Richardson told trustees that students in Grade 11, 12 and 13 all have opportunities to take a spare period.

"This year we are very pleased on the whole with the way the kids are using their time," he added.

He said that the school library is always filled and "good productive use" is made of the free time.

Body Found

KALADAR — The Ontario Provincial Police here discovered the decomposed body of a male camper Thursday near the shore of MacIlvoy Lake 25 miles north of here.

Police did not identify the body which was found through the use of a police helicopter.

The body has been sent to the Forensic Science Laboratory in Toronto for a post mortem to uncover cause of death.

Missing Supplies Found

MASSASSAUGA — A sack full of pencils taken during a break-in at Massassaugo School last July has been recovered by the Picton detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police.

The pencils and an old adding machine together valued at $80, were found on a farm near the school. Police say no charges have been laid in connection with the incident.

Swish-Swish

Trish Embury supervise, the first swishing attempt of Tim Hortons kids, a grade 1 student during the inauguration of a fluoride rinsing program at St. Peter's School in Trenton. Every two weeks, for the rest of the year, Tim and his classmates will be continuing this rinsing procedure which is hoped will reduce the level of tooth decay among students who live in areas where there is unfluoridated drinking water.

Car Impounded, Driver Charges Action Illegal

By MARG HAYLOCK
Staff Reporter

PICTON — A Picton housewife who parked her car at the rear of the Armory Mall Wednesday is protesting a $10 charge she was required to pay when her vehicle was impounded. The car was parked in a private area regularly reserved for mall tenants and their employees.

Mrs. Evelyn Leverton of Owen St. complained that while she was a customer at a beauty shop in the mall a weighted drum became the word "impounded" was chained to the bumper of her car. A telephone number was written on the barrel.

In an interview Thursday, Mrs. Leverton said that she called the number and a man arrived and told her she must pay $10 before her car would be released.

She added that she paid the required amount and the drum was unchained from her car but she did not receive a receipt until she demanded it.

"It's a pretty dumpish poor show and a cheap way," asserted Mrs. Leverton referring to the incident.

She said she has contacted Picton mayor Donald King in connection with the matter.

Mayor King told The Intelligencer Thursday that he intends to introduce the incident for discussion at a meeting of the Picton Police Commission today.

He termed it "a sad state of affairs" and added that he questioned the legality of an individual to assess a fine.

Mayor King said in the event the impounding of Mrs. Leverton's car proves illegal he plans to suggest she request a refund of the $10 she paid. Similarly, he would urge all other persons who may have paid this kind of fine to ask for their money back.

Mrs. Leverton said Thursday that she did not realize she was parking in an off-limits zone but was later alerted by a beautician in the mall about the impounding practice.

"I call it vandalism," she stressed, recalling the weighted drum chained to her car.

She remarked that the man who impounded the vehicle informed her that had it been unlocked he would have towed it to a garage where she would have paid $40 to redeem it.

Picton police chief Charles Fletcher said Thursday that he has been advised of the incident and was "kind of shocked" when he learned of it.

He said he was not aware that cars had been impounded at the rear of the mall.

At the rear of the Armory Mall on Thursday morning two red signs with the word "Stop" could be seen. Beneath the word of warning was a notation that parking is for tenants only and unauthorized cars left there might be towed away at the owner's expense.

One of the signs was at the back of the parking lot near the wall of the basement of the mall and the other was posted far to one side of the parking area.

Other small signs advised motorists of private parking areas and reserved parking.

Queen's Park Donates $250,000 for Renovation

COBOURG — A $250,000 cheque was presented today to the town mayor by Hugh Faulkner Secretary of State, for continuation of the $2.9 million project to restore the 115-year-old Cobourg town hall.

The money will be spent on Phase 2 of the project which has been proceeding since 1974 when it was officially decided by the town, provincial and federal governments to undertake the restoration which will eventually have employed 50 workers.

The project has met with some financial problems and needed an emergency infusion of $150,000 federal funds to continue work last September when the municipality ran out of money.

Since October 1, 18 workmen have been working on completion of Phase 2 and most of the building's 12 chimneys have been recapped and the roof work is ready to begin.

Work on the building will bring it up to operational standards by September 1976 and complete Phase 2. At this time the town expects to open the municipal offices, council chamber, court room and art gallery in the restored portion.

Phase 3 is scheduled to be completed when the municipality raises an additional $500,000 from donations and will include the completion of the grand ballroom, restaurant facilities and the exterior cleaning of the building.

Anwar Sadat: a New Kind of Assurance and Maturity from the Third World

By JOHN D. HARBRON

Foreign Affairs Analyst

Thomson News Service

Who would have guessed a decade ago, when the charismatic Col. Abdel Nasser was supreme ruler of Egypt, that his country and its future ruler would some day become the conciliating nation between Arabs and Israel?

The tall, immensely handsome, super-nationalistic Nasser was the Arab world's symbol of their resistance to Israel surviving the devastating military defeats in the field by the Israelis while he continued to assume that role.

Today Nasser is off the stage, prematurely dead in 1970 from heart disease, his successor Anwar Sadat visiting where Nasser could never go, the White House and an American president.

It is almost impossible to believe that Sadat hails from the identical military tradition as the Late President Nasser. Indeed photos of the colonels who overthrew the corrupt, corrupting monarchy of former King Farouk do show Sadat with Nasser and Sadat prominently.

Each man had to wait his turn until the leader of the Egyptian Revolution, Col. Nasser had served his brief time as president and Egyptian premier. And in the Nasser years, Sadat appeared to be a pliant supporter of Nasserism.

When he took over from the dead Nasser, the world's quick judgment was that he would have difficulty assuming the mantle.

In fact Sadat never tried. Quietly and effectively he became his own man, analyzing in his own terms all the Egyptian relationships, with Israel, with the Russians and with the non-Communist world which had been frozen in a fixed pattern under Nasser.

Other substantial changes have come with the man who this week spoke conciliating words in Washington about the future for Arabs and Jews in the Middle East.

His reformed and co-ordinated armed forces inflicted one near defeat on the Israelis in the brief Yom Kippur War of October, 1973.

He spoke harshly in the Russians, first in private about their arrogant role in Egyptian military and economic affairs, then in public, bringing about the withdrawal of Russians and their technicians.

And then he worked closely and even intimately with Dr. Henry Kissinger on the Sinai Accord, taking strong criticism from his extremist Arab allies like the Syrians and Libyans in his stride.

If there has been any charismatic in the relationship between Sadat and others the close personal friendship between himself and Kissinger, it has to be part of it. The two men have a bond of kind which rarely takes place between men in hard, international negotiations.

This angry, bitter world needs more men like Sadat and Kissinger and we have so few of them as strife, civil war and stupid human differences rage around us.

He has proved to be understanding in negotiations, far determined in war, plain in a crisis and compassionate where his own hard-pressed people are concerned.

When he returns from his 11-day tour to the United States, the first Egyptian head of state to make such a tour of this, his energies must be concentrated on his own distraught land.

The odds against fight the Israelis have taken their toll and most Egyptians are a lot better off not much higher than in 1952 when the bold revolutions of the left-wing military officers promised a new Egypt.

Sadat seems to meet that challenge too.

Mind's Dark Corners

"It is a disease of the times. The disease is contagious, can be fatal, can't be predicted."

This is what Associated Press science writer Brian Sullivan said recently on the subject of the mental disorder behind some of the faces in the street, behind the hand that holds the gun or the knife.

To an official of the National Council on Crime and Delinquency, quoted by Sullivan, the identification of dangerous persons is "the greatest unresolved problem any criminal justice system faces."

These and other observations by the science writer are singularly relevant to the school tragedy of recent days in Ottawa, involving the wounding of six students and the suicide of a student who had wielded the gun. It's an incident that follows by only a few months a similar tragedy in Brampton.

One hopeful note where young people are concerned is the reported success of counselling of students by their fellows, with senior students helping new students become oriented and assisting them with any problems.

Schools with large number of students can be lonely places. This is one of the paradoxes of our day — and one of the frightening aspects of an age which increasingly lends itself to the unpredictable in human conduct. In school, as in all aspects of life, there should be a willingness to help others. In short, people helping people.

There is a chilling footnote to this. Last week, in Belleville, a 17-year-old youth was observed across the street from Moira Secondary school. He was carrying a loaded .22 rifle. It was 4 p.m., when students were coming out of the school. An RCMP car happened to be passing at the time and the youth told the officers he was going hunting behind the school. The case was passed on to city police and the young man appeared in court October 23.

The outcome? Case dismissed!

Another Quick Sure-fire Ballot Possible Flaw for Hamstrung PCs

By DON OHRAN

TORONTO — One can say for sure but chances are that the government image at this session will steadily deteriorate.

On the scene is as it appears it will develop we may or should see a government that more and more loses face and stature.

It will be sitting in the house, a should-be-subdued group of 38 faces in phalanx of 74, all full of the vigor of success and determined to continually throw the play at the government net.

And it is hard to see how the government will be able to move the play out of its own end very much.

It has no Bobby Orr.

Premier Davis may be a good, or bad, hockey player or a government leader, but he certainly is no political Orr.

He isn't a John Robarts.

One can see Robarts standing up in a minority house and perhaps dominating the play.

He had that unique political presence which gets automatic respect.

But this undefinable presence Bill Davis doesn't have, or at least hasn't shown it to date.

And it would seem a sure thing that the government is going to need it.

Darcy McKeough has at least a touch of it and this is no particular slam at Davis. McKeough has a quality that Davis lacks. Davis would have equalized that McKeough lacks.

But McKeough won't be leading the party and the house. And in this particular game it is only the leader that can be an Orr. He is the only one that really gets to handle the puck often.

As I said, it may not turn out this way, but the chances are that it will.

Someone put a finger on it by saying that the government could end up with all the wallop of a used diaper.

Under the circumstances one has to wonder if Davis might be smart to try and stick-handle himself into a quick election.

Game over and the start of a new one could turn out to be the best deal for the government.

They know what they have to do in a new election. They have to get their vote out, that is why they lost the last one.

The Liberals are well up in the air until their leadership convention (imagine the situation if there was an election before then and they happened to win!)

And the NDP would seem to have got every seat possible for it in September—remember its poor vote didn't go up.

How about a Santa Claus election? Or an election resolution to start Santa?

Think about it. Davis probably will be—even if very reluctantly. That is if he is a good politician which he still has to prove.

Consumer Protection: There is Still a Long Way to Go

By VINCENT EGAN

Business and Consumer Affairs Analyst

Thomson News Service

Every consumer has heard the story about the young woman who found something distinctly unpleasant in a soft-drink bottle.

She sued the manufacturer successfully, and that 1932 Scottish case (Donoghue vs. Stevenson) became a landmark in consumer protection law.

In the ensuing years, the legal rights of consumers have been expanded little by little through a series of court decisions.

Today, in the field of products liability, the onus of proof has shifted to the defendant according to Prof. Allen M. Linden of Osgoode Hall Law School, York University, Toronto.

He told the recent annual meeting of the Advocates Society that virtually every product may give rise to "tort liability" against anyone having "anything to do with the distribution or sale of that product or its component parts, by "just about anybody" who might be affected.

Even so, Canadian courts haven't gone as far as U.S. courts in terms of at set liability for products that may injure the consumer—although Prof. Linden believes that strict liability could arrive in Canada within the next few years.

"If it did arrive, I don't think the millenium would have been achieved," he said.

"The world still be defective products and people injured as a result of them.

"Nor do I think that any manufacturers would be driven out of business. None seem to have been in the United States, where they have had that principle for some time.

Although the Scottish case of Donoghue (the woman who had the unpleasant shock of drinking from the contaminated bottle of ginger beer) vs. Stevenson is the case best known to lawyers, the Canadian case of Buckley vs. Mott is the real cornerstone of Canadian law as it protects consumers against faulty products.

In that 1929 case, the consumer, a Mr. Buckley, was injured by some powdered glass in a chocolate bar.

The manufacturer contended that it had no responsibility to the defendant, since he was a "stranger" to the contract between the manufacturer and the retailer.

But the court ruled that the manufacturer had a duty, to the public, not to put on sale a chocolate bar containing powdered glass. The manufacturer had to pay damages to Mr. Buckley.

In the 55 years that have elapsed since that precedent was established, Canadian courts have added case upon case to establish the consumer's right to recourse against both the manufacturer and the seller of a product that injures any potential user.

In one significant case a year ago, a Canadian consumer suffered nervous shock on finding a po tinctularly repellant form of contamination in a bag of flour.

She was awarded damages against both the milling company that manufactured the flour and the retailer who sold it to her.

As an example of the shortcomings that still remain, however, Prof. Linden noted that if a North American-made car blows up as an Ohio highway, the manufacturer is assumed to be negligent.

But if it blows up on a Canadian highway, the Canadian court would require the driver to prove that the car was faulty.

Why we are providing protection for a Canadian subsidiary of American corporations I find difficult to understand," Prof. Linden commented.

In the years ahead, he forecast that lawyers will be thrust into the forefront of the consumer movement.

"They will become very much like consumer ombudsmen," he predicted.

"Instead of a mere trickle of cases in this field, a veritable waterfall is just around the corner."

Stanfields Like Ottawa: Rockcliffe Remains Home Among Diplomatic Set

By RICHARD JACKSON

Ottawa Correspondent

OTTAWA — So the Robert Stanfields are going to be living in Rockcliffe Village when retirement comes next February to the Conservative Leader.

He "likes" Ottawa, he says, and liking it here in the Capital, he just has to love Rockcliffe.

The former Nova Scotia Premier, long-time resident of Halifax and for eight years National Conservative Leader, must have become accustomed to the heady atmosphere of Rockcliffe, a golden ghetto where a house carrying a price tag of a mere $100,000 is not only considered to be ridiculously cheap but suitable only for demolition.

Since taking over the Conservative leadership from former Prime Minister Diefenbaker back in 1967, Robert Stanfield has been occupying the "official" residence, as it is called, on Rockcliffe Village's prestige promenade, Lakeshore.

Now soon, he will have to move.

But only a short walk along Acacia avenue to his new address.

Rockcliffe residents isn't preserve, pure and polished as it is, for politicians.

There are the privileged few there, though, including the Pierre Trudeaus, in the prime minister's official Residence at 24 Sussex Drive, just across the way from Stanfield, home of the Governor General — the John Diefenbaker's, down the hill, near a small lake, in a comfortable and roomy home with an infrequently used swimming pool in the garden — and the John Turner's, tucked away in one of the Village's cul-de-sacs.

They call their places modest residences, of course, the Prime Minister and the Governor General and the Diefenbakers and the Turner's, tucked away in rich standards of rite, they may be.

But it's not really the residence that impresses, it's the neighborhood.

Elegant, Elaborate, Expensive, Exclusive.

It's the mecca of the diplomatic set, where what is paid for the place indicates just how you may be keeping up with the Joneses.

The British, installed at Earnscliffe, the magnificent old home of Sir John A. Macdonald, a few doors along ceremonial Sussex Drive from the Trudeaus, and the Australians, high above everything in a majestic stone mansion on the escarpment coaring above the Ottawa River, are the unofficial leaders, both socially and far beyond the need to compete for social position in the international pecking order.

The Russians, aloof and alone, occupy an ugly cut-down building that looks more like an austere office structure than a residence, behind a high and heavy wrought iron fence in shabby, down-at-the-residentials-heels Sandy Hill, in another part of town.

The Chinese, paying $1.7 million for an old mansion recent, live, like the Soviets, in fortress-like isolation with the Rideau River at their suspicious backs.

But those envious of and less sure of their established position than the Americans and British, and wanting no part of the self-imposed isolation of the Soviets and Chinese, compete for place and prestige in Rockcliffe.

Many of them what are called "emerging" countries of the Third World, very much impressed with their own importance and now and absolute majority power at the United Nations, pay some truly astonishing prices.

They seem to sense that if their unstable and financially insecure home governments can't really afford as much as $250,000 or $300,000 for a Rockcliffe address, the generosity of some Western democracies, freaked out on foreign aid, will fork over.

For that kind of money they get the domestic "musts" of big-time diplomacy — a dining room seating 18 to 20 — guest rooms — servants quarters — spacious salons — circular driveway under a properly impressive stone entrance — sweeping lawns lush under the shade of towering elm trees and spreading oak — and, if they have the money, an indoor pool house connected by a glass-walled passageway to the main residence.

Marble foyers, sunken baths and outdoor pools are only sort of extra.

Some of these are truly baronial mansions — Bill Howe built two or three of them along the brow above the river — and planned and put into place with the same financial careless rapture as social revolutions of "old money" in Toronto's Rosedale, Montreal's Westmount and Vancouver's Point Grey.

It's a nice neighborhood and a sweet life.

TORONTO (CP) — A private member's bill introduced into the Ontario legislature Thursday by Albert Roy (L—Ottawa East) would reduce the speed limit on provincial highways to 55 miles per hour. Outside the house, Mr. Roy said the bill would save energy and reduce highway deaths and injuries.

Studies Reports

TORONTO (CP) — A select committee chaired by Donald Morrow (PC—Ottawa West) was established in the legislature Thursday to discuss reports by the royal commission into the operation of the legislature. Also on the committee are Michael Cassidey (NDP—Ottawa Centre), Murray Gaunt (L—Huron-Bruce), E. R. Good (L—Waterloo North), Bud Gregory (PC—Mississauga East), Eli Martel (NDP—Sudbury East) and R. K. McNeil (PC—Elgin).

Won't Alter Stand

TORONTO (CP) — The government has no plans to alter its stand on Pickering airport, James Snow, transportation and communications minister, said Thursday. The cabinet recently refused to provide needed provinces to the airport site located just north of Toronto and the federal government backed away from the project. Mr. Snow said he received a telegram Thursday from federal Transport Minister Otto Lang and the two men plan to meet soon. Mr. Snow said he would submit a report to the house after the meeting.

May Comment

OTTAWA (CP) — Transport Minister Otto Lang, commenting on Air Canada, said Thursday that he "may have to consider making some comment about the clear and sound nature of the airline operation." Elmer MacKay (PC—Central Nova), a longtime critic of Air Canada operations and airline chairman Yves Pratte, referred to news stories that a report on Air Canada's financial operations is critical of top management.

Jobs in Question

OTTAWA (CP) — Former prime minister John Diefenbaker asked the government Thursday to look into the apparent impending dismissal of porters at Toronto International Airport. The porters, some with 20 years experience, are faced with dismissal because the company employing them has had its contract cancelled.

Motion Defeated

OTTAWA (CP) — Two Progressive Conservative MPs tried unsuccessfully Thursday to win Commons approval of a motion to rescind a seven-per-cent salary increase for MPs set for Jan. 1, 1976. John Reynaldo (Burnaby-Richmond-Delta) and Frank Oberle (Prince George-Peace River), said the step should be taken in light of the government's anti-inflation program.

Still Here

OTTAWA (CP) — The government will allow Dang Van Quang, a former South Vietnamese general, to remain in Canada several more months at least, Immigration Minister Robert Andras said Thursday. He said the Commons efforts are being made to get the United States to accept the general rather than send him back to Vietnam. The general was ordered deported from Canada nearly four months ago.

Talks Resume

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Negotiations will resume Nov. 6 in an attempt to end the six-month strike by 305 employees of Canada Salt Co. Ltd., a union official said Thursday.

Freeze Honored

TORONTO (CP) — There have been no intractions by oil companies and few by dealers against Ontario's freeze on gasoline and fuel oil prices, says Geoff McInnux, an official of the ministry of consumer and commercial relations.

Charges Laid

TORONTO (CP) — Metropolitan Toronto police say charges have been laid against three men in connection with breakins at schools and arenas in Metro and nearby Durham region. Charged with breaking and entering are Gene Williams, 19, of Oshawa, Ont., Douglas Cox, 20, of Toronto, and Sandy Harold Rushton, 18, of no fixed address.

Receives Awards

TORONTO (CP) — Two heart specialists from the Hospital for Sick Children have been named recipients of the Gairdner Foundation's annual awards for outstanding contributions to medical science. Dr. John Keith was Dr. William Mustard each set to receive $10,000. Dr. Keith is honored for his contributions to the treatment of congenital heart disease, particularly rheumatic fever. Dr. Mustard's award was in recognitionof his contribution to cardiovascular surgery. He is noted for developing the "Mustard operation" used to correct the hearts of blue babies.

Opening Costly

OTTAWA (CP) — Guests at the official opening of Mirabel International Airport north of Montreal drank more than $20,000 worth of liquor and ate $48,000 worth of food, the Commons learned Thursday. In addition, the government spent $12,179 on accommodation for 19 foreign ministers responsible for civil aviation who came to attend the opening ceremonies.

Famed Abode

LONDON (CP) — One of the round, blue plaques used to mark the former homes of the famous is to be erected at 29 Fitzroy Square, Marylebone, where writer Virginia Woolf and her brother, Adrian, lived from 1907 to 1911. A refurbished bronze tablet is to be re-erected at the same address, to George Bernard Shaw, who lived there from 1887 to 1898.

Jamieson Seeks Extension on Sale

OTTAWA (CP) — Industry Minister Don Jamieson said Thursday his department officials would ask General Steel Wares (GSW) to seek an extension past today's expiry date of the company's offer to purchase Westinghouse Canada Ltd.

A U.S.-based company, White Consolidated Industries Ltd., of Pittsburgh, also tried to buy Westinghouse Canada but its bid was rejected by cabinet after screening by the foreign investment review agency.

That left the GSW offer available but the problem is complicated because White owns rights to the Westinghouse appliance brand name.

Opposition spokesmen say the dispute threatens the jobs of 3,200 workers. Mr. Jamieson said the government is determined to protect the jobs.

Mr. Jamieson said GSW should seek an extension of its offer so further talks can be held between government and company officials beginning today.

He said he expected an extension would be granted.

Mooo . . . Hi!

BYFLEET, England (CP) — Farmer John Trigger's 38 pedigree cows certainly took advantage of the situation when a gate was left open for beyond it lay a field of ripe corn. Without hesitation they soon nibbled away at the corn and ate themselves drunk since the corn fermented in their stomachs. The cows may have been happy, but Trigger was furious when one cow died of alcohole poisoning.

To Check Death

CULLOMPTON, England (CP) — Farmer Arthur Salter had a dwarf of being buried alive and when he died at the age of 90, he left $150 to his doctor to make doubly sure he was dead. His friend Dr. Russell Shove said he carried out Mr. Salter's wishes.

Jurors May Reach Decision On Panarctic Plane Crash

YELLOWKNIFE, N.W.T. (CP) — Jurors may reach a decision later today at the coroners inquest into the death of 32 men in the crash of a Panarctic Oils Ltd. Lockheed Electra plane in October, 1974.

The five-man coroner's jury said late Thursday it would have no decision on "where, when, how and by what means" the victims died until late today at the earliest. The crash, 2½ miles short of the landing strip at Ikes Point on McKylie Island, occurred on a routine flight from Edmonton to change drilling crews at the Panarctic ramp.

The inquest has been marked by the refusal of two key witnesses—co-pilot David Martin and flight engineer Gary Weyman—to testify. They were only survivors of the worst air disaster in the history of the Canadian Arctic.

Despite repeated requests by the coroner, the men have declined to testify. The coroner has no power to require them to testify since they live outside the Northwest Territories.

A regular observer at the inquest has been Diane Perison of Yellowknife, sister of W. Brian Thomson of Leduc, Alta., the Panarctic pilot who died

Apple Toys: the Wholesome Image Fits These Playthings

By SHARON ARMART

Sometimes, necessity makes father an inventor.

At least that was the case when Jonathon Curtis needed some good, safe alternative toys to play with. His Dad, Ted Curtis, discovered that the only way to get them was to make them.

He produced, first, a wooden caboose, carefully fashioned from maple and pine, which he turned over to 18-month-old Jonathon.

"He sort of chewed away on it," says Ted Curtis, "and that taught me to make toys edible."

Linseed oil — both edible and easily refinishable — was chosen to seal the surface.

The caboose became whole train and soon Jonathon had not only an engine and a coal tender but pullman, tanker, logger and boxcar.

At that point, Ted Curtis' work-mate — Ted is regional chief of training for the Unemployment Insurance Commission — visited and saw the toys. He thought it would be a good idea if the toys were available to other children.

The friend, Peter Antonucci, also happened to know a very good place to sell the toys: The Door in the Wall, a Belleville boutique operated by his wife, Joanne Antonucci.

Ted Curtis and Apple Toys

Ted Curtis made some toys for that store and then for a few other stores in Ontario. As he modestly phrases it, "There appeared to be a market for them.

"In a way I'm surprised they're so popular, but then I'm always in and out of a lot of different things. I don't have any leisure time problems."

The Curtis family, Ted, wife Anne and Jonathon, came to their rural home near Campbellford because of their search for a less urban way of life. Ted's position with the UIC is a part-time one, freeing him for his avocations: toy-making, farming 85 acres, home renovations, gardening and bee-keeping.

A far cry from his former office in Montreal, 19 stories above the Expo site.

"It's a rather hackneyed story these days," Ted says of the family's move to the country.

"It may be a common story but at the base of it is the feeling he has about country life mirrored in the trade mark he brands into each toy: an apple.

"Apples have a real folk feeling," Ted Curtis says. "They sound like the ultimate in wholesomeness. And I felt free to use the apple connotation in connection with these toys which are free of all the bad things parents worry about."

There are no metal or plastic parts on the toys which are dowelled together without nails or screws.

Using only a table saw, drill press and lathe he has produced more than 400 of the toys which, he admits, are almost more popular with adults than with children.

"Fine toys have a certain market among adults, but I know they'll get home to the kids.

"I made the toys for my son and while I got some enjoyment from making them they were made for him to play with. And he likes them." MORE

In fact, Jonathon, now three, is just beginning to understand that not all the toys Daddy makes are for him.

"Although he has at least one of everything, he didn't understand. He's had them all down on the floor and made a train a mile long," Ted says.

Besides the train pieces, Ted has created other basics: cranes, trucks, bulldozers, cars and even an antique model.

As his brochure about Apple Toys says, "all vehicles need fuel and it is available from Fillerup". Fillerup is a two-gas-pump island with make believe nozzles. There is also a toy truck and all vehicles have a gas tank opening and a place for the tow hook.

While he has enjoyed the creation of these first toys from the workshop, Ted says he plans to employ helpers in the production of more toys so that he can be free to design others.

A Noah's Ark, zoo and farm are in planning stages and, there will be more.

"I've got sketches that will keep me going until I'm 95," he says.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Sizer

Sizer — Turner

Christ Church was the setting for the late September marriage ceremony uniting Lynn Lorraine Turner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Turner, and Phillip Sizer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sizer of Erinsville.

Rev. H.D.B. Wright officiated at the service.

Given in marriage, the bride wore a gown of Chantilly lace with a high neckline and long tapered sleeves. The bodice, neckline and wrists were accented with a frill, and the full skirt fell in tiers from a natural waistline into a full train. A three-tier fingerlength lace-edged veil was held by a juliet cap accented with seed pearls. She carried a double cascade bouquet of orange and yellow roses, white carnations and fern.

The bride's sister Carolyn Turner was maid of honor in a gown of coral chiffon over taffeta trimmed with beige lace. She carried white mums, orange roses and yellow baby's breath.

Carol Miller, the groom's sister, Anna Petchi and Lorraine Zufelt were bridesmaids wearing gowns identical to the maid of honor's but in yellow. They carried white mums, yellow roses and orange baby's breath.

Angela Miller, the groom's niece, was flower girl in a gown similar to the maid of honor's, carrying a basket of orange and yellow roses and white mums.

The groom's brother-in-law, Rodney Miller, was his best man. Ushers were the groom's brother John Sizer, the bride's brother, Steven Turner and Richard Chalerson.

After a honeymoon at Niagara Falls, the newly-married couple have made their home at RR 3, Belleville.

Women Honored

TORONTO (CP) — Twenty-five women who have made outstanding contributions to their community, province and country will be honored by the Ontario government this month. The women who include Judy LaMarsh former federal cabinet minister and Flora MacDonald, Progressive Conservative member of Parliament will receive trillium pins made from Ontario silver and amethysts.

Annual Charity Bazaar

From "pairs" of hand-knit mittens with an extra for absent-minded children to intricate hand sewn quilts with hundreds of colorful patches, shoppers Tuesday were treated to a variety of goods for sale at the Quinte Mall.

Nearly 20 community groups gathered at the Mall Thursday morning for the beginning of the third annual charity b.

Church groups, guides and service groups including the Historical Society and area senior citizens brought hand-made items and foods for the sale which continues through Saturday.

The sale also featured drawings for many quilts and other large hand-made items.

Lalonde Promises Women Equal Job Opportunity

CALGARY (CP) — Women will have the same job opportunities as men within the next 10 years, even if the government must use legislation to keep this promise, Marc Lalonde said Wednesday.

The federal cabinet minister responsible for the status of women told a public meeting of the Local Council of Women that business now knows the government will not tolerate job discrimination.

Mr. Lalonde said concern that the anti-inflation guides discriminate against women is unfounded.

"Women employees who have suffered discrimination in pay practices are firmly exempted from these guidelines. We are absolutely committed to ensuring that this pay gap is narrowed," he said.

Mr. Lalonde said the public service will implement a more aggressive policy against job discrimination through an annual monitoring of federal job practices.

He said cabinet also will make every effort to search out talented women for federal appointments to boards, commissions and other positions.

And, he added, several departments "are undertaking a feasibility study on means to encourage companies entering into contracts with the government to take positive action to improve the position of their women employees."

Mr. Lalonde said a small secretariat in his office will be set to do "liaison work with individual women and women's groups across the country" and distribute "information to all Canadians on federal legislation, programs and services that have an immediate impact on women's status."

Women Professors Suffer Discrimination

OTTAWA (CP) — The difference in salaries paid male and female professors in Canadian universities is continuing to mount, a report presented Wednesday to delegates at the annual meeting of the Association of Universities and Colleges of Canada (AUCC) says.

The conference was told the pay discrepancy in 1974 favored male faculty members by $3,926, up from $3,786 in 1973. The average male university teacher now makes approximately $19,000 a year, the female teacher $15,000.

The report, prepared by Statistics Canada, said only 13 per cent of full-time teaching staff and six per cent of Canadian university administrators are women.

In addition a recent issue of the McGill Journal of Education said 77 per cent of university women staffers are concentrated in lower teaching positions.

The number of female professors has been increasing in faculties which have traditionally had a high proportion of female teachers such as fine arts, social sciences and health professions, the 200 delegates were told.

But the number of women has decreased in the math, science and agriculture faculties, the conference heard.

Delegates agreed the outlook for advancement by women in for advancement by women in higher education is dim because of the current position of women students.

In Quebec, for example women make up about 36 per cent of the undergraduate student population, 28 per cent of postgraduates seeking masters degrees and only 21 per cent of doctoral candidates.

Several delegates blamed the inferior position of women in higher education on fewer job possibilities available to women after they graduate and to a lack of counselling.

Sweets Fell Chunch

LONDON (CP) — Candy sales in Britain have been hit by big increases in the cost of labor and raw materials. Since the costs started to soar 18 year, sales of candy have dropped 11 per cent and employment in the industry has plunged says Albert Norton, president of the Cocoa, Chocolate and Confectionery Alliance's Union.

Ann Landers
Rules for Good House Guests

Dear Ann Landers: Can you give some general guidelines for being a good house-guest? So many people abuse the privilege.

A few words from you would mean a lot to thousands of harried hosts and hostesses. Thanks a lot, Ann.—Pooped In Peoria

Dear P.: Rule Number One: Don't assume you are welcome unless you've been invited—no matter how close you feel to the host and hostess—relatives included.

Two: If you are invited for a week, stay five days. If you are invited for two weeks, stay 10 days. In other words, shorten your visit so they'll wish you had stayed longer rather than rejoice at the sight of your leaving.

Three: Pitch in and help with the housework and cooking if your help is needed and wanted. If not stay out of the way. Don't take over. (Of course, you always leave the bathroom clean. This means tub or shower stall, wash basin, etc.)

Four: If you are eating at home mostly, buy some choice steaks and fancy fruit as a surprise. And treat the host and hostess to at least one meal in a restaurant.

Five: Spend some time elsewhere, even if it means going to a movie or taking a five-mile hike. Every host and hostess needs a few hours or an evening of "legedom" to relax by themselves.

Six: Either bring a gift when you arrive or send one when you get home. It needn't be lavish, but it should say "thank you for the hospitality."

Dear Ann Leaders: Well, here I am feeling great and very much alive.

I read a while back in your column about a guy who quit dope. He said he had flashbacks, feelings of being stoned unexpectedly even though he'd been off the junk for three months. Well, I laughed till I was sick and ached all over. The next day when I thought about it it scared the living daylights out of me. That's when I decided to quit dope for good.

I only wish for one thing now—that my brother would get off speed. I pray he will wise up and return to the world I found is still beautiful.

mtlydcqw vxvqvrqcr qlrvvqqxqq cxccxxqq qyrxqt

I could kick myself for wasting two of my 18 years to discover how lousy and phoney the drug scene really is. I will always be grateful to you for placing that column where I could read it. It's a great world and I'm glad I'm a part of it once again. Just sign me—Thank God I Read Ann Landers!

Dear Friend: A letter like yours makes my day. Thank you for letting me know.

Dear Ann Landers: What is your opinion of married couples working in the same office? We have two such couples and they are both trouble.

My immediate superior married a young woman who is supposed to be my assistant. She comes in late half the time, departs early, takes two hour lunches, and her work stinks. Since her husband is my boss, I find it difficult to say anything. At the same time, I realize I'm being unfair to the others in this department.

The second couple met here last year. They are a pair of relationship-nitwits with no sense of propriety or decorum. When they aren't kissing behind the water cooler they are holding hands by the file cabinet. Several employees have commented on their tasteless behavior but the kooks don't seem to have gotten the message.

Will you comment please?

Two Much In Priesty

Dear Priesty: I would not make a flat-out statement that married people should never be employed in the same office because in some instances it works out well.

Generally speaking, however, it's not a good idea—and for the reasons you mention, plus an other. Too much togetherness can put the dead hand on any relationship.

Time Out For Mom

How many shopping days to Christmas? Have you heard your first Christmas message yet? Just as soon as the kids stop trick or treating, the build up to the biggest family feast of them all begins. Before this, why not take a leisurely drive through the lovely Fall countryside to the Inn on the Bay, Glenora Road, Picton, 476-2151. Even on a dull day the warm and cosy atmosphere will lift your spirits . . . remember that children's portions are served, priced just above half price of adult portions. The Inn on the Bay, open seven days a week, reservations on Saturdays only. Part of the good life in Belleville!

The Expert Touch

A newcomer to the Quinte area told me recently that, driving through Belleville, with a friend and his wife, both the City Hall and Wrays were pointed out, in rapid succession as local landmarks. True enough, for anybody who appreciates fine furniture knows that sooner or later you will find your way to Wrays Home Furniture, 306 Front Street, where the best home furnishing products in Canada are stocked at reasonable cost . . . bedroom and living room suites that can be tailored to your taste . . . tables, lamps, mirrors, drapes, remember that the knowledgeable decor assistants are trained to assist you, whatever your requirements. It's a good place to know about!

All You Really Need

For durability and economy, the Datsun 710 is top of its class, and there's not a more reliable performer on the road. Vader's Car Sales, at 21 College Street W., now have new 1976 models in stock and would like you to stop off and see their bright and attractive display. Test drive the new models . . . the suspension on the 710 has been upgraded, giving a much better smoother ride. Another reason for driving the Datsun 710 Hardtop . . . Today's answer for the performance minded driver. Remember, at Vader's, all their mechanics are factory trained in both repairs and service, and they carry a full range of spare parts and accessories.

Sell Your Shovel

What do you associate with the following words? Snow, ice, shovel, scrape, slip, slide, stouck, what comes to mind is sore muscles, backaches, late for work, lost wages. Servicemaster, 179 Pinnacle St. (at rear), 967-1672 say that it need not happen. They have in stock a marvelous product called X-73 ice remover. Easy, fast effective way to melt snow and thaw ice. This fantastic product makes rock salt obsolete. As an example a 100 lb. drum of X-73 equals the melting power of 3,000 lbs. of rock salt at 0 F. degrees. X-73 even works at 50 F. degrees below zero and that's one claim that I am not anxious to prove. It's the perfect thing for our driveways, porches, in fact anywhere you care to use it. Carry some in the trunk of your car in case you get stuck. It's non-toxic, harmless to humans, animals and vegetation. Get in touch with ServiceMaster and get a free demonstration and instead of shovelling snow, make it disappear.

Children's Eyes

Thoughtful parents will recognize the following danger signs as nature's warning signals for possible eye trouble. Check these Danger Signals: Frequent blinking, rubbing of eyes; Attempts to brush away blurr; Over-sensitivity to light; Red-encrusted or swollen eyelids; Stumbling over small objects. Get in touch with Moira-Schuster Fuels and find out that winter is not so bad after all. Keep warm!

Lebanon's Moslems Now Have Upper Hand

BEIRUT (AP) — Increased support from the Palestinian guerrillas has given Lebanon's Moslems the upper hand in their war with the Christians, provoking such a deep split that politicians held the country's history power-sharing formula dead and divided country on Israel's northern border.

Guerrilla units now are leading Moslem militias with new offensive tactics and heavy weapons that include batteries of Soviet Katyusha rockets.

As a result, the Moslems have advanced into several districts of Beirut formerly controlled by the Christians of the right-wing Phalange and National Liberal parties.

Suhale Mohsen, leader of the Syrian-backed Saiqa guerrillas, said the Palestinians are defending themselves against attacks from Phalangist incursions. But Bassam Abu Sharif of the radical Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine said the much-larger guerrilla force is committed to a concert defeat for the Phalange.

"They lost couldn't take it," he said. "They suffered heavy losses when we changed the battle tactics of our nationalist forces. Instead of firing mortars from fixed positions we advanced into their areas and drove them."

Small radical Palestinian groups had been fighting on the side of the Lebanese Moslems since the beginning of the civil war last April. But this is the first time in seven months that the larger, more respected Palestinian groups, the Yasser Arafat's Al Fatah and Moslem's Saiqa are admitting that they are taking part.

Previously, they professed neutrality and tried unsuccessfully to enforce it by exposing themselves in joint patrols with Lebanese security forces. Some Saiqa and Fatah men still participate in the joint patrols, but largely in quiet areas where they are not really needed.

Except for Lebanon's 18,000-man army, which the Moslem politicians have kept out of the fighting because most of its officers are Christians, about 15,000 Palestinian guerrillas constitute the largest single military force in this country of three million people. They control refugee camps housing 250,000 Palestinian aliens, and many areas of Lebanese Moslems around the camps.

The camps have become armed and guerrilla training bases immune from government authority. That is the main complaint of Lebanon's powerful Christian minority, which supports several private armies of right-wing militia groups.

The Christians accuse the Palestinians of maintaining a "state within a state", and threatening to embroil Lebanon in war with Israel. They say their militias are fighting to recover the camps and curtail the guerrilla activity that attracts Israeli reprisals.

The guerrillas believe the Christians are trying to evict them from Lebanon, which has become their last base of unrestricted operations against Israel since their center from Jordan in 1970.

The Lebanese government, which has been paralyzed by the war, has been trying to arrange a truce between the Christians and the Moslems. Prime Minister Rashid Karami said Friday that the government has proposed a cease-fire and the deployment of Lebanese security forces. Some Saiqa and Fatah men still participate in the joint patrols, but largely in quiet areas where they are not really needed.

Choquette May Emerge As New Political Leader

QUEBEC (CP) — The Quebec political scene is ripe with speculation about the possible formation of a "third force" in the province to serve as an alternative to the governing Liberals and the Opposition Parti Quebecois.

Mr. rumors have been fuelled by speculation about the future of Jerome Choquette, Premier Robert Bourassa's former right-hand man who recently resigned as education minister in a dispute over application of Quebec's Official Language Act.

Mr. Choquette is being touted by some as a potential leader of a new political party.

Mr. Choquette, however, has refused to discuss his political future and has said he will make his plans public at a Montreal speech Nov. 11.

Meanwhile, supporters of the third force idea, including several Union Nationale and Creditiste members, have been meeting throughout the province to lay the groundwork for a new political party.

There is some optimism since a recent poll shows that about a third of 700 Quebecers questioned about their preference would support an alternative to the Liberals and Parti Quebecois.

The poll, which also shows the Parti Quebecois leading the Liberals in popular support, indicates that 27 per cent of voters would support a party led by Mr. Choquette.

It shows 46 per cent of English-speaking voters and 43 per cent of the French-speaking are unhappy with Premier Bourassa.

However, it has been Union Nationale supporters who have pushed the third-force concept hardest.

Wiped off the electoral map after the 1973 Liberal landslide, the Union Nationale and factions of the splintered provincial Creditiste party have been trying for more than a year to shape a coalition.

After Union Nationale interim leader Maurice Bellemare won a byelection seat in August, 1974, he and party organizers teamed up with one Creditiste faction and have recently been mending fences with other splinter groups.

Political observers say the Union Nationale would like to have Mr. Choquette as party leader, and party officials have held two meetings with him since his resignation from the Liberal party.

Fabien Roy, one of two Ralliement Creditiste members in the Quebec national assembly, has also been working for a third force.

At odds with party leader and assembly colleague Camil Samson, Mr. Roy has been telling reporters for more than a year that he would be willing to join such a party.

Asked if he too had met Mr. Choquette, he told a news conference he was "hoping to, soon."

Business Fears Espionage

TORONTO (CP) — James Finch, president of DCF Systems, Toronto, says the business community is in a frenzy trying to discover safeguards against espionage and theft using computers.

"Now it is uncomfortably clear that criminals have been creeping, unnoticed, into the shadows of computer technology," he told the Canadian Computer Show and Conference Thursday.

Mr. Finch said it is difficult to assess losses due to computer-related crime because it is estimated that only about 15 per cent of such crime is ever reported.

If the 15-per-cent estimate is correct, he said, "then more than 200 acts will be committed in 1975 totaling many millions of dollars."

The increasing demand for safeguards has lead to the creation of a new profession—computer sleuths, he said. These firms offer services from security checkups to rehabilitation of company's computer system.

Mr. Finch said suggestions related crime includes employing undercover agents in banks and financial institutions, espionage by gaining access to a company's computer and selling acquired information to competitors.

Informal Settlement Ends Trinidadian Discrimination Case

HAMILTON (CP) — An Ontario Human Rights Commission hearing into charges by Deo Maraj, a 33-year-old black Trinidadian, had been discriminated against ended in an out-of-court settlement Thursday.

Mr. Maraj said he and his family had been forced to leave their apartment by building landlord Brooks Kodrow because of discrimination against their race and color. The landlord had raised the monthly rent of $142 to $220 during a one-year lease in an effort to move them out, Mr. Maraj charged.

Following testimony of six witnesses, lawyers representing both parties stopped proceedings, huddled and reached a compromise.

Following the huddle, Mr. Kodrow said he had contravened the Human Rights Act.

The landlord then agreed to pay $300 compensation and damages to Mr. Maraj; post the Rights Commission Code cards in the apartment building; notify the Human Rights Commission about all vacancies as they occur in the building for the next year; commemorate in writing with the Caribbean Club of Hamilton and the Club Afrique advising them of fair rental policy in the building; send a letter of regret to Mr. Maraj; send a letter of assurance to the Human Rights Commission that they would comply with the Act in future tenings and offer the next available unit to Mr. Maraj.

Secretary Sat In MPP's Seat

TORONTO (CP) — The case of the mystery member was brought up in the Ontario Legislature Thursday by Liberal Sean Conway (L. Renfrew).

Mr. Conway rose to ask the speaker of the house who it was that was sitting in the seat which should be occupied by Evelyn Gigantes (NDP Carleton East) during the absence of Mr. Arthur Maloney to the office of ombudsman.

The speaker said he was not aware that the member herself was not there. She was not.

Her secretary Pat Hannigan, who looks remarkably like the member, sat in the seat during the ceremony.

Neither the member nor the secretary thought it was anything dead. Mrs. Gigantes is an admirer of Mr. Maloney and could not attend the ceremony.

So she simply asked her secretary to take her place which is done on the Ottawa city council, she explained outside the house.

Hydro Committee Established

TORONTO (CP) — An all-party committee was named in the legislature Thursday to examine the 25-per-cent increase requested for 1976 by Ontario Hydro.

The 13-member committee will be headed by Donald MacDonald (NDP—Toronto York South) and is to investigate whether the increase is justified in light of the federal selective wage and price controls.

Energy Minister Dennis Timbrell announced that the committee would be formed when Hydro announced its increase. The Ontario energy board had recommended earlier that Hydro should raise its 1976 rates by 27 per cent.

Mr. Timbrell said Thursday the committee must consider whether the increase is consistant with the utility's obligation to provide electric power at cost and report back to the legislature with its recommendations.

Stephen Lewis, NDP leader, has said his party is opposed to the increase and hopes to use the committee to support the NDP's stand.

Mr. Timb ell said the committee must consider the current economic conditions, the dependence of Ontario's future economic well-being upon adequate energy and the maintenance of Hydro's financial integrity in its deliberations.

The committee also will have the power to employ counsel and other staff as needed.

PC MPs Say Trudeau's Controls Are Inconsistent

OTTAWA (CP) — Progressive Conservative MPs said Thursday that the federal government is losing credibility by urging wage and price restraints while it continues spending at record rates.

Opposition Leader Robert Stanfield said the government has been spending public funds on "frills and peacockery" as economic conditions worsen.

But Treasury Board President Jean Chretien, replying in a special Commons debate to a Conservative motion on government spending, challenged the Conservatives to provide a detailed cost-cutting list in return for government expenditures.

Mr. Stanfield predicted the government will spent up to $24 billion in the current fiscal year, with a total deficit of $7 billion.

"They chose expediency over responsibility," he added.

"Everywhere in Canadian life looks be seen things like the lavish reception at Mirabel," Mr. Stanfield said, alluding to the recent opening of Mirabel airport near Montreal where the liquor bill totalled $20,000 and the food cost $40,000.

"It is exactly that kind of thinking which is ruining the government's credibility and makes it appear unworthy of trust," he said.

The Conservative leader said the government must show real restraint and make the public perceive that it has changed its style of living.

Mr. Chretien said the government so far this year cut $867 million approved by the cabinet from its expenditures.

There also will be no new furnitures or cars for the public service and no first-class travel for federal employees.

"I am disappointed that the leader of the Opposition did not stand on his feet and give us some very concrete suggestions about where cuts should be brought about," Mr. Chretien said.

"Perhaps we did spend little too much on the opening of Mirabel," he conceded. But Mr. Chretien said 58 per cent of the federal budget consists of programs such as family allowances, Canada Assistance Plan benefits, medical and hospital care and transfer payments.

"I would like those members to get up and say that these programs are the sort that are so damned good and we should cut them."

Ed Broadbent, New Democratic Party leader, said he agrees that some spending should be cut, but he added that more money should be put into preventive medical care and housing.

He said preventative medical care would eventually bring cost reductions because hospital spending would be cut and an infusion of federal money into housing would help slow inflation, provide jobs and increase the supply of dwelling places.

Eldon Woolliams (PC—Calgary West) said ministers such as Mr. Chretien and Transport Minister Otto Lang lack business experience that would be useful in running the government.

Earlier, Government House Leader Mitchell Sharp said he hopes the Commons can adjourn for Christmas Dec. 19 if enough progress is made on legislation before then.

MPs have also agreed not to sit Nov. 10 and 11. They are to make up the lost time by extending daily sessions or, other days.

RCMP Denies Shelving Investigation

OTTAWA (CP) — Government officials denied suggestions Thursday that an RCMP inquiry into Seafarers' International Union (SIU) activities has been shelved.

An aide to Solicitor-General Warren Allmand said the inquiry into allegations of SIU violence still is under way.

An aide to Labor Minister John Munro said that M. C. Carson, a labor department employee, still is available to the RCMP for consultation on labor matters in the SIU investigation.

Conservative MP Elmer MacKay (Central Nova) said outside the Commons he has been told the investigation has been halted and that Mr. Carson was removed from the inquiry under SIU pressure.

He had suggested in a Commons motion that Mr. Munro report on progress of the inquiry to "put an end to persistent reports that the investigation has been shelved and that Mr. Carson . . . has been removed . . .

The motion did not get the required unanimous approval.

The aide to Mr. Munro said that Mr. Carson never was an investigator and was only consulted on labor practices by the RCMP.

Macdonald Refuses to Live Like John Turner Did

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal government Thursday backed down on some hotly-disputed measures in its selected wage and price controls program to give a better break to low-income earners and those depending on investment income.

The key change outlined by Finance Minister Donald Macdonald to the Commons finance committee was one which will allow anyone to increase his hourly pay to $3.50 without being affected by the guides.

For example, an employee working 2,000 hours a year at $1.75 an hour can double his income by negotiating a raise to $3.50 hourly and not be subject to the basic 10-per-cent ceiling imposed on wage increases under the federal plan.

The change was made to counter attacks from the provinces, organized labor, opposition parties and some Liberal MPs that the original $3.50 maximum was unfair to low-income workers.

Mr. Macdonald also said the government is amending the program so dividend reductions will not be required. The guides originally said dividend payments during the first six months of the program could not exceed the rate paid in the last fiscal year.

Dividends now can continue to be paid at the quarterly rate that was in effect when the anti-inflation program was announced Oct. 13.

Another minor amendment will bring salaried professionals who work for a professional firm, such as junior lawyers, firmly under the guides.

Questioned after the meeting, Mr. Macdonald said the government has approved "five or six more" changes in the federal plan, but they are not as major.

The hearings opened on a stormy note Thursday.

David Orlikow (NDP—Winnipeg North) said the New Democrats will oppose the legislation until they see the regulations that accompany it. Until the anti-inflation bill is passed, and the guides are spelled out in regulations, the government has no power to impose penalties against violators.

Mr. Macdonald said the government tried, but failed, to get labor's support. He said the government feels it has to proceed anyway.

Meanwhile, Ontario Treasurer Darcy McKeough said on Thursday the province will put its civil service and institutions under federal control for two years as part of the anti-inflation effort.

Mr. Macdonald said several other provinces have pledged to do similarly, but he refused to name them.

Ottawa Considers Low Income Earners

OTTAWA (CP) — Finance Minister Donald Macdonald refused when he took over from John Turner in September to move into his predecessor's big, historic parliamentary office, complete with secret staircase.

Instead, he remained in the more-Spartan Centre Block office he occupied as energy minister. Mr. Turner's office was located in the West Block of the Parliament Buildings. He's still there, but as a private member; he will be moved eventually to smaller premises.

A source said Mr. Macdonald inspected Mr. Turner's office and found it too rich for his taste. It was once occupied by Sir John A. Macdonald, Canada's first prime minister.

Another former occupant—Prime Minister Trudeau when he was justice minister.

Tom Cossitt (PC—Leeds), who digs deep into his arsenal of rhetoric to needle Prime Minister Trudeau whenever he can, had tables turned on him this week.

Mr. Cossitt had put another series of written questions on the prime minister a favorite target. The replies came back with repeated references to a Beauchesne, the reference book used by Commons speakers for rulings on parliamentary procedure.

"A written or oral question," the citation advised, "must not be ironical, rhetorical, offensive, or contain epithet, innuendo, satire or ridicule, be trivial, meaningless or vague."

One Cossitt question asked whether the full extent of economic restraint practiced by Mr. Trudeau was to turn the pool thermostat down when his children turn it up.

LCBO Chairman Will Resign Over Restrictions

TORONTO (CP) — James Mackey, 52, chairman of the Liquor Licence Board of Ontario, said Thursday he will resign from the position next month.

Mr. Mackey, 62, said in an interview his replacement will be named by Premier Davis. He did not give a reason for the decision and said he has no plans for the future.

He was appointed as chairman of the board in August, 1970, following his resignation in April that year as chief of the Metropolitan Toronto police forces.

The Globe and Mail quotes a government official, who is not named, as saying Mr. Mackey may be resigning because legislation passed in the last sitting of the legislature will restrict the liquor board's powers.

Under the legislation, an appeal board would be set up to review those cases in which the three-member board refuses to grant a licence or suspends one already issued. The legislation also would require the board to show specific reasons why an applicant should be denied a licence.

Lucky Dip Robbery

NOTTINGHAM, England (CP) — A pair of hands emerged mysteriously from behind a wall poster and snatched $2,000 ($4,200) in wages at a hospital here. The thief had cut a hole in the wall from the room next door and papered it over with a poster. "You've got to hand it to him," said Nurse Gwen Taylor. "I thought it was a joke at first."

Ford Car Sales Now Up 19 Per Cent

DETROIT (AP — Ford Motor Co. reported Thursday its third-quarter earnings rose 19 per cent to $88 million from last year's weak levels, while sales rose modestly to 81 million.

The earnings gain came as a surprise to Wall Street analysts who had predicted a loss. No. 2 auto maker in the United States would show a drop in profits from last year.

Ford's earnings, equal to 60 cents a share, compared with year-ago profits of $87 million, or 51 cents a share. World-wide dollar sales were up two per cent from $8 billion a year ago, although unit sales of vehicles were down nine per cent.

Ford is the second-ranking company to report an improvement in earnings from last year, when the industry was reeling from the impact of the economic crunch.

General Motors Corp. reported Tuesday its third-quarter profits tripled to $1.5-per-share, or 14.5-per-cent gain, in sales overseas.

However, Chrysler Corp. reported a $79-million loss for the period, its fifth consecutive quarter of loss.

American Motors Corp. releases its quarterly financial report next month.

For the first nine months of the year, Ford earned $125.8 million, up 70 per cent from $73.8 million in 1974. It was the firm's strongest return for the first three quarters since the recession year of 1958.

Sales of $17.5 billion for the first nine months were at last year's levels.

Ford said it sold 1.16 million vehicles in the third quarter, compared with 1.29 million last year. Sales in the U.S. declined 20 per cent, but the drop was offset by a 16.5-per-cent gain in sales overseas.

Negative Attitudes Hinder Handicapped

MONTREAL (CP) — Many employable handicapped persons are unable to find work because of the ignorance or negative attitudes of companies, the Canadian Chamber of Commerce said in a recent report.

"Welfare rules are rewritten by handicapped persons who are far from being 'welfare bums' but yet have not been able to find any work," the report said. Estimates for reducing the welfare rolls paid for by our tax dollars, through employment of handicapped individuals, range do- as high as 40 per cent.

The report said 80 per cent of Canada's 45,000 paraplegics are unemployed, yet 51 per cent of them are employable and anxious to work.

Interviews with handicapped persons revealed that they were often unable to find unemployment because of "the attitudes of personnel officers, the physical barriers in many work places, problems of transportation and by a general lack of awareness of what they can do.

New Fabricon Plant Well Under Way

The Fabricon Manufacturing Ltd. plant — part of the city's largest recent industrial acquisitions — will be roofed in by Christmas, a spokesman for Cornerstone Construction said Thursday.

Brian Holmes said his company has been awarded the construction contract for the first phase of the plant which will cover 80,000 square feet.

Fabricon manufactures wire and cable products and currently operates a plant in Trenton.

Workmen today are lifting concrete slabs into place forming the basement and office sections of the building — a process expected to be completed soon, said Mr. Holmes.

Monday, more crews will be arriving at the site just to the north of Canadian National railyards on the city's eastern limits to begin erection of structural steel.

Mr. Holmes said his company is committed to have the building completely closed in from the weather by the end of the year.

In January, workers will begin pouring the building's concrete floors in preparation for the arrival of manufacturing equipment in February.

"We should have the equipment installed by March and the plant is expected to go into production by April," said Mr. Holmes.

In preparation for the plant and also in open up new areas in its vicinity, the city is working on opening a new road in Fabricon running south from University Ave. in the northeast industrial park. A rail spur has also been built into the site.

While work continues on the first phase, Mr. Holmes said his company has also been awarded the design contract in layout the second phase of the project — an additional 130,000 square feet of manufacturing space.

Area Police Forces on Alert For Halloween Pranksters

BY ROBIN CHASE
Staff Reporter

Ontario Provincial Police (OPP) detachments in Hastings County and Belleville and Tweed police departments will be out in full force this evening and early Saturday to crack down on any unlawful acts committed during Halloween.

The largest concentration of force will be in the jurisdiction of Belleville OPP where time off and holidays have been suspended and all available men were placed on duty Thursday night through Sunday night.

Cpl. William Reis said complaints about Halloween pranks have already been received throughout the past week and police anticipate the pranks will continue throughout the weekend.

Cpl. Reis said all available equipment will be out including 13 patrol cars, the prisoner van and portable radios.

"We're going to be very strict on property damage, wilful damage and trespassing," he pointed out.

Belleville Police Chief Douglas Crosbie said every member of his department, including himself and every available piece of equipment will be out in full force until the small hours of the morning (Saturday).

He said the prime time for Halloween vandalism in the city is between 8 p.m. and 4 a.m.

"There will be checks of all licensed premises for underage drinkers," Chief Crosbie added. As for trick-or-treating, he said the emphasis on child safety is from darkness until children are off the street.

"I urge all parents with very young children to go with them or a responsible brother or sister," he said. "Children should wear or carry something white and I ask motorists to take particular care."

Chief Crosbie noted there were no serious incidents last year regarding treats given to children but said, "children should be instructed not to eat any gifts they get until inspected by the parents."

However, if such incidents occur, "we'll certainly take all steps the law allows us to take and if convicted, we hope that the courts will deal with them (offenders) in a serious manner," he commented.

Expert Stresses Cards Valuable Teaching Aid

By CLIFF KENTON
Staff Reporter

Although some persons look upon playing cards as not dealing with the devil a Montreal psychologist says they're not only useful in teaching children to count and spell but can help in diagnosing learning problems.

"The first letters my kids knew were on face cards," Margaret Golick, senior psychologist at the learning centre of Montreal Children's Hospital, said in a seminar at Belleville General Hospital Thursday.

"There are many ways to help children learn number concepts with cards," she told a group of about 75 persons attending the seminar sponsored by the hospital and the Association for Children with Learning Disabilities.

"Kids who will not practise handwriting skills will learn to shuffle cards. They will develop hand developing this dexterity."

The only way some children will learn basic information other than by rote is comprehend, she said, is through concept representation.

Some children, she said, find it difficult to learn arbitrary names and symbols. Others don't understand the difference in value in numbers.

Through card games children with learning difficulties can be taught to physically respond to a visual trigger, generate comprehension of number values and learn categorization between suits and colors of the cards.

"When it becomes a treat and magical it's easy to remember."

She has written a book — Deal Me In — for use by teachers and parents. It describes children's card games and how playing them will help children with specific learning problems.

Card tricks are another way children can learn and have fun at the same time: "They keep working at it in a way they wouldn't normally with a homework assignment."

Card playing, she said, can be social "equalizer" between physically handicapped and non-handicapped children.

"Many of these kids who we feel will be duds on the athletic field due to lack of coordination can learn a skill to get along with other kids."

Mentioning cut back, one who is less able can beat one who is more able at cards.

Children, the girl, should use real cards and play real card games rather than using special children's cards with pictures on the faces.

"Kids are more intrigued with real things".

Transit Vehicle On Order

Belleville's transit commission will replace one of the older buses in its 16-bus city fleet with a new 45-passenger vehicle no sooner than July, 1976.

Commissioners Thursday accepted a General Motors so Canada tender for a single bus at a base price of $33,760 plus an escalator clause.

The commission rejected a Gm fixed price of $28,600, feeling that it would likely benefit under provincial government grant structures by accepting the first method of purchase.

The ministry of transportation and communications provides a 75 per cent subsidy on commission capital expenditures.

Deal Your Kids In

Margaret Golick, senior psychologist at the learning centre of Montreal's Hospital, said in Belleville Thursday playing cards can be useful teaching skills to children with learning disabilities. She's written a book — Deal Me In — for parents and teachers.

Squadron Wins Award

For the first time in its 14-year history, 605 Duke of Edinburgh Squadron (air cadets) in Belleville have won an all-Ontario plaque for proficiency in overall operations.

Lieut. Thornton Pratt, chief instructor, said the award was announced Oct. 18 by the Air Cadet League and the Canadian Armed Forces but was not formally presented to the cadets until Wednesday.

He said the cadets meet each Wednesday at the Belleville Armory for instruction and parade and just over one hour before starting time, they received word Air Commodore Ross Hull would attend to present plaque.

Officials Warn Hunters About Use of Private Land

Hunters next week stalking on private property should be sure to first obtain permission from landowners.

The suggestion comes from a natural resources ministry conservation officer at Napanee as deer hunting begins next Monday.

Hunting without permission "creates a lot of problems," he says.

He hunters "will find in most cases landowners are happy to let them use land — provided they ask", said Jack Street, co-ordinating conservation officer for the ministry's Napanee district.

Hunters are also being asked to co-operate with wildlife officials and report any violations they spot.

The hunt in the Napanee district — which runs from the Kingston area west to Northumberland County and north to the Bawdon district — is for one week. But there is no open season on deer in either Prince Edward or Northumberland counties.

Prince Edward County also is being excluded from the hunting being allowed in the district south of Highway 401 from Nov. 3-26. Hunting will be permitted to stalk game in the corridor running through Frontenac, Lennox and Addington and Hastings counties and the Northumberland townships of Seymour, Murray, Brighton, Cramahe, Percy, Haldimand, Hamilton, Hope and Alnwick.

Gun hunting lasts one week in the Tweed district — whose boundaries are the northern lines of Lake, Tudor and Grimsthorpe townships.

The Bancroft district which ranges north from there, hunting is for two weeks.

In Renfrew district the season also is only for one week.

Hunters once again this year are being asked to donate deer hides for Indian crafts.

The program was started several years ago by provincial and federal authorities as a means of supplying native craft groups.

Hides may be handed in at any district office of the natural resources ministry.

Dave Atkinson, ministry conservation officer at Tweed, says in exchange for hides hunters will be given tickets on a draw. The draw, expected sometime in February, offers Indian-crafted belts, mitts and mukluks.

St. John Ambulance Work Free

The black uniforms of the St. John Ambulance Brigade are a familiar sight at many public functions but the original reason behind the organization of the oldest welfare organization in the world was to help in times of battle.

President William James said St. John Ambulance was originally a sprout of monks who cared for injured knights during the religious crusades in 1099. The monks never accepted fees for their services, said Mr. James, and services rendered now are still free.

The international organization began in Canada in 1883 and an official branch was established in Belleville in 1958 after volunteers donated their skills and time during the war.

The association teaches classes regularly to local industries and organizations, operates a mobile unit donated from the proceeds of a walk-o-thon in Belleville in 1970 and a rescue unit which includes a snowmobile for winter emergencies.

Mr. James said St. John Ambulance operates on funds received by United Community Services through the United Way campaign, an approximate $5,000 annually, and small funds received from first aid classes and the sale of achievement badges.

But there's always a possible unreliability about a siren, in dead of night—especially when homes are insulated with winter screening—its call may be muffled.

Hence the pagers alotted each man. These both emit an electronic warning beep and relay voice instructions. They are activated by the answering system hooked into the fire phone when Chief Maracle is not on duty.

Loyalist Board Meets

The next regular monthly meeting of the Loyalist College Board of Governors will be held Nov. 6, 1975 will begin at 8.30 p.m. in the administration board room of the college's Kente Building.

Transmitter Hunt

The newly formed Happy Gang Club of Thomasburg held their first transmitter hunt last weekend at White's hall field. Most of the 15 members of the club are Citizen Band radio enthusiasts from throughout the county. Dan Nicholson of Canoffron won the prize for finding the hidden transmitter that operated each minute. The club was formed in September.

Music Teachers Gather

Plans have been finalized by the Belleville branch of the Ontario Registered Music Teachers' Association for Music Week, Nov. 23 to 30. Sister Aileen Donnelly of St. Gregory's Convent in Picton hosted the meeting. Celebrations include a radio interview and a public pupils' recital at St. Michael's School Nov. 29 at 7.30 p.m.

Alarm Box

Belleville firefighters responded to the following calls for assistance during a 24-hour period which ended at 8 a.m. today.

Thursday, Oct. 30, 7:35 p.m. — flames from exhaust fan set fire to roof canopy at Harvey's Drive-in at 253 North Front St., damage confined to canopy and fan.

Thursday, Oct. 30, 9:17 p.m. — westbound freight train dragging unknown object set fire to railway ties and caused other damage to Bracks at Canadian Pacific Railway bridge and Victoria Park.

Suspect Pleads Guilty To Misuse of Firearm

A 26-year-old Belleville man has been remanded to Nov. 20 for sentencing after he pleaded guilty in provincial court here Thursday to a charge of dangerous use of a firearm.

Lynn Douglas Stratton of 200 MacDonald Ave. was arrested following an incident at a city residence Oct. 5.

Police said they were summoned to the house on an initial disturbance report. Officers learned on arrival that a man sitting in his living room had discharged a .22-calibre rifle into his kitchen.

The incident involved a domestic dispute, police said and no one was injured.

Superintendent Changed

Rex Bridge, quoted in Thursday's edition of The Intelligencer in connection with the sale of the Palmer Rd. highrise is the former building superintendent.

Inquiries are to be directed to the new superintendent of the building, Fred Delisard — working on behalf of the building manager, Mc Kinney Realty Ltd.

Halloween Treating

Reserve Now Has Own Volunteer Fire Department

TYENDINAGA — This Mohawk reserve will soon have its own volunteer fire department ready for action.

To date, the Mohawks have had to rely on neighboring municipalities for protections for more than 1,000 residents and reserve buildings.

But, says Fire Chief Garnet Maracle, he expects the 14-man volunteer force that has been mustered in recent months to be ready to take fire calls possible by early next week.

By that time a personnel alert system should be in operation.

Electronic pagers, alerted through a telephone answering service in Belleville, will be distributed to the volunteers.

Chief Maracle, who was appointed to his post by the reserve council last May, will then have a force within easy reach of any alarm on the reserve.

Such service until now has been provided by volunteer fire departments at Deseronto and Point Anne in Thurlow Township.

Availability of such a service will mean not the earlier arrival at the scene of an alarm.

Fire insurance rates are always higher in rural areas points out reserve administrator Elton Brant. The proximity of a fire service reduces such tariffs.

Chief Maracle has been taking fire-training courses at Loyalist College. Each week the Mohawk firefighters have taking fire-training courses at volunteered guidance of Deseronto firemen based on the Belleville fire department training manual.

For equipment the new department has a 750-gallon pumper and a 2,500 pumper. It also has anti-smoke packs and the chief hopes to obtain an inhalator.

For general alert there's a siren which will be operational as soon as a monitor hookup with the telephone service is available.

Ready On The Reserve

Tyendinaga Mohawk Reserve now has its own volunteer fire department. Fire Chief Garnet Maracle, here with one of the squad's two firefighting vehicles, expects alarm communications to be ready so 14-man force can meet emergencies by early next week.

Reed Ready to Retire

REGINA (CP) — George Reed, for 15 years the star halfback of Saskatchewan Roughriders, announced this mind-boggling Thursday with a declaration that he does not want to return to the team next season.

Reed, a slim 35-year-old who holds every pro football career rushing record, was reluctant to go into details of the reasons for his decision which first became known to those attending a curling club luncheon.

The story broke on radio station CKRM, which carried an interview with Reed. He said in the interview: "If I decide to play football in 1976 I will ask the Roughriders to trade me to another football club."

Asked whether there is a chance he might agree to return to the Riders next season, Reed replied: "I imagine there's a chance—like one's a chance for almost anything."

Frazier, Haywood Lead Knicks

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Walt Frazier and Spencer Haywood teamed for 38 points Thursday night to lead New York Knicks to a 117-113 win over Kansas City Kings in the National Basketball Association game.

Frazier scored 32 points and Haywood overcame foul trouble to add 26 as the Knicks won for the second time in five outings. Nate Archibald scored 35 points for Kansas City.

Bill Bradley's jump shot with just over one minute to go gave the Knicks a 113-109 lead but Kansas City centre Sam Lacey countered with a short jumper with one minute left.

John Gianelli was fouled 12 seconds later and sank two free throws for the Knicks and Bradley added another one 25 seconds later to clinch the win for New York.

In Thursday's only other NBA game, Bobby Smith scored 22 points as Detroit Pistons defeated Jerry Sloan and John Brewer 16 to lead Cleveland Cavaliers to a 100-91 win over Chicago Bulls.

In the American Basketball Association, San Antonio Spurs edged San Diego Sails 102-100.

Selkirk Bids For Winter Games

SELKIRK, Man. (CP) — A bid to hold the 1979 Canada Winter Games in Selkirk and nearby areas of Manitoba's interlake region was presented today to the provincial government.

Selkirk Mayor Lloyd Wersch said the plans call for a capital budget of about $6 million and an operating budget of $1.75 million, with a portion of the costs to be borne by the federal and provincial governments.

The bid is based on a regional concept, similar to that used for the 1973 Canada Games. Included are plans for a new sports centre in Selkirk, a 400-metre speedskating oval in Gimli and a ski jump at Bird's Hill Provincial Park as well as improvements to facilities in interlake communities.

Mayor Wersch said holding the games in a region rather than at a single site allows the benefit of better sports facilities to be enjoyed by a number of communities.

He added that travelling times between two proposed sites would be minimal.

Manitoba has been asked to host the 1979 Winter Games, and a final decision is slated for later this winter. Brandon and the northern Manitoba city of Thompson have announced plans to bid for the games.

Miksza Dead

WELLAND, Ont. (CP) — Chet Miksza, an offensive lineman with Hamilton Tiger-Cats — in the 1950s and 60s was "could play as well as any import." Died in hospital Wednesday night after suffering a heart attack. He was 44.

He played 16 years in the Canadian Football League between 1952 and 1968—15 of those years with the Ticats — before retiring to a hotel business here.

"He was a very accomplished centre and tackle," said CFL commissioner Jake Gaudaur, a teammate of Miksza's in the early 1950s who later became the Tiger-Cats' general manager and president.

"He was a Canadian first-string player who could play as well as any import," Gaudaur added. "He was a placekicker, too, handling the kickoffs and longer field goals."

Cholita II Wins Feature

TORONTO (CP) — Cholita II ridden by apprentice jockey Brydon Argent, took the $6 600 feature event Thursday by one-half length over Jungle Twice at Greenwood Race Track.

It was the second win in seven starts for the lightly raced filly, bred in England. Cholita II was brought to Canada this year by the Gardiner Farm.

In covering the seven-furlong race in 1:27 2-5, Cholita II returned $8.60, $3.20 and $2.60. Twice A Week paid $18.80 and $7.80 while Sunny Sunshine paid $4.20.

The daily double of Are The Moon, winner of the first race, and Flying Pennini, winner of the second, paid $28.40.

Rodgers in Running

MONTREAL (CP) — Johnny Rodgers, wide receiver in the back of Montreal Alouettes, and Willie Burden, star runner of Calgary Stampeders, are the respective Eastern and Western Football Conference finalists for the status of most outstanding player in the Canadian Football League.

Results of second-round balloting for the Canadian Schenley Awards were announced Thursday.

Finalists as Canadian player of the year are runner-receiver Jim Foley of Ottawa Rough Riders in the EFC and Tom Forzani, wide receiver with Calgary.

Rookie of the year finalists are Ottawa quarterback Tom Clements and linebacker Larry Crennel of British Columbia Lions.

Dave Braggins of Montreal and Charlie Turner of Edmonton Eskimos advanced to final balloting in the offensive lineman category, and finalists for defensive player of the year are ends Jim Corrigall of the EFC Toronto Argonauts and Bill Baker of the Lions.

Voting was done by 96 sportswriters and broadcasters in each conference, in the nine CFL cities. The finalists will be in Calgary during Grey Cup Week and the winners in each category will be announced Nov. 30, three days before the Grey Cup game.

NFL to Rehash Game Blackouts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pete Rozelle, National Football League commissioner, told Congress Thursday the NFL would reconsider its television policy and possibly go to a games-of-the-week format if season ticket sales continue to decline in the future as they have during the last two years of the anti-blackout law.

Rozelle told the House of Representatives communications subcommittee that the NFL lost $8 million in revenues, primarily from decreased season ticket sales, during the 1974 and 1975 seasons.

However, committee chairman Torbert Macdonald (Dem.-Mass.) said: "All I know is that the losses on ticket sales show nowhere else except in his statement. They don't show in the figures the league gave to the Federal Communications Commission nor did they show in the report by our investigatory staff."

Rozelle made his comments in testimony before the committee, which is considering legislation introduced by Macdonald to prohibit permanently any league-imposed blackouts of games sold out in advance. Prior to the law, the NFL refused to permit the showing of any home games in a team's home city.

JOHNNY RODGERS

Dunk Leads

SYDNEY (Reuter) — Despite a double bogey, Australian Billy Dunk held a two-stroke lead Australian Open golf tournament today.

Dunk followed Thursday's 65 with a two-under-par 70 for a 135 total, two more than Jack Nicklaus and John Torpet, both of the United States.

Nicklaus also had a second 70, while Torpet moved to contention with a 69.

At 138 was defending champion Gary Player who made a late charge with a five-under-par 67, the best round of the day.

McKenzie Leads SOJHL Pack

Scott McKenzie of third-place Chatham Maroons is the leading point getter in Southern Ontario Junior Hockey League scoring race.

The latest statistics show McKenzie with 21 points, one more than Carl Reinhart of Guelph Platers.

McKenzie has scored eight goals and added 13 assists while Reinhart has six goals and 14 assists.

Third place is shared among Mike Yourack of Guelph, Mark Toppazzini of Welland Sabres, Mark Melody of Niagara Falls Flyers, Tom White of Owen Sound Greys and Syl Tunney of Guelph, all with 19 points.

Mike Blake of first-place Guelph has the best goals-against average. He has allowed 19 goals in 10 games for a 2.90-average.

The Leaders:

	G	A	P
McKenzie, Chatham	8	13	21
Reinhart, Guelph	6	14	20

Royals Share First

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Cornwall Royals moved into a first-place West Division tie with Sherbrooke Beavers, rebounding for a 7-1 victory over Quebec Remparts in a Quebec Major Junior Hockey League game Thursday night.

In other action, Hull Festivals edged Sorel Black Hawks 5-4.

The Royals have 21 points on a 10-3-1 won-lost-tied record. Sherbrooke is 10-3-1.

Denis Turcotte gave the Remparts a 1-0 lead early in the first period at Cornwall, but Ed Clarey with the first of his two goals, tied the score at 19:51. Pierre Brassard fired the winner at 5:35 of the second period. With an assist on Clarey's first goal, Brassard took over the points leadership with 20 on 19 goals and 11 assists, one point ahead of Normand Dupont of Montreal Juniors.

Clarey and Bill Smith scored Cornwall goals later in the second period before Gord Bolling, Bill Wells and Jeff Allan wrapped it up in the third.

Nelson Burton's two goals, including the winner at 4:31 of the third period, lifted the Festivals past the Hawks at Hull.

Denis Pomerleau, Glen Sharpley and Rio Garcia also scored for the winners, while Gary Platt with two goals and Lucien Deblois and Alain Chapdelaine singles replied for Sorel.

Meanwhile, the league announced that a proposed home-and-home exhibition series between all-star teams of the QMJHL and the Ontario Hockey Association Major Junior A series has been abandoned because of scheduling difficulties. The series will be studied again next season.

WINS TOURNAMENT

SOUTHERN PINES, N.C. (AP) — Bill Collins beat Charlie Sifford on the second hole of a sudden-death playoff to win the Ind international golf tournament Thursday. Collins, from Purchase, N.Y., and Sifford, from Cleveland, finished the 72-hole event tied at 285, after respective rounds of 75-70 and 72-73 in the 36-hole finish. Collins knocked in a 18-foot birdie three on the 18th. Mid Pines Country Club's 426-yard 18th hole is coach Sifford's and ended the match into extra holes.

CIAU to Decide Second Chance For Windsor?

OTTAWA (CP) — A two-year suspension of University of Windsor from national sports will be reconsidered by the Canadian Interuniversity Athletic Union in mid-November, the CIAU executive-director, Bob Pugh said Thursday.

The decision followed a request from John Dewar, president of the Ontario Universities Athletic Association (OUAA), for an eligible quarterback, coach Dave Pickett.

Dewar agreed to have his request orra at ES R. D RD LU guest considered by nine CIAU directors at a meeting in December at Ottawa. Dewar said earlier Thursday that while some OUAA schools were talking of quitting the CIAU because of the length of the suspension, he hoped "some conciliation can be worked out."

Dalton White, director of athletics at the University of Toronto, said: "Unless they do something about this, I could see us pulling out of the CIAU."

The CIAU decided to bar Windsor from CIAU-sanctioned competitions because it ignored a warning that Pickett was ineligible.

Under CIAU rules, a student is allowed a total of five years of intercollegiate competition. The OUAA allows five years in each sport. Pickett had played three years of football and two years of basketball at the University of Saskatchewan, making him ineligible to the CIAU but still acceptable under OUAA standards.

The OUAA agreed Monday to start adopting by CIAU regulations now but asked in return that Windsor's suspension be lifted.

Beau Winter Winner

DUNDAS, Ont. (CP) — Beau Winter was the featured sixth race at Flamboro Downs Raceway on Thursday and returned $2.80, $2.10 and $1.60.

In the first race, the exactor of Little Glenwood and Irish Taffy was worth $243.

The trifector of Destinys Abandon, Good Good and Forward Bay in the 10th paid $227.70.

Sports Writer

Expect Company Next Time You Sit Down to The Game

Being a sportswriter, a profession normally exclusive to the male Homo Sapiens, and a one-time chauvinist, I was distinctly deestructoden to find Dapper Dick Beddoes replaced by a female in the assists of the Globe and Mail. However, after giving Christie Blatchford a fair trial, I judged her an adequate replacement. She is but adequate not because of sex, but because of the shoes she must fill.

Much to my dismay, I came across another female this week who bustled, among other anatomical areas, my ears as I listened to her discuss, in depth, various levels of the masculine sport of puck chasing.

This diminutive blonde was more than your average bonnibell and between her and my new colleague at the Globe, I have come to the abrupt realization that rough, shod, rowdy, hearty sports are no longer a monopoly in man's crumbling world.

My discussion with the newfound lidies of Hockey included competition at all degrees — from the National League and World Association through farm systems to the Canada-Russia series — expansion, individual stars, the good guys and the bad guys and the very inconspicuous guys; those who to a regular fan would go unnoticed.

In short, her knowledge of the game would put the archives of most male followers to shame.

Now that I've regained certain composure (two such shocks in such a short time tends to bend the soul) it is obvious that women and their participation in and enjoyment of sports is coming of age. The feminist movement has reached the point where even the complexity of hockey has encouraged a shirt for equality or liberation.

With hockey conquered the only route of retreat is to envelope man's masculinity in the Sabbath's gridiron spectaculars.

It won't shock me though when, on some wintery Sunday afternoon, I hear the uninvited pop of a beer can and glance over to see a shapely figure asking, "How many yards has O.J. got?"

But until that time I'll take refuge in the recluse of those football games and lose myself in the fantasy that the sport is still too wastefully tough and complicated for our beer bellies to cope.

P.S.: For the benefit of the lady of enlightenment, Hounds are don't play in Toronto again until February 27.

Three Bobcats Out of Action

The Belleville Bobcats will attempt to retain their unbeaten record of the 1975-76 season when they meet Markham Royals tonight at the Memorial Arena in a 9 p.m. encounter.

One factor that may prove fatal to the Cats streak is their long layoff. In nearly two weeks they have played only one game, last Friday's 6-6 tie in Oshawa.

It was the Royals who gave the Cats their first test when Belleville edged them 5-4 in their second home game of the year. The only difference between the two clubs scoring wise, was a single goal in the third period by the Cats.

During the Markham game Belleville lost the services of Paul Tilley and Rick Lanzatta, both received automatic suspensions for overzealous tactics.

Tilley and Lanzatta will both be sidled for tonight's contest, but Paul Johnston, Dave Lewis and John Murphy are all expected to be out.

Lewis suffered a minor concussion in last week's game in Oshawa and will be missing for an indefinite period. The hustling left defenceman has been one of the mainstays on the Bobcat blueline.

Murphy appears to be gone for the year. His unhealthy condition, says Bobcat management, has been diagnosed as mononucleosis.

Johnston, one of Belleville's imports from Peterborough, is also out for an indefinite period.

Should the Cats win or tie tonight it will be their eighth consecutive regular season start without a loss and including exhibition action their 14th in a row.

The local Metro Junior B squad doesn't play again this weekend, but will spend next week on ice.

Tuesday they are in Whitby, Thursday they are in Kingston and Friday they are at home against Oshawa.

Loyalist Lancer Randy Starke takes to the air on his way to the hoop in Thursday's college basketball game. Starke scored nine points in helping the Lancers to a convincing 94-68 victory over visiting Cornwall.

Lancers Destroy St. Lawrence In Regular Season Opener

Loyalist College Lancers opened their 1975-76 regular season with a shopping 94-68 victory over visiting St. Lawrence College Cornwall Wednesday night.

Rob Stinson did prior to the season opener he felt he has his strongest squad ever. "We haven't got the handful of talented players we've had in past seasons," said the Loyalist coach, "but we've got more balance and bench strength then we've ever had."

The Lancers balance shone through as 10 of their 11 players shared in the onslaught. The 94 points Loyalist totalled was the most they have ever scored in a single game in Ontario Colleges Athletic Association game.

Dave Culmer was the big gun for the home squad. The three year veteran cleared the board at both ends of the court and dropped 23 points in Lancer victory. He and Ken Fairbank led Loyalist scorers in first half as the Lancers took a 43-30 lead. Fairbank was the local squad's number one scorer in the game with 18 points.

Rookie Wilf LeMoine added 16 points in the win. Other scorers were Jim Belfall with 10, Randy Starke and Mike Lynch with nine apiece, Clint McWhirter with six, Chris Kennedy four, and Barry McKeown and Dave Williams with two each.

Ken Smith was the only Cornwall shooter to hit double figures. He had 16 points.

The Lancers have a week off, but play Kingston at home on Thursday and travel to Peterborough next Friday.

Hunter Heads Reid's Attack

Moe Hunter scored four times and assisted on one other goal as he led Reid's Dairy to a decisive 8-4 victory over Devolin Motors in Thursday night's Quinte Hockey League action.

In the other QHL game, Belleville Hotel romped to a 9-2 win over O'Brien-Steele.

The win was Reid's fourth in as many games this season and gave them undisputed possession of first place, four points up on Devolin.

Ralph Place scored twice, Charlie Nesterovski once and Al Ray added a goal and four assists in the win.

Frank Pinder collected two goals for Devolin and Terry Pope and Dave Hallam added singles.

Ted Wake earned six points in Belvedere's win. He scored twice and assisted four times. James Morris and Mike Vandalstine also posted a pair and Ron Peters, Reid Mallory and Bob Bangay got one each.

Gary Goodfellow and Kevin Allen replied for O'Brien-Steele.

Oshawa Cleans Belleville Clocks

OSHAWA (Special) — Belleville teams spent a rough night in Oshawa Thursday as two home town clubs clobbered the visiting Ontario Minor Hockey Association teams.

The Lions Major Midgets, in their second qualification series for the Wrigley Tournament next spring, suffered a 7-3 setback.

Belleville opened the scoring in the first period as Bob Crawford connected from Randy Smith and Paul Bassett. That, however, was the one and only lead the Lions had. Oshawa reared back with three goals in the first and four more over the remainder of the game.

Crawford scored his second of the night to open the second period, but it was hardly enough. John Jianopoulos drew the assist.

Belleville Minor Bantams were even farther back in their effort to take home a win. They dropped their contest 9-1. Terry Parks fired an unassisted goal near the end of the first period to account for the only Belleville marker.

Squash Team Successful

Belleville Ladies recorded their second consecutive victory in Ontario Squash action Thursday when they defeated a squad from Queen's University. The first win came against Kingston's Royal Military College team two weeks ago. Both matches were 3-0 victories.

In the most recent hookup, Sue Davies, Gwen Holmes and Judy Rappel gave Belleville the win. Davies defeated Pat Ensland 9-6, 9-0 and 10-8. Holmes won the hard way taking the match after losing the first games. She edged Pam McCurdy 4-9, 5-9, 10-8, 9-3 and 9-7. Rappel scored the decisive conclusive dual win taking Pat Hunter in short order: 9-5, 9-3 and 9-0.

Daley Records Third Shutout In Four Games

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Joe Daley is on a shutout binge, but he won't take any breeds.

The Winnipeg goalie recorded his third shutout in four games Thursday night as the Jets blanked Cincinnati Stingers 4-0 in a World Hockey Association tussle.

"All the defencemen are playing super," Daley said. "Every one on the team is playing as a unit and they're all a big part of this club. Last year we lacked that togetherness at times."

The win increased Winnipeg's lead over second-place Quebec Nordiques to four points in the Canadian Division standings. The Jets have won seven of nine starts and outscored the opposition 43-14.

In Thursday's other games, Calgary Cowboys downed Indianapolis Racers 7-4, Phoenix Roadrunners edged Denver Spurs 3-2 and Houston Aeros stopped San Diego Mariners 4-2.

Winnipeg Jets Defeated Kreemo said the Cincinnati goaltender Norm Lapolinte played very well, especially in the first period.

"But it was just a matter of keeping hammering away," he said. "Without great goaltending at their end of the rink, the game could have been out of hand earlier.

"Defensively, our guys are playing for Joe. When you're up 3-0, they're just trying to protect the shutout.

"There was no renewal of the violence in the last Winnipeg-Cincinnati game that led to a one-game strike by Whalers's Bobby Hull.

Hull sat out one game to protest what he calls violence in hockey, saying that an eye injury in a fight with three Stingers was the last straw.

Hull, Peter Sullivan, Anders Hedberg and Norm Beaudin were the Winnipeg scorers. Daley stopped 27 shots.

Danny Lawson scored three goals and Don McLeod made six saves as the Cowboys won their second road game in as many nights.

Calgary, which at one point led 6-2, nearly had its lead wiped out when the Racers rallied back from four successive goals. Randy Wyrozub scored three times for Indianapolis.

Michel Cormier and Cam Connor scored goals nine seconds apart in the first period to give the Roadrunners an early lead. A Denver crowd of only 3,216 saw the Spurs suffer their third home defeat in a row.

Robbie Ftorek scored the other goal for the Roadrunners, who were helped by a 23-save performance by Gary Kurt. Peter Mara and Rick Morris were the Denver scorers.

Houston goalie Ron Grahame stopped 35 shots and John Schella had a goal and an assist against San Diego. Grahame will start for a San Diego Sharpshooter in the third period, stopping 17 shots.

John Tonelli, Ted Taylor and Terry Rusnica were the other Aeros scorers. Norm Ferguson and Joe Noris scored for San Diego.

Tonight's schedule has New England Whalers at Edmonton Oilers and Quebec at Cleveland Crusaders.

Canadians Tie Wolves 4-4

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Sudbury Wolves realned their four-point lead in the Leyden Division of the Ontario Hockey Association Major Junior A standings, tying second-place Kingston Canadians 4-4 Thursday.

In other games, Ottawa '67s dumped Windsor Spitfires 8-1 and Oshawa Generals edged Peterborough Petes 2-1.

Play resumes tonight with Peterborough visiting Kitchener Rangers, Oshawa meeting Toronto Marlboros in Markham, Ottawa travelling to meet London Knights, Kingston against Sault Ste. Marie Greyhounds and St. Catharines Black Hawks in Hamilton.

Sudbury's Ron Dupuay scored his second goal of the game with less than a minute remaining in the third period to earn the tie for the Wolves before a home crowd of 3,472.

Rod Schutt and Gare Patrick got the other goals for Sudbury which has a 10-5-1 record.

Kingston got its goals from Greg Hotham, Larry Murphy, Ken Linseman and Tony McKegney.

Sudbury led 1-0 after the first period and Kingston took a 3-2 lead into the final 20 minutes.

'Its a Spitfires 1

A three-goal performance by Peter Lee and two goals by Larry Skinner sparked Ottawa to move into third spot in the Leyden Division.

Lee scored twice in the first period as the '67s took a 5-1 lead and added another in the second period.

Norm Kajola, Tim Higgins and Mike Hodgins got the others for the '67s, playing in Windsor.

Scott Miller replied for Windsor.

Generals 2 Petes 1

A crowd of 2,981 watched Brian Drumm score the winner early in the third period to lift the visiting Generals to the win.

Mike Kitchen scored late in the first period for the Petes and Paul Gardner tied the game for Oshawa with less than 5 minute remaining in the second period.

Oshawa outshot the Petes 37-32 before 2,981 spectators.

Johnny Bucyk Fires Number 500 In Boston's Win Over St. Louis

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Johnny Bucyk joined one of hockey's most exclusive clubs Thursday night.

The 40-year-old Edmonton native became the seventh player to score 500 National Hockey League goals. He joined Gordie Howe, Bobby Hull, Maurice (Rocket) Richard, Frank Mahovlich, Phil Esposito and Jean Beliveau.

Bucyk scored his goal for Boston against St. Louis Blues in the first period of a game the Bruins eventually won 5-2. His team-mates leaped over the boards to congratulate him.

"I'm glad it's over," Bucyk said. "I've really been pushing it. I wanted it so badly.

"I'm glad it turned out to be a big goal, one that helped us."

In Thursday's other NHL games, Philadelphia Flyers Lost Toronto Maple Leafs 4-2, Washington Capitals stopped Kansas City Scouts 6-3, Vancouver Canucks tied Buffalo Sabres 4-4 and Los Angeles Kings blanked Pittsburgh Penguins 4-0.

Acquired by Boston in 1957 after two seasons with the Detroit Red Wings, Bucyk scored his fifth goal of the year and the 500th of his career on a 25-foot shot at 12:32 of the first period.

One of the St. Louis scorers was centre Derek Sanderson, acquired earlier in the day New York Rangers.

While the debate over the Ontario government's crackdown in hockey violence continued in Toronto, the Leafs and Flyers had a row in Philadelphia.

The Flyers had a comfortable lead in the third period when both benches emptied and at least three different fights broke out. Toronto's Jim Turnbull and Philadelphia's Jack McIlhargey drew game misconducts.

There had been two other fights earlier in the game.

Toronto coach Red Kelly was as distressed by the Flyers' style of play as by the outcome of the game.

"We did all right in the game but where we didn't do all right was in slashing at the sticks, at the knees, at the ankles.

Philadelphia captain Bobby Clarke rejected Kelly's criticism.

"He's (Kelly's) a loser," said the Philadelphia captain. "He didn't see us crying."

After a 1-1 first period, the Flyers took charge of the game with second-period goals by Mel Bridgman, who added another goal in the third period Bill Barber and Bob Kelly.

Toronto goalie Wayne Thomas, whose 43 saves highlighted a 3-2 win over Buffalo on Wednesday night, had 41 saves at Philadelphia. Flyer goalie Wayne Stephenson faced only 21 shots.

Tommy Williams scored two goals and goalie Bernie Wolfe made his NHL debut with Washington, blocking 30 shots as the Capitals won their second road game of the season, doubling last year's total.

The Scouts and Capitals attracted only 5,127 Kansas City fans.

Goalie Roger Vachon turned back second consecutive shutout and the 20th of his career to help the Kings down a two-point lead over second-place Montreal Canadiens in Norris Division.

Marcel Dionne and Mike Murphy led the Kings' attack with one goal and two assists apiece as the Kings won their fifth game in a row and eighth in their last 10 games.

Vachon, who blanked Pittsburgh three times last season, lowered his goals-against average to .86 after a shaky start this year.

PROGESS WATCHED

EDMONTON (CP) — Policemen in Alberta will not receive special instructions on laying charges resulting from violence during hockey games, Attorney-General Jim Foster said Thursday. Mr. Foster said he won't take any actions in the area until he sees how Ontario's crackdown on violence in hockey works.

GAME POSTPONED

BROCKVILLE (CP) — The Central Junior Hockey League game scheduled here tonight between Brockville Warriors and Gloucester Rangers has been postponed until 7:15 EST Saturday. Club officials announced the postponement Thursday, saying they felt the was too much competition in the area Halloween night.

BECOMES FAVORITE

BRATISLAVA, Czechoslovakia (Reuter) — Czechoslovakia emerged Thursday as the favorite to top the European soccer championship Group 1 qualifying round after a 3-1 victory over England. The decision ended England's undefeated string of nine matches under manager Don Revie and left the Czechs with the best chance of qualifying for the quarter-finals.

Whitby Undefeated In Three Home Games

WHITBY, Ont. (CP) — Whitby Warriors stretched their home-ice undefeated streak to three games with a 6-3 win over Orillia Terriers in the only Ontario Hockeyey Association Senior A game Thursday.

The win moves Whitby into a tie for second place with Barrie Flyers, who have two games in hand.

Whitby took period leads of 4-2 and 4-3 and outshot the Terriers 27-21 before 325 fans.

Gord McCosh scored two goals for the Warriors. Single goals went to Howie Menzies, Paul Raymer, Pete Vipond and Doug Keeler.

John Winder, Jim McPherson and Colin Gordon replied for Orillia.

Whitby played without Cagliin Ken Desjardine who starts a three-game trial with Calgary Cowboys of the World Hockey Association today.

Play resumes tonight with Cambridge Hornets visiting Barrie and Lindsay Lancers travelling to Orillia.

SEIES SCHEDULED

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — The 1976 World Series of Golf will be held Sept. 2-5 at the Firestone Country Club's south course, the Professional Golfers Association announced Thursday. The scheduling forced officials to move dates of the American Golf Classic, also held at Firestone, back to Aug. 25-28. That competition will be played on the club's north course. A PGA spokesman said the series will be changed to a 72-hole event from its present 36-hole playoff format.

NO HARD SELL!

We don't like thine pushy, high-pressure salesmen any more than you do. That's why there are NO SALESMEN at Angelo's TV. Just me and my assistant - ready to answer your questions. (AFTER ALL, WE SERVICE televisions for a living.) We know that buying a color television is an important decision - and a big investment! And we're sure you want honest guidance and fair value - NOT A HARD SELL - when it comes time to buy. Give us a call, or better yet, drop in for a chat. We're at the Belleville Place.

Leading the Cheer

Boris Brott, one of the top leading international conductors spent intermission rehearsing new chords and verses from the cheerleading squad of Bayside Secondary School. Mr. Brott performed with the Hamilton Philharmonic Orchestra Thursday night at Centennial School sponsored by Shopette Ltd. and the Quinte Arts Council.

Hamilton Orchestra Plays To Full House at Centennial

BY EUGENE LANG

A nearly packed audience was present Thursday evening in a Centennial Secondary School to witness the debut here of the Hamilton Philharmonic Orchestra under the musical direction of Boris Brott, the esteemed young conductor who has made a formidable name for himself over the past few years.

This group of slightly over 40 musicians have put themselves in the front rank of Canadian orchestras under the helm of Mr. Brott, giving over five hundred performances last year alone both at home base and on tour.

The opening Marriage of Figaro Overture by Mozart was given a galloping pace with no bridling of the players at any time under the free reins of Mr. Brott. Jollity and ebullience were the keynotes of this spirited rendition.

The three movement Serenade for Strings in E Minor Op. 20 by Sir Edward Elgar gave the entire fiddle section of the orchestra a chance to exhibit their collective musicianship as an ensemble. The middle movement was remembered as a soulful singing of the elongated melody sinuously silvered by the silken strings.

Music of the 70s by a Canadian composer featured three short orchestral tonal skits entitled Ironies by Eldon Rathburn. The opening movement witnessed crazy romping by the brass in defiance of woodwind carpings and string syncopation. The second section gave a piercing trumpet his chance to crow over the hum of fiddles and ryptk of ukuleles. The closing portion saw reiterated violins join in gossip with brass cackles while tympani thumped and jumped in raucous glee. A clever item that tested players in rhythmic upsets of fating phrases. This was a novel intrudance into an otherwise conventional program.

Beethoven's Symphony No. 2 in D Major, an early work of the great master, was envisaged in a no nonsense reading by Mr. Brott, that brought out both the robust humour of the outside movements and the idyllic tenderness of the Larghetto. A sincere classical approach was attained in this slow section with an emotion that did not descend to the over romantic as some baton wielders are wont to do. A sheen of even trills in violins provided a satisfac listing in the woodwinds in the restatement of the second theme of the opening Allegro.

CHOBE, Botswana (Reuter) — Actor Richard Burton, ill with malaria on an African game reserve is responding to treatment and does not require hospital care, aides said Thursday.

Burton, 49, suffered a severe bout of malaria after forgetting to take a preventive pill, and aides had said Wednesday he might be flown to South Africa for treatment.

Although still in bed, Burton had recovered enough Thursday to stay at the game lodge in which he and his actress wife, Elizabeth Taylor, are staying.

The couple was divorced last year but remarried Oct. 10 in a village ceremony performed by a Botswana district commissioner.

They will be flying to Johannesburg Saturday and to London the following day.

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Country musician Webb Pierce doesn't mind that thousands of tourists invade the fashionable town of Oak Hill, Tenn., each week to visit his home and gawk at his guitar-shaped swimming pool.

"If they want to come up here, they're welcome," Pierce was said in court. "They're kind of mine. They've given me a lot."

But his neighbor, entertainer Ray Stevens, does mind and has filed suit. The Court of Appeals is expected to rule before January on Stevens's request that Pierce be stopped from building a concrete bus ramp to get tourist buses off the narrow, winding street.

The earthy drail query of violins in opening of Scherzo was answered with cheeky response by French Horns in sharpness of wit. The brumptious finale was carried along by all with infectious merriment to a coda of resounding sonority by the full orchestra.

The younger brother of young Boris Brott was the soloist in a stunning performance of Tschaikowsky's Variations of a Rococo Theme Op. 33 for Cello and orchestra. Denis Brott demonstrated that he can hold his own with the best in the realm of performers on this semi-cumbersome number of the string household. The composer left few stones unturned to trap the daring player who would try to conquer its tortuous paths. Denis was a conqueror in a show of dazzling virtuosity that hurdled over all its technical chasms that lured to suck into its depths the unwary. Mr. Brott exploited the almost freakishly wide range of his 'cello with violent vivacity and brilliance. He dipped to the lowest note attainable in gruff groan, then soared to coloratura heights in long treble thinness. His performance can only be described as one of beauty of tone, over proficiency of technique and inspiration of music. Orchestral backgrounds were lucidly handled by the back up ensemble.

To great applause by all one encore was given and that faultlessly. The ethereal other worldliness of the Air on the G String, correctly known as the Arioso from the Third Orchestral Suite in D Major by J.S. Bach was wafted by the string section in seductive pathos, a fitting end to an excellent concert.

The concert was sponsored by the Quinte Arts Council and Shopette Ltd.

Party Marks 50 Years In Film for Andy Devine

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "I never won an Oscar, but I've lent money to a lot of guys who did . . . and never starred in pictures; I was always the second man through the door.

"I never got the credit when a picture was a hit. But I never got blamed for all the crap I was in, either."

Andy Devine was reminiscing about his movie career, which never brought him star billing, but provided two generations with a vast amount of wholesome entertainment.

The career still goes on. This month, he played a cameo role in the wild new comedy, Won Ton Ton, The Dog Who Saved Hollywood. Andy portrays a priest who administers last rites before the canine actor is sent to the gas chamber.

The reason for Andy's reflection was twofold—he is marking his 50th year in film, more or less, and he celebrated his 70th birthday. Both events were observed Oct. 7 at a Disneyland hotel gala sponsored by the Orange County Press Club.

"Gee, nobody ever gave me a party before," said Andy, who has lived in recent years near Newport Beach in Orange County.

"Back in the old days (Carole) Lombard and I used to give ourselves a party, because her birthday was Oct. 6 and mine was Oct. 7. We had a real wing-ding that lasted three days."

Andy and his wife Dorothy, known to everyone as Dogie, were married 42 years ago when he was 28 and she was 18, prompting his pal Slim Summerville to label Andy "a dirty old man."

Andy doesn't show his 70 years. Although his belly still resembles St. Nick's, it is not as round as it once was.

"When I was working with Roy Rogers and Dale Evans at Republic, I hit a high of 258," he recalled.

"Then in 1957 when I found out I had diabetes, I took off 100 pounds in 10 months. Now I'm 238, and I haven't had any booze for 30 years. Lately I like a little beer now and then, maybe a glass of wine. That's all."

Born in Flagstaff, Ariz., Devine was a pre footballer, telephone lineman, lifeguard and news photographer before coming to Los Angeles in 1925 for his father's funeral.

"I was walking down Hollywood Boulevard one day in 1925 sex-and-sand—Sudan.

"A young guy stopped his car and asked me if I played football or basketball. 'Both,' I said. He said I might be able to get a job in pictures at Universal. I got in his car and went right out there."

Not until The Spirit of Notre Dame in 1931 were the comic possibilities of the Devine voice realized.

Thereafter, he was one of the busiest actors in Hollywood, playing everything from Shakespeare—Romeo and Juliet—to writer-singer of Berkeley, Calif., is getting ready for her concert at University of Toronto Wednesday night.

Determines Cause

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Injuries to the head and neck are the most common cause of traffic deaths, report researchers who conducted a series of post-mortem X-ray examinations. X-rays were carried out on 146 traffic accident victims and 56 per cent showed that head and neck injuries had caused death, the study said.

Your Horoscope

By BERNICE BEDE OSOL

Saturday, Nov. 1

Aries (March 21-April 19) It's to your advantage to make compromises today when conditions call for them. Be the first to show willingness to co-operate.

Taurus (April 20-May 20) Don't be nice to a friend today just because you expect something in return. If you're insincere, your pal will be aware of it.

Gemini (May 21-June 20) At a social gathering today some one may tell you of a glowing opportunity you can get in life. Chances are it's grossly exaggerated.

Cancer (June 21 - July 22) Try not to be overly protective of someone in your charge today. It's best to let them stand on their own feet.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22) Take pains to be realistic in your evaluations today, as your optimism will lead you down the garden path.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You're still not out of the woods financially. Count your pennies carefully again today.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) Don't be too easily influenced today. Just because someone has bigger ideas, it doesn't necessarily follow that they are better.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 22) It will take more than just a material gesture to help one you're concerned about. He needs a compassionate listener as well.

Sagittarius (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) If you're planning something special this evening, stay away from the spots that draw large crowds. Go somewhere cozy and intimate.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 - Jan. 19) It's a good time to reassess your values to determine whether goals you're seeking are worth all steps required to achieve them.

Aquarius (Jan. 20 - Feb. 18) You will be far more appealing today if you show your colors down a bit rather than boast about them.

Pisces (Feb. 20-March 20) Be doubly sure those you rely on valved with businesslike today are as ethical about everything as you are. Don't be afraid to ask questions.

Fourth-suit forcing is a modern invention. We hope it will never replace horse and buggy bidding.

North's two-diamond call is an example. He didn't know what to bid so he tried two diamonds to see what might happen.

This caused South to bid two and three notrump and North had to decide what to do. Fortunately, he decided to bid hearts. That South could handle the diamond suit by himself. It turned out that South could.

East was the first trick with the ace of diamonds and returned the suit. South won and led the queen of spades covered by West's king and dummy's ace. At this point South decided to take an unusual safety play. He led a low heart from dummy and played the eight spot from his own hand.

This safety play cost him an overtrick, but South did not care. The game was rubber bridge and he was interested in being as sure of his contract as possible.

Iron Level Can Be Controlled

By G. C. THOSTESON, MD

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I hope you will be kind enough to help me. I am 68 years old and I am losing weight. I weigh 98 pounds and I am in bed in the hospital for tests. The doctors said I have too much iron in my blood, so I have to go to have a pint of blood removed each week.

The reason I went to the doctor in the first place was that because I have such a nasty taste in my mouth, I feel sick and I can't take food. After losing six pints of blood I still have the nasty taste. I don't know what to do.—Mrs. A. P.

Your only course of action is to continue with this program. And it will take more than six consecutive weeks before any effect will be noted.

You probably lost weight because food became distasteful to you. Such taste phenomena are common in problems such as yours.

Try to eat high caloric meals. They need not be large ones. Have a snack between meals and at bedtime. Milled milk, ice cream or a pastry would be fine.

Once your blood iron level is brought into proper balance, your doctor will prescribe a program to keep it there.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I read your column every day and I have never seen the problem discussed. I have eosinophilic granuloma. I have been told there is not much written on this subject.

Can you give me some information about it? It means a lot to me and to my peace of mind.—P. H.

It does have a rather ominous ring. However, it is a benign tumor on the bone which contains a particular type of cellular (granular) tissue—in this instance eosinophilic, a type of white blood cell. The result is a disturbance of the bone locally and also there may be one or several areas of involvement. In some cases these lumps are accessible and can be treated (removed out).

The condition is not considered particularly serious as far as bone tumors generally are concerned. But, one must guard against fractures, which can occur, especially in long bones.

Names of diseases have varied, sometimes curious, origins. In "eosinophilic granuloma," the origin lies in the method of detection.

A staining material called "eosin" has a particular affinity to the type of white blood cells associated with the condition. Researchers found that eosin stain proved just so bold relief on a microscope slide treated with the eosin. "Granuloma" refers to any cyst containing granular tissue.

It is not a common disorder, but is found occasionally in young persons, especially males.

Eosinophilic cells are present in all human blood plasma, but in rather small quantity.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I had a mastectomy on my left breast. Since then my legs and feet are swollen to nearly three times the size of my right arm and hand. My doctor told me nothing can be done on account of enlarged glands. It is quite painful. I would appreciate your comments.—Mrs. H. R.

This happens occasionally after extensive mastectomy. It is caused by a disorder interrupted lymph flow caused by scar formation rather than from enlarged glands. I am sure this is what your doctor meant when he referred it to you.

Certain exercises and other physical therapy are available in the setting. Sometimes long elastic sleeves are used for the swollen limb.

You should, first of all, contact the physical therapy department of your local hospital or rehabilitation centre. Also, the local branch of the Canadian Cancer Society will have information on its Reach for Recovery program, which is specifically designed for such. Your doctor should be able to direct you to the nearest centre.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Are canned fruits considered cooked fruit? I am supposed to eat cooked fruit in my diet, and I've been told that the canned fruits are not cooked. Is this so?—Mrs. L. B.

Canned fruits are heated at temperatures that are processing; it only for pasteurization; and so are considered cooked.

Allmond Rejects Coroners Request

OTTAWA (CP) — Solicitor-General Warren Allmond said Thursday he office has not yet received a formal request from Ontario's supervising coroner for department officials to appear at an inquest into the death of a 17-year-old Ottawa girl.

Mr. Allmond said in the Commons he found it unusual for the coroner, Dr. H. R. Cotnam, to issue the invitation through the media.

Dr. Cotnam told reporters Wednesday he may call an official of the solicitor-general's department to testify on government plans in the area of gun control.

An inquest has been called into Monday's shooting at a local high school in which six students were wounded before the assailant, 18-year-old Robert Poulin shot himself. Earlier, a girl's charred body was found at the boy's home.

Later, Mr. Allmond said it is "rather irresponsible" of the coroner to make his invitation through the press. He said a request for an official to appear at an earlier inquest was rejected because the official was asked to provide details of the government's plans on gun control.

He has said the government's gun control proposals will be announced about mid-November in the Commons.

In the meantime, officials of the department would be available to explain the government's current policy at the inquest, Mr. Allmond said.

Snowmobiles, Rifles Cause Eskimo Hearing Problems

MONTREAL (CP) — A study by two McGill University professors has shown that Eskimos in the Northwest Territories suffer extensive hearing damage and ear disease from lifestyle changes such as using snowmobiles instead of dog teams and rifles instead of hunting spears.

James Barsler, chairman of McGill's department of otolaryngology, and Daniel Ling of the school for human communications disorders, have completed a two-year survey on ear diseases and hearing loss among the Eskimo population in the Baffin Zone of the Territories.

Five survey teams visited 12 of 13 settlements and examined 1,79 of 4,000 Eskimos living in the area.

Results, reported in the Canadian Journal of Otolaryngology, showed the most serious hearing loss occurred among children in southern settlements, where 12 to 19 per cent of the school population suffer from ear disease.

Loss of hearing from noise exposure was found in 85 per cent of males 20-30 years old, traditionally hunters in Eskimo society.

The study showed the majority Eskimos with normal hearing live in isolated, northern areas and lead a more nomadic lifestyle.

The survey team also attributed development of ear diseases to inbreeding, overcrowded installations, poor hygiene and bad nutritional habits.

Before 1954, the study says, 70 per cent of the population had normal hearing and 5.7 per cent had chronic ear disease. Since then, the percentage of those Eskimos with normal hearing has not exceeded 49 per cent while chronic ear disease increased to an 8.6-per-cent maximum in 1964.

Trudeau Disputes Bourassa Suggestion

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Trudeau disputed suggestions Thursday that Quebec Premier Robert Bourassa new asserts an "appointed insurrection" did not exist during the October terrorist crisis in Quebec in 1970.

"I don't believe he said that," the prime minister remarked in the Commons in reply to a question from New Democratic Leader Ed Broadbent.

When Mr. Broadbent said the premier made the remark on a CBC documentary Sunday on the October crisis, the prime minister asked the NDP leader to produce a transcript of Mr. Bourassa's comments.

The premier has said "the contrary in writing" at the time when he sought federal help to deal with the Front de Libération du Québec (FLQ) terrorists, Mr. Trudeau said.

Globe Says Ontario Egg Producers Plan Boycott

TORONTO (CP) — The Globe and Mail says some Ontario egg producers will start boycotting levies imposed by the Canadian Egg Marketing Agency (CEMA) because they feel Quebec producers are abusing the agency's regulations.

The newspaper says Ontario producers are angry that their share of the national market is being eroded by Quebec producers who are shipping surplus eggs to Ontario.

CEMA ordered Ontario egg production decreased to 82 per cent two years while Quebec producers were allowed to increase by 17.2 per cent, it says.

Ontario producers say the decrease allowed Quebec to make inroads into sales areas in Quebec traditionally supplied by Ontario, the newspaper says.

Earlier this week, CEMA cancelled the licence of Joe Hudson, a producer in Lyn, Ont., to ship his produce to Quebec.

The newspaper says Mr. Hudson is one of many producers refusing to pay the levies CEMA uses to police its system and discourage of surpluses.

Mr. Hudson and other producers also want the CEMA to prevent Quebec producers from bypassing their own provincial system to sell their produce directly to stores.

Jazz Collected

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — Fifty major articles on jazz dance, which have appeared in American and English newspapers and magazines during the last 45 years, have been collected into a new anthology. Called Anthology of American Jazz Dance the book is the work of Gus Giordano, an Elgin-to-based dancer-choreographer and is published by Orion Press.
